

SOUTH TEMPLE PAVING STOPPED.

Board of Public Works Calls Halt
On Improvement It Once Deliberately Made.

IT LOOKS DIFFERENT NOW.

Instructs City Engineer Riter to Figure Out New Scheme—Some One Seems to Have Blundered.

MEET TO SETTLE.

Col. Wall, chairman of the board of public works said to the "News" this morning: "The board will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock and take the matter up and see what can be done towards a solution of the difficulty. The probability is that the work will not be interrupted more than a few days at most. What we want to do is to agree upon a grade that will be satisfactory to all or at least a majority of the abutting property owners."

It looks as though there will be more trouble over the grading and paving of east South Temple street, which has been fought out time and again before the council committee and board of public works in the past three years. The property owners on the street were unable to come to any agreement in the matter, so finally a large majority of them agreed upon a plan and Col. Wall, chairman of the board of public works, put up a bond of $50,000 to insure the city against any loss caused by the action of the minority of the property owners, and the plan proposed by him was adopted and the work of grading was commenced.

As the work has progressed it has become apparent that there will be a much greater cut on the north side of the street at some points than was anticipated, and, fearing that such a condition will be objected to seriously, Col. Wall and the board of public works have called halt on the work, and City Engineer George W. Riter has been asked to draw up another plan which will overcome the difficulty without making too great a change in the original plan. Just how long it will take the engineer to perform his extremely delicate task is not known, and hence it is uncertain how long the work will be held up.

In the meantime all work has been stopped on the street, and the citizens who were wont to use it many months ago are in despair.

I notice that when I take a bottle of this syrup, I feel as if I am honestly recommending it." 25c. 50c. $1.00. Sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.

Readers Increasing.
Free Public Library Well Run Upon As Report Shows.

Miss Sprague, librarian, submitted her report for the month of March to the board of directors of the free public library at its meeting yesterday afternoon. It shows that a new record was established last month in circulation, the total being 11,245, an increase of 72 over the previous record for one month. The opening of the library on Sunday afternoons seems to have met with much favor, as on its initial day, Saturday, March 26, a total of 72 persons visited the library. The report of the librarian contains the following statistics:

Number of volumes in library	25,173

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCKS
The simplest remedy for Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Sold only in boxes.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

(DO YOU REMEMBER?)

A battle was reported between the Ninetieth battalion and the forces of Louis Riel in Manitoba. It was said that the battalion lost 89 men.

The ship Louisiana, which had sailed from San Francisco six months before and had long been given up for lost, arrived at Dublin.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

Japan and China agreed upon final terms for settlement of the war.

The coroner of Covington, Kentucky, rendered a verdict of self-defense in the killing of J. L. Sanford by Senator William Goebel.

The heavenly bodies that revolve around the sun were declared to be on Good Friday (April 12) in exactly the same position relative to each other as on the day that Christ was crucified.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY.

The strike at the Germania smelters was announced to be practically over.

Three persons were killed and many injured by the collapse of a building at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Eight boatsmen were drowned while attempting to rescue an imperiled fishing boat; three of the fishermen also lost their lives.

James O. Herron of Salt Lake, was crushed to death by a cave-in in the Golden Gate mine at Mercur.

CONVENTION AND SUMMER SCHOOL.

The Deseret Summer Institute
Will be at Provo This Year.

A SIX WEEKS' SESSION.

Prof. Scott of Michigan and Noyes of California to Give the Work in English.

The church school convention will be held in Provo, on June 6, 7 and 8 of this year, when the summer school begins.

This convention may be held annually hereafter.

The board of examiners for church schools has decided to call a convention of all the church school teachers on June 6, at the B. Y. university buildings, in Provo; at the same time and place the church summer school, known as the Deseret Summer Institute, will begin its second annual session.

It is expected that practically all the teachers engaged in church schools will attend the convention, which all other teachers last may desire to attend, are cordially invited.

It is understood that President Joseph P. Smith may speak on the morning of June 6.

General Supt. J. M. Tanner has been assigned the topic, "Observations on Theological Teachings in Church Schools," on the afternoon of June 6.

President J. H. Paul has been assigned a paper for the same afternoon on the subject, "The Ethical Value of Faith."

A reception and grand ball will be held on Monday evening, for the visiting teachers and for the attendants at the summer school.

For Tuesday evening it is understood that Dr. J. A. Whitlock will speak on the "Possibilities of Agriculture in Utah."

