F. W. Hedegland, the expert of the Kimball Organ company, left for the coast yesterday noon, after having spent two days at the Tabernacle over-seeing the organ and taking a brief rest. In speaking of the Tabernacle instrument the acknowledged expert of the Kimball company's organ production so far—Mr. Hedegland said: "I find the organ in good condition, having stayed wonderfully well in tune, at present. We are building an organ for San Francisco, Helena, and St. Paul's church of this city, with many other orders, right from Utah and the West. Since putting in a beautiful residence organ in the homes of Geo. M. Pullman and Marshall Field in Chicago we have done a big business in that line, and will shortly put in a handsome instrument in a millionaire's home at Santa Barbara, Cal."

Mr. Hedegland will be back to his office in Chicago in a week, and on the 1st of August he goes to his summer home at Trout Lake, Wisconsin, for his two-months' vacation. He was highly elated over Saturday's recital.

DISCOURSE AT THE TABERNACLE

Elder H. S. Tanner Speaks of the Necessity of Revelation.

PEOPLE GUIDED BY IT.

The Lord's Chosen People Were Always Led by a Prophet—Inspiration in Lives of Misadventurers.

The Tabernacle services yesterday were presided over by President Angus M. Cannon and were opened by the choir and congregation singing the hymn, "Redeemer of Israel."

The invocation was offered by Bishop W. B. Preston, after which the choir sang the hymn, "Hark, Listen to the Trumpeters."

Elder H. S. Tanner was the speaker of the afternoon, and he began by expressing the hope that he might be led to say something that would benefit the people. It has been said, went on the speaker, that the Latter-day Saints are narrow and bigoted. I wish to say to the people that the Latter-day Saints are not narrow and bigoted. They are the people who have the only true Gospel of Jesus Christ. But no people are narrow or bigoted that teach the true Gospel of Christ. When the Gospel was restored to the people through the Prophet Joseph Smith that man was derided, persecuted and killed, because the clergy had taught for hundreds of years that the heavens were sealed and that God spoke no more with men, the people therefore were not prepared for the message of the modern Prophet. When ever God has a people in the world, He has had a Prophet to warn the people of the destructions that will come upon the wicked whose hearts will not soften. The speaker went on to tell of the destruction of Babylon, Sion, Tyre, the land of Egypt and other ill-starred places that have come under the wrath of God. All this was foretold by the prophets of old. The speaker then spoke of the restoration of the Gospel as was foreseen by John the Revelator, who saw an angel flying through the midst of heaven, bearing the everlasting Gospel. The same Gospel which Christ says must be preached in all the world as a witness unto all nations, and then shall the end come. Paul says that Christ placed in His Church Apostles and Prophets, etc., for the working of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ until all the people come into the unity of the faith, and the knowledge of the truth, which is the knowledge of the Son of God. The world has never been in a unity of the faith yet; and the Gospel must be preached until that time is established. And Paul further says that if any man or even an angel preach any other Gospel he shall be accursed. When the servants of God went out to preach the Gospel they were told to preach to all the people and that they would be able to heal the sick and other miracles would be wrought by the Lord. That promise was to everybody. The Church was built upon the rock of revelation that men might have a testimony of Jesus that they could not be tossed about and for and carried about by every wind of doctrine. The world is filled with counterfeiters but there is a way to find out the truth and that is to "ask of God." Those who seek will find, those who knock will have it opened unto them, those who ask will receive. The speaker affirmed that the Latter-day Saints were preaching the same Gospel as was given to all the members of the Church. They are built upon the same rock of revelation and they have the same kind of a church organization, the prophecy of Joseph Smith relative to the City of David, which was demonstrated that the prophecy was made known nearly thirty years before the war began. Joseph Smith also prophesied that the Saints would journey to the Rocky Mountains, where they would become a mighty people. The Lord's house was to be established in the midst of the mountains in accordance with the word of the Prophet Isaiah. Elder Tanner continued to speak of the presence of prophecy and inspiration in the Church, and related several experiences of his own in the missionary field in which inspiration shown out conspicuously, and served several times to deliver him from the hands of his enemies.

Elder Tanner testified that he knew the Gospel of Jesus Christ was true; that prophecy and revelation are with the people; that the Apostles at the head of the Church are inspired as were the Apostles of old.

Miss Agatha Burkhead gave an excellent rendition of the solo, "The Heart of the Church," which was sung by the choir.

The choir sang the anthem, "Let the Mountains Shout for Joy," and after the congregation and choir sang the Doxology the benediction was pronounced by Elder William H. King.

INITIAL CELEBRATION.

First Observance of Pioneer Day on the Atlantic Coast.

A correspondent writing from New York under date of the 25th inst., says: So far as known to any of the participants, the first celebration of Pioneer Day ever held in the eastern part of the United States, occurred this year. The Latter-day Saints residing in Greater New York and New Jersey, to the number of about 75 persons, including missionaries, and a few friends, formed an excursion party that went by steamer to Glen Island, a beautiful resort in Long Island Sound. After spending some hours there the party crossed the ferry leading to the village of New Rochelle, where, in a grove, a program of literary exercises was carried out.

These included an invocation by the chaplain of the day, Elder E. D. Clyde; an address by the orator of the day, Mr. B. P. Cummings; songs, recitations, etc. After the completion of these exercises the company was photographed by Elder Joseph J. Gill, and a game of baseball and other sports were indulged in. The day was hot and oppressive, but notwithstanding this drawback, this initial celebration of Pioneer Day on the Atlantic coast was declared to be a pronounced success by all who participated.

Those present would like to know whether Pioneer Day was ever before celebrated east of the Alleghenies. Has any reader of the "News" a knowledge that it ever was?

Tells Why He Can't Attend Philippine Veterans' Reunion.

Vice President Roosevelt's letter to Gen. Irving Hall, declining the invitation to attend the reunion of the Army of the Philippines, is as follows:

"My Dear General—I am in receipt of your favor of the 15th inst. I wish I could accept the invitation to the reunion of the Army of the Philippines at Salt Lake City, but I am unfortunately out of the question. As soon as I accepted the invitation to deliver an address at the Colorado quarter-centennial, I was literally deluged with requests to attend meetings and celebrations of every kind, going and coming. It is impossible for me to undertake another engagement, and the time of my return is very uncertain. I must get back to New York before the date of your reunion. I look forward to seeing you at Colorado Springs. With great respect, yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT."
