FROST DAMAGES BEET GROWERS

Unharvested Tubers May be a Total Loss Due to Severe Weather.

R. G. W. ENDS COAL FAMINE.

Trainload of Fuel Relieves Distressing Situation—W. H. Swan Delivered by Bondsmen to Sheriff.

Ogden, Nov. 21.—Some of the sugar beet growers of Weber county are going to lose heavily through the severe cold weather now prevailing, because of their failure to comply with the orders of the sugar factory management to dig their beets. Never before did the beet growers of this section have a brighter year than the past season and the harvest was unusually good, but some of the farmers were desirous of keeping their beets in the ground as long as possible so as to get all the weight possible out of the beets, and therefore when the orders to dig were sent out failed to do so, and now the sudden frosty weather has frozen the ground so hard that it is impossible to get the beets up. The freezing of the beets will not injure them providing they are kept frozen, but should a warm spell come up and they were to thaw out the factory could not use them at any price. One farmer in the northern part of the county has over 12 acres of the beets out that would average 15 tons to the acre, so that unless he gets some good fortune he can get his beets out of the frozen ground and delivered to the factory in good condition he will lose about $800. There are others with smaller acreage in the same condition, their only hope being that the snow may have kept the frost from injuring the beets. The sugar factory people regret this condition as much as the farmers do, as they need all the beets obtainable to make the season's output a good one. As that not alone will the beet raisers lose through their neglect, but the unharvested people also.

COAL FAMINE ENDED.

Trainload of Coal Relieves Distressing Situation.

Ogden, Nov. 21.—The arrival of about 300 car loads of coal in Ogden over the Rio Grande Western within the past 24 hours has been a great blessing to the public and will save many homes from being cold these frosty days and the people from suffering through the neglect of the railroad companies to get fuel to the coal dealers. The securing of this large amount of coal for Ogden is due greatly through the efforts of Local Agent Cronin of the R. G. W., who realizes the suffering that would have to be endured unless relief was forthcoming immediately and notified his superiors who were quick to come to his assistance and rushed the cars through. The other roads have taken the same steps and for a time at least the coal famine will be stopped in Ogden.

TIRE OF LAW'S DELAY.

Bondsman Deliver W. R. Swan Into Custody of Sheriff.

Ogden, Nov. 21.—W. R. Swan, who was convicted of defrauding Weber county out of a large sum of money in issuing fraudulent bounty certificates, two years ago, but who appealed his conviction to the county court, where it is now pending, has been delivered over to the custody of Sheriff Sebring, his bondsman Thomas Feeney and W. D. Blosser, having asked to be released from the county whereupon the sheriff took Swan in custody and Judge Howell released the bond.

The bondsman have been hoping that the superior court would render its decision on the case for months, but as it was not forthcoming the gentlemen became tired of being held longer by Swan's appearance and acted accordingly. It will now be years since the frauds were discovered and the arrest followed, but up to the present time not one of the principals who were arrested in the Weber county frauds have been punished for their crimes.

ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY.

W. J. Frankie, who is wanted in Ogden, is charged with burglarizing the Utah Canning factory, has been captured at Rock Springs, Wyo., and will be brought back to Ogden by Sheriff Sebring. George Malan was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the crime, but was able to prove his innocence and was released from custody, but as he knows the connection Frankie is alleged to have had in the burglary he may be used as a witness against him. Frankie is charged with having broken into the canning factory office and to have stolen several checks which he filled out and passed on saloons in Ogden, after which he skipped out and could not be located until arrested at Rock Springs.

At the request of Sheriff L. G. Clark of Elko county, Nevada, Sheriff Sebring drove to North Ogden yesterday and took possession of a horse, saddle and bridle which it is claimed was stolen from a man named Robinson in Elko county and brought to Ogden by a young man named Robert Walther. According to the information furnished Sheriff Sebring, Walther stole the horse and outfit, which he over to Ogden and took to the home of his parents at North Ogden, claiming that he had bought it, and they were greatly astonished to learn anything different. The young man, after buying the horse here went to Mina, Nev., where he is supposed to be working, and Sheriff Clark has gone there to arrest him on the charge of grand larceny.

Her last attack was Monday, when she became violent and struck her aged father with his cane over the head, breaking the cane to splinters. She was taken to Provo today.

FARMERS INSTITUTES.

Agricultural College Faculty Holding Meetings in Southern Utah.

Special Correspondence.

