

TARIFF WILL NOT BE REVISED

Majority of Republicans Opposed To Any Reduction.

WHAT MR. HEPBURN SAYS.

Thinks It Is Due During Next Presidential Year—The New Congressman's Appointment.

Special Correspondence.
Washington, Jan. 6.—While it is settled that nothing will be done with the tariff at this session, there are a great many members of the house who regret that such a conclusion has been reached. Several western members, representing sections where there is a decided tariff revision sentiment, say that it would have been better to have made a slight revision, such as the reduction of the duty on steel and iron, glass, lumber, and a few other articles, without in the least injuring business. Such a bill, it is said, could have been passed in the house in very short order, and if the Republicans of the senate had got together it could have been passed there also. It is said that such a bill would have been passed in the house in very short order, and if the Republicans of the senate had got together it could have been passed there also. It is said that such a bill would have been passed in the house in very short order, and if the Republicans of the senate had got together it could have been passed there also.

COMES IN CYCLES.

Representative Hepburn says that tariff revision comes in cycles of seven years. He notes the fact that the Republican revised the tariff in 1855, 1890 and in 1897. Each time the revision was in the nature of a reduction or adding to the free list save the last, which revised the Wilson act rates. Mr. Hepburn says the time has come for a revision of the tariff. He says that a tariff revision would have been passed in the house in very short order, and if the Republicans of the senate had got together it could have been passed there also. It is said that such a bill would have been passed in the house in very short order, and if the Republicans of the senate had got together it could have been passed there also.

CAN THIS BE DONE?

"If the Republicans do not revise the tariff," the Democrats will, "is a declaration that is frequently made by those who are in some sense taken. The reply to this is that even if the Democrats carry the house and the presidency the senate for many years to come surely Republican, and consequently no revision is possible. I heard two experienced men discussing the subject the other day, and they said that a Republican senate could not be expected to stand as a stone wall against tariff revision. In case the Democrats were elected upon a tariff revision issue and should present a moderate reduction measure, and Republican senators would support it. This was from a member of the house, but I think he has been somewhat misinformed. If there are any Republican senators who would break with the majority of their party on such a vital question as the tariff, I do not know where they are, and I doubt whether any member of the house could find them."

NOTHING IN A NAME.

"I have been very fortunate," wrote a new member to one of his constituents soon after the session convened. "I have only been a week in the house and the speaker has already appointed me a member of the committee on railways and canals. This is the committee in the house for my district, and you know the canal project and railroads are important issues with the people here."

OTHER DEAD COMMITTEES.

There are other committees where men have been fooled. A certain New York congressman who had served as an alderman landed on alcoholic liquor traffic. He was much interested in the liquor traffic of the country was dependent upon the committee. Imagine his disgust when he found it never held a meeting. Ventilation and acoustics is another dead one. I know of a senator who was defeated because he took the chairmanship of the committee on railroads in the senate. It never meets, no bills are referred to it, and he took the place to get a room, but he was from a granger state, and his enemies made a great point that he had become the tool of the railroads. All railroad legislation in the senate goes to the interstate commerce committee. Many other senate committees never consider a bill during an entire Congress.

CHOLERA IN PHILIPPINES.

In Malolos Mortality Was Seventy-One Per Cent.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The report of the Philippine commission for the last fiscal year says that from the time of cholera's first appearance in Malolos, Bulacan province, to Sept. 1, 1902, the total number of recorded cases was 52,536, of which 37,473 resulted fatally, the mortality being 71 per cent.

Harvesting Machinery for Russia.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—The Russian steamer Baron Drieden has arrived and will load 8,500 tons of harvesting machinery for the Black sea, to be used by the wheat growers of southern Russia, says a dispatch from New Orleans to the Chronicle. The machinery comes from Chicago factories. On Jan. 1 freight rates on machinery were raised from 21 cents per ton from Chicago to New York. The contracts were immediately let for shipment from New Orleans.

No Work on N. Y. City Hall.

New York, Jan. 7.—The work of completing the repairs in City hall which were suspended some days ago in consequence of labor troubles, will be held up. A motion made by the contractors in the supreme court for an order requiring Borough President Cantor to show cause why he should not be restrained from interfering with the workmen was withdrawn Monday with the understanding, it is said, that a compromise would be effected. So far, however, there is apparently no settlement in sight.

To Celebrate Chicago's Founding.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Through its executive committee the Chicago Historical society has expressed itself in favor of the commemoration and celebration of Aug. 12, 1837, as the centennial anniversary of the founding of Chicago. Resolutions were adopted in which the committee calls attention to the fact that the date chosen marks the passage of 166 years since the federal troops, commanded by Lieut. Swearingen, established Fort Dearborn, at the mouth of the Chicago river, and laid the foundation of the city. The occasion, in the opinion of the committee, marks the real beginning of the city's history rather than the arrival of John Kinzie, as has been suggested.

