FRAGMENTS.

No business was transacted in the Police Court this morning.

DECEMBER seems disposed to go out very much after the fashion of the lamb.

No one was arrested by the police last night. The streets were remarkably quiet.

A FREE entertainment or concert will be given in the Third Ward meeting house to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited.

COMMENCE practicing on 1887 now; it will be awkward to do it all at once, and the failure to get it that way when the time comes may prove annoying if not troublesome.

M. B. LEAVITT, the veteran theatrical manager was in the city to-day. He has almost recovered from an attack of congestion of the brain, which prostrated him for about seven months.

MANSILL'S Almanac of Meteorology for 1887 is before us. It contains a great deal of scientific and astrological data, with explanations as to the means of making deductions, etc. Price 25 cents: Rock Island, Ill.

THAT coyote has taken French leave, and the inhabitants of the Ninth Ward now sleep with comparative soundness. The former proprietor does not know where the animal is, but announces his desire to have it killed by any one it may annoy.

WE hear of a serious delay on the Liberty Park street car line this morning, by which some passengers missed the Utah Central train. It started half an hour late, and on getting as far as the Eighth Ward Square, concluded to go back again. This will hardly do.

WITH the compliments of the management, we are in receipt of an invitation to attend a grand ball to be given by the Ancient Order of Foresters of this city, on Friday evening next, in Emporium Hall. Excellent preparations for a good time have been made.

WITH the compliments of the publishers (Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago) we are in receipt of a neat pamphlet of 143 pages, entitled "Accidents and Poisons, their Remedies and Antidotes." That it is a useful publication, its title abundantly indicates; every body should have it.

LAST evening the NEWS was the recipient of a serenade from the Eunix Club band, which comprises a novel variety of instruments. The performers were: D. Davis, J. Smith, W. Williams, G. Taylor, A. Knowlton and W. M. Foster, the last named being captain of the band.

THE new Union Pacific time table, which goes into effect on January 1st, adopts the 24-hour system of indicating time. For instance, the Utah & Northern train which was formerly billed to arrive in Ogden at 4 p. m. is now announced to reach there at 16 o'clock, the numbering commencing at 1 a. m. and ending at midnight, 24 o'clock.

THE trial of J. Clark and P. Shannon, for gambling, was set for 2 p.m. to-day, the accused having been released on giving $75 bail each. Mr. Clark appeared, but his partner did not, and after waiting an hour the bond was declared forfeited and the case set for 2 p.m. to-morrow. Mr. Clark, who went security for Mr. Shannon, is now looking for the latter to come in and face the music.

WE are in receipt of the holiday number of the Illustrated News, of Cincinnati, Ohio. It contains 32 pages, exclusive of single and quadruple engraving pages, all designed and executed in the highest style of art, besides more than the regular quota of choice cuts on popular subjects, and a voluminous collection of the best literature. It is a splendid number.

ON Wednesday, the 29th inst., beginning at 1 p. m. the children of the Seventeenth Ward Sunday School will be given a party and Christmas tree, on which occasion presents will be distributed to all members of the school. At 7:30 p. m. a concert and party will be given to the older members of the ward. Admission per couple 50 cents. Those unable to pay will be admitted free of charge, and all members of the ward are invited.

LOCAL NEWS.

Dr. Shipp's Class.—The first term of Dr. E. B. Shipp's annual class in obstetrics closed on Wednesday, Dec. 22d, 1886. The full attendance and rapid progress of the pupils is a sufficient guarantee of the superior advantages of this school. The next term opens on January 3d, 1887, when new students will be admitted. The price of tuition is $10 per term. The address of Mrs. Shipp is No. 18 East Temple Street, Salt Lake City.

D. & R. G. Circular.—Circular No. 3 of the D. & R. G. W. Traffic Department has just been issued. The subject matter is "The Agricultural, Manufacturing, Mineral and Range Productions of Utah," and the contents include articles on the agricultural products, fruits, manufactories, stock interests and mineral resources of the Territory. There is also given a list of wholesale dealers in Utah products. In referring to the matters under consideration the circular says:

"We sincerely hope that by this and other means the producers of Utah will be brought to a better understanding with the buyers and consumers of the East. To the former we urge the greatest care in preparing the various products for the market, that the manner and style of shipments may be on a par with their excellent qualities; and to the latter we trust that these relations may be maintained with consideration, with a thought that this is a new country after all, and that the people here are making a conscientious effort to please, while working for a time, at least, by methods which are necessarily somewhat primitive."

