

WEDDING DRESS OF SPANISH QUEEN

Bridal Trousseau of Robes, Cloaks, Gowns, Etc., Was Made in London.

BUT WEDDING DRESS IN SPAIN

Presents for King Alfonso and His Bride Come From Many Countries.

Madrid, May 31.—Except Princess Ena's wedding dress, all the bridal trousseau of robes, cloaks, evening and tea gowns, petticoats and underlinen, was made in London, where many of the dresses have been on exhibition. Some of the articles of this queenly trousseau are described as follows:

A dainty dress of white mousseline-de-soie flowered with miniature roses. A morning gown is of fine spotted lawn over palest blue, inset with Valenciennes lace. A beautiful princess robe is in spotted lawn, made to wear over many different colored slips. A charming pale blue silk empire morning robe is fastened in front with white rosettes and ends. Another morning gown is of white lawn over pale blue, inset at equal distances with Valenciennes lace. A smart morning gown is composed entirely of English embroidery in a very open work design.

Among the simple day gowns are many composed of linen. The bodices in many instances are made after the American blouse style, with touches of red and blue embroidery. One of the many dressing jackets is made of the palest blue and white zana edged with quail silk embroidery. A handsome day dress is composed of ivory crepe de chine, the bodice arranged with the finest Galigne lace and tucked squares of crepe de chine, the centers of which are delicately embroidered with colored rosebuds and set together with insertions of Valenciennes lace. A simple frock is of the palest pink and white flowered voile, with Valenciennes lace. Another day dress is of pale pink and white satin founced in a small design. Another beautiful visiting dress is of fine white Valenciennes lace and ivory colored cloth.

Among the many tea gowns is a beautiful one of palest pink mousseline-de-soie, made in the empire style. Another is a pale yellow empire gown, veiled with white linen-de-soie. The large bell sleeves are entirely of frills of lace, and round the short waist are pale yellow ribbons threaded through embroidery. There is a handsome evening coat of pale blue-colored faced cloth, with a hood composed of Valenciennes lace, dyed to match the cloth. Among the evening gowns is a short-waisted one of pale yellow mousseline. Another empire evening gown is of white silk mousseline, flowered all over with tiny clusters of pink roses. The under linen is made of the finest linen, trimmed with real Valenciennes lace and fine embroidery. The initials of the royal bride, surmounted by the Spanish crown, are worked on all the garments.

THE WEDDING DRESS.

The wedding dress has attracted great interest in Spain, as it is truly a Spanish product, in fabric and finish, except for the wonderful Brussels lace which has been brought to adorn it. It was a fancy of the king and the queen mother that the wedding dress should be made in Spain, and the Princess Ena graciously fell in with this patriotic sentiment. The dress is therefore one of the special presents from the king and is a marvel of elegance. The silk was manufactured from a special loom in the city of Brussels. The dress is made up with all the artistic skill of the court dressmakers. The silk is heavily overlaid with wonderful silver embroidery with soft folds of the finest Brussels lace, said to have cost $50 a yard. The lace were publicly exhibited before being put on the dress, and excited the admiration and astonishment of the aristocratic ladies of Madrid. Orange blossoms are profusely used with the silver embroidery and lace for the corsage, and even in the train, which is four yards long. According to Spanish traditions the bride must afterwards present this wedding dress to the Virgin de la Falmora, the popular protectress of maternity.

THE WEDDING PRESENTS.

The presents for King Alfonso and his bride are arriving from all quarters of the globe, from countries and their rulers, from provinces and cities, and even from school children of Spain who have contributed their mite to show their loyalty to the king. Some of these gifts are as follows: The queen mother presents the king with her portrait painted by Moreno Carbonero. The city of Madrid gives an enduring present to the bride, by establishing a "Madrugada" quarter, which is baptized in the name of "Queen Victoria Eugenia." The mayor of Madrid has invited all the mayors of Spain to sign an artistic album expressing their homage to the young couple. The manufacturers of Barcelona have presented the bride with a diadem of diamonds valued at 150,000 pesetas.

The presents from royalty are notable mainly for their elegance and taste rather than their intrinsic worth, although some of them are of great value.

