Location for a New Mint.

WASHINGTON, 6.—The report of Dr. Linderman, director of the mint, as to the establishment of a branch mint at some point in the Mississippi valley, recommends Indianapolis as the location, for the reason that in that city there are government buildings no longer required for other purposes, which can be utilized without the delay or expense attendant on the construction of a new edifice.

The Report of Dr. Linderman About New Mint.

The President sent the following message to the Senate to-day—

"To the Senate of the U. S.

"In reply to the resolution of the Senate, of the 27th of Feb'y last, requesting the President to institute inquiries as to the proper place for the establishing a branch mint, at some point in the Western States, or in the Mississippi Valley, I transmit herewith the report and accompanying papers of the director of the mint, who was charged with the duty of making the inquiries called for by the said resolution. (Signed) "U. S. GRANT."

Dr. Linderman, in his report, states that he has visited the cities of Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Kansas City, and Denver, and examined their advantages respectively with reference to the establishment of a mint. He says—"The principal commercial and railroad centres in the west are St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Omaha and Kansas City, all of which offer ample facilities for economically conducting mint operations, both as respects the cost of the necessary supplies and the rate of labor; they also possess sufficient facilities for distributing coin to the cities and towns of the Mississippi Valley. For the coinage of silver it is not very material which of the cities referred to shall be selected for the location of the mint, as, under the law, such coinage, with the exception of the trade dollar, must be on the government account exclusively, and as the bullion required for the same must be procured by purchase, the supply will come chiefly from the different reduction and refining works hereafter referred to. It is important, however, to avoid the delay, and particularly the expense which would attend the construction of a new edifice, and which may be accomplished by utilizing some of the government buildings no longer required for other purposes. The only government buildings in the west adapted for mint operations are the U. S. arsenal at Indianapolis and the U. S. postoffice at St. Louis. The latter will not be vacated until the completion of the new U. S. buildings in St. Louis, which will require probably three or four years. The edifice at Indianapolis, it is believed, is no longer required for the purposes to which it has hitherto been devoted, and could be converted into a mint at a moderate expense within three months. If it be the intention to establish a mint in the Western States for the coinage of silver only, and assuming that the arsenal building can be vacated and turned over for use as a mint, the true policy would appear to be to locate it at Indianapolis.

"Having stated my conclusions as to the location of a mint for the coinage of silver, I deem it proper to refer, briefly and in general terms, to the minting requirements of the territory known as the Mississippi Valley. That extensive and highly productive section will require in the near future a considerable coinage of gold and silver. If the demand is to be met by one mint, it should be located at a point as near the centre of the valley as practicable, having reference to procuring cheap supplies and facilities for receiving bullion and distributing coin. The city of St. Louis, being situated nearer the centre of the valley than any other principal city or railroad centre, and possessing equal advantages in other respects for the conducting of coinage operations, it would appear to be the proper location for the establishment of a thoroughly equipped mint of the capacity for both gold and silver coinage equal to the requirements of the present and future."

Bills Introduced in Congress.

In the House, to-day, bills were introduced and referred as follows—

By Palmerson, of Colorado, authorizing the purchase of gold dust and bullion at the Denver mint; also to provide for coinage at the Denver mint.

By Luttrell, of Cala., to carry into effect the Hawaiian convention; also relating to the production of fruit brandy; also for a survey of the Sacramento river; also granting to the California Central Narrow Gauge Co. certain rights to U. S. lands at Benicia, Cal.

By Piper, of Cala., to modify the existing treaties with the Chinese nation.

By Page, of Cala., for the improvement of the San Joaquin river; also in reference to entails of lands under the homestead laws.

By Durrell, of Minn., to amend the act for the encouragement of the growth of timber on the western prairies.

By Lane, of Oregon, for the improvement of Coose harbor.
