

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Councilman J. J. Daley at Tuesday's session of the City Council sent in a letter resigning his position, owing to press of business. The resignation was regretfully accepted.

Mrs. Christina Johnson, of the First ward, died at her home Tuesday morning, of general debility. The deceased was born in Norway September 29th, 1824, and emigrated to Provo in 1866, where she has resided since that time. She leaves numerous relatives to mourn her loss.

A large party of surveyors with a big supply of provisions, etc., with them, passed through the town Thursday headed for the Uintah reservation. They were very quiet as to their employers, but it is thought that they have been sent out by the Rio Grande Western Railway company.

PROVO, Utah, Sept. 28.—In the Davis case the jury came into court at eleven o'clock last night. The judge was sent for to take the verdict, which was one of guilty of involuntary manslaughter.

This morning Judge Smith presided, Judge King having gone to Ogden.

The time for Davis's sentence is set for tomorrow at 9:30.

RELEASES.—Elder S. M. Cook has been honorably released from his labors as Traveling Elder in the London Conference to return home, Sept. 27, 1894.

Elder Thomas Gledhill has been honorably released from his labors as Traveling Elder in the Manchester Conference, to return home Sept. 27, 1894.

KANOSH, Millard county, Sept. 24th, 1894.—Saturday last Alonzo Kimball was engaged marking a wild heifer in the canyon, when the animal suddenly threw its head up, and its horn caught him nearly in the center of the chin, splitting his lower lip upwards and knocking out two of his upper front teeth. He finished marking the animal, then rode off to a sheep camp to get his lip strapped up, remarking that it was better to lose all of his teeth than one eye.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Utah., Sept. 28.—Hans Nielson is just up from Spring City. He says it is true that Jim Mickel is wounded. He has sent word to his mother that he is wounded in two places, but that he has stolen no sheep nor has he killed any one.

It is evident that the brothers of the murderers know of their whereabouts. Jim claims that Burns shot him. If Burns did any shooting his pistol was taken by the murderers after they killed him.

A small son of Sam Rich, Logan, fell from a porch on Sunday, alighting on his head. A severe gash was cut, but the skull was not injured.

James McBride, of Hyrum, had his left leg broken below the knee on Monday. He was riding a horse and leading another, and the animals commenced kicking and plunging on a dugway, and fell down; one of them falling on his leg.

J. P. Larsen, the man who was so badly injured by falling from a tree in front of Mr. Amussen's residence, is now on the high road to recovery, although he was so seriously injured.

PROVO, Oct. 2.—Deputy Marshal Berry returned from Mt. Pleasant today. He says yesterday a man came in from the posse in pursuit of Kofford and Mickel and reported that the officers had them surrounded in the southeastern portion of the Territory and expected to capture them. They are watching Mickel's brother who furnishes the fugitives food and medicine, and expect to locate them through him. Mickel is badly wounded. The bullet that wounded him was fired by Kofford. It passed through Burns's body and lodged in Mickel's body over the kidneys.

George Allgood, the owner of two lots near the reduction works of the Intermountain Salt company has brought suit in the Third district court. He alleges that in the operation of their works the defendant company fan particles of salt, sodium and other substances upon his premises, greatly to his damage. He also states that his trees have been killed and the health of his family threatened. Hence Mr. Allgood prays for an injunction, with damages in the sum of $2,000. The defendants have been ordered to show cause on October 9th why the injunction should not be granted.

The United States department of agriculture, weather bureau, has issued bulletin No. 25 for the week ending Tuesday, September 25, as follows.

The weather of the week ending September 25th was very fine and seasonable, and therefore very favorable for the work on hand which was, in different localities, threshing, gathering the third crop of lucern, drying fruit, plowing, and sowing fall wheat. Most of the corn crop has been cut. Only late vegetables are now growing. Cabbages are doing well. The sorghum crop is good this year, and molasses is now being made. The sugar beets are of good quality this season, and are now being dug.

Charles W. Smith, George Luft, Thomas Leonard and E. O. Anderson were at the depot of Provo city on the 12th of last May, when "General" Carter's army arrived on a stolen U.P. train. The officers claimed that the parties mentioned sympathized too vigorously with the army, and they were indicted by the grand jury at Nephi last spring, for riot. Prosecuting Attorney Thurman asked to have the case dismissed for the reason that the defendants were good, law-abiding citizens, and that he did not care to prosecute the case as he considered that whatever wrong was committed was at a time of great excitement, and not with any intent to break the law. The case was dismissed.

Prosecuting Attorney Johnson, of Sanpete county, who was in this city Thursday, wrote Governor West asking him to offer a reward for Kofford and Mickel, alias Peterson, the murderers of Sheriff Burns, of Sanpete county. He also wired the county court of Sanpete county advising them to call an extra session and offer a reward for the capture of the murderers. Mr. Johnson received a telegram yesterday, from Spring City, which stated that James Petersen had met the murderers and that Mickel was wounded. Mr. Johnson thinks that if one of them was wounded it must have been done by some of the posse in pursuit, and his opinion is that if the posse ever got near enough to shoot, the fugitives would not have any opportunity to escape.

On Thursday evening an accident occurred at the Hercules electric power plant in Logan canyon, by which the life was crushed out of James Kent, a man about 30 years of age. The company has been making a dam, and Kent, who was an expert quarryman, had been blasting rock. He had partially blown one large rock to pieces, and was at work trying to loosen the remaining portion with a bar, when it suddenly fell over on him, crushing him against another rock that lay behind him. The stone that fell on him was nearly eight feet high, and weighed several tons. His companions were working on the other side of the river, and it was some time before they could render him assistance. He was taken to his home as soon as extricated, but died just as soon as he was laid down. He leaves a wife and several small children.

One night this week a resident of Nephi, Orson Pace by name, came up from his home and soon after reaching here found himself in a vile den on the most notorious street of the city. He became infatuated with a disreputable woman and remained in the house overnight. In the morning he awoke and made the discovery that $92 in cash had been taken from his pockets and that a $450 check was also missing. It transpired, luckily for Pace, that the check was unendorsed and it was returned to him by the woman with the statement that she had found it. Pace thought he had been robbed and went to the police authorities for advice but the assistant city attorney gave him very little encouragement. A request was made to have the woman arrested for grand larceny, but as the proof was not sufficient and as Attorney Van Horne has but little sympathy for suckers of that kind, the complaint was not drawn up and Pace, like the probate judge of Sanpete county, who had a similar experience here some weeks ago, but whose monetary loss was greater, will be compelled to go back home with the knowledge that his visit to the haunts of vice had a more disastrous ending than that for which he had hoped.

Now that official weather forecasts are furnished regularly by the officers of the weather bureau, for publication, George N. Salisbury, head of the local office, furnishes the following, from instructions issued by H. H. D. Dunwoody, acting chief the bureau:

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C., September 25, 1894.—The paragraph below, from an act of Congress approved August 8, 1894, is furnished officials in charge of stations to be
