Original Poetry.

TO OUR FAITHFUL,

TRULY BELOVED AND HONORED PRESIDENT,
 BRIGHAM YOUNG.

Thou friend of God and all mankind—
 Excuse us—we are sent
 To say a few short words to you,
 Our own, dear President.

There's not a child before you now,
 If it would not intrude;
 But, seeing you, would gladly speak
 Its joy, and gratitude:

But time is precious—knowing this,
 The Smithfield children all,
 Have chosen us, to offer you
 This token sweet and small;

And we're instructed to inform,
 And bid you understand,
 It holds a flower that tells of Love,
 Cull'd by each infant hand;—

Of love that doth increase with years,
 And daily doth impart
 New confidence that's cherished by
 Each little, guileless heart.

Written by "LULA," spoken by Miss Susie Homer, accompanied by Miss Della Merrill and Miss Maggie Sant, in behalf of the junior members of the Smithfield Sabbath School.

Smithfield, July 18, 1871.

THE SEQUEL.

Written by "LULA" and recited by Miss Mary A. Scowther, in behalf of the Smithfield Young Ladies Co-operative Re-trenchment Association.

Thou Servant of Almighty God,
 Thou man of Light and Truth:—
 Canst thou a moment still forbear,
 And hear a word from youth?

We wish to speak concerning this
 Small gift the children bring;
 A token of true reverence,
 A grateful offering:

'Tis a Co-operative Badge,
 Of Love and Trust Combined;
 The little ones the blossoms cull'd,
 But we the garland twined;

And felt, your gracious heart would not
 Refuse the tribute paid,
 Of nature's own pure ornaments—
 Alas,—but they will fade!

Yet while these lovely gems of earth
 Will shortly pass away;
 And hands that cull'd and hands that twined,
 Must also feel decay;

Each heart that offers Love and Trust,
 Still humbly hopes and strives,
 With thee in the Celestial World,
 To gain Eternal Lives;

And there of all thy faithfulness,
 To talk and testify,
 And weave thee there Love's brighter Boons
 Of Flowers that do not die.
