

JUDGE POWERS AS RATE EXPERT

Some Interesting Arguments in Famous Ticket-Scalping Case
In U. S. Court.

HEAVY LOSSES BY RAILROADS.

Roads Contend That Brokers Have Defrauded Them Out of Thousands of Dollars.

Judge John A. Marshall of the United States district court yesterday afternoon took the case of the ticket scalpers under advisement. No time for rendering the decision was set. The case in question was that brought by the Rio Grande and the Southern Pacific to secure a permanent injunction against Oscar Grunstein and 10 other defendants, who are in the ticket brokerage business restraining them for all time from dealing in railroad tickets issued by the companies who are plaintiffs in this case.

In Utah there are now two cases of similar character pending in the federal courts, and four in the state courts involving the same defendants and different railroad companies. The suits apparently are the outcome of concerted action on the part of railroads throughout the United States. To date the railroads have been successful in a majority of the suits brought.

The Bitterman case in New Orleans is to be carried to the United States supreme court and this undoubtedly will settle the question one way or the other.

INTERESTING ARGUMENTS.

The arguments before Judge Marshall yesterday were decidedly interesting both from the standpoint of the railroads and the public. Atty. Waldemar Van Cott, representing the Rio Grande, made one point and hammered away on it. It was the sole contention that to date has been effectively won similar cases; the claim that the ticket brokers unlawfully deal in railroad tickets which are non-transferable.

LOSSES BY RAILROADS.

Affidavits were introduced sworn to by J. A. Benton, general agent of the passenger department of the Denver & Rio Grande, who affirmed that his road lost last year $2,900 through the operations of ticket brokers, and General Passenger Agent D. E. Burley of the Oregon Short Line, who placed the losses of the Southern Pacific through the same cause at $20,000.

Counsel asked for a blanket injunction covering all of the brokers.

JUDGE POWERS FOR DEFENSE.

Judge O. W. Powers for the defense made a brilliant argument. During his remarks he contended that railroad tickets purchased by an individual were his own property and that a man had a right to dispose of them as he saw fit. If the court sought to restrain him from so doing then the court exceeded its authority and proceeded to enjoin the field of legislation.

Secondly he affirmed that the matter of ticket brokerage had been in existence for years and had been recognized. The railroads, he said, had delayed their protests too long and could not consistently ask for relief.

Thirdly, the business of ticket brokerage had been recognized in the past. In fact, the railroads themselves had been accused of selling the broker's tickets on numerous occasions.

DELICATE SUBJECT.

Then Judge Powers stirred up a delicate subject from the standpoint of the railroads. He asserted that the railroads had entered into an illegal combination and could not consistently come into court with clean hands and ask that the brokers be restrained. The combination, which was a violation of the Constitution of the State of Utah and the Sherman law, was for the purpose of arbitrarily fixing rates, and the plaintiffs now came into court and asked that court of equity to uphold them in their unlawful act. The defense insisted that if it was guilty of violating laws, it should be handled by the government.

DISCRIMINATION CITED.

In the claim that the railroads were discriminating against Utah Judge Powers cited a number of cases. It was claimed that there was a conspiracy to avoid all competition and the price of tickets had been arbitrarily fixed to the loss of many thousands of dollars annually to citizens of Salt Lake and Ogden. By combining and agreeing not to sell second-class tickets from these two cities to the coast points, compelling thereby the person who travels from Salt Lake to any point upon the Pacific coast to pay nearly the same rate for transportation as is paid by travelers from points in Colorado the railroads were fracturing the law. In contention the rate of $1.50 from Salt Lake to San Francisco was cited, whereas complainant who transports passengers in connection with other railroads "with whom it has conspired and agreed," hauls passengers from Colorado points to the coast for $2.00, and from Missouri river points, much further east, for $4.00. The fact that the rate from Missouri river points to Salt Lake is $2.50, and from Colorado points to Salt Lake is $1.50 was dwelt upon, showing that other passengers bound through to the coast were hauled the same distance for respectively $3.50 and $1.50, or a discrimination against Salt Lake in the case of every passenger hauled from the Missouri river of $2.00, and for each from Denver of $1.00.

