

CAMPOR.—This substance is the produce of the lauri-cau-phora or camphor laurel, of Japan and China. The roots and wood of the tree are chopped up, and boiled with water in an iron vessel, to which an earthen head containing straw is adapted; and the camphor sublimes and condenses upon the straw.

In China, the chopped branches are boiled in water till the camphor begins to adhere to the stirrer; the liquor is then strained, and the camphor concretes on standing; it is afterwards mixed with a finely powdered earth and sublimed from one metallic vessel into another.

Two kinds of unrefined or crude camphor are known in commerce—Dutch or Japan camphor and China camphor. It is chiefly produced in the Island of Formosa, and conveyed in junks to Canton, when the foreign markets are supplied.

Crude camphor very much resembles moist sugar before it is cleaned. It is refined and converted into the beautiful well known article sold in the shops, by sublimation.

The process is carried on in spheroidal vessels called bomboloes. They are made of thin flint glass, and weigh about 1lb each, and measure about 12 inches across. Each vessel has a short neck. When filled with crude camphor, they are imbedded in a sand bath, and heated to a temperature of from 250 deg. to 280 deg. which is afterwards raised to between 300 and 400 deg. About 2 per cent of quick lime and 2 parts bone-black, in fine powder, are added to the melted camphor, and the heat raised so as to boil the liquid.

The vapor condenses in the upper part of the vessel. As the sublimation proceeds the height of the sand around the vessel is diminished. The process is completed in about 40 hours. This operation requires considerable attention and experience.—[Ex.]

ENERGY.—Miss Peggy Land, a young woman of Pickens county, South Carolina, about twenty four years of age, after seeking womanly employment without pecuniary success, went to farming last year, and made cotton which netted her $100; her corn crop was two hundred and fifty bushels, worth sixty cents per bushel, and she raised thirty-five bushels of wheat, worth $1 50 per bushel. She accomplished this herself, without hiring. She ploughed, drove the cart, cut her wheat, and cribbed her corn.—[Ex.]

What a meaning and unique expression was that of a young Irish girl, who was rendering testimony against an individual in a court of law a short time since. 'Arrah, sir,' said she, 'I'm shure he never made his mother smile!' There is a biography of unkindness in that simple sentence.

The N. York Times estimates the number of disorderly women in that city at 24,000. Cause—'To making a shirt, 10 cents!' Effect—'Disorderly women!' The thing is in a nutshell.

ONE IDEA.—'I say,' said a dandy to an intelligent mechanic, 'I have got an idea in my head.' Well, if you do not take the best of care of it, it will die for want of companions.

AND EXCHANGE

FOR HOME MANUFACTURES,

PRODUCE

AND HOME MANUFACTURED GOODS

Will be received for Sale and Exchange.

Manufacturers, take courage; all you want is a market for the products of your labor.

Farmers, be wise; watch the spirit of the Prophet, keep his counsel, and exchange your grain for home manufactures only, except such indispensable articles as have not as yet been manufactured in the Territory, and to meet those deficiencies, a considerable stock of States goods of a certain class will be kept on hand for a time.

It would be ridiculous to mention what class of Home Manufactures will be required for Sale, or what quantity; for the fact is, we want every article from a mouse trap to a steam-engine, and the quantity unlimited.

Good, fat beef CATTLE taken in exchange for Goods. The cattle are wanted in order to procure fat for the Soap Factory. Holders of stock, won't you assist in this important branch of Home Manufactures? Some have prophesied you will not; I say you will, for there are yet many righteous men in Israel.

Endeavor to communicate with me, and make your arrangements as early as possible.
