

THE SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS

Issued Mondays and Thursdays and Contains All the Cream of the Daily and Saturday News.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

State Prisoners—There are now 216 prisoners at the state prison, 142 first grade, 61 second and 13 third grade.

Whisky the Cause—A post mortem examination at the fall of the remains of Frank McDonald, the Leadville painter, showed acute alcoholism to be the cause of death.

Monroe Salisbury Hero—Monroe Salisbury, brother of O. J. Salisbury of this city, spent Sunday visiting with his brother's family, en route to San Francisco from the east where he has been with his race horses.

Fell From Wheel—Emil Samuel of 1750 Ninth East street, was thrown from his wheel on Eleventh South street Saturday, and was painfully injured. He was taken to the L. D. S. hospital and treated, after which he was removed to his home.

James Savage Hurt—James Savage, a Bingham miner, was riding by the Pioneer monument on horseback Saturday evening, when his horse fell and threw him beneath it. Savage was painfully cut and bruised, and was attended to at the police station.

Big Property Purchase—Seventeen and one-half acres, southeast of the city have been purchased by Earl Dunshie, C. O. Dunshie and A. D. Allen of this city. Harry Orcutt of San Diego, W. J. Hudd of Park City, W. E. Williams of Seattle, at $1,000 per acre, and propose making of it a handsome suburb.

Col. Young's Funeral—The funeral of Col. J. M. Young of the Fifth Iowa cavalry, was held Saturday afternoon from St. Mark's cathedral with only immediate family friends present. The casket was borne by Judge Ritchie, Edward Merrill, Samuel Paul, D. M. Wenger, Judge Armstrong and John Weir. The interment was at Mt. Olivet.

Japan Shipments—A feature in the local commercial world is the shipment to this city direct from Japan of a large consignment of Japanese goods for sale here, instead of shipment through the San Francisco custom house. Salt Lake merchants are learning rapidly the advantages to be gained by direct importation, now that this city has a custom house.

Property Transfer—Rudolph Ortman, who acquired real estate at Fifth West and Sixth South streets from the Griffin Car Wheel company of St. Louis, has just transferred the property to the company for $1. An outlay of $20,000 by the company of $250,000 is expected, with the employment of over 400 men, when the works are started.

New Investment Company—Articles of incorporation of the Romney-Stewart Investment company of this city have been filed with the county clerk. The capital stock of the company is $20,000, divided into shares of the par value of $100 each. The purpose of the corporation is to engage in the real estate and stock business. George Romney is president; C. H. Stewart, vice president; Walter Romney, secretary and treasurer. They, with B. J. Stewart, constitute the board of directors.

REV. EDDY'S VIEWS.
Says Mistake Was Made in Clothing Jesus in Habitments of Deity.

Rev. Frank Fay Eddy of the Unitarian church preached yesterday, on views of Christ, in which he said: "A mistake was made in clothing Jesus, the prophet of Judea, in the habitments of deity. It is evident we must make some reconstruction of our religious conceptions. Indeed, it is apparent enough that many of us have involuntarily about completed the destruction of the whole theological system which was formulated about this symbolic and wholly unreal Christ. Let it be admitted that it is a dangerous and significant thing to cast out of one's life the symbols of a great religion. A modern school of apostolates has arisen to attempt the defense of the Christology of the church on the grounds of the usefulness of the symbols. They say that the old thought of Christ was a misjudgment, but that Christ stands the test of time as an incarnation of God in man. Then they give us chapter after chapter of rhapsody and apostrophe about this Christ who is neither God nor man, but a kind of mystical combination of both. They give us a formless and featureless Christ and consequently a meaningless one."

"Such is the useless work of such writers as Fairbairn and Gordon Watson and Lyman Abbott. They are in love with the beautiful symbolism which clusters around the Christ of dogma. But this symbolism has no use for humanity once the reality of this kind of a Christ is questioned. It becomes but a whitened sepulchre filled with noisome sights and foul air."

MAY GO TO CUBA.
Speculation at Fort as to Orders Concerning Twenty-ninth Infantry.

There is considerable speculation at Fort Douglas as to whether the Twenty-ninth Infantry will be sent to Cuba. The men would like to spend the cold weather of winter there, in that pleasant winter climate, but nothing is known for certain, though there is a strong belief that some move is likely to be made soon.

Brig-Gen. Williams completed his inspection of Fort Douglas Saturday evening, and expressed himself as well satisfied with it. He says plans are in progress for additional barracks and officers' quarters, and in a few months proposes to send three more companies of infantry to this post, giving the regiment its full complement of company commanders. Gen. Williams left for Denver yesterday.

