Righ Council. - The members o the High Council are requested to meet in the Social Hall, to-morrow, Friday evening, July 4th, 1884, at 7 o'clock.

The Fourth at Fullers' .-- From present indications the attractions at this popular place of public resort will draw a large concourse of people who will celebrate our nation's anniversary. By the advertisement in another column it will be seen that during the day several games are to be brought into regulation to amuse the visitors. In addition to the usual attractions of plenty of shade and cool water, a social dancing party will be given in the evening, and soon after dark a display of flreworks, under the direction of Charles Millard, the well-known pyrotechnist, which seems quite attractive on the list as published, and which will be imposing. The reputation of the "Hill" for courtesy, good treatment and necessities in the eating and drinking line guarantees everything of that character that may be desired. The "Hill" has been taxed sometimes but we have never heard of its being overtaxed.

Holiday Attractions.-A review of the means of recreation and enjoyment provided for the citizens of Salt Lake on the Nation's birthday, embraces such a variety that every per-son ought to be able to please himself. He can go to Ogden with the 6th Ward Silver Band and take part in the festivities arranged by the good citizens of that burg, or he may take the Utah and Nevada train for the Lake and indulgs in a bath and in the numerou other amusements there provided. It she heat frightens him from taking an excursion at all, he can go to Washington Square where there will be a base ball match and bicycle and other racing, or to Faller's Hill where he can est ice cream in the shade, watch the sports, take part in the dance and Lastly as a good termination to a pleasant day he may take his wife to the cooled and well ventilated Theatre in the evening where the Home Dramatic Club will present the fine play of "Peril," a performance which his ren will have witnessed at the atinee in the afternoon.
