MRS. STETSON'S LECTURE. Talks Interestingly on Our Brains and What Acts Them.

On Saturday night Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson delivered a lecture at the Ladies' Literary Club house, her subject being "Our Brains and What Ails them." The hall was filled with a large audience which listened with interest to the clever talk given by the Mrs. Stetson began with a reference to the existing tendency manifested so far of the development of individual capacities in specialties rather than in general lines. A man or woman may exhibit wonderful ability and power and intelligence in a certain line and in all other things exhibit a general foolishness. Every art and profession is perfected by the experiment and effort and knowledge of successive workers, the man or woman who learns an art or profession today has the bene-fit of the accumulated knowledge gained by those before him, and in learning it they have special training in the line which they have chosen. This applies to every science and art save the science and art of life and living. In a special line one finds out what is best to do and does it. In daily life one is told also what is best to do, but does not do it. When the same painstaking cure and study and training are devoted to the science of living the individual will be fully balanced on all sides. The education and training of a child actually begins at His mind is absorbing, through perception of things or facts about him, something that will affect his individual consciousness and develop ment. It is therefore more important that there should be a training for motherhood, than that there should be the trained artist or musician or me-chanic. The most important vocation in life is left to unskilled and untrained hands-an anomaly not found in any other line on earth. When the ab-normal stupidity of this condition is fully appreciated, and the child is sur-rounded with conditions which shall tend to develop evenly all his capaci-ties we shall not have the exhibition o genius displaying abnormal knowledge and cleverness in single dines, and colstupidity concerning things in

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the chile becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thous-ands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure.

TIPPED OVER A TEAM AND RIG.

Danger of Crossings on the Railroads Running Into this City is Becoming Very Great.

[SPECIAL TO THE "NEWS."] Lehl, Dec. 4 .- An accident occurred here this morning which resulted in the slight injury of Elisha Peck, Jr. Mr. Peck was driving his team across the Oregon Short Line tracks at a crossing just east of the depot when the northbound passenger train ran into his outfit. Mr. Peck jumped from his wagon as soon as he saw the approaching train, which struck the horses and rolled the team and wagon over. Very fortunately the man and horses escaped death, the only result being a bruise on Mr. Peck's back, which is thought to have been received from the wagon tipping over upon him. A few years ago Mr. Samuel Robbins was killed at this same crossing in a similar accident. The spot is a very dangerous one for the reason that an approaching train cannot be seen by teamsters until it is almost upon them. A house surrounded by a thick grove of trees near the crossing obstructs the view so that it is impossible to see approach of a train.

DANGEROUS STREETS. Railway Crossings in West Part of Town are a Menace.

With the great increase of traffic on the railroads running into this city the danger at the crossings of the streets traversed by the lines is becoming greater every day. When the new union depot shall have been built the street crossings on each side of the depot grounds may be bridged in order to allow of the passage of pedestrians and vehicles without the danger now attending upon a walk or drive over the lines. Then there is the great annoy-ance of being compelled to wait while a switch engine moves forward and backward with a string of cars. The Jordan bridge car has been delayed as much as nine minutes at the Rio Grande Western crossing on Sixth West street and the passengers sometimes put to inconvenience through the car falling to reach town in time to make the usual connections. Often in switching the engine will get within a foot of allowing the car to pass and will then be reversed, moving tantaliz-ingly back and forth while the street ingly back and forth while the street car passengers fret, fume and bless the

At North Temple and First North streets the Oregon Short Line has barriers across the streets which are operated from a box in the depot yards. These are let down while a train is passing and raised after it has gone by. On the South Temple and First South street crossing the company has watchmen to warn people of the approach of trains as does the Rio Grande Western at First South streets. After the union depot is completed and all lines will use one street, it will be absolutely necessary to bridge some of the most traveled streets to protect the people from death or injury.

Rates to Eureka.

The Oregon Short Line has made a rate of one fare to Eureka and return for all volunteers who desire to attend the funeral of Richard Ralph, late terman. The ceremony will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow.

Omaha, Dec. 3.—John McNeill, grand president of the bellermaker's union, is in the city to interview the officials of the Union Pacific railroad in the at-tempt to effect a settlement of the differences which caused a strike in Cheyenne shops a month ago. He says that unless the matter is fixed up soon will call out every boilermaker on the Union Pacific.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Rio Grande Western may put on a through train to accomodate the new schedule of the Southern Pacific.

Train No. 1 on the Union Pacific was run into by No. 101 at Bushnell, Wyo., Saturday night. The through dining car on No. 1 was demolished and the engine of No. 101 was damaged. The party of rabbit hunters that went to Monument allege carelessness on the part of the Southern Pacific railway in not transporting their rabbits here in reasonable time. When the game reached here it was very "high."

Jallor Sol. Kimball says that some other than the morphine habit theory will have to answer for the insane actions of Charles Schewed. An account of his escapades in the Dooly building, his arrest on the charge of destroying property and his subsequent release has been chronicled in these columns. Not many hours after he was told by Judge Timmony to go his way, Schewed had another spasm in the rooming house of Mrs. Moyer, No. 63 east Second South street. He rented a room and af-ter piling all the movable furniture against the door, proceeded to have a circus all by himself. The mirror, winlows, transom and washbowl were reduced to fragments in a jiffy. the officers arrived Schewed was in the act of tearing the bed clothes up. Saturday night he had another spell in jall and smashed Mike Boyle over the eye with a liniment bottle. Mike thought the bottle contained whisky and was in act of taking a drink when Schewed grabbed it and struck him forcibly over the eye. Last night he repeated the performance with slight variations. He used a poker. Officer Davies will today swear to a complaint charging Schewed with insanity.