President J. H. Linford has been assigned the subject, "Industrial Education," for the same evening.

On Wednesday evening a paper, "The Pedagogical Value of Theological Training," will be presented by President George H. Brimhall, and on the same evening, "Domestic Science in Church Schools," will be presented by Miss Lydia Holmgren.

The summer school will open on June 6, with the registration of students, and class work will begin on Tuesday, the 7th.

Prof. George R. Noyes of the University of California has been engaged to give the class work in English.

The lecturer on English is Prof. F. N. Scott of the University of Michigan.

Details of the work of the school will shortly be made public.

HEALTH IS YOUTH.

Disease and Sickness Bring Old Age.

Herbina, taken every morning before breakfast, will keep you in robust health, free from all disease. It cures constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, fever, skin liver and kidney complaints, purifies the blood and cleanses the complexion. Mrs. W. Smith, Whitney, Texas, writes April 3, 1902: "I have used Herbina for the last two years. It does all I claim for it. I can highly recommend it. 50 cents a bottle. Sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept."

NEARING THE END.
May Soon be Final Action on Light & Power Company Franchise.

It is probable that final action will be taken on the new franchise for the Utah Light & Power company by the special water and municipal laws committees at the council committee meetings tonight. If the terms of the franchise submitted by City Attorney Day are satisfactory to the company a majority of the two committees will sign a report recommending its passage. It is likely that a minority report will be submitted by the members of the committees who oppose the franchise. Their report will recommend that the ordinance be not passed but that it be filed.

INDIANS ENJOY THE BEAR DANCE

Those on the Uintah Reservation

Big Chief Returns From Washington
With Good Report—Soldiers Captured.

Special Correspondence.
Ouray, Utah, April 9.—All your readers are interested in the Indian reservation and a few lines from here will probably be acceptable. Ouray was at one time the chief agency, and old Fort Thornberg was located here, but later the agency was removed to White Rocks and Fort Duchesne replaced Fort Thornberg. Still, at the present time, about half the Indians of the reservation have their headquarters here. The Utecomanches and White Rivers, the descendants of the two Colorado brothers, are merged into one tribe now with two chiefs, Ervo Colorado and Charley Chaonaux, but their tribal relations are not so distinct as they were. While these two men are recognized as chiefs, they have nothing like the power formerly wielded by the old chiefs.

The last 10 days the greater part of the Indians have been assembled here, with a goodly number of visitors from the Uintahs, engaged in their great annual festival, the bear dance. The dance continued each afternoon without cessation for 10 days and ended with an all-night dance and a big feast yesterday.

On these occasions all hands, old and young alike, fix up in all their glory. Torged out in paint and feathers, gaudy colors, beads and trinkets and flashy blankets and shawls, they present a striking picture, moving backward and forward in two long lines, the men one side and women on the other, keeping time to the chant and peculiar music of the "orchestra."

The band all play on the same instrument, which consists of an old vat, something like the vats formerly used for dipping sheep, turned bottom side up on the ground. Each "musician" has a notched stick, one end of which rests on the vat the other end in his left hand, while with the right he rubs the stick back and forth, and in fact, anything else that comes handy, up and down, up and down, over the notched stick. It would hardly pass for music, but it is a strange suit the Indians, and they frequently manifest their appreciation by a peculiar "yip" and then dance faster and harder. There is indeed a certain rhythm to it and the step used in the dance is not readily acquired by the average white man.

NO WALL FLOWERS.
There are no wall flowers among the women either, for they do all the choosing of partners. When they condescend to choose a partner for a partner, he is supposed to show his appreciation by giving the dusky damsel a quarter for the favor.

Contact with the whites has no visible effect in civilizing these people. All the civilization they have acquired is of the doubtful character. The great majority of them don't know the meaning of virtue and they continue to live a lazy and thriftless, the squaws doing all the work.

"Monte" is the favorite pastime and all indulge in it from children to grey-headed men and women. Groups of them can be seen any day scattered upon the ground, each with a pack of cards. Usually the stakes are small, but when they are "flush" considerable money changes hands.

BACK FROM WASHINGTON.
Charley Chaonaux just returned yesterday from a big talk with "Washington" relative to the opening of the reservation. The report he and others bring back seems to be satisfactory for the Indians appear to be content with the approaching opening.

