FOREIGN.

TIKNOVA, 6.—The Government will send a note to General Kaulbars, charging that the Russian agents in Bulgaria are engaged in organizing a revolt. The Prefect of Philippopolis has asked for authority to search the residences of that city for the notorious Nihilists, Noviski and Dragoman, who, he had discovered, had been plotting the revolt. The Government instructed the Prefect to proceed with the search, but told him it must be conducted in the presence of Foreign Consuls.

LONDON, 6.—The Socialists have decided to hold a meeting at Trafalgar Square, Monday, Lord Mayor's day, and the programme for the day's exercises has been issued.

LONDON, 6.—Rev. Dr. Parker has invited a conference of the clergymen of all denominations to discuss the question, "Is a State Church compatible with Christian Unity?"

LIVERPOOL, 6.—Five hundred delegates attended the convention of the Irish National League of Great Britain in this city to-day. Among those present were Thomas Power O'Connor, Joseph Biggar, Mr. O'Brien and other members of the Irish Parliamentary party. The attendance was double that of the annual meeting in 1885. President O'Connor said he never before had such faith in the success of the League's cause as he had now. Ireland was more determined and united than ever and its hopes higher in the minds of the people.

LONDON, 7.—Socialist meetings were held in all parts of London yesterday and to-day. They protested against stopping the proposed procession and meeting in Trafalgar Square on the Lord Mayor's day. The leaders have repeated their determination to hold a meeting in Trafalgar Square.

SOFIA, 7.—Geschoff, minister of finance, has resigned.

It is announced from St. Petersburg that the Czar intends to intrust the administration of Bulgaria to the Russian Senator St. Janowski, until a Prince has been legally elected.

PARIS, 8.—In the budget debate in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, Raoul Duval, free trader, and formerly a Bonapartist, made a memorable speech, which will produce a lasting effect. A few weeks ago he endeavored without success, to induce several of his party to join the moderate Republicans and form a kind of Whig party, abiding by republican government, but banded against radicalism. On Saturday he severed the last link binding him to the Right and joined the Republicans. He was followed by deputies Eberly and LePentre. In opening his speech M. Duval opposed the projected loan and income tax, on the ground that France was too heavily burdened already. He counseled all parties to unite for the purpose of carrying the reforms needed. He continued: "Our sheet anchor should be complete union. Thirty-seven million French Democrats are ready if needed to make every sacrifice to preserve the independence and dignity of this country." Turning to the Left he reproached them; being the stronger party, he said, it was incumbent upon them to initiate a reconciliation policy; instead of this, they have divided France even to the remotest village, in two hostile camps. He accused the Right of Fetishism and concluded his long oration with an appeal to all parties to join hands for the welfare of the country.

When Duval had concluded, the Republican deputies crowded around him and offered their congratulations. Minister De Freycuet, Goblet and Lockroy shaking his hand.

TIKNOVA, 8.—A number of deputies have issued a manifesto calling on the Bulgarians to arm themselves and rise against Russia.

Kaulbars has caused the report to be widely circulated that Prince Ferdinand, of Hohenzollern, will shortly be proclaimed successor to the King of Roumania.

The Russian ironclad Mercury has arrived at Bourgas, the scene of the recent revolt, and is at anchor in the harbor.

Sofia, 8.—A state of siege has been proclaimed throughout Bulgaria.

LONDON, 8.—Fred Archer, the celebrated jockey, is dead.

LONDON, 8.—Archer's death was the result of a pistol shot wound inflicted by himself while in a delirium resulting from fever.

LONDON, 8.—The four oared shell race between Haulon, Teemer, Hamm and Teneycke, in one boat, and Ross, Lee, Bubeur and Perkins in another, was rowed to-day on the Thames. Haulon's crew won.

The race was for one hundred pounds a side. The course was from Battersea old church to the flag boat moored opposite to Gwynne's engineering works at Hammersmith. Haulon's crew made a better start and soon had a lead of a length. This was increased at the end of the first half mile to two lengths, and to four lengths when Putney was reached. Haulon's crew won easily.

Captain Drummond, of the British bark Don committed suicide on Oct. 27, by jumping overboard.

At Raverma, Cal., Oct. 29th, Wm. Trask fell through a railroad bridge, disabling his spine, the injury being fatal.

PACIFIC COAST NOTES.

CULLED FROM WESTERN EXCHANGES.

At Los Angeles, Oct. 27th, Thomas Howell, a fireman on the Southern Pacific, was run over by a flat car and killed.

George Brown, a teamster, was killed at Redwood City, Cal., Oct. 27th, by being thrown from his wagon and run over.

