TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS and DISORDERED LIVER.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, a feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work, and are a perfect

FROM THE FOUR WINDS.

The area of the coal fields of the world is estimated at 134,000 geographical miles.

Laws are like cobwebs, which may catch small flies, but let wasps and hornets break through.

There is a boy's school out West with only eight attendants, but recently the mumps has swelled the number somewhat.

Since the development of the tree culture the forests of Europe have increased from one-sixth to one-fifth of the entire territory.

An Albany girl has two distinct palates, and it is awful to think of the consequences if one of them preferred ice cream and the other oysters.

Russia possesses 19,674,723 horses, and yet is so alarmed at the export which has risen from 6,000 in 1878 to 35,000 in 1882, that a tax is talked of.

The Sutlej, a large river in British India, with a descent of 12,000 feet in 180 miles, or about 67 feet per mile, is the fastest flowing river in the world.

People are apt to pay you in the self-same coin you pass on them. If you give the gold of love you will get gold in return, and if you give the brass of impertinence you will get it back again before many days.

A New York physician says that a baby must not be allowed to sleep with its mother. If he means by this that the baby should sleep with its father he will incur the undying hatred of all married men.

"My boy," said a father to his son, "treat everybody with politeness, even those who are rude to you. For remember, that you show courtesy to others not because they are gentlemen, but because you are one."

You find yourself refreshed by the presence of cheerful people. Why not make an earnest effort to confer that pleasure on others? You will find half the battle is gained if you never allow yourself to say anything gloomy.

A man never feels more disgusted with himself than when he has been watching a red light for about half an hour, and waiting for the horse car's approach, to find that the light comes from a globe in a corner drug store.

Visitor: "Oh, oh! Here you are! Found you out! What a snug little den!" Recluse (chuckling): "Yes, here I am, with my pictures and my books; and here I can sit and read all day long, and nobody a bit the wiser."

The original national anthem of Britain was written very appropriately by John Bull. He died some time in 1623. He was musician to James I., and he wrote many compositions of which little is known, excepting of the one entitled, "God save the King."

Rejected Addresser: "Yes, and she demanded back her letters, the perfidious creature," Chum: "Well, I suppose you'll send them back. She's serving you very cruelly, but—" R. A.: "Stop; that's not all. By mistake I sent her a bundle of letters I have been receiving from another girl.

Near-sighted old gentleman (entering store:) "Have you any linen dusters?" Young Snobson (with his most sarcastic manner)—"I am not a clerk in this establishment, yet, sir." N. S. O. G.—"Not a clerk, eh? Errand boy, I presume? Well, legs are as good as brains in some departments."

A new clock has been invented, and coming into use in Europe, which is warranted by its manufacturers to run for five years without either winding or regulation. The Belgian Government placed one in a railway station in 1881, sealed with the government seal, and it has kept perfect time ever since.

A large number of American statesmen started in life as school teachers. William H. Seward and Lyman Trumbull went South as tutors, John Adams taught while studying law, James Madison taught in Virginia, John Quincy Adams taught at Harvard College, Andrew Jackson had a short experience as a teacher in North Carolina, Millard Fillanore was a teacher, and so were Garfield, Blaine and Cleveland.

Once a kiteflyer attached to the tail of a large kite a kitten, sewed in a canvas bag with a string over the mouth to give it air. When the kite was at its greatest height—some 200 feet or more—the mewing of the kitten could be distinctly heard by those holding the string. To the clearness of the air was attributed the hearing of the kitten's voice, and no telephone patent was applied.

Miss Sutro, the daughter of the man who built the famous Sutro Tunnel received a great many letters from a professor in Berlin, who had seen her photograph and had been captivated by it, proposing marriage. She sent them all unanswered to her father, who was in Spain. Mr. Sutro afterward saw the Professor in Berlin, and liked him so much that he advised his daughter to answer his correspondence, and the end of it is that they will marry.

In this year of grace so far are men from beating their swords into ploughshares or their spears into pruning hooks that the great cannon manufacturer of Germany, Herr Krupp, employs in his particular form of industry not less that 20,000 workmen. What will the harvest be one of these days? It looks as if Europe would have to have one more great war—perhaps a war involving all the great powers—before the atmosphere is cleared, and an era of settled peace sets in.

Jenny Lind, the renowned singer, is spending the autumn of her days in a charming home which she purchased last year at Wind's Point, England. It is a romantic spot, and looks upon the scene of the Tewkesbury fight, Gloucester, Cheltenham, Shakspeare's Avon, the beacon tower that gave forth its lurid light to tell the anxious Parliament in London that Charles had been defeated in the fight at Edgehill, and other points of historic interest. It is one of the most notable homes in England.

