Dr. FOOTE, Senior,

Of 120 Lexington Avenue, New York,

Hereby cautions the public NOT to Employ or Communicate With a man styling himself "Dr. Foot, Jr." without making due inquiry.

This man came to Salt Lake City representing himself as the son of Dr. E. B. FOOTE of New York, the well known specialist, as abundantly proved by affidavits. As rumors came into Salt Lake City from Dakota and Montana from an exposure made there, he changed his base and represented himself as the son of a more noted specialist in New York City than Dr. E. B. FOOTE, the well known author. Mr. JOHN F. TROW, of the well known Trow's Directory, in New York City (forty years in the directory business), Ex-Governor FRANK FULLER, of Utah, and the Hon. ABRAM WAKEMAN, for many years Postmaster in New York City, also Surveyor of the Port, gave their affidavits that there are no other doctors in New York by the name of FOOT or FOOTE, excepting Dr. E. B. FOOTE, the the author of "Medical Common Sense," etc., and h s two sons, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, JR., and Dr. HUBERT T. FOOTE. The genuine Dr. FOOTE, JR., will hereafter always employ the initials, E. B., in designating his name. Heretofore he has been known not only at home but wherever his publications have been circulated, by the name of Dr. FOOTE, Jr. Greater care will be taken hereafter, in view of the fact that an unprincipled person has assumed to profit by his and his father's reputation.

Those desiring further and more detailed information in respect to this matter, will receive it by addressing Box 414, Salt Lake City Utah.

Persons having information of advantage to plaintiffs will kindly communicate the same to J. W. Ivey, with Sutherland & McBride, Salt Lake City.

Those desiring to consult Dr. FOOTE professionally or to order remedies should address either

Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Sr., or Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Jr.,

EXPRESSIONS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Laws and their Execution Here and in England—Intent of the Crusade—Extent of the Crusaders' Power—Honor for Integrity.

LAKETOWN, Oct. 27, 1885.

Editor Deseret News:

I am not a polygamist, nor the son of a polygamist, for which circumstance I do not claim any special honor. Nor am I ashamed to own that I am a native of Great Britain, one of those aliens about whom the "American gentlemen," who now enjoy so much fatness from the anti-"Mormon" crusade, have so much to say.

Among the national characteristics of that old monarchy there is none that I am more proud of than the reverence for wholesome laws and honest legislators and officers of the law, which is manifested generally, by my fellow-countrymen.

I will not pretend to argue that the principles upon which the governmental fabric of Britain is founded are in any way more desirable, or more conducive to the protection of "the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than are those propositions which are comprised in that glorious document bequeathed to mankind under the name of the Constitution of the United States. But this I will assert, that I believe—and the Supreme Court, and his legal luminosity, C. S. Zane, by the grace of the recently shorn republican party of the United States, temporarily Chief Justice of the Territory of Utah, and other limbs of the law, have declared—that belief remains of the citizens of this land of liberty and the home of the free. I therefore repeat, I believe that with all the errors incident to British government, its laws are executed much more consistently with its theory of civil and religious liberty than the people of the United States are governed in reference to their country's constitution.

I was taught in far-off England, by "Mormon" parents, as long ago as I can remember anything, to revere the Constitution of the United States. They labored earnestly to demonstrate to my mind the fact that the hand and influence were divine which guided the pens and inspired the utterances of the signers of the Declaration of Independence and the framers of the Constitution.

In the days of my childhood and youth they impressed me with the idea that the rights and privileges contended for and guaranteed by those immortal documents were the gifts of Almighty God. Though I may, in common with my co-religionists—the Latter-day Saints—be counted fanatic by professed Christians for acknowledging divine favor in the possession of those privileges, I still thank God for them.

Pursuant to the counsel I received on these subjects in my native land, I traveled one hundred miles to declare my intention to become a citizen, which in due time I fulfilled, at the same time renouncing all allegiance to all foreign princes, potentates, etc., and notably to Victoria, Queen of Great Britain, etc., etc.

I did not adopt these measures for the sake of what pecuniary benefits might be derived from my acquired citizenship. I trust my motive was loftier than that. I may sin against dear old Uncle Sam in other ways, but I am in no danger of his ever charging me with grabbing a very large area of his land.

In perfecting my title as a citizen, I desired to use the power thus conferred for the protection of my rights as they appeared to me, that I might assist the county I had adopted as my home in the development of true civilization and the promotion of an era of good will among men: and I believe I did no more in this respect than the majority of my brethren who have likewise become naturalized. I have voluntarily associated myself with the of Utah, because I am assured that they are the only true friends of the material interests of the overwhelming majority of the inhabitants of our Territory.

In the exercise of my just prerogative, I have always used my franchise in aid of that party; and, so long as it behaves as well as it has, and I have sanity enough left me to prevent my committing political suicide, I always will.

I look with the profoundest contempt on those who have robbed many of our best citizens of that, and that only, which distinguishes freemen from serfs—the privilege of exercising the right of conscience, and of voting for men and measures of their choice. There are those who have not only done this, but who now clamor for the imprisonment of men who, from every intelligent human standpoint, are their incomparable superiors in all that is good and noble.

