SENATE. The Portification Bill Passes the House.

WASHINGTON, 19 .- Whitthorn introduced a bill to return the tax on cotton collected by the United States in 1865, 1866, 1867, and 1868 from people of certain States of the Union, to be held or used by such States for educational purposes. Placed on the calendar.

The Senate then took up the oleomargarine bill, and Vance preceded to argue against it.

Butler offered an amendment extending the principle of the bill to wines and liquors.

Gray addressed the Senate in opposition to the bill. luced a bill to return the tax on cotition to the bill. sition to the bill.

Harris also opposed the bill, on the ground that the only ipower Congress had to pass the bill was its power to levy taxes for revenue, but it was not apprehended that there was at this time the slightest necessity for an increase of the revenue. The bill was, therefore, on its face, a false pretense. Its passage would be a much more far. Its passage would be a much more farreaching danger and serious fraud on the Constitution than could be passed on the people by falsely representing oleomargarine to be butter. The revenue was for the accomplishment of an object which Congress had no power to accomplish. He had offered an amendment making it unlawful to make oleomargarine butter within the District of Columbia or the Territoies, unless it was distinctly marked as such. He was distinctly in favor of the bill to that extent, and no further, and he would be glad if every State would so legislate.

The question was taken on Harris's amendment, and it was rejected, yeas 18, nays 32.

Handait withdrew his amendment and offered another, which was adopted by unanimous consent, providing that the guas, projectiles, etc., purchased shall be of American manufacture. The bill was then passed.

The next business was the consideration of the Senate concurrent resolution for the printing of 26,000 copies of the third annual report of the civil service commission. Agreed to — yeas 188, nays 46. 188, nays 46.

Perkins moved that the House re-cede from its disagreement to the Sen-ate amendment. Lost, 20 to 142.

The House then insisted upon its disagreement, and a fourth conference was ordered.

Morrison of filinois offered a concurrent resolution for the final adjournment of Congress at 5 o'clock of July 28th. Referred to the committee on ways and means.

Cholera in Japan. SAN FRANCISCO, 18.—Associated Press Yokahama advices by the steam-er Starbuck, which state that the cholera which has been raging at Asaka, Kiog, and Kioto, is now abating. About 100 cases are now occurring daily at the last named place and fifty of each of the latter cities. The mortality is about eighty-five per Distributing the Money. NEW ORLEAMS, 19 .- An Indian Ter-ritorial special to the Times-Demograt says: The distribution per capita of the $800,000 received, by the Cherokees for grazing privileges is now being made under an act of the Cherokee Legislature, and to the full-blood. Cherekees only. These number 18,319, and the amount due esch is $15:95. The negroes and other adopted citizens who claimed a share in the money, and whose claims have been ignored, will carry the matter into the courts. The payment of the money will be finished by August 1st.

San Francisco, 19.—News was received here to day of the murder of L. if. Kohler, a well known mariner on this coast, and his cook, by the natives of Bongainville Island, of the Solomon group, in the South Pacific. The savages also destroyed the trading station he had established there.

this article might reach the price of genuine butter. This bill he admitted was not for revenue purposes nor was it to build up one industry at the expense of another. Congress simply said that the best way to provide against fraud was to regulate the manufacture of the article. It was said that the people used the article because it was cheaper; but the people did not get the benefits of cheapness because of this fraudulent branding. Congress undertook in this bill to deal with that question, and he saw no Constitutional objections to it.

After a long debate the Senate adjourned.

Washington, 19.—Immediately after the reading of the journal the Heuss resumed the consideration of the fortification appropriation bill, the pendagain to centralization, and immens powers will be vested in the President powers will be vested in the President. There are to be no more "sovereign" States but departments, the governors of two of which—Panama and Cundinamara—will be appointed by the President of the Republic, and not, as heretofore, by the people. The term of service of the governors will be considerably extended, whilst changes will be made in the election system and in the regulations of the religious matters of the State.

