

THE PENSION FUND BILL.

Government Employees Generally Oppose the Measure.

EXCEPT WEATHER BUREAU.

Change of Officers Causes a Flutter Among Senate Employees—Regret for J. H. Montgomery.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, March 1.—The defeat of the bill to create a pension list for the employees of the weather bureau service was quite a disappointment to Representative Wadsworth of New York, chairman of the committee on agriculture, and he hopes at no distant day to rally enough votes to carry it through. This bill created a pension fund by withholding a small percentage of the salaries of each employee, but it involved a principle which many members oppose. The vigorous manner in which the bill introduced by Representative Tawney of Minnesota to establish such a pension list for all employees of the government will not pass without a very hard contest. It is all true that the weather bureau is a good service in that bureau, and a man who occupies himself in the work is not fitted for other occupations. It is also true that work in the weather bureau does not afford business opportunities that are found in other branches of the government service. While both these bills have also raised a determined opposition which will fight them with great persistence. Coupled with it all is the opposition to the civil service law, and those men desiring repeal of modifications of this law believe that a pension, no matter how it may be established, will tend to make that law more permanent.

SENATE OFFICERS.

The selection of Daniel M. Ransdell for sergeant-at-arms and Charles G. Bennett for secretary of the Senate caused quite a flutter among the Senate employees, as nearly all of them, with the exception of committee clerks, are under the control of these officers. There are to be changes, and just how many or who will be affected is what causes the interest. The selection of these Senate employees will be determined, however, not by the two new elective officers, but in accordance with a custom prevailing in the Senate of leaving the selection of the officers to the senators, the dominant party controlling the appointments. In this case the selections are to be passed upon by the Republican caucus committee of the Senate, but primarily by a subcommittee consisting of Senators Capper of Montana, McMillan of Michigan and Sewell of New Jersey. After consulting other Republican senators this subcommittee will make recommendations, and if accepted, the appointments will be made. Some of the old and experienced employees will be retained.

NO MORE SALMON LUNCHEONS.

The news of the death of Hon. James H. Montgomery, of Portland, Or., was received in Washington with extreme regret. He was well known in this city, where he came every winter and remained several weeks. During his stay he usually gave two salmon lunches in the Senate and House cafeterias. To these he invited a goodly company of senators and representatives to partake of chinook salmon, a fish that has made the Columbia river famous. One fish was sufficient to serve a large number, all that could be comfortably gathered in the limited rooms on the Senate side. The fish were brought across the continent by express, packed in ice, and served in the style peculiar to Oregon. Mr. Montgomery and his salmon lunches became a regular feature at the Capitol, and it was nearly every year the President received one of the big fish from Mr. Montgomery.

SENATOR MASON'S AUTOMOBILE.

One of Billy Mason's business friends dropped in unexpectedly on the senator, or rather on the senator's clerk, and found that individual swamped in congressional mail. The caller inquired anxiously for the Illinois senator and was informed that Mr. Mason was exceedingly busy at the moment, being occupied with his routine matters that could not be delayed. The visitor observed a large stack of mail on Senator Mason's desk and accepted the explanation, promising to call again. It proved, however, that the stack of mail was at a bluff and that the senator was speeding about the smooth streets of Washington, trying one of the new automobiles that have recently made their appearance here.

Kansas City, Mo., March 6.—John Johnson, who was released from the penitentiary at Jefferson City this week after having served a three-year term for a porch-climbing burglary in Kansas City, was brought back to this city tonight by officers from Utah, who are en route with him to the Utah penitentiary, from which he escaped several years ago while serving a ten-year sentence. PRESIDENT ONLY CONSENTED.

He Does Not Really Endorse the Puerto Rican Tariff.

Washington, March 6.—The Post tomorrow will say: President McKinley, in conversation with callers at the White House yesterday, reiterated his belief that the people of Puerto Rico were entitled to free trade with the United States. He made it clear that this view had undergone no change since he wrote his message to Congress. He still adhered to the sentiment therein expressed. At the same time, he said he was unable to subscribe to the theory that the Constitution followed which is to convert tomorrow morning. Many of the woolgrowers of Oregon are present, among them being Dr. James Withcombe of Corvallis, president of the association, and J. W. Bailey of Portland, secretary.

Reports Exaggerated.

Fire Creek, W. Va., March 6.—The first reports of the explosion today at Red Ash mines were greatly exaggerated. The latest reports since midnight were that there were only fifty miners entombed, instead of 125. Only ten bodies have been taken out so far, instead of fifty, as previously reported, but it is believed that none of the forty that are still in the mine will ever be found alive.

UNCONSCIOUS TWO YEARS.

Young Woman Dies After a Long Illness.

San Francisco, March 6.—After two years of unconsciousness, Miss Eliza Wilbur died today. In February, 1898, Miss Wilbur was found in her room unconscious, with the gas turned on. She was lying on a sofa with a novel in her hand, and it was at first supposed that she had committed suicide. An investigation disproved this supposition, and it became known that she had fallen asleep while reading and that a gust of wind had extinguished the light, leaving the gas to escape into the room and rob the young lady of her senses. The usual remedies were applied, but the doctors could do nothing toward reviving the girl. The best physicians in the city were called and every known means of restoring consciousness were applied without result.

The girl retained in a great measure her former beauty, and to all appearances was but in a pleasant sleep. She was nourished and nursed as an infant, and a few weeks ago was released from that time on until my health was completely restored.

The Coast Team Will Leave Berkeley on April 29, if Conditions are Satisfactory.

A Berkeley, Cal., dispatch this morning says:

The University of California track team will, if conditions are satisfactory, meet Yale at New Haven on May 5th. Manager Decosta, of the California team, received a telegram yesterday from the Yale manager, stating that the match would be accepted for that date subject to conditions to be forwarded by mail. The date named is the one which Manager Decosta wanted. It will make the contest the first in which California will compete in the east. The team will leave Berkeley on April 29, and will reach New Haven May 3.

Decosta has received a challenge from the University of Michigan for a date on the return trip. California wants this match, and will make an effort to arrange it. With Princeton, Pennsylvania and Yale this will give four dual meets, besides the two championship games.

A large crowd was in attendance at the exhibition given at the Y. M. C. A. last night and the affair was a decided success. TED SULLIVAN HERE.

Well Known Base Ball Man Talks of the League.

Ted Sullivan, one of the best-known baseball men in the United States arrived here yesterday to overlook the baseball situation, or to see if Salt Lake desired to have a regular professional league ball the same as Denver and Pueblo, who joined the Great Western League. Mr. Sullivan said he was here merely to see if Salt Lake is alive to the baseball situation the same as all other great cities of the United States. "I am not here," said he, "for any office of the league as the officers of the league will be chosen from the representatives of each city. Professional baseball is a clean sport—when no gambling or other demoralizing influences are connected with it. I am here to give Salt Lake a first class professional club. There will be associated with me, if I choose to locate here some of Salt Lake's best athletes. The clubs of the California legion, the champions at the end of the season, could play in Salt Lake. To verify my statement, California had amateur ball for
