

RUSSIA WANTS MANCHURIA.

Makes a Demand on China for It Sovereignty.

CHING REFUSES THE TERMS.

Japan Sends War Vessels to Chinese Waters—Believes United States and England Will Stand by Her.

Peking, April 23.—Russia has demanded that China sign an agreement practically ceding to her the sovereignty of Manchuria and excluding other nations from that country. The Russian charge d'affaires, M. Platonov, has informed Prince Ching, president of the foreign office, that no further steps in the evaluation of Manchuria will be taken until this agreement is signed.

Prince Ching refused the Russian terms, but his refusal probably pleased Russia as well as his acceptance would mean the relinquishment of Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria.

The Russian demands are as follows: First, no more Manchurian ports or rivers are to be opened; second, no more foreign consuls are to be admitted into Manchuria; third, no foreign troops are to be employed in the service of Manchuria; fourth, the present status of the administration of Manchuria is to remain unchanged; fifth, the customs receipts at the port of Newchwang are to be divided equally between Russia and China; sixth, a sanitary commission is to be organized under Russian control; seventh, Russia is entitled to attack the telegraph wires and poles of all Chinese lines in Manchuria and, eighth, no territory in Manchuria is to be alienated to any other power.

No explanation has been given to the Chinese of the Russian interpretation of the fourth demand, Chinese officials are greatly disturbed, but they are powerless.

While the foregoing demands were being considered, Mr. Platonov assured his colleagues explicitly that the only reason for the delay in restoring the government of Newchwang to the Chinese was the organization of a sanitary commission. There has been much feeling in Britain over the appointment of a Russian commissioner in Newchwang, but the revelation of Russia's determination to retain control of Manchuria and close the door there robs this appointment of its importance.

The Chinese court returned to the Forbidden City today, after a week's absence from the hunting park.

JAPAN THREATENS WAR.

Yokohama, April 23.—Three Japanese warships have been ordered to Newchwang. The Japanese government has been in conference with the leading Japanese statesmen.

The Russian demands for privileges in Manchuria have excited the Japanese, which insists on vigorous action, confident that the United States, as well as Great Britain, will support Japan.

An arrangement has been reached in which the political crisis has been averted, but the government's naval armament proposals remain unchanged.

A SLAP AT UNCLE SAM.

London, April 24.—The Peking correspondent of the Times describes the first article of the Russian demands on China, namely, that no more Manchurian ports or rivers be opened, as a slap in the face of the United States, the country having proposed the opening of Mukden and Takuashan as treaty ports.

In writing, be sure to say that you read this generous offer in the Salt Lake City Daily Deseret News.

There were no accidents, a number of amusing incidents occurred. One of them happened during the president's visit to Geysersland a few days ago. The president and Mrs. Burroughs were on their way to the park and were stopped by a crowd of people. The president was very kind and friendly to the people, and he was very much interested in the park. He was very much interested in the park, and he was very much interested in the park.

Lots of Typhoid at Stanford.

Stanford University, California, April 23.—The typhoid situation for the past 24 hours shows an increase of 12 new cases, five of which were among students this morning. Three of the new cases were reported from the university campus and nine by the secretary of the Palo Alto board of health.

The total number of cases up to noon today is 35 on the campus and 53 in Palo Alto. A few students are leaving the university every day with instructions from their parents. Many others are receiving similar requests because the source of the trouble seems to be reached and a widespread typhoid epidemic is not expected.

MINISTER BOWEN DECLINES.

To Sign Protocol at Request of British Ambassador.

Washington, April 23.—The British ambassador today asked Mr. Bowen to join the representatives of the allies in signing a protocol for the settlement of the claims to be adjusted by the commission which are to meet in Caracas. The Venezuelan plenipotentiary, while ready to draw up such a convention at the present time, declined to do so until the Hague protocol, providing for the determination of the question of preferential treatment, had been duly signed and sealed, instructions for the British ambassador regarding the com-

PAYNE DISMISSES JAMES N. TYNER

Sensational Developments in Post-office Investigation.