Parry's Monthly Magazine.—The January number of this interesting publication is before us filled with more than the usual array of the best reading matter. The number has two good illustrations—"The Dismissal of the Rump Parliament by Cromwell" and the "Attack on the Mail," the latter illustrating an incident of the perils of crossing the plains in early days. Aside from the chapters accompanying the illustrations, the leading articles are: "Our Undue Exaltation of Wealth;" "Short Words;" a very entertaining lecture on "The Dollar, its Use and Abuse;" a very attractive description of "The Tower of London," as given by a recent visitor. Henry W. Nalsbitt contributes an excellent paper on the life and character of Hannah T. King, with two selections of her poems. The story "Vincent Romney's Recompense," and the selections of poetry and other entertaining matter, make an excellent holiday number of this magazine.

New Hall Opened.—The upper hall of the Eighteenth Ward Independent school house, the new and handsome building which has been in course of erection for the past two years, was opened last evening with a social party. A happy and congenial multitude thronged the interior, most of them being members of the ward. Among the guests were Apostle F. D. Richards and President Angus M. Cannon, both of whom, during a full in the dancing, made some excellent and timely remarks. The people of the ward were warmly praised for the energy and taste displayed in the erection of so beautiful and convenient a hall, designed for lectures and entertainments, etc., in connection with the principal object of the building, viz: a Latter-day Saint school. The past, with its primitive scenes and crudities, was contrasted with the advanced educational facilities of the present, and the changes in society and in the country generally since the early days of Utah were dwelt upon. The young were counseled to avoid excess of gayety and the pursuit of pleasure, and indulge in dancing and recreation moderately, not only out of deference to the trials their parents and friends were undergoing at the present, but for their own souls' good, and to turn their thoughts to religion and the soberer things of life, principally, using parties and kindred entertainments as a means of rest and recreation, which was their proper utility and significance.

Bishop Whitney added a few words to what had been said, speaking in praise of the building committee, the donors to the school fund, and referring to the objects in view in the completion of the new hall and building. Dancing was then resumed and kept up until a reasonable hour, when the assembly dispersed. A vocal quartette was finely rendered during the evening by Miss Deanie Caine, Mrs. Vilate C. Young, Messrs. H. G. Whitney and J. D. Spencer, accompanied on the organ by C. S. Burton. Toronto and Thomassen's 18th Ward band supplied the ball music in excellent style, and Thomas Goodman was prompter. Everything passed off happily and the party was voted unanimously a very pleasant affair.

The Butler Affair.—There are two separate and widely conflicting statements extant in regard to the circumstances connected with the arrest of Wm. Butler, at Marriotts, Weber County, recently. The first account that reached us was a very unfavorable one for the deputies who made the arrest, the second quite the reverse. We have been permitted to peruse a letter from the wife of the defendant, who was present at the time of the arrest, to a friend in this city, and, not knowing that it or any part of it would ever be given to the public, she could have no motive in misrepresenting or coloring one way or the other. It fully sustains our first report:

On the morning of the 21st, at 6 o'clock; the deputy marshals surrounded our house and rapped at the doors and windows, threatening to burst in the doors if not let in immediately. I told them to wait till the family could dress. Brigham (a son) was the first to open the west door, and they stopped him there with a pistol pointed at him, when they called to the other marshals to come on, saying, "Boys, we have got him." Then the front door was bursted in by two more, and they walked in with revolvers in hand and one with a big club. William was in the sitting room when they came in; he spoke some sharp words, asking them why they came at such an hour; we could only just see each other, and they swore around, and one pointed a pistol at his head and called him a G—d d—n son of a b—, said he would burst his G— d— head, and "lay him right there," pointing to the floor. I took hold of William around his waist; I was afraid he would be killed by some of them, and I held on to him and talked to them and asked them why they came like thieves and robbers in the dark, threatening to murder honorable people that had offered no resistance. They said they had a warrant to arrest Mr. Butler, that they were United States officers. I asked them why they did not come like gentlemen, if they were. They then called for a lamp to be lighted and they would read the warrant. They then subpœnaed us to appear before the commissioner at 10 o'clock, then took the lamp and went through the house, found Sarah in bed and subpœnaed her there in bed. They took Mr. Butler right off to Ogden and left a deputy to guard the family. I asked him to eat breakfast with us if he had to stay to guard us. When breakfast was ready I told him it was customary for us to attend family prayers, and if he did not wish to kneel with us he could retire to the other room, but he said he would kneel down with us so I have the honor of getting a deputy marshal on his knees for once, although he said he did not believe in God or devil or anything. His name is Dykes, the others' names are Whetstone and Steele.