"My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The pain ceased and the child sank into a restful sleep."—Mrs. Nancy M. Hanson, Hamberg, N. Y.

THE MEASURE OF A PRIVATE CITIZEN

Subject of an Interesting Address
At Y. M. C. A. by Senator
Sutherland.

DUTIES ARE NOT NEGATIVE.

Obligations to Society Not Fulfilled
Unless One Goes Forth to Accomplish Something in Government.

U. S. Senator George Sutherland made an address yesterday afternoon, in the Y. M. C. A., on "The Measure of a Private Citizen," as the complement to Rev. E. I. Goshen's address of the previous Sunday on "The Measure of a Public Officer." The speaker said in part:

"The duties of the true citizen are not negative. The citizen does not fulfill his obligations to society unless he goes forth to accomplish something in the government of this nation. While the government is 'of the people, by the people and for the people,' considering the fact that there are some eighty-five millions of people in our country, it is easily seen that the country cannot be run by mob action or directly by the people themselves. This being true, it follows that the citizen owes it to himself and to his country to place men in high positions who are honest and capable to fulfill the calling of the people. Government is not separate from citizenship. It has a right to demand that the individual citizen take part in its duties. It follows that it is the duty of the citizen to comprehend the great problems that have to be settled by the government from time to time.

AN AFFIRMATIVE FORCE.
"Government is a living, vitalized, affirmative force in all civic organizations and politics is really the very science of government. Of politics, the primary is the most important part. It is then a man's duty to be affiliated with some party that he may take an active part in the government of this country. It is not so important that a man belong to a particular party as it is that he belong to some party. Both parties are honest and have in their principles only those things which are for the betterment of the nation's welfare. In a monarchy, where the country is ruled by one man, the king, or an empire or a principality where the same rule obtains, it is, of course, not so necessary that a man take an active part in politics, for the reason that the character and are not so very different in objects and are not so closely allied with the actual government of the commonwealth. In the United States this state of affairs is altogether different and a man owes it to himself no less than to his country that he exercise his constitutional rights and privileges by voting, not only at the polls, but in the primaries and conventions.

LIKE THE OYSTER.
"There seems to be an idea current that the good citizen's only duty is to refrain from violating the law. He is an exceedingly well-behaved individual; he lives the simple life. He is harmless, yet he is not a good citizen in that he does not take an active part in life. He is an oyster, he is a positive character. The citizen owes certain positive duties to his government. The people in their relation to the government are not its creatures, neither is the government a creature of the people. You have a right to demand protection from the government, and the government has a right to demand certain duties from you. You have no right to see that the government is unless you exercise your right to say who shall be a public official, you do not do your duty. The business of the government is really a sole thing with which any of us have anything to do. It is the living, vitalized, positive, affirmative force in society. And yet there are men in every community, who although good business men and ever alert to see that they only good men are elected to offices of their corporation, have an utter contempt for politics. It is so with the so-called conservative citizen. If the ward heelers are running things this conservative citizen has no right to complain. Don't grumble; do something. If you do not belong to a political party, study the principles of the two great political parties in this country and choose the better.

POLITICAL PARTIES.
Political parties are absolutely necessary. It is not necessary for me to emphasize which party you should join. Both parties are good, both are honest, but you should join one of them. I have no sympathy for the wave of pessimism which has swept over the country during the past few years. There never has been a time in the history of our country where there was less dishonesty, graft and corruption among the men who administered our government than today. The wonder is not how many public officials are good, but how few. The wonder is not how much corruption there is among our official life, but how little. I am an optimist. I believe that the world is better today than it has ever been in all history. And this is a splendid government. And this is a government worth understanding, worth living for and, if need be, worth dying for."

Judge William H. King will speak at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on "Conservation in Politics" next Sunday.

DEAN BREWSTER ON HOSPITAL WORK

Made Special Reference to St. Mark's and Its Needs.

"A LIVING CHRISTIANITY."

Signs and Tokens of It the Master Declared to be Healing of The Sick.

Dean Brewster of St. Mark's cathedral preached on hospital work yesterday, with special reference to St. Mark's hospital and its needs. The speaker said in part:

"The signs and tokens of a living Christianity were declared by the Master to be the healing of the sick, the opening of the eyes of the blind, the raising of the dead, and the preaching of the gospel to all nations. These gifts, which marked the ministry of the early church, were in a measurable degree lost when the spirit of worldliness and the love of riches entered in and drove out the selfless spirit of the Christ. And yet, it is the constant practice of works of charity and mercy that we must seek the proof of a living faith, these being at once the test and expression of vital grace.

