

TYPHOID CLAIMS SIDNEY HOOPER

Well Known Salt Lake Man Succumbs After Serious Attack of Malady.

SON OF CAPTAIN W. H. HOOPER

Is Survived by Mrs. Hooper and One Son—Funeral Will Be Held Thursday at Jennings Home.

Death claimed "Sid" Hooper, a well known Salt Lake, this morning, at his country residence southeast of the city. Three weeks ago he was stricken with typhoid fever, and though he put up a heroic fight and for a time gave promise of convalescence, the disease made such inroads upon his vitality that all hope of recovery was given up by family and friends a day or two ago. His wife is ill from the same disease, but is rapidly regaining health. It is thought the malady was contracted from the effects of impure milk, as the spring water on the Hooper farm is said to be of the best.

The death of Mr. Hooper came as a severe shock to his relatives and friends. While it was known that he was a very sick man, his death was almost entirely unlooked for.

SON OF CAPT. HOOPER.
Sidney Knowlton Hooper was the son of the late Captain William H. and Mary Knowlton Hooper. He was the only son in the family, and was born in this city, May 28, 1870. After several years spent in the Salt Lake public schools as a youth, he attended school at Portland, Oregon, and afterwards took a law course at Harvard. He never practiced law, however, but returned here, engaged in various kinds of business. For a time he dealt in cattle, and at the time of his death was a member of the firm of Caine & Hooper, insurance, with offices in the Hooper block. Five years ago he began conducting a farm south of Calder's station, devoting himself principally to fruit raising and the propagation of fish.

IN TORREY'S REGIMENT.
When the Spanish-American war broke out in 1898, Hooper was among the first volunteers from this state. He enlisted in company I, Torrey's Rough Riders, and was made first sergeant. Shortly afterwards he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the same regiment by President McKinley, and was stationed at Tampa, Fla., until the close of the war. Mr. Hooper had a host of friends, among whom his death is much regretted. Five years ago he married Miss Lucy Howard of Denver, and they have a son, William, aged three years. He is survived also by the following sisters, Mrs. Thonout Jennings, Mrs. William Young, Mrs. Elizabeth Carey, Mrs. Joseph E. Caine, Mrs. Ernest Eldredge and Mrs. Alice Palmer. The latter is with her husband, Lieut. Guy C. Palmer, in the Philippines. Mrs. Eldredge lives in Portland, Oregon, and the others are residents of this city.

The funeral will be held Thursday, from the residence of Mrs. T. W. Jennings, 172 First street, commencing at 3 p. m.

LIBRARY ELECTION.

The board of directors of the Packard free public library held its semi-monthly meeting yesterday and elected officers for the coming year, and the mayor shall appoint new members. John D. Spencer was re-elected president, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cohn was elected secretary.

The new members who were appointed a month ago by Mayor John S. Bransford are Benjamin B. Bransford, George A. Blood and Herman Bamberg.

THIEF STEALS APRONS.

A young man giving the name of John Oberg, driver for the Strevel-Patterson company, reported to the police this morning that while he was delivering packages to the express company offices, some one stole from his wagon a package containing 24 butcher's aprons. The police are making a search of the various pawn shops and second-hand stores in the hope of locating the stolen property.

Coach Maddock Watches "U" Team Grow Stronger Daily.

Coach Joe Maddock was much elated this morning when "Tiny" Tome, tackle; Benson Grant, quarterback, and Henry Richardson, half-back, registered for another year in school. These men are expected to be out on the field tonight for practice. Thian Richardson, Maddock believes, there is no better half-back in the intermountain league than the one who is expected to register at the U. any day. With their coming the prospective team will be greatly strengthened. So far only three of the old guard have appeared in line for practice. These are Conville, Snow and Olson, who were out for hard work last night.

The line and the back field will have their weak places, but with the development of new players, Coach Maddock says he will soon have a strong aggregation in the field to go after the intermountain title, to which he firmly believes the Utah team will prove its right this season.

DEATH STOPS MARRIAGE

Sweetheart of Ogden Girl is Shot by Drunken Man in a Denver Street.

(Special to the "News.")

Ogden, Sept. 16.—Word has been received here of the death at Denver of William Kerr, who was engaged to be married to 18-year-old Sylvia Shurtliff, daughter of Ezra N. Shurtliff, of 455 Thirty-fourth street. The young man was shot late Sunday afternoon by John Ryan, a drunken workman, who ran amuck with a pair of revolvers. Ryan was seeking revenge on two men whom he accused of having beaten him, and Kerr, who was an innocent bystander, received one of the bullets.

From the information at hand, it appears that Kerr, who had recently been in Old Mexico, arrived in Denver Saturday night from Fort Collins. With him he had two friends, a young man and the two were sitting in front of a saloon when Ryan approached, guns in hand. After being assaulted, as he claims he had, the two friends drew the revolvers. The first that Kerr and companion knew of the trouble was when the frenzied man began to fire indiscriminately into the crowd. The intended victims of Ryan's wrath fled into the saloon for safety, as did others. Kerr, however, started to run across the street, when a bullet struck him in the left side of the abdomen, piercing the intestines from side to side. The wounded man fell, but regained his feet, walked some distance down the street and then sat down. As soon as an examination was made at the hospital, Kerr's condition was declared to be hopeless, and he died Monday morning. He maintained until the last that he was going to live. During his last hours he frequently mentioned Miss Sylvia Shurtliff, and in his pocket was found one of her photographs. The mother of her was in tenderness and praise. In a notebook was the picture of another woman, whose name did not appear in the papers. It is believed that the latter is with her husband, Lieut. Guy C. Palmer, in the Philippines. Mrs. Eldredge lives in Portland, Oregon, and the others are residents of this city.

The funeral will be held Thursday, from the residence of Mrs. T. W. Jennings, 172 First street, commencing at 3 p. m.