I have heard there are a good many lies afloat through the papers about guns and pistols being used by us, but we never offered any resistance whatever.

Commissioners Elected.—To-day the gentlemen representing the six interests in the canals in Salt Lake County from the river Jordan held their annual meeting in the City Hall. The canals referred to are the Utah and Salt Lake, North Jordan, South Jordan, Jordan and Salt Lake, and East Jordan. Mayor Armstrong was elected chairman and J. W. Fox, Jr., secretary. After transacting regular business, the meeting proceeded to the election of two commissioners to represent them on the commission for the settlement of questions arising between the people of Utah and Salt Lake counties relative to the dam in the Jordan near the Point of the Mountain. The result was that Francis Armstrong of Salt Lake City, and Joseph S. Rawlins, of South Cottonwood, were chosen by unanimous vote. The Utah County members of the commission are James Aiken and Richard Norman, the latter having been recently elected in place of Israel Evans. The other member of the board, chosen by the four, is Wm. R. Smith, of Davis County.

From Beaver.—Marshal Dyer and Deputy Pratt are expected to arrive from Beaver this evening. They have with them five prisoners, three of them being "Mormons." These latter are Joseph K. Thurber, sentenced to four years and six months' imprisonment and $500 fine for polygamy and unlawful cohabitation, and John P. Jones and John L. Jones, each under penalty of six months' imprisonment and $300 fine for unlawful cohabitation. The other prisoners are Orson Ferguson, sentenced to one year in the penitentiary for housebreaking, and Wilford H. Halliday, awaiting trial on a charge of murder in the first degree.

Marshal Dyer has appointed two new deputies in the Beaver district, in place of Thompson and Orton. These are John G. Armstrong and James McGeary. The former is City Marshal of Beaver, having been elected by the Independents, and was at one time a deputy under Marshal Ireland. The latter is a man upwards of 40 years of age, and has been engaged in ranching and mining.

The Murder Case.—We have received the following special from Beaver, dated 12:40 this morning:

Thompson was arraigned this morning, and plead not guilty. The case was set for the sixth of January. The court ordered a special venire of thirty men from which to obtain a jury for the Thompson case.

A MEETING AT TOOELE DISTURBED.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED—THEY ADMIT THEIR GUILT.

Last evening two boys about 16 years of age were brought in from Tooele City, on the charge of disturbing a Methodist meeting. They were Orrin Skelton and Frank Lingberg. Mr. Robert Skelton appeared for the defendants.

When the accused were brought before Commissioner McKay, Mr. Skelton asked for a change of venue, on the ground that the boys desired a trial where the alleged offense was committed; that the city government of Tooele was able to act in the case, and that there was a justice before whom they might have been taken in Tooele.

The Commissioner stated that there was no provision in the statute for a change of venue from a United States Commissioner to a justice of the peace in any event; if there was, the reasons advanced were not sufficient for a change. The complaint was made under a Territorial law; he would prefer that these cases be tried by a justice of the peace, but as long as the defendants were brought before him, he had no choice but to look into the matter.

Mr. Skelton said he thought it was altogether out of place and uncalled for that the local authorities should thus be ignored; it was a question that ought to be tested wether they should be jumped over here a distance of forty miles to answer for a petty offense that which their own city authority was competent to deal. However, he would enter a plea of guilty for the accused, as he did not wish to screen them, though he thought they were not guilty of everything alleged in the complaint—indecent language, profanity, etc.

Mr. Varian acted for the prosecution, and said he wanted to hear the testimony. Rev. Mr. Gillilan was called and said that on Wednesday evening of last week the Methodists were holding their weekly prayer meeting when they were disturbed by noises outside as of 15 or 20 voices shouting, throwing dirt against the door, groaning at the crevices, crying "amen." He had sent Wm. Barrington out to see who the boys were.

Mr. Barrington testified that the meeting had been seriously disturbed. The singing and preaching could hardly be heard. He had seen the two defendants throwing sand against the door. There were a good many other boys, but he only knew these two and one named Martin.