The emperor of Germany sends some splendid hunting trophies, made of the heads of wild boars and stags which Alfonso killed during his hunt in the imperial hunting preserves of Germany.

France sends some of the finest productions of Sevres porcelain and the Gobelin tapestry factories. The standards of Argentina raised to the famous sculptor, Mariana Bevilacqua, ordering busts of Alfonso and the bride in marble or bronze, and transmitting 50,000 pesetas.

Queen Christina presents the bride with a priceless sash mantle which belonged to Queen Isabel II, of dark red velvet, wonderfully embroidered in gold. The bride's presents from the Spanish aristocracy include many historic jewels, fine old fans, lace and porcelains. The daughter of the Duke of Alba sent her a gold waist buckle set in rubies. The presents from the people of Spain show the sympathy with which they receive the foreign princess. The schoolteachers throughout the country have subscribed a large quota for a sumptuous edition of Don Quixote, accompanied by a message of felicitation on parchment.

The friends of the king at Biarritz have united in giving the royal gift of the Villa Mousicourt and its splendid estates, where the royal courtship began. The English residents are vying with the Spaniards in giving presents. The English colonies of the interior towns having raised 100,000 pesetas for a diamond and pearl necklace. Many of the presents from rulers and states are yet to be announced.

MUCH CREDIT DUE

To Local Board Because Salt Lake Escapes Insurance Rais.

There is general congratulation in local insurance circles over the exemption made of Salt Lake City from the raise of 25 per cent in fire insurance rates over this jurisdiction by the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific and Local Manager Scheel gives the credit for the same to the recommendations made by the Salt Lake Board of Underwriters early in the month, and desires the local board to be also given such credit by the public.

Salt Lake is not only the sole city in the state, but the only city in the jurisdiction that is favored. There was a move to have the rates of Oregon lowered 10 per cent; but that municipality failed to comply with certain requirements, and now Oregon loses the 10 per cent reduction, besides having its rates raised 25 per cent with other cities.

There are exceptions to the increase of rates, in the following classes of risks. It is protected by sprinkler equipments approved by this board, saw mills, not including lumber yards connected therewith, farm property, including growing grain, buildings and dwellings, or their private barns, churches, schoolhouses, and city, town and county public buildings.

MAYOR APPROVED NEW ORDINANCES

Those Amended by the Council With Reference to Street Paving.

MUST READVERTISE BIDS.

In View of This Action Board of Public Works Met This Morning for Further Consideration.

Mayor Thompson today approved the amended street paving ordinances passed by the city council on Monday night and also the resolution by Black authorizing the re-advertising for bids on all of the paving improvements heretofore advertised. The amended ordinances provided for the property owners to pay their tax for the improvements in ten years instead of five as required in the original ordinances. The street paving work effected by the ordinance is First South street from West Temple to Third West; East Temple from Fourth to Ninth South; State from Fourth to Seventh South; Fourth South from Temple to Second East; Second South from Third to Tenth East.

Bids for all this work will have to be re-advertised before the paving can be commenced. The ordinance provides for re-advertising the improvements named above. The mayor also approved the Wells resolution instructing the board of public works to discontinue the advertising for bids for re-advertising Second avenue and C street until the ordinance can be amended so as to allow the 10-year payment on that work also. This amendment will probably be made at the council meeting on next Monday night, and then the advertisement for bids will be commenced over again.

In view of the action of the city council in amending the ordinance for the Second South street paving so as to allow the 10-year payment, the board of public works met this morning and returned all of the bids received on that work without opening them. Last Monday was the date set for opening bids for that paving, but the board postponed action until today in order to amend the ordinance. The ordinance on the other paving improvements, as it has been instructed to re-advertise for bids on all the work the board decided today not to open the bids received on the ordinance for paving here, they were returned to the bidders.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater.—The transferring of the Casino Park company to the Salt Lake Theater yesterday afternoon and evening did not prove a happy venture. The patrons of the park who like their opera in the open air, did not follow the company to the home of the first class amusement, and the regular patrons of the house were also absent.

Tonight Zina's Travesty company resumes its entertainments at the park, presenting "The Mascot."