BOMBINO FINED $75.

He is One of the Italians Who Started A Strike.

Mike Bombino, an Italian striker, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor before Justice of the Peace Lee at Brigham yesterday and was fined $75 which he paid. Bombino was the leader of the strikers and was charged with riot but after the preliminary hearing it was considered advisable to punish the charge and let him plead guilty. Joe Saccanino, another of the leaders, was not present when his case was called hence he is still under bond. Two other men implicated in the strike were discharged by the justice as it was found that they were forced into the affair by Bombino and others. The cases were prosecuted by County Atty. Christensen.

RAMSEY-MORRIS RECITAL.

Excellent Showing of Advanced Vocal Students at Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Emma Ramsey-Morris presented a number of her pupils in a recital at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last evening. A number of new singers were brought out, and the work done by each was a credit not only to the singers, but to the preceptor. A trio composed of Miss Jennie Sands, Miss Edith and Florence Grant, sang

In a very pleasing manner "Rest thee on this mossy pillow." Miss Sands and Miss Edith Grant were also soloists of the evening, the former rendering three selections, "Jean," "Mellie in the Woods," and "My Abode while Miss Grant sang the "Jewel Song," from Faust, "From Grief I Cannot Measure," and "Farewell."

Other pleasing numbers were the selections of Miss Sarah Hasmussen "The Lass with the Delicate Air," "Ah had I Jubal's Lyre," and an aria from "Sampson and Delilah." Miss Charlotte Esterlin's rendition of "Fear Not, Oh Israel," "Farewell to Summer," "Marie" and "Who is Sylvia," by Miss Florence Grant, and "Der Freischutz" by Miss Lottie Owen. Many friends of the singers, with other lovers of music were present, and the splendid work of the singers was enthusiastically received.

What the audience, which was large and artistically inclined, observed most was the method of the pupils, a method of which seemed to give extraordinary results, considering the brief time many of them have been studying. Altogether it was a showing which instructor, pupil and parents have just cause to be proud of. It was clearly demonstrated that should some of these young people continue their studies they will surely become artists of merit.

DENVER ELKS WORKING.

Lodge No. 17 Has Raised $60,000 for Purpose of Entertaining.

J. W. French of Denver is in the city. Mr. French is an Elk and brings glowing reports from Denver of preparations going on in that city for the entertainment of the visitors next month at grand lodge meeting. Mr. French says that Denver lodge No. 17 has raised $60,000 to be used for illumination and fireworks, and also for souvenir badges.

Mr. French said: The beautiful silver elk, modeled by Sorenson, and given by Shaffer, is only one of the great prizes to be awarded. Many others of equal value are on the list.

The committee has arranged for 75,000 visitors, and we look for a large percentage of these from Salt Lake City. A large arch, which is said to be intended to be a permanent fixture at the Union depot, will be lighted with 2,000 electric lights, and will flash the word "Welcome" on all who come.

The visitors will be taken over the Moffat lines, and the great Georgetown loop line, the Switzerland trail, and the way down to and up on top of Pike's Peak. The ablest orators of Elksdom will tell of the good the order has done, and the charter which has to do with San Francisco will be worth hearing.

"Say, let me tell you something about the order of Elks. It began really in the late '60s, with a vaudeville act named Charles Vivian and Charles of his friends in New York city. Vivian was an educated man who took to the stage just for the fun of the thing. He was the most popular man in his day on any American stage. He was identified with an English song, which he sang in characteristic dress, called "Ten Thousand Miles Away," and made of it his hit for two years.

Men gathered in a noted place in New York and organized what they called "The Buffaloes." Out of this small, convivial gathering, through changes and vicissitudes, came the Order of Elks. The good they have done cannot be told in words or figures. The best men of the day are in its membership, and it reaches and touches every avenue of life.