MODERN HOSPITAL.
"The modern hospital is one of the grandest exponents of active benevolence, and the highest type is found in the union of true compassion and skilled science which prevails in a hospital conducted on Christian principles. There tender, gentle ministrations at the bedside of the sick, the comparatively untrained and unskilled, with all the skill and experience at the command of genuine science. The professions of medicine and surgery are usually the most broad minded as they are the most self-forgetful of men. A profound thinker and writer who, thousands of years ago penned one of the so-called apocryphal books of the Bible, laid down the injunction, 'Honor the physician,' and in enumerating the duties of sick persons, exhorted them to arrange their worldly affairs and make their peace with God, but none the less to send for the learned physician without delay."

"Within the past year St. Mark's hospital debt of $38,000 has been reduced to $10,000, the sum of $28,000 having been raised by Bishop Spaulding among the wealthy church people of the east. Of the unpaid balance one-half has been promised, provided the remaining $5,000 can be secured. Of this more than $2,500 has been raised already, and it is earnestly hoped that the comparatively small sum necessary to free the hospital from debt can be raised before the end of the year."

DISTINCT ADVANTAGES.
"There are distinct advantages in a Christian hospital—distinct reasons why this particular hospital should appeal to us."

"First—Because it manifests the union of mercy and science. Be thankful for the noble profession of medicine. It is no work of righteousness to disparage this splendid profession, whose scientific knowledge, based upon experience, has done so much for our hospital and others."

"Because we honor the physician, there is no call to leave off prayer, and because we believe in prayer, there is no reason for disparaging the physician, with his scientific knowledge."

"Then, then, on a second reason for valuing the work of a Christian hospital, because it represents the union of science and religion. In a hospital like St. Mark's religious men and religious women are at hand to pray for and soothe the suffering; and in the presence of death the church brings her message of victory over death. The late Archbishop Oesterlen, in a Christian hospital, manifested the true spirit of the place, when, realizing that he could no longer tell men how to live, he was glad of the opportunity to show some man how to die, and lay in the public ward, refusing the privacy of a separate room."

"Third—The value of a Christian hospital is shown by the co-operation of Christian people of various names in furthering its good works. We may long for organic Christian unity; but let us have practical Christian unity. Let us not be backward in promoting this blessed unity by our earnest efforts and liberal offerings for this splendid cause. 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

A MOST WORTHY ARTICLE.
When an article has been on the market for years and is selling every year, it is safe to call this medicine a worthy one. Such is Hallard's Household Syrup. It positively cures colds and all pulmonary diseases. One of the best known merchants in Mobile, Ala., says: "For five years my family has not been troubled with the winter coughs; we owe this to Hallard's Household Syrup. I know it has saved my children from many sick spells." Sold by Z. C. N. L. Drug Co., 112 and 114 South Main Street.

THE PRIVILEGES OF DAILY LIFE

Rev. Simpkin Urges the Unity Of the Human Race.

COMMON THINGS VALUABLE.

Those Who Enjoy Freedom Fail to Appreciate the Struggles of Which It Was Born.

Rev. P. A. Simpkin preached yesterday, on "The Privileges of Daily Life," in which he urged the unity of the human race, and showed how the common things in life were valuable. The speaker said in part:

"Who among you, as he swings freely down our streets in the full enjoyment of his freedom, pauses to think of the lines in which its guarantee is written, or remembers for an instant the passionate struggles out of which it was born. Who among you, women, busied with the endless duties of the home, ever pauses to think that all the love and peace, the tender bonds of life it speaks, were born out of such terrific struggle as it is difficult to comprehend?"

"When one pauses to think of the values back of common things, he finds, as David did, the simple cup of water a chalice brimming with the blood of sacrifice. His view of that water, in the light of what it meant of sacrifice and love, made it an offering fit to be poured out before God. The childish thirst was lost in the vision of values. This same comprehension changes life for us. The vision of serious apprehension uplifts values. With David we must come to see that all we receive and enjoy is to be measured by its cost. That standard, we must use. A realization of that which has gone into the making of our privileges will lead us to a savor use of them. No boon that has cost the richness of our lives but has cost deeply. The jewels of our life's adorning that we wear so carelessly flush with the light of a million ardent souls that wrought to fashion them."

"The truth in which we glory has been woven into the enduring web by fingers worn to the quick. The wealth of all we pride in has come by life and death. The richness of the chalice brimming with the heart blood of yesterday we drink all too heedlessly. We need to be offering perpetually the prayer Kipling voiced for England—the refrain of the 'Processional':—

"Lord God of hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget."

NOTHING TO FEAR.
The question of injurious substances in medicines which has been agitating the minds of many people, does not concern those who use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give it to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a worldwide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup and can always be relied upon. For sale by all druggists.
