

TRAVELERS MEET AT BIG BANQUET

Grand Lodge of U. C. T. and Invited Guests at Commercial Club.

A TOAST FOR EVERYBODY.

"Drumming Up Trade" the Maiden Effort of Many People Now in the Public Eye.

To demonstrate how well they can mix jollity with good fellowship, the members of the grand lodge, U. C. T. dined and told stories around the Commercial club's banquet board last night.

Butte was toasted because it is to be the 1909 U. C. T. meeting place. Gov. Cutler was toasted because he commenced his career in Utah as a traveling man for the Provo woolen mills.

Salt Lake was toasted because of his hospitable welcome to the convention, and Mayor Bransford because he held the city's keys was given a genuine ovation.

The banquet tables were arranged in the form of a gigantic letter "T," with west's upbuilding. Mr. Kiesel recalled the days before his fortune was made, when, a knight of the grip, he sought buyers for his wares. He had plied the commercial paths, he said, to Rocky Bar, Corinne, Soda Springs, Boise, Idaho City and a number of other western towns. His early contacts, he said, were with the merchants of the west, and he named them: Walker, Henry W. Lawrence, Hyrum Clawson, Dan Clift, William Jennings, John Clark, Howard Eldredge, J. H. Hooper, Abel Gilbert, William S. Gibbs, Col. Sam Kahn, and their kind.

THE WEST THEIR HOPE.

Grand Counselor Sam Kohlberg told of the manner in which the big easten houses look upon the west as their best "pickings" and send their most successful men out here to gathering its trade.

In sketching the history of the U. C. T. he told of its benevolent features, and the amount of money it had paid out to widows and orphans of deceased members.

W. H. Wilkinson, city jailer, was introduced as a veteran traveler, and he told of trips through Utah in the early years. Harry Fritchman of Butte followed, declaring that the silver taken away by Salt Lake from the Butte Irrigation congress, had been only borrowed.

Thomas Farrell spoke of the returning commercial prosperity. R. F. Casey of Butte told of the advantages that would come to Butte from the holding of the next convention there. Geo. S. McAllister narrated the work of the M. and M. in building up Utah, while Carroll Jeff and S. M. Barlow completed the evening's speeches.

GOULD MERGER NOW ADMITTED

Vice President Schlacks Has No Doubt on Subject of Consolidation.

BOND VOTE ALSO CERTAIN

Meeting July 28 Means Mustering of Forces for Campaign of Renovation and Reconstruction.

Denver, June 18.—The News today says: Vice President C. H. Schlacks of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad returned to Denver yesterday from New York, where he has been for several weeks completing arrangements for the meeting of the stockholders of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western in Denver on July 28, to consolidate the roads.

Schlacks says there is no doubt that the consolidation will be effected at the meeting, since the Denver & Rio Grande already owns the majority of the stock of the other road. There will also be a vote on the question of $150,000,000 in bonds for the improvement in arrangements for the coming N. E. A. convention to be held next month in Cleveland.

To Active Members. Presidents of Educational Institutions and Superintendents of Schools.—Owing to recent decision of the interstate commerce commission, the form of railroad rates for the Cleveland convention has been changed from the "certified" plan to the "open rate round trip" plan, in Central Passenger, Trunk Line and New England Passenger association territories (including all lines east of Chicago, Portland and St. Louis, and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers). In all cases an N. E. A. round trip ticket should be purchased at starting point.

All rules and ticket conditions remain the same as before, namely: One and one-half fare for the round trip; seven dates of sale, June 25 to July 1 inclusive, from points west of Buffalo, Pittsburg and Wheeling, and June 27 to 30 inclusive, from points eastward; extension of tickets for return on the deposit plan to Aug. 31.

The Western Passenger association has granted a round trip rate of one and one-half fare south of but not including a line drawn from Chicago through Aurora, Mendota and Galesburg to Burlington, also from St. Louis and other Mississippi river gateways south of but not including Burlington, and from Missouri and all other W. P. A. territory a rate of double local fares but not to exceed summer tourist fares where same are in effect, to be added to fare tendered by Central Passenger association as noted above.

Dates of sale from Mississippi river gateways eastward, June 25 to July 1, from all other points June 24 to 30 inclusive.

