

ELECTION CROWDS NOISY AND UNRULY

Policemen Use Their Clubs on Young Hoodlums Who Become Too Demonstrative.

ONE MAN DRAWS A PISTOL

Despite Police Orders to the Contrary
Talcum Powder and Confetti
Were Freely Thrown.

A crowding, surging mass filled Main street last night from 6 o'clock in the evening, when the first definite returns began to come in from other states and from Salt Lake county until late at night. As time went on the crowd grew larger and the noise grew louder, and when it began to be apparent that Taft had swept the county and the Republican party had swept the county bedlam turned loose and there was no stopping it.

Without it was a good natured crowd. The saloons had been closed all day and the people who filled the streets were there principally for the purpose of learning the results of the election, which were flashed upon several screens on Main street. The sidewalks were left first, and when no more room was left the crowds began to fill up the streets, and by 7:30 the streets were almost tied up because of the throngs blocking the car tracks.

HOODLUMS IN EVIDENCE.

The hoodlum element did not start its work until quite late in the evening. Presently, however, crowds of young men and boys, armed with horns, bugles, cowbells, bazos, tick-tacks, croakers, rattlers and almost every other conceivable instrument for the production of noise, started in bunches up and down the sidewalks where the throngs were thickest. Banging together they would sweep up and down the walks, carrying every thing and everybody before them. Policemen were in the crowd, but they were as powerless as if they had been but babes. Women's hats were crushed and ruined; women with tiny babies in their arms were crushed in the impact, and their cries could often be heard above the din made by the tooting horns. Guardians of the peace would fight strenuously to preserve some semblance of decorum on the streets and would try to protect the women and little children, but it was no use; the momentum of probably a hundred howling, screaming men coming against them suddenly was irresistible, and it was either go with the crowd or have the breath squeezed out of them.

PULLED A REVOLVER.

One man became so indignant at the actions of the mob that he pulled a revolver and threatened to do bodily harm to the leaders of the bunch. He was prevented in his intentions, however, and was spirited away from the crowd. One woman was so overcome by the jam that she fainted after losing her hat and having her jacket torn. She was carried into the nearest drug store, where restoratives were applied and she soon recovered. At one stage of the game what policemen were present were compelled to use their clubs on overly obstreperous boys, and a number of the latter were placed in the jail with some homicide.

TALCUM POWDER THROWN.

They were released without being booked, however, upon their promise to go home later in the evening without again appearing on the street. Although the police department had decisively interdicted the use of talcum powder and flour, some parties secured a supply and sprinkled it over the heads and faces of women, but this form of entertainment was in considerably less evidence than upon previous carnival occasions. Several bonfires were built up and down the streets and every minute or two a number of cannon crackers would explode and every few feet skyrockets were set off, and with the spotlights flashing, the moving pictures dancing on the screens, the street resembled the famed "broken scene" in Faust. Altogether it was a memorable night, the like of which this town has never witnessed, and one which it will not care to witness soon again.

TRIBUNE'S CHILDISH SPLEEN.

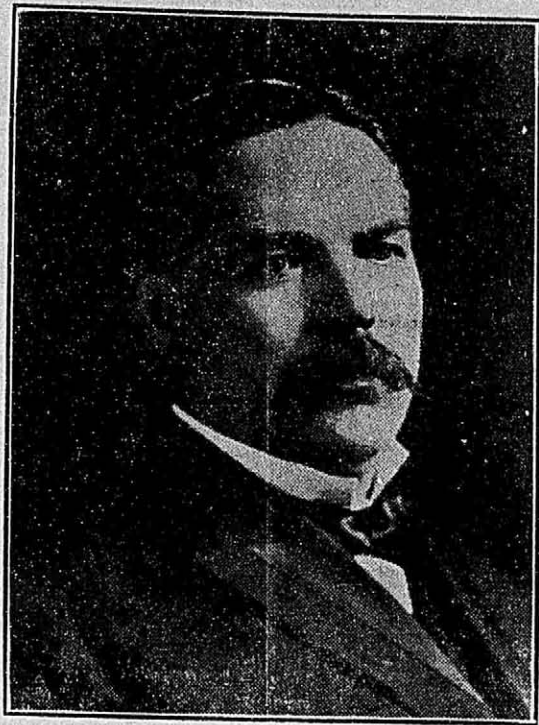

That the returns from both the county and nation were a bitter pill to the Tribune was evidenced from the pictures and caricatures thrown out on the screen in front of the Tribune office. About 9 o'clock, when news came of the congratulations being wired to Candidate Taft from the Republican national chairman and others, the Tribune flashed on its screen a photograph of Bryan; then successively of Washington, Lincoln, and McKinley; but never a picture of Taft, the successful candidate for president. Finally, throwing up the sponge entirely, the Tribune gave up the fight at about 11 o'clock, and flashed a last "good-night" on its Main street screen.

