The congregations attending the Special Conference held at Provo which has just been adjourned, have been large, numbering not less than twelve hundred at each meeting. The meeting-house is not sufficiently large to accommodate the people on such occasions. Doubtless it will ever be a difficult. matter to build a house of worship large enough to accommodate all the people; for nearly every place I have had the pleasure of visiting, remark not unfrequently made by some one of the brethren has been in effect, "How this place has grown." It would be fair to nas grown. It would be fair to infer, judging from the crowded' state of the Tabernacle during these meetings, that Provo is growing. I learn that before President Smith came here, some nine years ago, there was only one picket fence in the place; that fact alone would indicate its general appear-ance at that time. To-day Provo possesses a large number of fine, well-built houses, really good, com-fortable homes; in fact, a poor looking domicile can scarcely be seen, every house, too, having its garden and orchard; the clean streets, gra-ded and well shaded sidewalks, and the delightful situation commanding a view of the valley and neigh-boring settlements, the Utah Lake, with Mt. Nebo beyond, make it not only a desirable place to live, but a most beautiful city.

There is here, as in nearly every settlement of the Saints, a Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association, and also a Young Ladies' Improvement Association. The exercises of these societies are usually varied. I am informed that the young ladies publish two pa-138

Baptizing, Etc.-We have seen letter of May 26th, from Elder David M. Stuart, President of the St Louis District, to Brother M. W. Pratt, of this city. We learn from it that there are now but four Elders from Utah laboring with him in the District-Philo F. Farnsworth, Alonzo Winters, Joel Ricks and Marlow Cummings.

Elder Stuart has lately been and appears to be opening up a good field there. On Wednesday, May 23, he baptized, in the Mississippi River, at Nauvoo, John J. Nemmison and wife and two young women who never were in the Church previously. A large number of citizens turned out to witness the ceremony and considerable interest and excitement were manifested. Elder Stuart had recently preached eight times in Nau voo, in the old Seventles' Hall, now fitted up for a school house, and quite an interest was being awakened among the people. He had also held meetings at two towns five miles distant from the City of Nauvoo. Also at Keokuk, Iowa, an "old Mormon," named William Bacon, has again identified himself with the Church and has opened his house to the Elders Besides Mr. Bacon, his wife and