Grand.—This house shared the holiday prosperity yesterday and the final performance of "The Inside Track" went to heavy business. Tonight sees the first presentation of the detective melodrama, "The Great Poison Mystery."

Orpheum.—The Orpheum stock company presented "The Chaffin Bay" to two huge audiences yesterday. The company will next render "Alabama," the foretold drama by Augustus Thomas which made such a hit here when presented by Frothingham.

Lyric.—The Patal Wedding with Jane Nelson in the leading part is going to draw a good business. American Glee will be the next bill Saturday afternoon.

JUVENILE COURT IN SUPREME COURT

Question of Constitutionality of The Latter is Being Argued.

TWO CASES ARE PRESENTED.

Public Will Soon Be Officially Informed Of Powers of "Tribunal" for Children.

The question of the constitutionality of the juvenile court law, passed by the last Legislature, is being argued before the supreme court today and the matter will be gone into most thoroughly. Two cases are being argued jointly in which the points at issue are involved, one of which is with reference to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court over adults and the other in regard to juveniles. The public will soon know the status of the juvenile court and the decision of the supreme court in relation to the matter will be awaited with much interest.

The cases in which arguments are being heard today are the matter of the application of Emma Sahler for a writ of habeas corpus and Emil Mill against Willis Brown, judge of the juvenile court. The former case is the adult case and the latter the juvenile. Attorney N. W. Sonnedecker took up the entire session this morning in his argument in behalf of the plaintiffs in the actions and had not concluded at the adjourning hour at noon. Attorneys Benner N. Smith and James J. Bennett will this afternoon present their arguments in behalf of Judge Arnold. Mr. Sonnedecker made a strong argument in which he pointed out several vital defects in the juvenile court law which would render it clearly unconstitutional. He presented numerous authorities to uphold his contention.

COURT NOTES.

Bertina Woods filed suit in the district court today for divorce against James M. Woods on the grounds of desertion and failure to provide. They were married at Fairbury, Neb., on May 27, 1898, and have one child, which plaintiff asks the custody. It is alleged that defendant deserted plaintiff on Feb. 12, 1900 and ever since has failed to support her.

M. Levy, the junk dealer, was arraigned in the criminal division of the district court today on a charge of strong upon the charge of receiving stolen property and pleaded not guilty to the same. It is alleged that Levy received a lot of brass jewelry from Harry Le Roy and Bert Miller on Jan. 3, 1906, which had been stolen from the Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line, San Pedro and Rio Grande railroads in this city.

Suit was filed in the district court today by Bonnie De Ellis Ward against the American Surety company of New York and B. W. Liddell to compel the defendant to pay off a lien upon the property of plaintiff and thus remove the same from title to the same. Liddell was the contractor who built the house for plaintiff and the American Surety company was on his bond. He failed to pay the Taylor-Armstrong Hardware company a bill of $638.75 for lumber used in the contract and that company filed a lien against the place. Plaintiff now asks that the defendant be compelled to pay the amount due for lumber and thus discharge the lien.

Back Up!

In a sweeping condemnation of foot-ball, the rules of which he is working hard to change, Harold Bain told the other day a football story.

"Two matrons," he said, "were conversing. The first said: 'I hear your son has been winning high honors at college.'"

"He has, indeed," replied the second woman. "He has been a quarterback, a halfback, a fullback, and now—"

"Yes, what is he now?" said the first matron eagerly.

"Now," replied the other, "he's a hunchback."

CASES OF MOYER ET AL CONTINUED

Prosecution Filed Formal Motion On Ground Habeas Corpus Proceedings Pending.

UNTIL SUPREME COURT ACTS.

Motion to Admit Defendants to Bail Denied—Must Remain in Ada County Jail.

(Special to the "News.")
Boise, Ida., May 31.—Court convened at Caldwell this morning to listen to the decision of Judge Smith on the motion of the prosecution in the Steunenberg case for a continuance of trial, pending the decision of the supreme court of the United States on the habeas corpus appeal. Attorneys for both sides and the prisoners, Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, together with Mesdames Moyer and Haywood and a large crowd of spectators, were present.

Judge Smith declared with regret that his interpretation of the law compelled him to grant the motion of a continuance.