There can be no question about the advisability of opening the land for settlement for it left to the Indians for an indefinite period it would continue in its present wild, uncultivated state, yielding nothing to them or anyone else.

SEVERELY DEALT WITH.
The six soldiers who recently broke out of the new cage in the guard house at Fort Duchesne were captured today by the white river. They were in a pretty bad condition, worn out and sore footed from the long tramp.

By order of the commandant at Fort Duchesne the men were followed to walk back the whole distance, and if they refused to walk "drag them back with a rope." It would seem unnecessary harsh and brutal to serve even these "convicts" so. They are human, at least, but their treatment was most inhuman.

The large ferryboat being built by the United Railway company here is nearly completed and will soon be ready for service. From now on the freight for the post will go over the Uintah road and from there by team instead of from Price's ferry.

Passenger automobiles are now at Dragon awaiting the completion of the route to Vernal and Fort Duchesne.

A WOMAN'S TRIBUTE TO A DEAD FRIEND.

Editor of the News:

The following tribute to the beautiful character of a friend, B. Mumford, was written by a friend of almost a quarter of a century.

Sometimes it seems difficult to speak of the lives and characteristics of the dead, without referring to some trait in their nature that casts a shadow on a bluish over all the other beautiful characteristics that they possessed. But not so with the husband, father and friend who lies here in our presence.

We can only look upon the empty casket, which was dust, and to dust it shall return. The beautiful soul has left its earthly home, and there was no heart in mind, that all that was contained in this frail and empty casket, of which we see but the outer semblance of a man. But we will remember the man, him who we will remember the beautiful soul from which radiated the brilliant intellectual thoughts of a wonderfully active and highly cultured mind.

Mr. Mumford was a man whom it was a great pleasure to know. He was a man of the highest and purest of ideas, a man who placed the greatest stress upon the life which was meant to be, and what our lives should be. He was a man who loved nature in all of its varied beauties. He was very fond of flowers. He enjoyed to the fullest all kinds of fruits, and there was no season of the year that he did not love to talk of and extol their loveliness, and to see in all things the Deity glorified.

Mr. Mumford was a very highly educated man, and a great reader of books. His education was along lines of religious study (although he was a graduate of the law) and he did not allow of his continuing in the practice of his profession, and he was compelled to enter upon a work which would give him outdoor exercise. His studies and reading were of books that taught of all things beautiful. There was nothing in his nature to which any book of a trashy order could possibly appeal. His desire was to live a pure and Christian life, to do all in his power for the uplifting of humanity; and the word home was a word that expressed a world of love to him. When he spoke of his home, wife and boy, he spoke with a feeling of love, tenderness and pride. And no one could hear him repeat those sacred to him words home, and my wife and boy, and not be deeply impressed with all of the beautiful possibilities those words inspired. His brain, his intellect, the great desire of his heart, was to plan a life for himself in the future. But unfortunately his physical strength was inadequate for the tasks he set for himself to do. And such was the power of his effort that his brain really consumed his body, sapping his physical strength day by day till the entire system succumbed to the crushing torrent of mental activity. Mr. Mumford had a great desire to live to see his boy grow up to a noble man, and that desire was fully gratified, and now that the father has laid down his work here, the good influence of which he and his faithful wife have instilled in their son's mind will go on and on, and so, reaching in its effects, that we already see in the future a foundation upon which a beautiful structure can be built.

all of its harmony of love and light, faith rewarded, hope attained. As ye sow, so shall ye reap. And oh, the beautiful harvest that this beloved husband and father has surely garnered. In a worldly sense we may say that our departed friend was poor. But not so. He has left one of the richest inheritances to his wife and son, that anyone could desire—a spotless name, a life record of purity, a lesson of the highest teaching, the lesson of love toward all mankind.

We Will Buy

A 50c Bottle of Liquezone and Give it to You to Try.

We want you to know about Liquezone, and the product itself can tell you more than we. So we ask you to let us buy you a bottle—a full-size bottle—to try. Let it prove that it does what medicine cannot do. See what a tonic it is. Learn that it does kill germs. Then you will use it always, as we do, and as millions of others do.

This offer itself should convince you that Liquezone does as we claim. We would certainly not buy a bottle and give it to you, there was any doubt or result. You want those results; you want to be well and to keep well. And you can't do that—nobody can—without Liquezone.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquezone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving in thousands of different cases, that Liquezone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Liquezone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food, an blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquezone attacks the germs wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.