To make champaigne cider, fresh cider is boiled down to two-thirds and is bottled while hot, two raisins and a teaspoonful of white sugar, or as much sugar candy are put into each bottle, the corks are tied down and the bottles laid on their sides in racks in a cool cellar. In a few months the gas begins to form and the cider is fit for use. Cider thus prepared and put in clean casks will keep several months. It is a good thing to strain the fresh cider after it has settled for six hours through some some clean washed sand which makes it very clear and bright.

Mrs. Colonel Yerger, of Austin avenue, recently hired a colored girl named Matilda Snowball, but she was only in the house a few days when she was caught stealing money. "You're a nice one?" said Mrs. Yerger, indignantly; "you ought to be ashamed of your self. You hardly get into the house before you begin to steal money." "I know hit ain't right ter begin so soon," was the reply "I was gwinter wait a week or so before I took somefin,' but de gemman who am payin' me 'tentions am runnin' for office on de reform ticket, and he says he has to hab money for he campaign 'sbenses, no matter what it comes from."—Texas Siftings.

Of all the saints in the calendar the most remarkable in many ways was St. Patrick of Ireland. The most marvelous miracle on record is told of him. It is said that he swam across the Shannon "with his head in his mouth." After clearing Ireland of most of its vermin, one wily old serpent resisted his efforts. St. Patrick overcame it by cunning. He made a box and invited the serpent to enter it. The serpent insisted it was too small; and so high did the contention grow that the serpent got into the box to prove that he was right, whereupon St. Patrick slammed down the lid and cast the box into the sea.

It is a singular fact that America is indebted to Pompeii for the great industry of canning fruit. Years ago, when the excavations were just beginning, a party of Cincinnatians found in what had been the pantry of a house a great many jars of preserved figs. One was opened, and they were found to be fresh and good. Investigation showed that the figs had been put into the jars in a heated state, and aperture left for the steam to escape, and then sealed with wax. The hint was taken, and the next year the canning of fruit was introduced in the United States, the progress being identical with that in vogue in Pompeii twenty centuries ago.

TONS OF DOLLARS.

There are now in the treasury vaults at Washington 136,000,000 of silver dollars, which weigh 9,738,000 pounds, or upwards of 4,869 tons of 2,000 pounds each. If placed in ordinary coal carts, a ton in each, and allowing fifteen feet of space for each cart, it would make a continuous procession fourteen miles long. The above figures do not include the silver bullion and fractional silver coins held by the treasury. Of the latter there are now on hand $30,000,000, and of the former $4,000,000, the aggregate weight of which is 1,217 tons, thus making the total weight of silver now in the treasury 7,086 tons. To provide storage for his stock of silver an additional vault has been constructed in the basement of the treasury department, directly underneath the cash room. This vault is thirty-one feet four inches high. It will hold fifty million silver dollars, which represents 1,700 tons. The walls, ceilings and floor are constructed of three chilled iron two steel plates riveted together, thus making the metal case which forms the defenses of the vault over two inches in thickness. The foundation of the vault rests upon the earth, and the iron and steel flooring is laid upon twelve inches of hydraulic cement to guard against entrance by means of a tunnel. The two doors by which entrance is obtained are massive, all known material being used in their construction to make them safe against felonious assault. Each door is furnished with two locks, one key being kept by Treasurer Wyman and the other by Cashier Whepley. Large as the vault is it will not hold the surplus dollars if their coinage at the present rate of 2,000,000 per month is continued for two years to come.

UNNATURAL PARENTS.

This remarkable story, which is vouched for as true, is printed by the Journal to-night. Nineteen years ago a female infant was left with an old woman in Boston. The name of the child was not given, and the only clew was a handkerchief bearing a name, which was with the child's effects. All traces of the baby's family connections were lost, and the little one grew up in ignorance of his father and mother, cared for by the old woman and her family. After the lapse of years a peculiar growth appeared on the lid of one of the child's eyes. She was taken to an oculist, who remarked upon the singularity of the case and said that he had operated only upon one other similar case, in the course of his practice, and as that was upon the eye of a wealthy lady in a city near Boston, here was the long-hidden clew to the child's identity. The person who took the little girl to the oculist reported what the Doctor said. An attorney was called in, and it was in the process of a long investigation developed that the name upon the handkerchief was the name of the manufacturer's wife and the girl's mother The girl was several months ago confronted with her father and mother and a settlement by the payment of several thousand dollars for back board and damages, so the story goes, and an annuity of $1,000 for the daughter, now a young lady was effected. It is said when the child was abandoned the husband of the lady was a poor book-keeper. It was feared it is said that the birth of the baby would anger a relative of the mother, who was possessed of means, and so the child was given up. To day the book-keeper is a wealthy manufacturer. He has a family who have grown up in entire ignorance of the existence of their eldest sister.—Globe-Democrat.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION. — The phenomenon of the combustion of oily refuse in factories, spontaneously, has been the subject of thorough investigation by one of the technical societies of France, including a series of experiments upon fragments of cotton linen, jute, and woolen waste saturated with oil of different natures. In this case the materials were placed in a tin box having a double bottom in which steam entered, so that the part which receives the refuse could be maintained at a temperature of 180° Fahr.; and a thermometer was inserted in the oily substance, so that the variation of temperature occurring therein could be noted. The results obtained show, first, that any vegetable or animal oil inevitably takes fire after a few hours, under the above conditions; on employing cotton waste, the mass burns quickly and with flame, in contact with the air, while wool refuse is slowly transformed into a dark carbonaceous mass. In the second place, the addition of mineral oil, known as lubricating mineral oil, serves to retard the spontaneous combustion of vegetable or animal oil, if mixed in small quantities, but if a large amount be added, inflamation is entirely prevented.