Extension of tickets for return to Aug. 31.

The summer tourist fares are in effect from most points, especially west of the Mississippi river, and are but slightly higher than one and one-half fare on the basis of 2 cents per mile; for example, to Chicago and return, $19.50; same at one and one-half fare

SOCIAL AND PERSONALS.

Miss Zina W. Card of this city and Hugh W. Card of Gardston, Canada, were married yesterday in the temple, and a pretty wedding breakfast followed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Zina Card, about 20 of the near relatives being present. The table was decorated in red roses, bowls filled with them being placed at each end and single rosebuds at each plate. The wedding cake was the centerpiece, a dainty confection in white and silver. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of roses which transformed the home into a June bower. In the evening an informal reception was held, a number of relatives and friends assisting. Receiving with Mrs. Card was Mrs. Joseph Card, and assisting in serving refreshments were Misses Mary Card, Genevieve Ballantyne and Zina Woolf. The bride wore a dainty gown of white embroidered lingerie and roses were in her hair. Expressions of the popularity of the young couple were evidenced in the many useful and beautiful presents showered upon them. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will leave shortly for Gardston where they will make their home.

An elaborate wedding of last night was that of Miss Irene Lakin and Frank M. Lakin of Victoria, B. C., which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gorman, with Rev. E. I. Goshen officiating and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lee attending the bride and groom. The rooms were beautifully decorated in white and green with syringas, palms and smilax, the bridal party standing before a bank of the flowers and palms which were also used in profusion throughout the room. The bride's gown was an exquisite creation of chiffon with trimmings of apple green tulip pattern, and real lace, and a long tulle veil fastened with orange blossoms, the costume being the gift of the bride's sister, Mrs. Benjamin S. Cocks, now residing in London, Mrs. Lakin's bridesmaid, Miss Lakin, was in her wedding gown of white crepe de chine, worn at her own wedding on Monday night in Denver. The dining room was pink, the table, flanked by candelabra in pink shades, and smilax reaching to the corners from the chandelier where it was artistically twined. The reception hall and library were in red roses. Assisting in receiving and serving were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, Miss Margaret Hartwell, Miss Mabel Zerbe, Miss Jessie Haroun, Miss Fannie Walters, Miss Esther Allen and Miss Mattie Hall, on violin and piano played the Lorengin and Mendelssohn wedding marches.

Bishop O. F. Whitney performed the ceremony uniting Miss Thula Stephens and A. C. Sadler last night at the bride's home. In the midst of a profusion of roses which filled the house. The bride wore a gown of white silk and carried white roses, her bridesmaid, Miss Bessie Sadler, was also in white and carried pink roses. Harry Sadler was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Sadler left later for a trip through the Yellowstone Park after which they will make their home in Montana.

Miss Elizabeth Worrell and O. F. Hornold were married last night at the bride's home, Rev. W. Short performing the ceremony. Miss Grace Worrell acting as bridesmaid and C. H. Jenkins as best man. A reception followed, the rooms being bright with June flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Hornold have gone to California and will be at home after July 15 at Fifth avenue and J street.

Miss Gertrude Crane and William McMillan, Jr., were married yesterday in the temple and in the evening a large reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, Bishop and Mrs. McMillan. The rooms were beautifully decorated in red and white, the bride couple standing under a canopy of smilax and red roses. The bride's gown was of white net over tulle with trimmings of Irish point lace, and she carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Agnes McMillan, was in white dotted swiss and carried roses. Mrs. John Whipple and Mrs. Ernest Brown assisted in receiving and a half dozen intimate girl friends of the bride assisted in the dining room. John Roble was best man. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan left today for a trip to the coast and on their return will be at home at 659 west Third North street.

Another pretty wedding reception of last night was that of Miss Hazel Morris and Richard Cowan which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Morris. The mantel and hearth in the parlor were banked with pink roses and ferns making a pretty background for the bride couple, while the same flowers were all about the room. The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine and she carried white roses. Yellow roses were used in the library and in the dining room with pretty effect.