HON. JOSEPH HOWELL,
Who Succeeds Himself as Utah's Next Representative to Congress.

Congressman Howell is just completing his second term in Congress. His return to the national capital means that Utah will be served there by one who has mastered the intricacies of congressional procedure and has formed friendships which entrench his position in Washington, and make it possible for him to increase the efficiency of his service. In returning him to Congress Utah follows the precedent of many states who are finding that it pays not to be breaking in new men into congressional duty, any more than it pays to be breaking in new material in any other line of the public service, other conditions being equal as to loyalty and intelligence, once the public servant is acquainted with his duties. Congressman Howell is strong in his sympathies with Taft, and after four years of support to Roosevelt he now transfers this support to a member of Roosevelt's official family who sharpened his abilities for his present task in close intimacy with what was being done by his predecessor. His election illustrates the general tendency of another four years without serious change in the lines of activity in nation, state and county.

HON. WILLIAM SPRY, UTAH'S NEXT GOVERNOR.

Mr. Spry's election to the governorship follows many years of political activity in Utah, in which he has been a prominent member of the Republican state organization, and closely in touch with legislative problems, and those connected with the governor's office.

In the campaign four years ago he was state chairman of his party, and both before and after that date has been a member of the state committee. In his official family will be a group of men who are all familiar with the duties before them. Most of them are present incumbents of their offices, for the election was one which meant an endorsement of present policies and the return to office of many who are just completing their first terms. Secy. of State Tingey, who was state auditor before being elected to his present position, has served for four years, as the next responsible executive under Gov. Cutler, and he will take up another term of four years under Gov. Spry.

ALL SHAVEN AND SHORN.

Summary Vengeance Meted Out to a Strenuous U. of U. Student.

The sequel to the refusal of the university faculty to name election day as a holiday and the successful walk out of the medical and engineering, is a badly bruised head belonging to one strike breaker and a head all shorn and shaven belonging to another. Two sophomores, Borgquist and Walters, were discovered by the vigilantes who had been delegated by the engineering and medical societies to see that the walkout those two societies had declared for election day, was observed. The offenders were discovered in the physics laboratory and the trouble began when Henry Richardson was struck over the head by Borgquist who unexpectedly produced a club as large as a brick bat. Borgquist was immediately knocked down by the other student, benefit of his hair in large patches. Upon his release he reported the trouble to President Kingsbury who sent out notes requesting those concerned in the affray to appear before him.

The students claim that there was no ring-leader and that the student body of those two classes are equally involved.

JAILED THEN VOTED.

Joseph McMillan After Being Arrested Proves He Can Legally Vote.

A man giving the name of Joseph McMillan, residing at the Iowa House, was arrested by a special deputy sheriff yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock and taken to the county jail. He was released about half an hour later as it was found there was nothing against the man. McMillan attempted to vote at district No. 28 and as none there knew him he was closely questioned. He said he came to this country several years ago from Canada, had been naturalized and had lived in this city for more than a year. He said he had been working on the railroad but kept his residence at the Iowa House, where he lived with his wife.

When he went to vote he was challenged and an officer took him to the county jail pending an investigation. It was finally learned that the man's story was true and he was released and permitted to cast his vote.

What An Eminent Medical Man Says Dyspepsia Really Is.
Then Gain Hope.

"This affection called Dyspepsia, is the greatest torment of civilized life, and is to be considered rather as an unusual functional difficulty than as a structural disease."

The same authority has classified dyspepsia thus: "The first form due to relations with other organs which are in a morbid and unhealthy state, which is characterized as a reflex action. Of such a type is the nausea and vomiting caused by irritation of brain, lungs, liver or uterus."

The second form is caused by scanty supply of gastric juice, made evident by slowness of digestion, long retention of food in the stomach, distress for a long time after meals, accompanied by weighty and uneasy feelings at pit of stomach, decomposition of food in alimentary canal causing fetid and foul gases and the appearance of undigested food in the evacuations from bowels.

The third and last form of dyspepsia, according to this renowned medical light, is that which accompanies some abnormal quality of the gastric juice, combined with a partial paralysis of the stomach's muscles so that this organ cannot sufficiently mix the food with the digestive fluids.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will remedy each condition of a stomach affliction, as dyspepsia as above described. These tablets contain digestive agents which act with or without the aid of the stomach. One grain of an ingredient used in these tablets will digest 2,000 grains of food, and if necessary will do it in a glass vial so that the digestion can be seen by the human eye.

"They help the stomach, enrich the blood, revitalize the gastric juices, give strength to the alimentary nerves and glands. They are recommended by every druggist and 40,000 physicians who use and prescribe them. SCHOOL ELECTION NEXT ON PROGRAM

Five Members of Board of Education to be Voted on Wednesday, December 2.

NEW PIANOS FOR THE PUPILS

Additional Music in Order for Emerson, Jackson and Franklin Schools After Close Vote.