THE floral decorations on the Sacramental stand in the Tabernacle, designed and constructed by George Hamlin, for the funeral services of the murdered Elders W. S. Berry and John H. Gibbs appeared so pretty and unique, that I photographed the same, and to perpetuate the memory of the above Elders, I thought that the portraits of these martyrs would be considered in their place enwreathed in this floral emblem. Consequently I applied to Mrs. W. S. Berry, of Kanarra, Iron County, and Mrs. J. H. Gibbs, of Paradise, Cache County, for the portraits of their husbands, which they kindly responded to by sending. The portrait of W. S. Berry that I copied from was found in his pocket at the time of his death. That of J. H. Gibbs was photographed with Elder W. H. Jones, the missionary that escaped. These photographs are now on sale at my gallery, corner of Third South Street and Main, or they can be mailed to any address at the following prices, viz.: 8 x 10, 60 cents; cabinet or stereoscopic, 25 cents; album size, 15 cents; good in postage stamps.

You no doubt have seen the line from Barton & Co., and observed in what positive terms they speak of the reliability of their firm, superior quality, not only of their clothing, hats, caps, etc., etc., but also of their furnishings of every description, and also the lowness of their prices.

We felt a little surprised on receiving their circular at the seeming boldness of their assertion, and decided to examine their stock thoroughly, and ascertain the correctness of their statements. On doing so we were highly surprised to find everything as stated.

They are certainly energetic and enterprising young men, and spare no pains in proving it to the public, that they are establishing their business, not on misrepresentation or deceit, but on thoroughly honorable business principles.

The quality of their clothing and furnishings is thoroughly first-class, and their reputation as neat fitters is extending far and wide; and as to their hats, it seems they display great tact in selecting them, for they are just what the public wants. I happened to be in the other night just as they were opening a bill of the latest hats, and they thought that probably they had sufficient for the fall trade, but in less than half an hour they disposed so many that they had to order by express a fresh supply. We are happy to recommend them to any desiring anything in their line, and feel assured that they will fit you out as reasonable as any house in town. dtmsit

THE LIVER AND ITS FUNCTIONS.

IT has become a well established fact that the functional derangements of disease to which the human family is subject arise in the first place from some disorder of the Liver. This organ is not only the largest, but at the same time one of the most important. The venous blood, on its return to the heart, passes through this organ, and in its passage the impurities, and also the nutritious which are necessary for digestion as well as for a cathartic to assist in the renewal of waste material &c., are eliminated. From this it is easily seen that the Liver is liable to get out of order to a greater or less extent, and when this occurs it is impossible for it to properly fulfil its office of removing all objectionable matter from the blood, but allows it to pass through, carrying with it the poisons of which it should have been relieved.

With impure blood the whole system becomes effected, and no organ can properly perform its function unless it is supplied with PURE BLOOD to maintain its strength. So the Liver becomes all important, and when one has the feeling of being continually tired, worn out, is constipated, with tendency to Piles, Headache, Sick Stomach, Sallow Complexion, Eruptions of Skin, etc., they may be sure their Liver is out of order, and a remedy is required to assist nature in relieving itself of all accumulations, and restore it to its original strength and Vigor. For all the complaints of this kind there is no medicine that equals

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS is a medicine of rare merit, and not an intoxicating beverage, and being purely vegetable in its composite can be used at all times with beneficial results. It is proclaimed as a cure-all, but for derangements of the organs mentioned, it is a specific and as a BLOOD PURIFIER ranks above all other preparations. Ask your druggist for it, and give it a fair trial. If he has none on hand, ask that it be procured for you.