Miss Anna E. McClain and H. A. Withers were married last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shap and Rev. C. A. Perkins officiating and a reception followed. The decorations were in pink and white roses and ferns, and a few intimate friends assisted. The bride's gown was of white silk with trimmings of Irish lace and she carried white roses. Her traveling gown was of blue with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Withers have gone for an eastern trip.

One of the prettiest afternoon affairs of the season was the reception given yesterday by Mrs. Charles Wilcox and Miss Ramona Wilcox, roses in all colors transforming the rooms into floral bowers. Mingled with ferns they framed the stairways and were all about on mantels, tables and every available place, pink in the parlors, white in the dining room and red in the hall. A pretty feature in the dining room was six young girls in gowns in white to correspond with the floral adornment. The affair was in honor of the birthday anniversary of Dr. Wilcox's mother, Mrs. M. W. Wilcox, and Mrs. E. T. Stevenson and Mrs. E. T. Wilcox assisted in receiving.

Baskets, bowls and vases of roses formed the pretty decorations at the bride's tea given yesterday by Mrs. W. W. Armstrong, 13 tables being played and prizes awarded at each. A half dozen friends assisted in serving.

Mrs. John S. Bransford was guest of honor at a luncheon yesterday, given by Mrs. W. P. Cooper, in the table being decorated in yellow roses with a bowl of them set on a centerpiece of Hattenberg lace over yellow satin. The place cards were in yellow roses and covers were laid for about a dozen guests.

Pantries were the decorations as d yesterday by Mrs. A. V. Callaghan at her luncheon at the Country club, given in honor of Miss Mary W. W. of New York. The place cards were also done in pantries and covers laid for 20 guests.

Miss Betty Pyper is guest of honor at an afternoon party today, given by Mrs. Walter Pyper.

Miss Beth Dunbar was guest of honor yesterday at a party luncheon given at the Country club by Miss Marge Miller.

W. J. Halloran, president of the Commercial club, acting as toastmaster, and the throng of banqueters stretching in all directions around the big letter's sides.

At the right of Toastmaster Halloran sat Gov. Cutler, and at his left, Mayor Bransford. Gov. Cutler, who spoke first, harked back the old days of Utah commerce when wares were exchanged, woolen goods for cabbages and grain, and when he began his career with the woolen mills at Provo.

A cheer greeted the naming of Capt. Hooper as one of the mighty commercial travelers of that day, and another when Horace Eldredge was named.

BRANSFORD'S WELCOME.

Mayor Bransford, who was introduced as a progressive and energetic executive, invited the visitors to have a good time, and assured them that the chief of police was out of town, and that the only danger lay in Judge Gowans and the juvenile court with Judge Colborn interceding.

Judge Colborn declared the heavens had wept for a week because of the short stay of the travelers in Salt Lake. He hoped the sun would shine today, he explained, so that Salt Lake could boast as of yore over their weather.

Fred J. Kiesel of Ogden rose to explain that Salt Lake was the hub of the intermountain region, and Ogden was a well wisher of Salt Lake in everything attempted here for the gift of Mr. J. Q. Packard, and installed and dedicated by the Daughters of the American Revolution, with considerable ceremony and a public demonstration. However, it was found, after acceptance was imperfect, so that the flow rate the watermain was poor, and the water bowl of insufficient depth. The U. C. T. is therefore raising funds with which to put in new plumbing connections, and quite a sum was raised yesterday at the Rose Tea given by the order. The fountain was designed by John Hancock of George R. Hancock of this city. It is a solid block of granite and very attractive.

MRS. CLARK IN CHICAGO.

Delegate to National Convention Addresses Audience at Woman's Club.

The Hearst service today carries a dispatch from Chicago telling of Mrs. Lucy Clark's talk to the women of the Windy City yesterday. Mrs. Clark, who lives at Garland, Boxelder county, Utah, is the only woman delegate on the floor of the Republican national convention, and in consequence is attracting considerable attention.

The dispatch says: "The police had troubles aplenty with the women at the convention. They appeared at the doors with the decorations they display at fashionable weddings. They fought each other politely, but firmly."

But at the Chicago Woman's club, art subjects and lectures were relegated to the closets and women listened to an argument in favor of the federal suffrage which Mrs. Lucy A. Clark, woman delegate from Utah, declared would help to make women less frivolous and better fitted to cope with the responsibilities of modern life.

