

SECY. METCALF REVIEWS FLEET

On Little Gunboat Yorktown He Passes Between Two Lines
Of Fighting Craft.

ADMIRAL EVANS NOT THERE.

His Physicians Would Not Permit Him,
Owing to His Health, to Participate.

San Francisco, May 8.—The combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets of battleships, armored cruisers, torpedo-boat destroyers and auxiliaries, aggregating in weight of displacement the enormous total of more than 400,000 tons—the greatest assemblage of armor clads thus far in the world—were reviewed in picturesque San Francisco harbor today by Secy. of the Navy Metcalf.

The 44 vessels of the two fleets lay at anchor in four long columns, and proceeded from the Oakland shore, the secretary, on board the little gunboat Yorktown—a reminder of the days when the navy was in its infancy—proceeded southward through the two lines formed by the armored cruisers of the Pacific fleet, nearest the Oakland shore, and the second squadron of the Atlantic fleet, headed by the Minnesota. Turning back to the north at the end of these two lines, the Yorktown traversed the lane formed on the starboard by the battleships of the first Atlantic squadron, and on the port by the grim little destroyers.

The day was brilliant with sunshine and a sighing breeze from the west set the waters of the hill-protected bay dancing into white-capped waves. The heavy battleships and cruisers, gay with the fluttering signal flags of full dress, paid no heed to the whistling wind, but the destroyers rolled and swayed in the trough of the seas.

Excursion craft crowded about the anchorage area, and gave the patrol boats plenty of work. They added many touches of color to the scene, however, and gave the people of the bay cities who again made black the hill-sides, their second splendid water pageant within three days. The review, however, was the last of the show features on the water, for soon the ships will be departing, some to go to navy yards for repairs, and others of the Pacific fleet starting south on a practice cruise.

Admiral Robley D. Evans, who had hoped to end his active naval career by participating in today's official ceremonies, was not permitted, by his attending physician, to go aboard the Connecticut. Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas was again the "senior officer." Admiral Evans, who returned to the fleet at Santa Cruz the day before it sailed through the Golden Gate in completion of the originally planned cruise, has made his home ashore at the St. Francis hotel since the afternoon of the arrival. He rode in the long parade on yesterday, and was quite fatigued by the trip.

Tomorrow forenoon is the time set for Admiral Evans finally to relinquish command. Although he will not be aboard ship, his flag will officially be lowered from the truck of the Connecticut as the sharp-speaking rifles on the after bridge boom out their parting salute of 13 guns. A few minutes later another 13 guns will mark the assumption of command by a new chief, Admiral Thomas transferring his headquarters from the Minnesota to the Connecticut, and exchanging the subordinate flag of red for the commanding pennant of blue.

Accompanied by members of his family and by officers of his personal staff, Admiral Evans will leave tomorrow afternoon for his home in Washington, where he will remain awaiting orders until the date of retirement, on his sixty-second birthday, Aug. 18. Admiral Thomas will be in command of the Atlantic fleet only until May 15, when he, too, hauls down his flag for all time, to return home on waiting orders until his retirement, in the fall. Rear Admiral Charles M. Sperry will assume command with the departure of Admiral Thomas, and will take the fleet on its brief excursion to Puget sound, beginning May 18, and on its tour of the world, starting from San Francisco July 7.

All of the flag and commanding officers paid their respects to Secy. Metcalf, who received them formally on the quarter deck of the Yorktown. As the officers, in full dress uniform, and attended by members of their staffs, came over the side from the starboard gangway, they were greeted by the blast of bugles, the rattle of drums, by saluting lines of side-boys at the gangways, and by a cordial handshake from the chief officer of the navy department. Other than the official introductions, the ceremonies aboard the Yorktown were simple and informal. The afternoon was marked by the presentation of silver services to the battleship Nebraska and the armored cruiser California, the elaborate side-board and table sets being the gifts of the states after which the splendid ships were named. Gov. Sheldon of Nebraska and Gov. Gillett of California personally made the presentation speeches.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if you children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Tonight interest is divided between two shore functions taking range among the principal entertainments provided for the fleets. At the St. Francis hotel the official dinner of welcome by the city of San Francisco was presided over by Mayor Edward R. Taylor, who made an address filled with renewed assurances of the city's overflowing hospitality. Rear Admiral Thomas responded in behalf of the fleet. There were a number of other speeches, both formal and informal. Covers were laid for 300, all of the flag and commanding officers of the fleet in the harbor being present. Following the banquet at a later hour, and attended by all the higher officers and a veritable host of the younger men, came the dance of the Friday Night club, probably the most exclusive organization of the city, at the Fairmont hotel, under the direction of E. M. Greenway.