Geo. Pickett said he had heard part of the disturbance; it was made by a large crowd of boys of the age of fifteen years and under. Had merely heard the general cries; thought the boys were in fun; didn't think they were making fun of the services, but laughing and talking among themselves.

Wm. Hammond said he was in the crowd that night during the time of the whole service. The boys were talking and singing gravel around on the porch of the house where the meeting was being held. The defendants were the oldest in the crowd.

Mr. Davidson said he was on the inside of the meeting house and had been greatly annoyed by the cries of "Amen" which came from under the door; had heard no profanity.

Deputy Scott testified that he was in the house, and said the noise of the cries outside, etc., had drowned the preacher's voice; disturbances of this kind had been frequent for years past, without any action having been taken about it; he could not say that these two boys had ever been concerned in the trouble before, and knew nothing against their character.

Mr. Gillilan was recalled, and in reply to Mr. Skelton, said he had complained to the late city marshal, Peter Clay, but nothing had been done about it. Mr. Skelton asked him if he had ever complained to the present incumbent, Mr. Bevans. Said Mr. Gillilland, "No, and I'll tell you why. One of the most shameful acts that ever transpired in any civilized country took place on Friday last, and again on Sunday last. They broke down all our benches, and your—our city marshal sat among them, in all his dignity, and never offered to interfere. That's the reason."

Mr. Skelton stated that Marshal Clays denied that any complaint had ever been made to him, notwithstanding Mr. Gillilan's assertion. He also offered an affidavit of Marshal Bevan that no complaint had been made.

Mr. Varian inquired of the Rev. Gillilan whether it was true that the house of his predecessor had been covered with filth once. He said, "Yes, in 1882. But nothing was ever done about it." He further said that he was acting under the advice of the United States Marshal, who had told him the next time any of these disturbances occurred to get their names and report to him, which was what he had done. He said he had known nothing against the character of the two boys in question up to this time. He had merely caused the arrest of the first that could be identified.

Commissioner McKay said there had been so much complaint about this sort of thing out at Tooele that he thought it ought to be looked into, and if the city government where it occurred with the city marshal were content to sit by without doing anything about it, they couldn't complain if the matter was brought before some one else 50 or 60 miles distant. The boys were placed under $200 bonds to await the action of the grand jury.

The extreme penalty which the law fixes for the offense charged is six months' imprisonment and a fine of $300.

Didn't Have a "Corner."—In our Ogden Department yesterday it was stated that Coffee John had a "corner" on oysters at Christmas, owing to Mr. Griffin's not having received his stock. Mr. Fitchette says this is an error, as he not only did not have the "corner," but when he found the position in which Mr. Griffin was placed, offered him all the oysters he wanted at his own price.

English Sparrow.—These little pests are not so numerous here as they used to be, but there are a good many yet, so many that if let alone for a year or so they would be more numerous than ever. That they are more destructive than beneficial in any community has been well established here, but the following, from the Prairie Farmer, is confirmatory:

"At the recent annual meeting of the Indiana State Horticultural Society, some one mentioned the English sparrow, and a discussion was precipitated. Mr. Warder, of North Bend, Ohio, had found them both fruit and grain eaters. They had been very destructive to his grapes. They seldom eat insects, but will feed them to the young birds in the nest. Prof. Troop, of Purdue University, said that a member of the Senior Class of that institution had killed one or more sparrows daily during a considerable portion of the past summer, and examined the contents of their stomachs. In only one bird had he found the remains of an insect. J. C. Ratcliff, of Wayne County, had seen flocks of several hundred alight on his wheat field, five miles from any town or city, and eat and waste the grain from large areas. They beat the ripened grain from the stalk with their wings. They were still more destructive to grain in shock. Mr. Folger said that they had entirely driven away 200 martins that formerly sheltered in his barn. Mr. Ohmer formerly had plenty of song birds on his place. Now there was only the sparrow and robin. The time had come when something must be done. Mr. Webster had recently made an extended visit through the agricultural sections of Europe. Found that sparrows were everywhere regarded as a nuisance. In Germany he saw boys carrying hundreds of them strung on sticks. They were taken to the village authorities, and the boys received a half cent for each one killed. They were paying for their destruction everywhere. They were becoming very destructive in his locality. He had found their ravages on his green peas particularly annoying. After further discussion in similar strain, and some words in their defense by President Johnson, and one other member, J. C. Stevens, of Wayne Co., introduced a resolution declaring them a nuisance and urging extermination, which was passed with but one dissenting voice."