MRS. TYNER IS IMPLICATED.

She is Charged With Raising Her Husband's Official Sale of Valuable Papers and Records.

Washington, April 23.—A most sensational development of the investigation of postoffice department affairs occurred just before the department closed today, when Postmaster General Payne announced the summary dismissal of James N. Tyner, assistant attorney-general for the postoffice department, coupling with the announcement the startling charge that all the papers and records in the safe of the latter's office had been abstracted by Mrs. Tyner, wife of the discharged official, with the assistance of others. The postmaster general stated that Mrs. Tyner had refused the demand of the government for the return of the papers taken, and said the circumstances in the case would be submitted by him to the department of justice tomorrow morning. Other sensational developments are expected. The question of arrests will be based on immediately by Atty.-Gen. Knox.

LETTER OF DISMISSAL.

The facts are told tersely in the letter of dismissal sent by Postmaster General Payne late yesterday afternoon and made public tonight. The letter follows: "James N. Tyner, Assistant Attorney General of the Postoffice Department. Sir: You are hereby removed from the office of assistant attorney general for the postoffice department. "I deem it proper to give you the reasons for this summary action on the part of the department. Early in the month of March, I requested you, through a mutual friend, a request for your resignation. After a painful interview with you, and a more painful one with Mrs. Tyner, I consented to modify the demand for your resignation so that it might take effect on May 1, 1903; with the promise, however, that you were given leave of absence from the time of the acceptance of the resignation to the date of its taking effect, with the request that you were not in any way to undertake to discharge the duties of the office.

PAPERS ARE GONE.

"Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Tyner came to the office of the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department, and, without any introduction, and without any explanation, she went through the main office to the private office, closing the door behind her. She then unlocked the door entering from the public hall into the private room and admitted her sister, Barrett, whose son was formerly assistant in your office, and whose conduct is now under investigation by the department. She also admitted, in the same manner, G. G. Hammer, a clerk in the employ of the Moler Safe company, with whom she had made an arrangement to meet her at the department. At her direction Mr. Hammer opened the safe in the room and she took therefrom all papers, records and articles of every kind and carried them away with her.

MRS. TYNER HAS NERVE.

"Immediately upon learning what had been done, I directed the fourth assistant postmaster general to send two inspectors to your house to demand, in the name of the postmaster general, the delivery of any papers, documents, or any materials which had been abstracted from the safe. This demand was refused by Mrs. Tyner, and she likewise refused to permit the inspectors to see you or to see and examine the papers in her presence. Mrs. Tyner further stated to the postoffice inspectors that she committed this act with your knowledge and by your direction. Further comment on this transaction on my part is not necessary.

"The facts in the case will be submitted to the attorney general of the United States for such action in the premises as he may deem proper. Very respectfully, H. C. PAYNE, "Postmaster General."

Mrs. Tyner came to the office of the assistant attorney general on the fifth floor of the postoffice building at 3:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and remained there an hour. When she arrived Acting Asst. Atty. Gen. Christian-Brown, who had charge of the office for months past in the absence of Gen. Tyner, who has been in poor health for a long period, was in the office. The clerks were at their desks. Mrs. Tyner passed through the public room into the private office and closed the door behind her. Being alone in the office, she stepped to the door opening into the public corridor, and by previous arrangement admitted Mrs. Barrett, mother of Harrison J. Barrett, the former law clerk of the postoffice department, and G. G. Hammer, a safe expert.

Mr. Christian-Brown reported the presence of Mrs. Tyner in the office to two inspectors and to Postmaster General Payne. An inspector also reported the matter to Fourth Asst. Postmaster Bristow. Mr. Bristow asked authority to have Mrs. Tyner ejected from the office. The authority came too late.

