A DISCOURAGING PICTURE.

Extracts from an Address, unanimously adopted by the People's Meeting, at Bozeman, Montana, to the Voters of Lewis and Clark Counties.

As it ushers in no vital issues divide the parties, the contest has centered to some principle, and has become simply a scramble for office. Earnest and true men retire in disgust from the arena of politics and their places are filled by a lot of hungry communists, who jostle each other in the struggle for power and place.

It is hard to express the depravity of the class which furnishes indubitable proof that corruption is spreading into almost every department of the government and every avenue of public life. Our leading Representatives in Congress and denly deny the truth of their accusations.

Public life is becoming a highway to fortune, instead of necessitating a career of honorable poverty, as in former days.

Everywhere corrupt rings and monopolies prey upon the industrial interests of the country—Clayton & Co., in Arkansas; Morris & Co., in California; Sanborn & Co., in New York; and Shepherd & Co., in Washington, have in turn startled the country by their bold and unscrupulous disregard of every principle of honesty and decency.

The careers of such men are without a parallel in the better days of the Republic, and only find their counterpart in the shameless political hucksters of the Democratic city of New York.

The good men of the country are everywhere clamorous for reform, but no reform is possible while undertaken through the agency of present political organizations. Party lines often serve to divide honest and true men upon good issues, while demagogues and office-seekers use them as a means to worm themselves into positions of honor and profit.

It is idle to vote resolutions in favor of retrenchment and reform, unless we take the necessary steps to accomplish such a result. The Democratic control of the year past involved it heavily in debt. Although burdensome taxation was imposed upon the people, yet, the revenues were dissipated with but few beneficial results, and a large public debt was also created against the country. The Republican party failed to do the pledged work of retrenchment and profite.

The Jewelry is selected with the utmost care, and the articles are unsurpassed both for strength and good going.

All goods are made of the most reliable materials and are testimonials from most respectable gentlemen in the Territories.