There will be a school election in this city Wednesday, Dec. 2, for the selection of five members of the board of education. The retiring members are C. S. Martin of the First, A. G. Gaudin of the Second, O. W. Moyle of the Third, Mathonhah Thomas of the Fourth, Joseph Oberndorfer of the Fifth.

Clerk Judd was instructed by the board at its regular meeting last night to make arrangements for the election by posting notices, purchasing supplies, etc.

The committee on teachers and school work recommended the purchase of an additional piano for each of the Emerson, Jackson and Franklin schools. The proposition was opposed by Mr. Newman, who thought that one instrument in each building was sufficient and it was extravagance to furnish another. The vote to purchase carried by a vote of 5 to 4.

Work benches for the elementary manual training schools will be constructed by students of the high school manual training department, the material to be furnished by the board at an expense of $146.56. The saving will be upwards of $254.

STAIRWAY FOR LONGFELLOW.

The board authorized the placing of a new stairway in the Longfellow school, at a cost of $150, and the putting in of drains at the Waterloo, Lowell and Quinlan schools. Janitors of the following schools were given additional pay, as each is required to care for the added manual training departments: Franklin, Waterloo, Webster, Quinlan, Grant, Lowell and Riverside.

Eva D. Pletcher, Mary Pendray, May Myers, Corinne Johnston, Lulu Ketting and Carson were released from their contracts as teachers, and appointments to teach were given to Nellie Shumer and Carlotta Jennings.

The report of the treasurer showed that there was a balance in the treasury Oct. 31, of the sum of $54,016.33. The monthly payroll was passed, amounting to $16,000.

Superintendent Christensen was authorized to employ additional help in his office, not to exceed $40 per month for the service.

COLDS AND CROUP IN CHILDREN.

"My little girl is subject to colds," Mrs. Wm. H. Smith, No. 41 Fifth St., Wheeling, W. Va., "last winter she had a severe spell and a terrible cough, but I cured her with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without the aid of a doctor, and my little boy has been prevented from having the croup by the timely use of this remedy. As soon as he shows any signs of croup I give him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for three or four days, which prevents the attack. This remedy is for sale by all druggists."

TAKE A DRINK OR BULLET

Is the Alternative Offered to Mrs. Maggie Hilborn by Love Stricken Mike Gullfoyle.

The combination of whisky, love and a revolver is always a bad mixture and last night was the cause of sorrow for Mike Gullfoyle, a machinist. He asked Mrs. Maggie Hilborn, who runs a small restaurant on south West Temple street, to take a drink with him. The woman refused and made it plain to Gullfoyle that she wanted nothing whatever to do with him. Gullfoyle then drew a revolver on the woman and she ran into a saloon. The man followed her and rather than be shot she consented to take a drink.

Patrolman Doty heard of the commotion and soon had the man under arrest. Gullfoyle was disarmed and locked up on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Several days ago Gullfoyle was arrested for battery upon Ralph Smith. It seems that Smith had paid some attention to the Hilborn woman and Gullfoyle became jealous. He dragged Smith out of a boarding house and gave him a beating. For this offense Judge Diehl fined the man $40.

WILL ADDRESS TEACHERS.

President J. G. Schurman of Cornell university will speak before the annual meeting of the Utah State Teachers' association, to convene for three days in this city, Dec. 21 next. President Thomas of the association secured President Schurman, who is considered one of the most profound and practical scholars in the country, especially along sociological and philosophical lines. Among the other talent also assured are Prof. Akerman, superintendent of public instruction of Oregon, and Miss Florence Weller, a prominent instructor of Detroit, Mich.

HAD HIS POCKET PICKED.

William Staken of 1011 First West street, reported to the police about 9:30 last night that while he was mingling in the crowds on Main street, a "dip" stole a gold watch and chain from his vest pocket. The police were given a description of the timepiece and are trying to locate it.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

Officer Kast Fearlessly Crawls Through A Window and Captures Burglar.

While in the act of robbing the store of the California Fish and Poultry market, 70 west First South street, at 1:20 this morning, a man giving the name of Charles Wallace was captured by Patrolman A. M. Kast. The policeman took no chances with the fellow, but drew a big revolver, covered the thief and made him throw up his hands.

Patrolman Kast discovered a rear window of the place open and upon investigation found that the window had been broken. Feeling certain that a robber was in the place Kast fearlessly crawled through the window and began looking for the man. He saw the fellow crouched in a dark corner and Kast quickly pointed his revolver at him and ordered him to throw up his hands. Wallace lost no time in obeying and begged the policeman not to shoot him. He will be charged with burglary in the second degree. Kast was warmly congratulated for the clever capture.

The Result

A campaign of clothes education has been going on for some years. An education to teach men how to dress economically, yet well. Hart Schaffner & Marx have probably done more to educate men in this line than any other one cause. The result has been better dressed men, lower cost of clothing. Come in and see their clothes today.