"Charles Vivian passed through Salt Lake in 1879, and there are many here who remember him in his gray hair."

"Grand Exalted Ruler Brown of Louisville, Ky., has just had a fine opportunity to see entertainment on a large scale, in the coming of the hosts of people to the 'Kentucky Home-Coming' gathering, and he, with all of his able lieutenants, will take advantage of all good points there and improve upon them."

"The watchword of the meeting will be 'Something Doing,' and from the time of the first arrival to the last departure there will be something doing to delight visitors."

MRS. ANDREWS' RECITAL.

A Pleasing Display of Musical Talent By Young People.

At the First Presbyterian church, Mrs. Allison G. Andrews last evening presented a number of her pupils in a song recital, assisted by an orchestra composed of pupils of Prof. George E. Skelton. The vocal numbers were: "Moonlight," "Margarita" and "Sunrise" by Mrs. T. W. Selser; "In the Dark in the dew" and "Scenes that are brightest," by Miss Linnie Frances; "Hushen" and "Sunset," by Miss Emily C. Cleaves; "I know a lovely garden," and "I love you sweet," by Mrs. George E. Skelton.

Miss Alberts McGinnis, Miss Beadie Delaher, Miss Margaret Burton and Miss Phyllis H. Burton also rendered vocal selections. Mrs. Andrews played a violin solo, and the orchestra rendered "The Ancient Regime" and the trio, Op. 82 in flat major.

Misses Janet Wiltich, Helen Hartley, Marjorie Brooks, Ella Pitts, George Klink and Morris Andrews.

Rev. Simpkin Home—Rev. P. A. Simpkin and Mrs. Simpkin returned from Santa Monica this morning after spending a two-weeks' vacation in southern California. Mr. Simpkin returns with a rich brunette epidermis and a bundle of fish stories calculated to make a man pack up grip and tie to the nearest fishing hole. In 10 days of actual fishing he caught 413 subjects for a post graduate course in the frying pan, among them being an 18-pound shark (photographs accompany this statement, not necessarily for publication), a sea bream, a sea bream, a yellowtail, a sea bream, a sea bream, and other fishy inhabitants of the Pacific ocean. Altogether a most enjoyable outing and rest resulted.

ALBERT KAEHL BADLY WOUNDED

Eight-Year-Old Boy Shot in the Leg by a Careless Youth.

WAS SHOOTING MALICIOUS?

Wounded Youngster Says It Was—
Complaint Made to Police and To Judge Brown.

That Albert Kaehl, a German boy, aged 8 years, is alive today is due entirely to good fortune, or luck, or possibly to the poor aim of a youngster named Jacobson. The latter intended to do serious injury to young Albert there is no doubt in the minds of the injured youngster's parents, who reside at 766 west Ninth South street.

Later yesterday afternoon he was playing in the yard at his home when Jacobson, who is between 12 and 13 years of age, came along armed with a 22-caliber rifle. According to the statement of Albert and his father, Jacobson took deliberate aim and fired, and the bullet lodged in the Kaehl boy's leg between the knee and thigh. The youngster proved to be game, and calmly sat down and proceeded to dig the bullet out with a penknife. The wound was about three inches deep, and bled profusely, and was extremely painful, but the boy stuck to his task until he had extracted the leaden slug.

Albert declared at his home this morning that the shooting was malicious. He said he had never done anything to the Jacobson boy to cause the latter to assault him, and could not understand why he had been picked as a target by Jacobson. Mr. Kaehl said that the boys in the neighborhood may have had some difficulty but he was certain that his boy had not mixed in any way.

Mr. Kaehl and his son called at police headquarters after a visit had been made to the hospital, and made a complaint to Assistant City Attorney P. Daly. The latter suggested that the case be laid before Judge Brown of the court of sessions, and the injured youth was taken to a physician to have the wound dressed, after which Judge Brown was made acquainted with the facts.

