Mrs. Dent Tried to Kill Al. Shavers, Her Husband's Slayer.

THE VERDICT DID NOT SATISFY HER.

Found Guilty of Involuntary Manslaughter, with a Recommendation to Mercy—Manslaughter in the Court.

There came nearly being a tragedy yesterday morning at the trial of the case between the third and fourth floors of the city and county building, and that Al. Shavers is not now a dead or wounded man in due to his own prompt action in grasping a revolver in the hands of an infuriated woman, and the influence of his assistant in untangling a man which was wrapped in paper.

The trouble was between Mrs. John W. Dent and Al. Shavers, the man who shot her husband at a colored dance last November.

Mrs. Dent had been in attendance daily at the trial and appeared to take a deep interest in the proceedings. There were many times when she broke down her cheeks at the frequent references to her deceased husband.

The case reached the jury shortly after the adjournment of the court for the day. The jury returned its verdict at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, finding that an agreement was made between the defendant and the plaintiff, and that the defendant returned was involuntary manslaughter, with a recommendation to mercy.

Mrs. Dent resides on State just across the road from the city building. She came into the court room and told her husband, who was shot by Al. Shavers, that she was going to kill him. She was taken from the court room by Deputy Sheriff, and the case was continued to the next day.

The Kidneys

are the seat or the starting point of many maladies, all of them serious, all more or less painful, and all of them tending, unless cured, to a fatal end.

No organs of the body are more delicate or more sensitive than the kidneys.

When symptoms of disease appear in them a moment is to be lost if health is to be restored.

The best way to treat the kidneys is through the blood, cleansing it from the poisonous matter which is usually at the bottom of kidney complaint.

For this purpose there is no remedy equal to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For many years I have been a constant sufferer from kidney trouble, and have tried a number of remedies, but have found none so effective as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."