Refuses to Restrict Primaries.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 7.—Circuit Judge Cantrill has refused to grant an injunction to restrain the holding of a state primary by the Democratic party of this state. Suit for an injunction was filed by State Executive Committee Chas. M. Meacham, but Judge Cantrill holds that Meacham has no personal, political, pecuniary or legal right involved in the action of the Democratic state executive committee in calling a primary to nominate state officers on May 9. The temporary restraining order to prevent the holding of the primary was dissolved. Mr. Meacham will carry the case to the court of appeals.

Fire in Chapel Royal.

London, Jan. 6.—There was considerable alarm at the Chapel Royal, St. James' palace, this morning, owing to the sudden outbreak of fire in the Christmas decorations above the altar. The church was crowded, the occasion being the annual epiphany service. The draught carried the flames of a candle to the decorations, but before the blaze had made much headway the decorations were removed and the fire was extinguished.

How They Live at Point Loma.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 6.—H. H. Summers, the San Francisco witness who was called by the plaintiff yesterday morning, to testify in the case of the deposition evidence of Dr. J. A. Anderson, also of that city, was recalled for further cross-examination when the Tingle-Times trial was resumed this morning. The witness continued to enumerate the names and addresses of people with whom he had talked in relation to Dr. Anderson's reputation for veracity until the morning session began to wane without developing a new feature.

Miss Julia Hecht, who is a music teacher at Point Loma, having been there about four years, was called by the plaintiff to rebut the testimony of Miss Matilda Kratzer. She said that Miss Kratzer was given the number of music lessons usually given a beginner. Miss Kratzer said that she only had five lessons.

Under cross-examination Miss Hecht said that her home was in Chicago, and that after going to Point Loma she joined the Universal Brotherhood. Dr. Ross Taylor, a woman about 30 years, called by the plaintiff, said she had resided at the Point Loma home for about two years, and that she was the housekeeper at the time Miss Kratzer was at the institution. Miss Kratzer's testimony was contradicted in a number of instances.

New Iron Ore Range Discovered.

New York, Jan. 7.—It is announced in a dispatch from South Ste. Marie that an iron ore range, with 150,000,000 tons of ore in sight has been discovered and that a number of New York capitalists are interested in developing the deposit. One of these capitalists acknowledged that he was interested in the matter and said the discovery was made a year ago, but he declined to state the exact location of the range.

Rear After Coal Trust.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Attorney-General Cullen received a petition from William Randolph Hearst to commence proceedings against the several railroad and coal companies to enforce the anti-trust law. The petition sets forth the allegation that these companies constitute a monopoly, control the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania and are violating the anti-trust law of the state. The petition is similar to that presented to Atty-Gen. Davies and upon which he declined to act on the expiration of his term of office because of the investigation which is in progress before the United States Interstate Commerce commission.

Retire Family Asphyxiated.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—An entire family was wiped out by asphyxiation last night, and the bodies were found this afternoon. The family resided at 112 Liberty street. The victims are: Albert Finkelstein, aged 50 years; Etta Finkelstein, aged 50, his wife; Jessie Finkelstein, aged 5, a grandson; Annie Finkelstein, an 18-year-old daughter. The tip of a gas jet was found lying on the floor and the gas was turned on.

A financial statement was issued showing net earnings for the calendar year, with December estimated, of $12,652,990. The net earnings for the year ended Dec. 31 were $11,388,613, an increase of $1,264,377 as compared with the same period of 1901.

From the net earnings for the year deductions are made of $4,538,181 for depreciation and for a special fund set aside for depreciation and improvement; of $1,300,000 for interest on bonds; of $2,000,000 on sinking fund; and of $56,052,869 for interest on the stocks. The board amended the by-laws by increasing the number of the finance committee, and Henry C. Frick and Robert Bacon were elected members of the committee. The board approved the plan reported by the finance committee for profit sharing and subscription to stock by the employees. It was reported to the board that the plan for stock subscription was being well received by the employees and that within three days after the opportunity to subscribe was given, more than 16,000 shares had been subscribed for.

Pierpont Morgan was present at the meeting, although it is not his custom to attend meetings of corporations when they are not held in his office.

Bids for Building Warships.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Bids for building $25,000,000 worth of warships were opened at the navy department today in the presence of representatives of nearly every shipbuilding concern of note in America. There were a host of sub-contractors who supply structural material for the big ships. The bidding was close and exciting. A feature of the event was the submission of a proposition to supply the enormous horsepower required to drive the turbines of the United States navy will have on its lists, with the new turbine motors, the latter to be supplied by an American company.

Another feature was the submission of a statement from one of the largest bidders to the effect that they had satisfied themselves that no less than 20,000 horsepower would be required to drive the big ships at the calculated speed, thus vitiating the estimates of Engineer-in-Chief Melville.

The bids were as follows:

United States Shipbuilding company, one ship in forty-two months, at department designs, for $4,225,000.

Fort River Ship & Engine works of Quincy, Mass., one ship, department designs, in 42 months, for $4,578,000.

