T. C. Thompson has gone to San Francisco expecting to bring back his son, Milan, who enlisted in the U. S. naval service last spring. Jacobson, Anna B. Scheitler, Pearl K. Everson, Annie Larsen, Lillian Carlisle, Annie Pledstorf, Susan, Venice and Home, this last lecture, which is the second of a series to be delivered here this season, was very much appreciated because of its interesting and instructive nature and because, maybe, that from this place the young man was called on his mission, previous to which he was principal of our schools.

Justice Johnson of this place recently administered a mild lecture lashing to some young men who so far forgot the etiquette of very gentlemanly behavior as to engage in very riotous and disorderly conduct at a public dance at this place. The school attendance this year is unusually large and high interest is manifested by all concerned.

But little grain is sown this fall because of the very dry condition of the of the Sever river, about a mile west of Mr. Steele's ranch, in a cave in the head. There were in the cave the head, an old ax, some quilts, two steel traps, and an old watch chain. The head had from all appearances been cut from the body, but there was no sign of the body to be seen, the head had a bandage around it, and there was blood in the hair under the bandage.

THE HEAD BROUGHT TO PANGUITCH.

Some think that it is the head of an Indian woman. Close by were found two old saddles, the cowboys' and those of the California riders. Sheriff Haycock and District Attorney Childers are now looking the matter up. There has not been time enough since the finding to tell much about it. The Indians have been seen and say they do not know anything about the find.

There were some baby clothes by the head. It is thought by the officers that the remains have lain there about two years. A thorough search for the body will be made.

ST. GEORGE.

DELMAR DUST VICTIM.

William G. Miles, Jr., Succumb After Lingering Illness.

St. George, Washington Co., Nov. 6.—On Nov. 2, 1902, Wm. G. Miles, Jr., here called "Dust," died at his home, St. George, July 21, 1875. Funeral services were held last Monday, at 2 p. m., in the large tabernacle, which was decorated with flowers. The body was taken into the hall filled with relatives and friends of deceased, showing how much he was respected by all who knew him. Appropriate remarks were made by Elders James G. Bleak, David H. Cannon, Thos. Judd and President Edward H. Snow. Splendid and impressive funeral services were rendered by the ward choir, including the beautiful "Hallelujah Chorus" and the beautiful "Gloria." "His gone to the beautiful land."

Brother Miles was a very dutiful son and a valiant worker on the truth. He filled an honorable mission of 24 months in Kentucky, and Hickman county, Tenn., returning home Aug. 7, 1901. He was a ward teacher and a member of the choir, also a teacher in the Sabbath school. He was patient and hopeful in his affliction to the time of his death, which was superinduced by inhaling the dust, while working at Delmar mill, Nev., more than seven years ago, when its baneful effects were but little known.

PAROWAN.

REPUBLICAN JOLIFICATION.

Banquet and Ball Enjoyed by Four Hundred People.

Special Correspondence.

Parowan, Iron Co., Nov. 7.—Election results in the Republican party, everything, from congressman to precinct officers.

Last night the Republican party in style their complete victory in this county last evening. The celebration was held at the Parowan hotel, where a light procession, the gun club being out in full strength, headed by our fine brass band. The streets were lit up by huge bonfires, and the air was filled with the deafening of a cannon, and a grand ratification in the opera house, where congratulatory speeches by leading Republicans of this and surrounding towns were made.

The Republicans elected every officer on their ticket and naturally feel quite elated.

The grand on the line between here and Corinne is fast nearing completion, and our city fathers are pushing on the work of the erection of our new city electric light and power plant.

DAY TURNED INTO NIGHT.

Another transformation of the interior of a family mansion resulted in an extraordinary incident of the plays of nature. The owner, Fredrickson, retired stockbroker, was determined to turn night into day, and it cost him thousands of dollars to do it. All the outside windows of the mansion were closed, and the interior was lighted up, so as to exclude every ray of natural light. Entrance to the mansion was through a door and window opening onto a magnificent garden space, which was open to the roof. From the roof, when it was night out.

FAIRVIEW.

SERIOUS LOSS BY FIRE.

Barn, Stable and Hay of Andrew Hansen Destroyed.

Special Correspondence.