When the inspector returned Mrs. Tyner had left. The safe on being examined was found to be empty. The affair created great excitement among the investigating officials, but the news was concealed carefully from the public. Two inspectors were dispatched to the Tyner residence to recover the papers. Mrs. Tyner refused to give them up, saying she was acting under the direction of her husband. She told the inspectors, so they reported, that they had a right to the papers, as Mr. Tyner

APPETITES Created and Maintained by Vinol.

THAT THE FOOD IS DIGESTED IS ALSO EQUALLY NECESSARY.

We Recommend Vinol as an Appetite Creator.

WE GUARANTEE THAT VINOL WILL AID DIGESTION.

Vinol is the greatest aid to digestion that we have ever known.

It is because Vinol acts so beneficially upon the stomach that it accomplishes so much good.

Vinol contains the active curative principles that are found in cod-liver oil, without any oil or grease.

These medicinal elements act so favorably upon the stomach, that this organ obtains for itself the elements necessary for creating new flesh, muscle tissue and for making rich blood.

When the stomach acts easily and naturally, a desire is created for good simple food and a good appetite is the sure result.

With cod-liver oil as formerly taken the medicinal elements which it contained were too often unable to counteract the harm that was done by the obnoxious grease that enveloped them.

Now that in Vinol we have those same elements separated from the enveloping fat, we have a tonic and a builder that is simply marvelous in its action.

The following is a letter that will explain itself:

"This is to certify that I have used six bottles of Vinol, and have found it of great value as an appetizer and tonic in general debility. I have received so much benefit from its use that I gladly furnish this testimonial in order that others may be induced to give it a trial and prove to themselves its recuperative powers."—Mrs. ELIZABETH PERNEY, Waterbury, Conn.

We want every one in this place to know more about our Vinol, how it cures and what it cures. Certainly the greatest tonic and builder we have ever sold.

We, therefore, cordially invite any one interested to call upon us, and we want all to hear in mind that we will gladly refund to any one who is not satisfied with the action of Vinol every cent they pay for it.

THE SMITH DRUG CO., DUEHL & FRANKEN, DRUGGISTS

was still assistant attorney general, and, moreover, insisted that the papers were all of a private character. The inspectors reported that Mrs. Tyner declared the papers belonged solely to them, and she announced emphatically that she did not purpose to have her papers subjected to the scrutiny of the inspectors. Other pressure, it is understood, was brought to bear both on Mr. and Mrs. Tyner, but both unequivocally refused to deliver the papers or even to see the inspectors.

It is believed at the department that the papers have some connection with the recent conduct of the office. Several weeks ago a turf investment concern, whose affairs were aired in court, alleged that its working methods had been sanctioned by the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department.

Charges involving the office of the assistant attorney general and a lawyer formerly connected with that office were ventilated very generally at that time, and an investigation was organized by the postmaster general. This was really the inception of the investigation that has spread to every part of the department. The complaints crystallized into a formal accusation against Mr. Tyner's resignation, signed by Postmaster General Payne on March 9 last. Mr. Tyner had been in exceedingly bad health for a long time and had visited his office only at rare intervals, leaving the office entirely in charge of his assistant for months at a time. He is suffering from an unusually severe case of paralysis, and in consideration of this fact the department has accepted his resignation on the basis of his ill-health.

TYNER'S RESIGNATION.

"Office of the Assistant Attorney General for the Postoffice Department, Washington. "H. C. Payne, Postmaster General: "Dear Sir:—I am the effects of the light stroke of paralysis which recently disabled my left leg partially, and my left arm totally may prevent me from performing my duties satisfactorily for some time to come as assistant attorney general for the postoffice department. I deem it proper to tender my resignation of said office, to take effect May 1, 1903.

"It is painful to me to thus sever my connection with the postal service, with which I have been closely associated as an officer of the department and a member of congressional committees at intervals over a period of forty-two years. Very truly yours, "JAMES N. TYNER."

The postmaster general's acknowledgment follows:

IT IS ACCEPTED.