It is believed the boy will get along all right unless blood poisoning sets in from the wound, but every precaution is being taken.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—Mr. Piper of the Salt Lake Theater has now completed all arrangements for the appearance all next week of Horace Mayall of the Orpheum stock company, and all the other members of that popular organization (except Miss Stuart who has other plans) in a presentation of the great play of "The Sign of the Cross," written by those masters of the drama, Dumas and DeMille. Miss Edna Ellens, who has played leading lady for Mr. Mayall in San Francisco, will play the part of the heroine, and will be a beautiful and capable actress. Mable Florence, Edna Gresham, Ethel Sturges, Helen Hartley, P. G. McLean, Gus Mortimer, Daniel Gilchrist, Zelley Roach, Jack Harlow and Luke Congrove will be retained and the play will be mounted lavishly. The popular troupe of comedians, the "Four Horsemen," will be coaxed by large number of fans, and ice cold drinks will be served.

The last chance to see Johnson's reproductions of San Francisco at the theater will occur tonight.

Orpheum—"The Girl I Left Behind Me" goes for the last time this afternoon and evening. The matinee house today is the heaviest of any performance. Through an inadvertence the wagon and implement dealers were omitted from the list of exhibitors. The showmen's tents will be closed Friday night, and including Friday night.

Grand—"The final presentation of 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde' will be given tonight. Tomorrow evening the Ethel Tucker Stock company renders 'Dora Thorne.'

Casino Park—Jane Kelton and her stock company are here today, and are at this house with their rendition of "Why She Sinned."

LATE LOCALS.

Firms Which Close Saturdays.—In the Saturday "News" a list of the firms which close Saturdays which give half holidays each week was printed. Through an inadvertence the wagon and implement dealers were omitted from the list of exhibitors. The showmen's tents will be closed Friday night, and including Friday night.

Bank Clearing.—Today's bank clearing was $1,020,587.91. For the corresponding day of 1905 they were $1,022,234.43. While the difference is nearly 100 per cent, the increase is almost wholly owing to better conditions in the money market. There was buying and selling of eastern stocks by local banks today, which may have increased the clearing somewhat, but not to any considerable extent.

Library Needs Money.—The board of directors of the free public library has filed a petition with the library committee of the city council asking that the levy for library purposes this year be increased from one-quarter of a mill to one-third of a mill. This will mean an increase in the revenue of the library of about $3,500 which is deemed necessary by the directors because of the increased expenses in connection with the new library building.

Salt Lake Boy Ill.—Word has been received in Salt Lake of the serious illness at Portland, Or., of Don Jensen, 12 years of age, who is a native of this city. He left home, with a companion of about his own age, to see the world, and ere long found himself half famished, and was suffering with illness. A doctor was called to care for young Jensen and he was removed to the Good Samaritan hospital, where an operation for appendicitis was performed. The boy's mother was summoned from Salt Lake, and she is now at the bedside of her child, whose chances for recovery are not very promising.

Rev. Simpkin Home—Rev. P. A. Simpkin and Mrs. Simpkin returned from Santa Monica this morning after spending a two-weeks' vacation in southern California. Mr. Simpkin returns with a rich brunette epidermis and a bundle of fish stories calculated to make a man pack up grip and tie to the nearest fishing hole. In 10 days of actual fishing he caught 413 subjects for a post graduate course in the frying pan, among them being an 18-pound shark (photographs accompany this statement, not necessarily for publication), a sea bream, a sea bream, a yellowtail, a sea bream, a sea bream, and other fishy inhabitants of the Pacific ocean. Altogether a most enjoyable outing and rest resulted.

San Domingo Treaty.—The Senate Will Take no Action This Session.

Washington, June 27.—The Santo Domingo treaty will not be acted upon by the senate at this session. The committee on foreign relations adjourned today with no session of Congress, and the treaty was left without action. It is expected an effort will be made in executive session today to have a day fixed for a vote on the treaty early in December. Opponents of the measure claim to have votes enough to defeat it and it is the opposition therefore that is seeking to have a time fixed for a vote.