Richfield, Sevier Co., Nov. 17.—During the next three weeks a series of farmers' institutes will be held throughout the southern portion of the state under the auspices of the agricultural college of Utah. These institutes are held in every county of the state each year by members of the college faculty as the state statutes provide. The legislature appropriated $1,500 annually to defray the expense of the institutes. This year the series of institutes is being held by Prof. Jensen, Fredericks and Stewart, who are prepared to discuss all phases of agricultural work with the farmers of this section of the state. Special emphasis, however, will be laid on organization, the use and care of farm machinery, live stock in health and disease, dry farming, alkali problems and soil fertility.

Institutes will be held at this time in Wayne, Platte, Goldfield, Kane, Washington, Iron, Beaver and Millard counties. It is the policy of the farmers' institute committee to enlist the services of progressive local men in the institute work. The committee has been specially fortunate in securing the service of President Keenmiller of the Sevier stake, who has signified his intention of joining the professors on the trip.

The party will leave Richfield early this morning for Loa where the first institute will be held on Monday night.

OBITUARY.

NELSON ARAVE.

Nelson Arave, whose death occurred July 3, 1906, was born Dec. 29, 1834 in the state of New York. When he was three years old his father and grandfather were drowned while rafting on the St. Lawrence river, after which his mother gave him to a "Mormon" family by the name of Lampton. They were among the early members of the Church, and were very intimate with the Prophet Joseph Smith. On account of Brother Lampton being aged and an invalid Brother Arave, while young, accompanied him to the various meetings of the Priesthood, and also to many friends meetings with the Prophet. He remembered well many sayings and teachings of the Prophet and often testified in private and in public to the divine mission of the Prophet Joseph Smith. He distinctly remembered the marriage of the Prophet and his brother and the subsequent trials of the Saints. He drove his ox team across the plains in 1850. Married Aroline Wadsworth, daughter of Bishop Abiah Wadsworth and Eliza Hardy, and later married Mary Ann Williams, daughter of Daniel Williams of Morgan City, Utah. He has pioneered in many of the towns in Utah and Idaho, and has always been a worker at home and at all times to aid the sick and poor, thereby gaining many friends since ever he lived. He has been a constant subscriber to the Deseret News since its first issue. After death he had always lived a faithful Latter-day Saint, leaving a numerous posterity.

main road between Castledale and Orangeville, and to be known as the Twin City creamery. It is so far finished that it started on Thursday the 15th, with about 1,000 pounds of milk. On the next day it had about 1,200 pounds of milk and today it churned 150 pounds of butter. It has two cream separators, each with a capacity of 1,500 pounds milk per hour. The need for a better method of producing butter is being felt by the farmers and attention for them. The proposition involves the keeping of the farmers at home to work for their farms better, and produce better crops.

A large force of men and teams from here are at Green River making canals, etc.

"Father" N. T. Guymon of this place has been confined to his room for some time with a bad cold and with general debility.

HOMESEEKER'S OPPORTUNITY.

There are three coal mines operated by parties living here, all within 10 or 12 miles of the town, and they are being kept quite busy by farmers from here and Castledale, who are hauling in their winter's supply of coal. The coal is a danger of a coal famine here this winter. Coal is only $1 per ton at the mine. Wood is to be had for the hauling and stacking. It would seem, therefore, that many people who feel crowded in the larger towns and cities would do well to seek out and move into the country. Homesekers are invited to come and investigate what Emery county has to offer. Buy a little farm and a few good cows and get a good ready for the sugar factory, the coal and coal camps, which in the near future will be located in Emery county.

LOCHWITZKY'S LECTURE.

Count Interestingly Pictures Russian Exile System.

Special Correspondence.
Provo, Utah Co., Nov. 21.—Count Alexander M. Lochwitzky addressed a large audience in College hall last evening on his experiences as a Russian exile in the island of Sakhalin and eastern Siberia, where he was banished in 1897 for establishing a school for the benefit of the peasants on his estate. His banishment carried with it the confiscation of his estate, divorce from his wife and disfranchisement of his children. The story told by Count Lochwitzky is intensely interesting and pathetic, and all the more interesting because coloring possible to relieve the somber picture. The count is yet a young man, 37 years of age, and it is possible that his ability to look on the bright side has greatly aided him in his bearing up under the various vicissitudes of his life, which he relates in a most graphic manner. He lectures in Salt Lake this evening and a great treat it is in store for those who attend.