J. L. Baker, while riding a log to the sawmill at Bogus, Cal., Oct. 30th, had his neck broken by the chain giving way and allowing the log to roll over him.

At Saratoga Springs, on the Death Valley road, Nev., Oct. 25th, Al Bryson, a teamster, was killed by a man named Wassam. The weapon used was a shovel.

On Oct. 29th, at Baker City, Oregon, E. D. Cohn, an old pioneer, was killed by G. C. Israel, a prominent lawyer. Israel was indicted for murder in the first degree next day.

Captain Hutton, of the British ship Locknow, which arrived in San Francisco, Oct. 27, from Port Louis, Mauritius, had nearly a mutiny on the ship at sea Sept. 29. Four of the sailors rebelled, and were with great difficulty subdued. They were put in irons and kept so for the rest of the voyage.

A man found murdered recently six miles north of Coyote Station, Washington Territory, has been identified as Wm. Sterhog, of Walla Walla. He had been at work during the summer on the Cascade branch. He had a good team and $300, and was returning in company with a man named Timmerman. There is strong circumstantial evidence against Timmerman, who is now in jail at The Dalles.

On October 29th, John Wilson, a well-to-do blacksmith of Los Angeles, Cal., hired two tramps to work in his vineyard. In the evening, while one of them talked very entertainingly to Mr. Wilson, his partner slipped up stairs and stole $750 in gold coin which Wilson had laid aside to pay his taxes, and a $60 gold chain belonging to Mrs. Wilson. The pair then strolled out for a walk and did not return.

At Newtown, Douglas Island, off Alaska, on the night of Oct. 16th, there was a row between some drunken Indians, and one Price, a gambling-house keeper. Price got a gun and shot an Indian boy through the heart and seriously wounded the captain of the steamer Lucy. Both were innocent in the matter. Next day every man in Newtown was arrested, and being unable to furnish bail, they were all sent to jail at Sitka to await trial. It is stated that whisky is brought to the Indians by sloops sailing from Seattle which it is impossible to apprehend without the assistance of a revenue cutter.

At Victoria (B.C.) October 29th, Robert Evan Sproule was executed for the murder of Thomas Hamill, on June 3d, 1885, on the border of Kootenay lake. There has been a diversity of opinion as to the guilt of the murderer, he having been convicted upon circumstantial evidence. A miner named Velnoweth, who was mining on Kootenay lake with Thomas Hamill on the morning of the murder was passing the Blue Belt Claim, on his way to their claim, at noon, when he discovered Hamill lying prostrate and almost unconscious at the entrance of the mine. He said that he had been shot and wished to die. Velnoweth called a comrade named Duncan and they endeavored to get from Hamill the name of the murderer, but he was too far gone to speak, and died without giving a clue to the perpetrator of the deed. Sproule was convicted of the charge and executed, protesting his innocence to the last.

At Baker City, Oregon, October 27th, Fred Winkelman pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. He is under 20 years old. Two years ago he stole four head of horses to get even on a man who would not pay him his wages as a cattle herder, and started for Idaho. He ran the horses at night and slept in the daytime. Two old residents of Oregon, searching for lost cattle, came upon Winkelman while he was asleep. The boy, aroused suddenly, thought the officers were in pursuit, seized his Henry rifle and shot both men dead. While incarcerated he set fire to the jail and was nearly burned to death. His wounds at this time are horrible. It is not likely he will live one year in the State Prison.

Near Eureka (Nev.), October 29th, Captain J. M. Foley, an old-time miner and prospector of Eureka district, met with a distressing death at his cabin, in Secret Cañon. During the evening he visited some neighboring miners and talked of having considerable writing to do. A little after 8 o'clock he took his departure and about 9 o'clock a loud explosion roused the entire settlement. Foley's cabin, some distance off, was seen to be a mass of flames. All possible haste was made to reach the scene, and Foley's body was found against a stump probably 60 feet from the cabin. The head was torn completely off and the body stripped of its clothing. The general belief is that when he went to the cabin he commenced to do his writing, and while so engaged either his clothing or bedding caught fire, and in endeavoring to put it out some light powder that had been stored there became ignited and the explosion followed.

WHENEVER and wherever an honest article of high merit has been produced in Utah, this establishment has invariably given it that preference, encouragement and opportunity, without which, no Home product, however meritorious, can achieve success. We have followed this principle for seventeen years, and have not yet seen the slightest cause to abandon or modify it, and it is our earnest belief that every Merchant of high principle, who values the true interest of the people whose patronage he seeks, will accept this view.

We endorse, believe in and recommend the SOAPS made in Utah, as the best articles in that line that we carry, and will pay freight both ways and all other damages when dissatisfaction occurs.