Mrs. Clark's talk was informal, but the fact that this woman, standing so simply before the crowded women's club, gray-haired, motherly, but keen and incisive, as a voter and a citizen, and was here because she was important enough to be made a national delegate, caused the listeners some new and extremely fascinating sensations.

Among the representatives present were Mrs. Frank Gunsaulus, Dr. Sarah Buckley, Mrs. John Worthing, Mrs. E. L. Upton, Mrs. George Watkins, head of the state federation of women's clubs.

"We women of Utah," said Mrs. Clark, "ride to the polls to exercise our franchise as we ride to church. We have not found that the ballot has interfered with our home duties, nor rubbed the bloom off our womanliness."

"On the contrary, we understand our duty to home and to country the better for having a voice in what our country shall be and in what our surroundings shall be placed."

"And injury to womanliness is never found in what makes for high ideals of both public and private life."

"I am not looking for this reform outside the old parties," continued Mrs. Clark, "I am a strong Republican, and of the stronger because the Republican party of Utah has seen fit to trust me with the responsible position of delegate to the national Republican convention. I am proving every day that responsibility brings added effort."

"We are asking for a serious consideration of suffrage as a subject that infinitely concerns the welfare of the nation. And we are receiving from men a growing respect in our demands."

ment and extension of the consolidated line. Schlacks says that plans have already been completed for the financing of the Western Pacific railroad, from Salt Lake to San Francisco, and that work on the new line will be pushed rapidly forward. This road is controlled by the Gould interests and will furnish the western extension of the transcontinental road, of which the extended Denver & Rio Grande will be one of the leading lines.

There will also be extensive improvements made in Denver & Rio Grande lines, all main lines being doubled, tracked and all narrow gauge lines being changed to standard gauge. Securities to the amount of $60,000,000 are to be raised for these improvements while the remaining $20,000,000 of the bonds to be authorized is to be used for fueling the outstanding tonnage of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western when the two roads are merged.

"TWO TOPERS."

A Teacher's Experience.

"My friends call me 'The Postum Preacher,'" writes a Minn. school teacher, "because I preach the gospel of Postum everywhere I go, and have been the means of liberating many coffee-pot slaves."

"I don't care what they call me so long as I can help others to see what they lose by sticking to coffee, and can show them the way to steady nerves, clear brain and general good health by using Postum."

"While a school girl I drank coffee and had fits of trembling and went through a stage of nervous prostration, which took me three years to rally from."

"Mother coaxed me to use Postum, but I thought coffee would give me strength. So things went, and when I married I found my husband and I were both coffee toppers and I can sympathize with a drunkard who tries to leave off his cups."

"At last in sheer desperation I bought a package of Postum, followed directions about boiling it, served it with good cream, and asked my husband how he liked the coffee."

"We each drank three cups apiece, and what a satisfied feeling it was. Our conversion has lasted several years and will continue as long as we live, for it has made us new-nerves are steady, appetites good, sleep sound and refreshing."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville" in pages.

NOTED LECTURER COMING.

Dr. Suzzallo Here Next Week—Miss Babcock Tonight.

One of the most cultured and popular speakers in the country will lecture in this city beginning next Monday evening with a free lecture in the city (Packard) library, Dr. Suzzallo of Columbia university, who spoke last winter before the Utah Teachers' association at Provo, created a remarkable enthusiasm by the vigor, the plainness, the elegance, and the timely subject matter of his addresses. The University Summer School has secured his services for a series of 12 lectures beginning next Monday.

The second number of the University series comes off tonight in the Packard library. Dr. Suzzallo gives a dramatic reading, "Montealegre," Booth Tarkington's popular novel. The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock, and is free to the public. All are invited.

Dr. Suzzallo's lecture next Monday evening will be free to the public. The title is "The Relation of the School to Other Educational Institutions." The lecture regards the place of the educational institution and the relation between home and school will be specifically dealt with in his address. A. and B. workers, as well as parents, will find this lecture of especial importance to their work. On account of the prominence of the speaker as one of the most eloquent of educational lecturers, Dr. Suzzallo's coming is looked forward to with great interest. The lecture will be given in the Packard library hall.