"Washington, March 9, 1903. "James N. Tyner, Assistant Attorney General Washington: "My Dear Sir:—I have your letter of today tendering your resignation of the position of assistant attorney general of the postoffice department.

"I regret the serious affliction which has come to you, and which is of such a serious character as to preclude your performing the duties of your office. It must, indeed, be painful for you to sever your relations with the department with which you have been associated for so many years, and of which you were at one time the official head.

"Your resignation is accepted, in view of all the circumstances, but I deem it but just and proper that it should take effect May 1, 1903, and that you be given leave of absence until that date. I trust that this will give you rest and freedom from care, and will be of material aid in bringing improvement to your condition, which is at the present time of such a serious nature as to render impossible any labor on your part.

General Payne late this afternoon to a large number of newspaper correspondents.

In a voice that trembled with emotion he said that he regretted to have to say that he had found it necessary to remove from office the assistant attorney general of the department, and that he regretted to have to say that he had found it necessary to remove from office the assistant attorney general of the department, and that he regretted to have to say that he had found it necessary to remove from office the assistant attorney general of the department.

Mr. Tyner at the time the papers were taken was still technically assistant attorney general, and this fact will figure in connection with the question of the department of justice. It is pointed out, however, that although Mr. Tyner still held the office, his resignation not having yet become operative, the acceptance of the resignation was with the strict understanding, specifically stated in the letter of acceptance, that he would not attempt to administer the duties of his office. It is fully realized by the postmaster general that the case presents a delicate situation, and for that reason he declined today to enter into a discussion of the facts.

Mr. Tyner has been in the government service in various important capacities for many years. He is from Indiana. He served as assistant attorney general for the postoffice department, and later he again assumed office in the department. He is one of the best known men in official life in Washington. He and Mrs. Tyner and President and Mrs. Grant were intimate friends. During the universal postal congress which met here in 1897 he was one of the committee which represented his government.

An effort made tonight to obtain from Mr. Tyner or Mrs. Tyner a statement met with no success. Mrs. Tyner stated that they had nothing to say on the subject. The suggestion was thrown out that there might be something to give out by Gen. Tyner's side some time in the future. Mrs. Tyner apparently took the matter very coolly. If at all concerned about the postmaster general's letter she did not show it in her manner to those who called at the house during the evening. While refusing to admit directly that Gen. Tyner received Mr. Payne's letter, it was evident from her answers to the queries asked it or had been made acquainted with its contents.

Gen. Tyner is in a very weak and almost helpless condition from his long sickness. He remains in his room most of the time, and has very few callers.

Lowest Price for Coffee.

New York, April 23.—Still another low record in coffee prices was registered today, when a partial decline of five points resulted in a sale of May at $3.70, compared with $3.75, the lowest of yesterday. Trading was more active today under liquidation of nearby contracts, but the further decline was not accompanied by special excitement.

Decision Concerning Bankruptcy.

Chicago, April 24.—The filing of a petition in bankruptcy, followed by seizure and by adjudication in bankruptcy, is a seizure of the property by the law for the benefit of creditors and an appropriation of it to the payment of the debt of the bankrupt. It is a seizure of the property by legal process, equal in rank to and of the same force and effect as by execution and attachment.

In these words the local branch of the United States circuit court of appeals has just given the first decision of the kind, in regard to title to property. The decision was given in the bankruptcy case of Alexander Rodgers, a seed merchant, who failed in May, 1902.

It is believed at the department that the papers have some connection with the recent conduct of the office. Several weeks ago a turf investment concern, whose affairs were aired in court, alleged that its working methods had been sanctioned by the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department.

Charges involving the office of the assistant attorney general and a lawyer formerly connected with that office were ventilated very generally at that time, and an investigation was organized by the postmaster general. We are very proud of the fact that doctors so generally indorse Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

There are two reasons for this: First, we send the formula to any physician upon request; and, second, the physician sees for himself that the medicine is all we claim for it. We make no extravagant claims. We raise no false hopes.
