

plennings; malt, 4 marks and mill products, 12 marks.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 27.—After the most heated contest on record in the State of Georgia, Atlanta yesterday voted against prohibition. The fight has been a peculiarly bitter one. For over a month the citizens have been engaged in the contest. Meetings have been held almost every night and local speakers and foreign statesmen have stumped the country. Early in the campaign the prohibitionists leased the largest warehouse in the city and fitted it up with a seating capacity for 8,000 people. Almost nightly that building has been filled and such scenes of wild enthusiasm are rarely witnessed. Almost every minister in the city preached prohibition from his pulpit. Both sides had full campaign funds and managed their respective forces for all they were worth. The

was the bone of contention and the balance of power, each side making the most strenuous efforts to get it. The negroes were considerably divided on the subject, although the majority of them voted with the anti-prohibitionists.

One feature of the contest was the active part taken by the women. The result of their work was shown today by the appearance of many women at the polls with blue badges. They served hot coffee and sandwiches at every polling place and conducted prayer meetings and singing crusades in the open air.

Multon County, in which Atlanta is located, two years ago on the same question, went for prohibition by 238. The registration this time exceeded that of last year by 2,000. The principal fight made on prohibition during the campaign was that it and that intoxicating drinks could be openly purchased in a number of places throughout the city which paid a tax to the United States government for the sale of whisky. Thousands of gallons have been sent in each month from cities around Atlanta. The prohibitionists claimed that Atlanta has never had prohibition; that while it was so voted years ago, the licenses then existing did not expire until almost a year ago and since that time the domestic wine clause in the local option bill allowed many places in the city by which the law could be evaded. This was, however, remedied by the last legislature which put a license of $10,000 on all wine rooms after January 1st. The city has gone "wet" by probably a thousand majority. Great enthusiasm prevails on the street.

THE OFFICIAL VOTE.

LATER.—The official vote of the county puts the anti-prohibition majority at 1,120 in a total vote of 9,500. There are sixteen precincts in the county, of which six are in this city. The anti today carried every city precinct and all but one of those in the county. The most intense excitement prevails tonight and the anti are jubilant. The prohibitionists concede the victory.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 27.—The storm which was central in Dakota yesterday, reached here yesterday afternoon and turned from light snow, which has been falling for two days, into an incipient blizzard.

Trains, however, are not yet much delayed. At St. Paul the thermometer was 18 degrees above this morning, was below at Morehead, Minnesota; eight below at Bismarck, and six below at Cheyenne.

WAUSAU, Wis., Nov. 27.—A horrible holocaust occurred at three o'clock this morning. The building occupied as a residence by Carl Honikel was burned, and Honikel and three children perished. Two other children have since died of their injuries and the mother is in a serious condition. The fire started in the kitchen and the family doubtless suffocated before the flames reached them. The fire department was very slow in responding to the alarm. The casualty is one of the most dreadful that has happened in this city, and what makes it more terrible is the discovery this evening that the fire was of incendiary origin.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 27.—The safe of the county treasurer's office at Centerville, Reynolds County, Mo., was blown open Friday night and robbed of about $20,000 in cash, recent tax collections. No clue to the robbers.

LIMERICK, Nov. 27.—An attempt made today to hold a demonstration in honor of the Manchester martyrs, was suppressed by the police. The unveiling of the statue to commemorate the hanging was part of the programme. Mr. McInerney, of New York who had been chosen to preside, was addressing the people when the police made an onslaught on the crowd. This was answered by stone-throwing, but the crowd was dispersed. Subsequently, wherever groups were found, the police charged upon them and seized their flags. A number of people were hurt. Troops now occupy the thoroughfares.

BRUTAL BEHAVIOR.

The police used their batons indiscriminately, clubbing men, women and small boys. They pursued the fleeing people.

A serious disturbance occurred tonight. A crowd stoned and hooted the police who tried to clear the streets with batons and bayonets, but met with great resistance. Many civilians and constables were injured. The police acted in a reckless manner. The windows of the various hotels on the street were filled with onlookers who taunted the police. The police replied by throwing sticks and stones, breaking a large number of windows. Three hundred persons had wounds dressed at the hospital. All quiet now.

The Emperor said the ailment of the crown prince was a severe visitation especially in view of his high position and his great abilities for continuing in the direction of the policy of Prussia and Germany in a manner which would have enabled the Emperor to close his eyes in peace. The universal sympathy which has been shown in such a remarkable degree was a great consolation.

In the course of a few words on the general political situation, he expressed regret at the proposed resignation of Grevy.

Referring to the previous Reichstag's rejection of the military bill, the Emperor said the present condition of Europe was such that he had only asked an indispensable increase of the army. The uncertain state of affairs in France now especially excited apprehension. Grevy had shown great activity and in the truest sense had displayed conservatism in support of the republic such as Germany could only show for the maintenance of the monarchy.

Most of the guests had finished breakfast and as far as known none were hurt. The kitchen of the hotel was completely wrecked.

There were about a dozen girls in the room at the time and all were buried beneath the mass of brick and mortar and when taken out by the fire department, all were so badly injured that it is uncertain whether any can recover. Beckwith, proprietor of the hotel, was also seriously injured. Two cooks are still missing. The accident was caused by the freezing of the feed pipe.

The two missing cooks have been found under the ruins. One was dead, but the other one escaped alive, although seriously injured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Deacon White has written a letter on Dr. Parker's Beecher eulogy scandal. He closes the letter as follows: "I hear that Dr. Parker is engaged to preach on Dec. 4 in Plymouth pulpit. If it is demonstrated before that time that Dr. Parker received a fee out of the receipts for that eulogy, I predict that Plymouth pulpit will on that day be too hot to hold him, or at least, if he can endure the caloric of his environment he will look out on a congregation so frigid that the contrast will suggest the respective temperatures of Dives and Lazarus on a memorable occasion."

The following dispatch from an English clergyman, dated Chicago, was received yesterday: "To deliver a eulogy at Brooklyn I paid for six thousand miles travel, suspended my usual work in London for five weeks, paid for the supply of my pulpit during my absence for five Sundays, and for the whole time, work and expense, I received neither more nor less than $7,000. N. Collett, who appeared to be the leader of the crowd, was fined $25, and Hyrum Raleigh, David Evans, Wm. Slater and George L. Adkins, $10 each. A young fellow in the audience loudly expressed his disapprobation of the court's action, and rushed from the court room, slamming the door after him.
