DININNY'S RECORD.

DININNY'S RECORD. - When Dimining appeared in the last "American" party convention, some-hedy who has been weighing up the la-cal butter trust's output, and fluding that the goods go only 15 or 14 ounces to the poind, dubbed Diniuny with the name "Butter-weight Diniuny." It has stuck, and now those most fundilar with his gigantic menual powers apply it to him naturally, and explain this most recent action as just a case of metting down into confessional moods.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater-It is less than one year Theater—II is less than one year so since Louis James was here last ith his presentation of "The Merry lives of Windsor." For that reason, ad the regrettable one that the tastes i our public seem to incline steadily way from Shakespearean comedy, the vorite actor was greeted by only a ir sized audience last night; it might are been the part of managerial wis-on to have opened his present engag-ent with his new production which is on tonight, "The Comedy of Er-ws."

goes on tonight. "The Comedy of Er-rors." Mr. James' delineation of Sir John Falstaff remains the old jolly and in-fectious creation; he is perhaps the only actor on the stage who now es-says this part, made famous here in the isst generation by Ben DeBar, and Couldock. The support, while hardly up to that of last year, was capable throughout. Aphie James rendered the part of Mrs. Ford in her sprightly and vivacious manner, and was well ac-companied by Ida Werner in the role of Ann Page. Mr. Paulding had Hac-kett's role of Mr. Ford, and did it in a way that could be called acceptable without being brilliant. Tonight and tomorrow Mr. James es-says the difficult rask of portraying the two Dromios. The matince bill will be "The Merchant of Venice."