In 1880 it was thought necessary to build reservoirs at the head waters of the Mississippi. After Congress had passed the law the Attorney General's opinion was solicited, and in this opinion he had declared that the government had no authority to overflow the lands helpering to the Indian or opinion he had declared that the government had no authority to overflow the lands belonging to the Indians, or to take material from them. Notwithstanding this opinion, mains have been erected, and the annuities of the Indians have expired. Then the crops of wild rice and sugar, and their supply of fish have been completally destroyed, and they have no means of subsistence left. The indians are in want now, and are growing desperate. Through the effects of their friends they have been so far peaceable, but during the coming winter no one need be surprised if the government works are rulased by men made desperate by nunger and want. The Bishop in visiting the country met a party of Leech Lake Indians starting fresh fires between Cross Lake and Red Land. It inquired of the Indians." said the Bishop, "what it was for, and was fold it was retained in white people what the waite people had done toward destroying their property."

The Chamber them, voted, to use its had endead and the manual transmissions and the main property."

CHICAGO, 19.—Several policemen who were in the fight. of May sith testified as to the events of that night. They all swore that Fielden fired repeatedly at the police. Two members of the Knights of Laboratrom Michigan testified that Spies had unfolded his plans to them. He said their secret originization in Chicago numbered and that they proposed to revolutionize society in gaussal. He mentioned explosives in connection with the mode of warfars.

Officers Bohner and Shanley were the first witnesses this atternoon. They gave clear, direct testimony that Fielden not only participated in the Haymarket riot as one of the speakers, but that he drew a revolver and fired lato the ranks of the police. This notificated the evidence by Lieutenant Quinn, which on Saturday created a sensation, there having been no previous information or proof positive that any leading defendant had bimself personally attempted the shanghter of the police.

Officer Bohner swore that he stood some three or four feet away from the wagon when the beamb exploded, and saw Fielden crouch behind one of the wheels and discharge a revolveriant the police. Witness was absolutely certain that Fielden is the man be saw shoot the officer. Never saw Fielden before nor since that hight until today, but unhesitatingly identified him.

Officer Stanley gave substantially the same story. He attempted to kill Fielden on the spot but the man, with five or six others, ran quickly into the alley which was close to the wagon.

James K. Magie was put on the stand and asked concerning the meeting in the West Twelfth Street Turner Hall on October 11th last. He said Spies and Fielden were present and the former proposed the resolutions, which were passed, recommending the use of force and arms, instead of the ballot, to redress the wrongs of the laboring men. The resolutions advised the workingmen to arm themselves to enforce the eight hour movement projected for the 1st of May. The speches of Fielden and Spies might best be summed up in the words—force, arms and dynamite. The resolutions were enturisistically carried. About 500 people were present.

Thomas Gerof, the swner of the hall enthusiastically carried. About 500 people were present.

Thomas Gerof, the Jwner of the hall where the anarchists met, according to Waller's testimony, testified as to the iccation of the premises, but furnished no evidence of importance. Witness was cross-examined to show that from the nature of the situation very little secresy could have been had for the meeting.

Officer Job Boyle arose from among the spectators and with the aid of crutches hobbled to the witness stand. He carried thirteen wounds, the souvenirs of the Haymarket riot. He pointed at Fielden, who said: Now it's your time."

your time."

The remainder of the afternoon was occupied in the examination of Detective James Bonfield, who arrested Spies and Schwab on the day following the massacre. A number of articles found is close proximity to Spies' editorial desk were shown. Among them was a piece of fuse live inches long, and a tuiminating cap a huge revolver nearly a foot long and beautifully plated, were also exhibited.

When the hour of adjournment was reached the jury looked completely fagged out.

In the divorce case of Crawford against Crawford and Dilke, an expert in caligraphy testified that he had compared the handwriting in four letters as mittedly written by Mrs. Crawford signed Virginia, with the anonymous letters warning Crawford against the "Member for Chelsea" and which eventually stirred Crawford ap to the discovery of his wife's alleged relations with Sir Charles Dilke. The expert said the similarity between the writing in the anonymous notes and in the signed etters was so great that he believed the same person had written all the letters he examined.