IT REACHED THE SPOT.

ATTY. HENEY GOES TO COURT ARMED

Prosecutor of Abe Ruef Moved
His Hand Towards His Hip Pocket.

CREATED A BIG SENSATION.

He Invited the Attorneys for the Defendant "To Come Outside if They Wanted Anything."

San Francisco, May 8.—Endeavoring to come to the defense of the prosecution's star witness, who was being subjected to a severe cross-examination, and accused with having put words in the witness' mouth, Asst. Dist. Atty. Francis J. Heney precipitated a sensational scene in the courtroom this afternoon during the trial of Abraham Ruef, by retorting "Hear" to the accusation of Henry Ach, counsel for Ruef. The attorney for the defendant "to come outside if they wanted anything," admitted the charge of Frank J. Murphy, Ruef's assistant counsel, that he was in court armed, and started toward the table of counsel for the defense, moving his hand toward his hip pocket. He was stopped by William J. Burns, formerly of the United States secret service, and for the past year the prosecution's special agent in the bribery-graft case.

Judge Dooling, after restoring order, stated that only his desire to conclude Ruef's trial as quickly as possible deterred him from sending the attorneys for both sides to jail for a week.

The outbreak occurred during the cross-examination of James L. Gallagher, the prosecution's principal witness in the bribery-graft case, whose home in Oakland was blown up two weeks ago on the night following the day that he testified in the trial of Thirey L. Ford, general counsel for the United railroads, who was acquitted. Gallagher, who admittedly was the agent and "go-between" between Ruef and the supervisors, had testified that Ruef instructed him "to hold up" the application of the Parkside Realty company for a trolley franchise, and subsequently told him to see the other members of the board, advise them that each supervisor would get $750 to pass the ordinance and to "put it through." He also told of Ruef's message to the board that there would be $250 more in it for each member when some months later the Parkside company wanted the trolley route in the franchise changed.

JAMESTOWN FIREMEN CONFESS TO ARSON

Norfolk, Va., May 8.—Four members of the Jamestown exposition fire department and two of the Powhatan guard were today held to the grand jury on the charge of arson. Two of the men filed written confessions that they started the fire on the grounds which destroyed the Philippine villages and other villages 10 days ago. They said it was understood that Fire Chief Miller had recommended a cut in both force and salaries and they thought a fire would demonstrate the value of both the firemen and guards on the ground.

ANN ARBOR STUDENTS ESCAPE RIOT CHARGE

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 8.—The charges of rioting preferred against 15 University of Michigan students as a result of the student outbreak here March 16, when a mob of 2,000 students attacked and wrecked the Star theater, were dismissed today after the students had reimbursed the county to the amount of $208.50 for expenses and paid $1,000 for division among persons whose property was destroyed in the outbreak.

SECOND WEEK of the Annual Clearance Sale Bids Fair to Outdo the First!

Judging from the interest displayed last week in our Annual Clearance Sale, Salt Lake people are well aware of the fact that Madsen's Store is founded on the principle of fulfilling every promise and satisfying its customers in every way. We firmly believe that a satisfied customer is the best advertisement a store can have; and our aim is that every article sold shall be such good value for the money that the purchaser will remember us when in need of anything to be had in a furniture store. We can afford to sell first-class merchandise at substantial reductions at a time like the present, if for no other reason than to make friends for this store. We are just as careful to see that customers are satisfied with special sale goods as though regular prices were paid. Of course we have another definite object in reducing prices—that of lowering stocks in the different departments. This for the present is the most important; but after the clearance sale has accomplished its purpose of disposing of our Excess stocks, we will be more than repaid for efforts sent forth to make friends during this sale. So you see that there is a good reason for all of our goods being marked with a total disregard for cost.
