Opposed to Increases in Various Salnries, Deficit in Revenues Making Then Important.

Washington, Jan. 15 - An amondment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriations bill, increasing the salary of the president to $100,-000, of the vice president and speaker of the house of representatives to $20, 000, with $5,000 additional allowance for carriages and coachmen for the vicepresident and speaker, and increases for the judiciary aggregating $328,500. precipitated a lively discussion in the Senator Borah of Idaho made a point of order against these increases on the ground that they involve general legis-lation, which, according to the rules of the senate, cannot be placed on the ap-propriation bill in face of a single ob-jection. The debate centered upon the first of the amendments objected to, which was to increase the selary of the smeaker of the house of representatives. speaker of the house of representatives, and various criticisms were called forth against such extensive advance of salagainst such extensive advance of sal-aries, although many senators, without opposing the increase, insisted that it should be considered in a separate bill and not on single supply measures of the sevenescent and not on single supply measures of the government. Without concluding the debate, fur-ther consideration of the amendments was postponed until next Monday. When later in the day in salary question was reverted to. Senators Lodge and Hale took opposite views of the perilamentary status of the amend-ments. Mr. Lodge insisted that under the rules of the senate a point of order would not lie against them, while Mr. Hale declared that such amendments were properly general legislation and are included in the restrictive rules of the senate. He said, however, that as there had been vast additions to the military expenditures he saw no reason wby Congress should not increase the minitary expenditures he saw he reason why Congress should not increase the salaries. Mr. Clay spoke against the proposed increase, which, he said, aggregated $404,500. Senator Culberson said that he pro-posed at the proper time to offer an amendment making the speaker's sal-ary $18,000

Senator Borah speaking or the point of order made by him, said he was op-posed to the increase of these salaries, and declared that in spite of what had been done in the past, the deficit of the government makes such increases of more consequence than heretofore they have been. Mr. Borah's point of order was still under discussion when the senate adjourned.