AT THE RESORTS.

Great throngs of children invaded the shady precincts of Calder's park today and made merry with everything of a mirth-provoking character about the park. The little folks represented the children of the Liberty, Pioneer, Salt Lake, Ensign, Granite and Jordan stakes, and as they entered the gate each one was presented with a ticket entitling the holder to a free dish of ice cream. The program was a good one and all joined in the sports with a vigor truly appetizing to the older escorts. Tomorrow the people of Summit will come down to the park, and 1,500 strong and carry out an attractive program of sports and other exercises.

PERSONALS.

Calvin Cobb, owner of the Boise Statesman, is here today on his way back to Idaho from Washington, D. C. Sheriff George W. Part of Dillon, Mont., is in the city, having brought his wife to the L. D. S. hospital to undergo an operation. The sheriff called upon Sheriff Emery today.

John P. Meakin, who has been lecturing in the east for the past several months on "Utah and the Mormons," and who has done a great deal to confer the standards of the state, will arrive from Denver Thursday morning of this week. Mr. Meakin joined him there, and will return with him.

WEDDED IN UTAH; WOE IN CHICAGO

Failing to Convert Wife From Mormonism Husband Resorts to Force.

TREATMENT MOST BRUTAL.

Bill for Divorce to be Amended Under Court's Instruction on Account Of Infidelity.

Chicago Record-Herald of Sunday: Religion played a prominent part in one of yesterday's divorce court comedies, the problem involved being: "What to do with a Mormon wife." At first Henry C. Scott attempted to convert her, but when on the verge of success changed his mind and decided to use force. The consequence was that the abused young wife brought suit before Judge Walker to gain her freedom, turning the tables on her husband by declaring that he himself was addicted to certain bad practices, as well as being gifted with a violent disposition.

The Scotts, Henry and Belle, were married in Salt Lake City, Dec. 3, 1903, and came to Chicago to live. Henry was a churchman of another faith, and wished to bring his wife into that fold. After reducing her to a proper state of submissiveness by means of several acts of simple, hardy cruelty, according to Belle's own story, he began to proselyte, and found it easy sailing.

ROW GOING TO CHURCH

She finally consented to attend church with him, and they started from home one Sunday morning, each convinced that the other was a hypocrite, and that life henceforth would be one long sweet dream. But on the way a religious argument was started, and the husband, who was a perfect conviction, and her doubt upon certain essential points irritated John beyond endurance. Just as they neared the church door John exclaimed: "Oh, you'll never be anything but a d—d Mormon, anyway!"

With which burst of wrath he smote her in the eye, and church-going was ended for that Sunday.

"My eye was black for a month, your honor," Mrs. Scott informed Judge Walker.

"Are you a Mormon?" the court asked.

Mrs. Scott proved that all of John's missionary work had come to naught by answering: "Yes."

DIDN'T LIKE HER SHOES.

"He treated me like a dog," Mrs. Scott continued. "Once when I was dressing to go to church, he began saying they were too small for me, and that I was getting too gay with my high heels. 'Here, try them on before you go to church,' he said, bringing my shoes out from under the bed. I said that my shoes were not too tight and did not pinch my feet. 'Don't lie to me,' he cried, and slapped me in the face."

Judge Walker held, after hearing the evidence, that Mrs. Scott had conducted the various acts of cruelty on the part of her husband, and had no grounds for a divorce unless she waited for one year, when she could sue for divorce on the ground of cruelty. The court continued the case, and a committee was appointed to ascertain if the city can legally take over the task of caring for the street.

The recent efforts of the administration to repair the city's park today were commented upon, and a letter was ordered sent to the city council expressing the appreciation of the league at the work begun. A previous communication asking that the paved streets be washed by the fire department, not having been heard from, a letter was sent out to locate in what place the work was to be done, and to get hearing on the matter, as it is felt that there is much merit in the request. The league directors will meet again next week.

