

NURSERY PROVES A GREAT SUCCESS

Infants Tenderly Cared for at Lion House During Conference.

HAPPY AMONG STRANGERS

Nurses and Charges Get Along Splendidly in Quarters Fitted Up for Comfort of Little Ones.

Yesterday the day nursery was opened in the basement rooms of the Lion house, and about 20 children, ranging from the baby in arms to tots of three, five and eight, enjoyed the hospitality afforded in the pleasant rooms fitted up for their entertainment. A corps of young nurses took charge of these little guests, their number insuring a devotion which left no question of the efficient care of their little charges. Mrs. Zina Y. Card was in charge, assigning to each department its overseers and attendants; and others of the committee in charge were present to lend aid in the efficient management. Mrs. Card stated that the system governing the nursery is so satisfactory, that on the first day the new enterprise ran as smoothly as if it had been in operation for years.

In the reception hall a young lady attendant enters a record of the names of the parents and children, the hours of attendance, and price charged for the same. If parents provide food, this is credited on the book; if not, crackers and milk are provided by the nursery, and the amount charged to the parents. Each child has a check pledged to it, and a duplicate check is given the parents. After that, it is all smooth sailing. The nursery presents a decidedly attractive appearance. The rooms are cozy, well heated and lighted, hammocks and cots fill up a large sleeping room, toys of every description are in another, and food is served in the domestic science lunch room. This morning about 20 little tots were housed in the various rooms, all apparently content and happy with their new environment.

CHILDREN ENJOY IT.

Asked as to whether any trouble had been experienced in keeping the children quiet, the answer was that only for a few moments, at parting with the parents were the children at all troublesome. Once this was effected, they all quickly became interested in the new surroundings, and were perfectly tractable. The sight of many little companions takes away all sense of loneliness, and they, in fact, seem to enjoy a thorough enjoyment of the situation. All is peaceful and quiet, no confusion of any kind being manifested. In the kindergarten room this morning a dozen children sat around a table laden with toys, and material for amusement in the way of moulding, drawing, painting, etc., and thorough good nature prevailed throughout. In the sleeping room, a little baby of about 5 months lay half asleep, looking up into the eye of its stranger nurse with every sign of content in its face. Others in the arms of various nurses seemed equally happy.

Mrs. Card states that the enterprise is so successful, that there is no question of its being continued throughout the conference in future.

QUERY FROM SWEDEN.

From far away Sweden has come inquiry relative to the "Optimistic Union" formed in this city a year ago, and of which W. J. Robinson is president. The writer, who seeks information as to the nature and scope of the club, is Philip Carlson of Stockholm, and the letter is addressed to Gov. John C. Cutler. To the executive the following query is propounded:

"Would it suit the union to connect itself with Sweden by founding a branch in Stockholm?"

SOCIALIST SPEAKER HEARD.

Margaret Prevey of Akron, O., the Socialist speaker, who addressed a large gathering in the Odd Fellows Hall, 23 P. O. Place last night, paid her respects to both the Democratic and Republican parties in very forceful language. "The Democratic party," said she, "always reminded me of the theosophist teaching, that when one had not lived right here and died, their ghost was compelled to appear again on earth, in the semblance of the living. So with the Democratic party, it died when it espoused slavery and was killed by the Republican party. Now for its sins it was compelled to go about upon the earth, but it is not real, it is only the ghost of the old party. Its reason for existence has ceased."

"So with the Republican party. It had its mission in the world. It has fulfilled it and is ripe to die. The Socialist party, in the natural order of things, is ready to take its place."

"Bryan, with all his eloquence, is a coward, who has not the courage of his convictions. Roosevelt is nothing but a bag of wind and Tart a hopeless incompetent. Roosevelt's shadow."

"The vital problem of the day is the question of what to do with the 5,000,000 unemployed. Yet neither the Republican nor Democratic platforms touch it, and Tiff's answer is 'God knows.'"

Mrs. Prevey speaks again at the same place tonight.

VISITORS' PLIGHT ON DELAYED TRAIN

Conference Crowds Dumped on
To Streets at 2 O'clock
In the Morning.

NO BEDS FOR TIRED LIMBS

Pathetic Parade Through the Rain in Search of Temporary Quarters
Until Morning Cars Started.

Conference visitors who come in from southern Utah over the Rio Grande on Saturday had an experience which they will not forget for some time. Owing to inefficient motive power the Sanpete valley train which is due to arrive in Salt Lake at 5:45 p. m., did not reach the city until nearly 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

In addition to this the train was so crowded that people were standing up in every car, the seats being given over to women and children. Some of the conference visitors on the train had been on their journey for two solid days or more, having driven in to Richfield, Salina and other points to take the train. When they arrived in Salt Lake there were street cars at the depot to take them uptown, but once there there was no additional transportation available outside of half a dozen hacks, and the hackdrivers apparently named their own price.

Then started a distinctly pathetic parade around the streets through the drizzling rain. From one hotel to another and around to the roominghouses went the crowd seeking in vain for quarters. In every case it seemed as though the answer was "not even a cot to spare." Some people took refuge in the lobbies of hotels and buildings and others wandered aimlessly around absolutely tired out. Some of those who were fortunate to secure beds did so through ignorance and necessity in some of the many shady roominghouses up town.

The remarks made by the tired passengers were of an order not at all complimentary to the management of the railroad. It is stated that the engines used by the Denver & Rio Grande on the Sanpete valley branch have been in bad condition for some time and are daily getting worse. Friday night the train was over two hours late, but Saturday's and Sunday's performances capped the climax.

Shortly after the train, which was then uncomfortably crowded, left Ephraim, it got into difficulties. Eventually the train backed down to Ephraim in bad condition for some time and after a wait for an hour and a half the train double-headed two crippled engines and coughing and sighing Hill Top, near Indianola, was eventually reached. Here the regular Rio Grande engine went it alone into Thistle. More time was lost along the road and the trainload of weary and exasperated passengers finally reached the city after all the cars had stopped running. As a great majority of the visitors were comparative strangers in Salt Lake their plight can be imagined. All trains on the Rio Grande have been late for a month past owing to heavy business and inadequate motive power. The labor unions claim that the machinists' strike which passed into history months ago is still on and is in a measure responsible for so many engines being out of repair.