Fairview, Sanpete Co., Nov. 9.—Last evening Andrew Hansen and his family were severely loss by fire. A little boy, perhaps burned by fire, and five years old, secured a match and went down to the barn to start a fire, and in the entire destruction of his father's barn, stable, corral, 20 tons of hay and other fodder for winter use. This falls the first time that a fire has done nothing was insured, and he has a pretty large family and in straight circumstances. But as this has been a pretty good year, and the farmers have been better off than in years of hay, it is expected that those who have been blessed with plenty will be willing to sacrifice a little of their abundance to help the unfortunate.

MASCOT.

NEW MINING TOWN.

Under Quarantine for Smallpox—School Established.

Special Correspondence.

Mascot, Salt Lake Co., Nov. 10.—This is a new mining town situated four miles northwest from Fort Herriman, commanding a fine view of the valley east and north, as also Utah county on the south. At this point the Cascot tunnel is being entered, which is designed to drain the waters from the mine in Bingham canyon. Mascot has come up like a mushroom, a new schoolhouse has been built midway between here and the Dalton and Lark mine, in which a district school is being taught. A Miss Newman from Riverton is teaching the young ideas how to shoot. Sunday school has been organized, and a ward was expected to be established here, but for the existence of a case of smallpox, which had developed. Some person from American Fork had brought the disease, and the town was placed under strict quarantine. No person will be allowed to come or go from the town until the quarantine is lifted. There has been too much carelessness on the part of some American Fork citizens moving about who have been sick of the malady. The health officers in the different districts have not shown proper vigilance.

SANTAQUIN.

LECTURE BY A. C. REES.

School Attendance Unusually Large—Drouth Causes Apprehension.

Special Correspondence.

Santaquin, Utah Co., Nov. 10.—A large congregation at the commodious Latter-day Saints' meetinghouse met Saturday evening last to listen to A. C. Rees, a lately returned missionary to Sweden, Norway and Denmark, of German in the high school of Salt Lake City. With vivid tongue he portrayed his journey on land and sea, and pictured realistically the scenes at the National Washington Independence Hall, Philadelphia; Niagara Falls, Faneuil Hall, Boston; Bern, Zurich, Geneva, Alpine glaciers, Florence, Rome, Venice and Rome, this last lecture, which is the second of a series to be delivered here this season, was very much appreciated because of its interesting and instructive nature and because, maybe, that from this place the young man was called on his mission, previous to which he was principal of our schools.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

A CURE FOR ALL.

Not a Patent Cure-all, Nor a Modern Miracle, But Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think that the public will be easily deceived by claims that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no farther.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and its troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a radical cure. They go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia who will give them a trial, will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain it.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients, accepted by the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medicinal properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overburdened organ and restores the healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of food, including the most delicate and rich, and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the entire system and every organ in the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cts. per package.

MARK WAS CAUTIOUS.

Senator Stewart of Nevada tells a story in the Philadelphia Post of Mark Twain's early days in Carson City.

"At that time," said Senator Stewart, "my humor did not extend to the philosophy of calm which comes with age degrees. He was a journalist, and an untutored one. In Carson City he boarded at the home of his brother, who was a model citizen and a Christian."

"One morning I was a guest of his brother at breakfast. We had just seated ourselves at the table, and I was about to draw from the stairway a paper which I had just received."

"Have you read the Scripture lesson this morning?" asked the reply.

"Had family prayers?" continued the voice from above.

"Yes, Sam," said the host, smiling at the question.

"There was a pause, and then in the new well-known drawl came the further question:

"Did you grace?"

"Yes," responded the patient head of the household.

"All right, then," came the cheerful comment from the stairway: "I'll be glad to hear of your success in the future."

"The King's Reviver" is a secret, but it is a powerful agent in the promotion of the welfare of nations, joined us at the breakfast table."

THE MIXOLOGIST'S MIXTURE.

Liquid forms of coronation rejoicing have been plentiful and varied, but the most seductive concoction yet invented is "The King's Reviver."

An expert American bartender, who styles himself a "mixologist," is a dispenser of "mixology," a response to the new drink, which is warranted to stand the wear and tear of any climate and to cheer as well as invigorate. The "mixologist" himself, who includes a number of ingredients which are considered indispensable to the success of the American mixed drink.