SAN DOMINGO TREATY.

Senate Will Take no Action This Session.

Washington, June 27.—The Santo Domingo treaty will not be acted upon by the senate at this session. The committee on foreign relations adjourned today with no session of Congress, and the treaty was left without action. It is expected an effort will be made in executive session today to have a day fixed for a vote on the treaty early in December. Opponents of the measure claim to have votes enough to defeat it and it is the opposition therefore that is seeking to have a time fixed for a vote.

ACCIDENT AT CALDER'S PARK.

An accident that miraculously did not end in fatalities happened at Calder's park yesterday on the miniature railroad. Col. M. Shaughnessy and Col. Nicholas Treweek, and an unknown girl were hurt, the first two quite painfully, while the extent of the injuries of the last named were not serious.

The two gentlemen named and Charles Miles were visiting the park as guests of Superintendent Read of the Utah Light and Railway company. It was about 10 o'clock when the accident occurred, at a high rate of speed, that the accident occurred. There were nine passengers in all upon the cars when they were hurled some distance from the track, and the cars were considerably bruised, and it was feared that the car was broken.

One little girl, a resident of the city, was seriously injured, and was badly hurt. The right hand of Col. Treweek was wrenched, but the remainder of the passengers escaped with nothing more serious than a shaking up.

JUMPED FROM TRAIN.

Mrs. May Clawson of Farmington Injured This Morning.

Mrs. May Clawson of Farmington was visiting this morning two blocks this side of the Lagoon station, in attempting to jump off a train on the Salt Lake & Ogden railroad. The train was just getting under full headway when Mrs. Clawson jumped off, and she was rendered unconscious, striking the ground forehead on her head. The train was topped at once, and the lady was picked up and brought to Salt Lake, where Dr. Joseph Richards was called to attend her. An examination developed the fact that she was suffering from a severe bruise on the back of her head, although the skull was found to be not fractured.

Dr. Richards had her removed to the L. D. S. hospital, where she revived after an hour's treatment. This afternoon she seemed to be fully recovered, and Dr. Richards stated that it would not be necessary for her to remain at the hospital longer than 24 hours.

AFTER MAN WHO WONT IMPROVE

Civic League Gets Out Big Stick For Laggard Owners of Land.

Also Makes Move for Heavier Taxation Of Land and Less on Improvements Thereon.

The Civic league of Salt Lake is now out with the big stick after land speculators in this city. Their special quest is for the speculator who has a piece of land somewhere in the business or principal residence section, and won't either make it beautiful or useful, or allow anybody else to improve it, but who holds it for speculation, and therefore doesn't want to spend any money cleaning it up or improving it.

As a practical way of getting at the question the league directors have taken up the matter of proportionate taxation, and have decided to make an effort to get the taxes increased on real estate and lowered on improvements, so that the man who builds and is thrifty, will not bear the burden of taxation because of his good work, while the speculator will find it less convenient to hold his land till values increase through the industry of the other part of the population.

The league directors held a meeting last night to consider the matter, and other matters in connection with civic improvement. There were present President F. B. Stephens, O. H. Hawley, Mat Walker, R. L. Richardson, Harry Sherman, Mrs. Ed Kimball and Oscar Cox.

It was decided that the case of east Soila Temple street was hopeless, so far as ever making it a beautiful street is concerned, until the city takes charge of the parking. At present there are hundreds of rods in weeds because the people owning the adjacent property will not care for it, either on account of speculation, or because they feel it is a task for the city to undertake. A committee was appointed to ascertain if the city can legally take over the task of caring for the street.

The recent efforts of the administration to repair the city's park today were commented upon, and a letter was ordered sent to the city council expressing the appreciation of the league at the work begun. A previous communication asking that the paved streets be washed by the fire department, not having been heard from, a letter was sent out to locate in what place the work was to be done, and to get hearing on the matter, as it is felt that there is much merit in the request. The league directors will meet again next week.