AFTER- SEVENTEEN YEARS. Death Comes to the Relief of Maurice

Joy. Maurice Joy died at the Holy Cross hospital yesterday, after having been an inmate in that institution for seventeen years. While he was a lighthearted man by nature, his name seemed to him to be the irony of fate, for in his youth, when life and spirits were gay and the future bright, he was stricken down with only a painful fu-ture and the inevitable grave to look forward to; his usefulness gone. It was while employed in the mines at Ploche, Nevada, that his back was broken in a fall of eighty-three feet. At the hospital he was able around slowly on crutches, and in fine weather would sit occasionally on the lawn. He seldom complained of his hard lot, being possessed of a sunny disposition; he was always patient and cheerful with friends and attendants. He was only twenty-eight years old when he received the fatal injury, and the star of his hope went down, and his ambitions spread like dead leaves be-

His expense at the institution were paid by the min-ing company for a time, but the company dissolved in a year or two, and from then on Joy was a charge of the sleters at the hospital. Although he was unable to be of much service, the sisters so admired his patient and ten-der nature that they took pleasure in waiting on him.

Joy's taking away leaves a vacancy in the hearts of his attendants and the inmates who knew him, for he was loved by those who saw how cheerfully he bowed to the edict of Providence, and awaited his dissolution without a Maurice Joy was born in Ireland forty-five years ago. He emigrated to America while a boy, and engaged in railroading. He was wide awake and sober, and soon arose to the position of conductor on the Wabash railroad. He subsequently moved to Ogden, where he entered the employ of the Central Pacific. He soon after left the rail-road, and went to Pioche and began work in the mines, but it was not long before he received his fatal injury. He has a sister, Mrs. Maurice Kearns, of Denver. She has been informed of the death, and no arrangement for the funeral will be made until she is heard from. The remains are at O'Donnell's undertaking parlors.

M'DONALD ANSWERS. Says Farnsworth Paid the Full Amount of the Option.

R. D. McDonald has filed a separate answer in the suit of Dan Harrington and John McNally against P. T. Farnsworth et al. Farnsworth was given an option on the Antelope and other minoption on the Antelope and other mining claims at Bingham for $24,000. In the complaint the plaintiffs alleged that he had failed to make the final payment of $15,000, and that W. C. Hall, the trustee, had wrongfully given him a deed to the property. Plaintiffs asked for the return of the deed and the forfeiture of the $9,000 paid by Farnsworth. McDonald refused to join with plaintiffs in the complaint, and he was made a party defendant. In his answer McDonald avers that Farnsworth did pay the full amount of the option, he himself receiving his proportion of it.

BRAINARD AGAIN CHOSEN.

Re-elected President of the Sunday School Association for Another Term.

One Speaker Says He Would Rather Have His Son a Prizefighter Than a Foot Ball Pinyer.

The last meetings of the annual session of the Sunday school convention of the non-Mormon churches was held yesterday, and before dismissing, C. E. Brainard of Ogden was re-elected president of the association. Mr. Brainard has served in that capacity for the past two years, and it was not until after much persuasion, that he was induced to remain in the office for another year.

In the afternoon a children's rally was held, and the church was orowded with bright little people. The meeting opened with a song service led by Prof. R. B. Quay, followed by a prayer by the Rev. Joseph Wilks, after which thirteen boys from the Methodist Chinese Sunday school, sang "I Will Sing His Praise and Glory." The boys sung with a clear voice and their effort was heartily applauded. The boys were: Mark Chung, Wong Quong, Mark On, Jim Chung, Ye Choy, Ye Ling, Chin Tim, Chin Gwing, Hong Ng, Sam Ng, Charlie Chin Way, Yep Foo and Joe

A short talk on Bible stories was made by Rev. Joseph Wilks, which was followed by a duet "Saved by Grace," rendered sweetly by Misses Kate Thorpe and Lola Kochler.

A chalk talk was to have been given by Harry Pitts, but he was absent, and in his stead Mr. E. B. Stevenson interested the children by relating a num ber of amusing stories. The services were then brought to a close.

The evening session opened with a union meeting of the young people's societies at which Prof. Cooley lead in Bible study. Short consecration service was then held, led by John T. Axton, which was followed by Miss Blanchard, who sung, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight. E. B. Stevenson then gave an address, which was a sort of a history of the Sunday school movement, which he said was started by Robert Raikes in the town of Gloucester, England, and then the speaker followed the work up, and pointed out what a mighty force in the world it is today. Mr. Stevenson, scored in plain terms, the football player, who he said rarely ever amounted to much. He would rather have a son of his a Cor-bett than a football player. He then spoke of the city boy and the country boy, the latter, he said, almost always outstripping the former.

There were a few selections from the Chinese glee club and then the convention closed with the benediction.