The attorney for the defense, Richardson, contended at length that months would be required to obtain a decision on the appeal in question, and that injustice would be dealt his clients by compelling them to lie in jail all this time. He therefore requested bail for them, advising the putting of bonds at an amount sufficiently high to guarantee their appearance at trial. This was denied by the court on the authority of rulings of the California supreme court in a similar case. The court adjourned amid considerable confusion.

Caldwell, Ida., May 31.—When the cases of Charles H. Moyer, William D. Haywood and George A. Pettibone, charged with the murder of former Gov. Frank Steunenberg, came up in the district court today counsel for the prosecution, acting upon the suggestion made on Tuesday by Presiding Judge Frank Smith, filed a formal motion for a continuance on the ground that the habeas corpus proceedings instituted in the federal courts in behalf of the defendants are still pending and serve as a bar to further proceedings in the state courts until a decision shall have been rendered by the federal supreme court. Judge Smith granted the motion and exceptions were entered by the defense and allowed.

An agreement was finally reached as to the duration of the continuance, attorneys for both sides stipulating that the order of court should provide for a stay of proceedings until the supreme court shall finally pass on the questions before it relating to these defendants, the defendants at the same time excepting to any order of any nature.

The present outlook is that the accused members of the Western Federation of Miners cannot be brought to trial before December next.

Counsel for the defense renewed their motion to admit the defendants to bail, but this was denied, and the prisoners will remain in the Ada county jail at Boise.

JAPANESE SUPPLANT RUSSIANS.

Washington, May 31.—The rapidly with which Japanese have supplanted not only Russian soldiers but merchants of that nationality in Manchuria as a result of the late war is clearly exhibited by the report of the commissioner of customs at Nien Chwang, the principal port of the province. He states that in 1890 the total number of foreigners residing there was 32, of whom 11 were Japanese, with no Russians; in 1900 the number of foreigners was 1,564, of whom 55 were Japanese, and 1,509 Russians, while in 1905, after the war, the number of foreigners was 7,000, of whom 7,048 were Japanese and only one Russian.

A Natural Mistake.

Officer Herford once entered a doubtful-looking restaurant in a small New York town and ordered a lamb chop. After a long delay the waiter returned, bearing a plate on which reposed a dab of butter, a small round of ham, a couple of chop of microscopic proportions with a remarkably long and slender rib attached. This the waiter set down before him and then hurried away.

"Yes," replied the man, "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," replied Herford, peering at it closely. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."—Everybody's Magazine.

ARRAIGNED BROWN CASE

His Attorneys Filed Motion to Quash the War-rants.

ARGUMENTS NEXT MONDAY.

Motion Based on the Grounds That Court is Without Jurisdiction in the Matter.

Arthur Brown, the young man arrested several days ago, charged with forgery, was not arraigned before Judge Whitaker of the city court today as contemplated. Another motion to quash the warrant of arrest in the case was filed by Attorneys Kinney & Wilson, who represent the accused, and Judge Whitaker set Monday morning at 10 o'clock as the time for hearing the arguments on the motion. There are two charges of forgery and uttering a forged instrument against Brown and the same motion was filed in each case.

The motion to quash the warrants is based on the grounds that the court was without jurisdiction in the case because the statutes had not been complied with in regard to instituting the proceedings. The complainant, J. H. Burdick, nor any other witnesses were not examined under oath or by deposition or otherwise before the magistrate relative to their knowledge of the offense charged; that there was no evidence before the magistrate upon which a warrant of arrest could be issued; that the county attorney did not examine into the character of the defendant as required by law; that the proceedings in the case are contrary to the Constitution of the United States in that it deprives a person of liberty without due process of law; that it is also contrary to the Constitution of Utah for the same reason.

Accompanying the motion were affidavits of J. H. Brown and A. Sorenson, both of whom swear that they were present in the room when Carl Burdick swore to the complaints and that Burdick was not examined by the magistrate relative to his knowledge of the offense charged, and that he did not even read the complaints before he swore to them.

At the conclusion of the reading of the motion and affidavits the court adjourned until Monday, and his request was granted, that date being agreeable to Assistant County Attorney Hanson. Brown was in the court room this morning during the proceedings in company with Deputy Sheriff Andrew Smith.