I would be dull indeed if I failed to comprehend that those who are alleged to be polygamists and who have temporarily abstained from voting because of the most flagrant violation of constitutional pledges, on the part of the powers that be, by the passage and ultra-partisan enforcement of the Edmunds act—I say, I would be worse than an idiot, if I could not at once perceive that the objects of this political ostracism are and have been, from the beginning till now, in the development of the material resources of the Territory.

THE VERY BONE AND SINEW

I am not now claiming for the polygamists any degree of infallibility. I am aware that it may be possible to find men who are living in plural marriage who are not much credit to that or any other principle. But during the past half century I have lived with "Christian" monogamists and with "Mormon" polygamists. I must admit that the comparison is

ANYTHING BUT FAVORABLE TO THE MONOGAMISTS.

I have tried to use my own eyes and not depend on other's vision for my information. For more than a decade I have dwelt in this Territory. I have never known a single instance of a female having been forced in any way to enter into plural marital relations. I have lived in polygamists families. I have seen the most peaceful harmony existing with them. Earnest and devout prayers continually proceed morning and evening from these household, and with a regularity I have never seen surpassed in the most estimable Christian families. I have seen families—and they may be easily found by others, if they are desirous to learn the truth, for the sake of that priceless jewel—in which there are more than one wife, perhaps two, perhaps three or more, and the youngest child of the latest wife is as much an object of love, and receives as much of the paternal solicitude, as the first child of the wife of his youth, and vice versa.

In the Sabbath schools, Young Peoples', associations, day schools, etc., we meet these "horrid polygamist" children.

A stranger would naturally conclude that he was incompetent to draw any distinction between them, any more than between the members of any well regulated monogamic family. Our worst enemies must admit that no children in the world are more comfortably housed, fed and clothed, considering the character of the country and the vicissitudes of life in this inter-mountain region, than are the offspring of those honorable (but by wicked knaves stigmatized) citizens who are reputed to be that is, the good, solid, whole-souled, true-gritted kind, such as they are who inhabit the "Pen" rather than be recreant to God and His laws, by renouncing, as per the dictum of an unprincipled judiciary, their wives and offspring.

I glory in the integrity of my "polygamist brethren." God bless them in their allegiance to His laws and to the noblest principles of manhood.

I have found that where anything has been done in the interests of the people—building canals, roads, establishing industries, and the thousand and one other accomplishments for the public good, and for the development of our loved Territory, there are these persecuted polygamists at the head and front.

It is alleged that Utah was under the direct domination and now the indirect rule of the "old polygamists." Ay, there's the place the shoe pinches! The "Mormons" are not nearly as shrewd as they should be, but they are just clear-headed enough to have some idea as to who are their friends and who are their enemies (the Utah redemptionists have unintentionally, but none the less effectually, taught them this), and they are sensible enough to stand by their true friends, and thus keep the sticky fingers of the conspirators out of their

HARD-EARNED PIE.

In that almost obsolete book (among so-called Christians) called the Bible, we read of Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world. Wherever he went he did good and never evil. But there were some very pious (?) people then as now. They did not like Him and were determined to harass Him and put Him out of the way, if possible. How His acts and words were watched! How they tried to draw Him into saying treasonable against Cæsar. Not that they were so very loyal to that ruler, but they wanted to make Christ's "disloyalty" manifest, that He might be destroyed. They succeeded so far as to have Him crucified,

ALL ACCORDING TO LAW—

Remember that. How they gloried in his defeat! But in this very circumstance he was made victorious. He rose from the dead, and beyond their power, and in this way God's plan developed.

So also to-day. Men may be imprisoned for their integrity, and by the ruling of the judges it appears to me that it is for that only: yea they may suffer death itself, but there ends the power of our unmerciful enemies over them. But as God lives it is but working out His design, and when the purging of God's people is accomplished, woe be to our persecutors if they repent not. We need not ask God to have vengeance on them, that will surely be their lot, and in such a measure that even those whom they persecute will be led to pray that the full punishment be not meted to them.

The rule that "whatsoever measure ye mete to others shall be measured to you" will be a fearful penalty for those who now exult in the imprisonment of men whom they know to be their superiors in morality and in all that would elevate and ennoble mankind.

Yes, we can

for the darkest hour of the night is that which precedes the dawn of day. The severer the test, the sooner it will cease. Let there be no knee-trembling, surrendering or compromise of principle in Israel.

But two courses are before us. We have either to serve God or man. Holy Writ informs us that we cannot serve two masters. Paul said if he preached to please men, then he was no longer a servant of Christ, etc. History is full of the record of men who esteemed the law of conscience and of God infinitely paramount to the tyrannical edicts of men. Their names are extolled to-day, though while they lived, they were heretics," "dangerous fellows," "lawdefiers," and "turned the world upside down."

Let us choose whom we will serve and fear not. To the martyrs who are in bonds for the gospel's sake it may very appropriately be said as it was said to one of old. Fear not, brethren, be of good cheer, for you are lighting a candle this day which, by the grace of God, shall never be extinguished.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH IRWIN.