Bath Iron Works, one ship in 42 months, department designs, for $4,500,000.

Union Iron Works of San Francisco, one ship in 42 months, for $4,365,000.

New York Shipbuilding company of Camden, N. J., one ship in 42 months, department designs, for $4,320,000.

Two ships, department designs, for $4,150,000 each.

It is delivered in 4 and 42 months. Same company on its own designs, providing for 22-knot ships to be delivered in 40 and 42 months, $4,280,000 each.

It is delivered in 4 and 42 months. Same company on its own designs, ships to be delivered in 40 and 42 months, to be of 22-knot speed, 38 and 39 knots, for $4,100,000; two ships on same plans for $4,000,000 each. Same company on plans of its own providing for the use of steam turbines and water-tube boilers, $4,100,000 for one and $4,000,000 each for two.

The judgment of the board of bureau chiefs will be necessary to determine the awards.

To Disbar F. C. Woodward.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 6.—F. C. Woodward, prosecuting attorney-elect of Carbon county, has been ordered by the supreme court to show cause why he should not be disbarred. Woodward, 32, is not a member of the bar and it is alleged he wrote a forged letter and signed the name of Red Lodge lawyers vouching for him, thus securing his admission to the bar. He acknowledges having written the letter.

Judge Ray's First Decision.

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 7.—United States District Judge George W. Ray, the author, as a congressman, of the national bankruptcy law, has handed down a decision in the case of D. Y. Lewis of this city, declining to grant the petitioner a discharge in bankruptcy. The decision is the first made by Judge Ray since he went upon the bench. He said in the intent of the law to protect creditors has been evaded by the petitioner and says: "There is much in the evidence of this bankruptcy discharging such gross ignorance and pretenses of his business affairs that the court is justified in holding that his evidence is not entitled to credit."

MUNROE FAILS TO LAND KNOCKOUT

Big Butte Miner Couldn't Put Out Jack Sullivan.

BOUT WAS FOUR ROUNDS.

Sullivan Did Some Clever Ducking, But Was on the Run Most of the Time.

Anaconda, Mont., Jan. 6.—Jack Sullivan, a local boxer, tonight stayed four rounds before Jack Munroe, the man who did the same thing with Jim Jeffries. Sullivan is much the lighter man and has never been in a finish fight. Munroe did all the aggressive work, chasing Sullivan around the ring when they were not clinched.

In the first round Sullivan stood up pretty well and made some returns for the stiff punching of Munroe. He also did some clever ducking. In the remaining three rounds it was mostly clinching and short arm blows, and Sullivan dropped to his knee after each exchange, remaining for nearly the count each time. In the last round he was on the floor most of the time.

Munroe showed himself to be quick and a hard hitter. Sullivan is clever, but in a finish fight would hardly last, but he gave very little punishment, but managed to avoid most of what was meant for him.

RACES AT OAKLAND.

One Favorite Manages to Get Inside The Money.

San Francisco, Jan. 6.—Leader was the only favored colt at Oakland today and there were a number of surprises. The greatest betting event was the six furlongs handicap, five of the seven starters receiving strong support. Flash of Gold was a close third in front of Corrihan, who also suffered at the start. John S. McDonald, representing a New York owner, today offered $25,000 to buy Flash of Gold for the five-year contract he holds on Jockey Club. The offer was declined. Results: First race, one mile, selling—Ray Dare won, 1.0 U second, Gibraltar third. Time—1:42. Second race, seven furlongs, selling—Vohler won, Ada N second, Sleeping third. Time—1:27. JEFF-CORBETT FIGHT.

Latter is Anxious to Meet Champion—Accepts Club's Offer.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 6.—"I will accept the offer of the Hayes Valley Athletic club of San Francisco to fight Jeffries for the championship of the world," said James J. Corbett tonight. Corbett believed in his own reputation and fighting with his opponents and fighting them on their feet. He was successful until he met Young Corbett who possessed a punch as good as Terry's, but he had then lost his crown. But he took a chance and failed once in maybe a hundred times. It is taking chances that produce knockouts.

Eleven Round Bout.

Hot Springs, Ark., Jan. 6.—"Battling" Max Baer of Chicago, defeated Sammy Maxwell of the Pacific coast in the eleventh round of a hard contest before the Whittington club tonight.

Knock at Knockers.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—A ruling by stewards of the Western Jockey club was given out today which is directed at the heads of critics who make themselves unpopular by adverse comments. The Baseball Fight.

San Francisco, Jan. 7.—The Chronicle says that the Pacific Northwest League's scout in San Francisco has made him known in the person of a former resident here named Herrin, now in Seattle. In conversation he admitted that he had made Umpires O'Connell and McDonald offers at the instance of President Lucas, but had received no definite word to present the coast league is also waiting for a decision from the same people. Herrin said, however, that he would be just as well to let the league go and draw checks and other terms to secure either of the others. What was being done in regard to the engagement of players Herrin did not care to state.
