EVIDENT EVASION.

The action of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Snow and Cannon cases, is to say, the least, exceedingly conflicting and evasive.

The decision in the Cannon case was reached by a body of learned expounders of the law, who are not only well versed in the administration of justice, but upon whose rulings depends the honor of American jurisprudence. Looking at the matter squarely, it is evident that the Supreme Court considered that it was within its jurisdiction, to act in the Cannon case as presented; otherwise that body would not have heard arguments from each side on the points at issue. Neither would that court have rendered a lengthy decision, and filed it in the archives of the nation, as one arrived at according to law and justice.

What are intelligent citizens of this nation to think of the Supreme Court of the United States, when a few weeks later, a kindred case (Apostle Snow's) is presented to that august body for adjudication, the Court not only dismisses it for lack of jurisdiction in the premises, but tries to obliterate all precedents in order to prevent attempts at future appeal for justice, by ignoring entirely their previous action in the Cannon case?

If the Judge of the Third District Court of Utah can turn judicial somersaults, it looks as if the Supreme Court of the United States was not above perpetrating things in that line. Is it any wonder that we hear it spoken on the street corners and in the highways and byways that such rulings are evasive and in the nature of judicial anamnioties? When a government cannot meet an issue fairly and squarely, in accordance with the principles of its Constitution, without having to uphold acts of injustice to carry its point; that government will most surely lose dignity and respect in the eyes of God and all civilized nations. It is the undivided opinion of the medical world that rheumatism is caused by the acid condition of the blood, the taking of cold, the exposure to inclement weather being merely the occasion of its development in some part of the body. Its especial liking is for the joints and sciatic nerve. When inflammatory, it attacks the entire muscular system, and is very dangerous; painful at all times, dangerous in many, the person who is afflicted with it should give himself prompt treatment with Warner's safe cure and Warner's safe rheumatic cure, two remedies which have no equal in the world for curing the system of the acid elements which are the only causes of the rheumatic condition.

Analyzing the Baking Powders.

"Royal" the only absolutely pure baking powder made.—Action of the New York State Board of Health.

Under the direction of the New York State Board of Health, eighty-four different kinds of baking powders, embracing all the brands that could be found for sale in the State, were submitted to examination and analysis by Prof. C. F. CHANDLER, a Member of the State Board and President of the New York City Board of Health, assisted by Prof. EDWARD G. LOVE, the well known late United States Government chemist.

The official report shows that a large number of the powders examined were found to contain alum or lime; many of them to such an extent as to render them seriously objectionable for use in the preparation of human food.

Alum was found in twenty-nine samples. This drug is employed in baking powders to cheapen their cost. The presence of lime is attributed to the impure cream of tartar of commerce used in their manufacture. Such cream of tartar was also analyzed and found to contain lime and other impurities, in some samples to the extent of 93 per cent of their entire weight.

All the baking powders of the market, with the single exception of "Royal" (not including the alum and phosphate powders which were long since discarded as unsafe or inefficient by prudent housekeepers) are made from the impure cream of tartar of commerce, and consequently contain lime to a corresponding extent.

The only baking powder yet found by chemical analysis to be entirely free from lime and absolutely pure is the "Royal." This perfect purity results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes of the N. Y. Tartar Co., which totally remove the tartrate of lime and other impurities. The cost of this chemically pure cream of tartar is much greater than any other, and on account of this greater cost is used in no baking powder but the "Royal."

Prof. LOVE, who made the analyses of baking powders for the New York State Board of Health, as well as for the Government, says of the purity and wholesomeness of "Royal"

"I have tested a package of 'Royal Baking Powder' which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates or any injurious substances.

"E. G. LOVE, Ph.D."
