PRESIDENT ARTHUR'S ANTI-MORMON POLICY.

The chief point of interest to the large majority of our readers in the President's Message is the paragraph relating to Utah and Polygamy. The Executive says he is not satisfied with the workings of the Edmunds law, thinks that more stringent measures should be adopted for the extirpation of polygamy and favors the repeal of the Organic Act and the government of this Territory by an appointed Commissioner.

These utterances of President Arthur will occasion much surprise among those who have credited him with steady conservatism and a soul above the arts of the demagogue. The purpose of the recommendations is evident. It is to raise, if possible, a party issue to figure in the next presidential election. The "Mormon" question, as it is called, has been magnified so much in the eyes of the country, and the cry of polygamy has been so persistently raised that the popular mind is persuaded of the urgent need of some extreme measure to save the nation from being overwhelmed by "Mormonism," which is so little understood and so grotesquely misrepresented as to be regarded as a menace and a terror.

In the blind demand for the extirpation of that system, constitutional restrictions will not be regarded by the unthinking. Any scheme to stamp out "Mormonism" will be hailed with pleasure by the hireling clergy and receive a certain amount of popular support. The Republican party, hard up for striking issues, will take advantage of this sentiment and propose such measures as no consistent Democrat could sustain for a moment. The refusal of a Democratic House of Representatives to pass a bill embodying the recommendation of the President, could be used against that party in the coming campaign. They could be accused of sympathy with the "Mormons," which would be an awful charge, and "affiliation with polygamy" which would be still more startling. Hence the adoption by President Arthur of a scheme which, if the people of this great country were not deceived and bamboozled by politicians and hireling preachers, would be sufficient to condemn any candidate for popular suffrage, in the eyes of Republicans and Democrats alike.

The right of local self-government inheres in every organized community of citizens, and this has been formally confirmed upon the people of Utah by Act of Congress. The repeal of the Organic Act would not take away that right. Such repeal, with the destruction of our local government and the establishment of the un-American and anti-Republican domination by appointed Commissioners, to which the President has lent his support, would be simply an act of oppression and the authority of might over right. It would be a veritable of the very principles for which the founders of this nation struggled and risked their lives. If any Democrat should assist in the infamy it would be proof that he was not governed by the principles which are essential to his party and are fundamental to our national institutions, but was led by ulterior motives for unworthy ends.

The exigencies of a fight for place and power, however, often lead politicians into devious ways, and principle frequently takes a back seat while policy steps to the front. And in the strife for supremacy which is about to ensue the end to be achieved will no doubt cause either party to be somewhat heedless as to the character of the means employed, so that they give promise of success, and yet we cannot believe that the Democrats, now coming up into a prospect of a return to the control of national affairs, can be so regardless of the basic principles and vital force of their own organization, as to trample on the rights of a popular commonwealth simply to appease a senseless and petulant vote.

We say, peremptorily, that it is quite doubtful that in their sacrifice of principle, they would make numerical gains. No Democrat who planted himself firmly on constitutional ground in opposition to anti-Mormon measures introduced in the Forty-seventh Congress, failed in his canvass for election to the Forty-eighth. And in the long run it will be found that the right will win, while expediency when hostile to it has no abiding strength. Pandering to anti-Mormon clamor will prove a very evanescent subterfuge, and no man or party will find permanent success in such a truckling policy.

The reasons given by President Arthur for endorsing the extreme measure recommended for Utah are extremely weak. "All of the members of the Legislature are 'Mormons,'" he says. Well, is it a crime to be a "Mormon"? Is it likely that the "Mormons" would elect anti-Mormons to make laws for them? Have they not the right to choose for their own officers men of their own views? And is it not premature and unstatesmanlike to recommend harsh and unprecedented action, on the supposition of what our Legislature may or may not do at the coming session? Again, what can that body do in the direction sought more than has already been done? The Edmunds law excludes all polygamists from voting and from office and that would stand, no matter what our local legislators might pass. If the provisions of that law were repealed by our Assembly they would be no more effective than now, and if any act were passed in opposition to them it would be void. The fallacy of the President's argument is thus exposed.

It is not shown, either, in what way the destruction of our local government would effect the question of polygamy. The plural marriages of the "Mormons" are not sustained or recognized by the territorial laws and could not be dissolved by any number of Commissioners, or editors, or armies, or any other earthly powers. They are ecclesiastical, perpetual and eternal, and until the "Mormons" become recreant to their faith and their covenants with high heaven, that Almighty Being who established them for the benefit of His people and the fulness of His glory. The President's remarks on Utah and Polygamy, do not add to the force of his message, nor do credit to his supposed sagacity and statesmanship. They are in the nature of a sop to the bigots and breath of a fan of an unreasoning popular passion. It is doubtful if they will have any practical bearing upon Congress. They certainly create no commotion among the peaceable and God-fearing people of Utah Territory.

MORE ANTI-MORMON RUBBISH.

A CHICAGO telegram published in Tuesday evening's News contains a lot of stuff told to a reporter of the Times by a "Mrs. Ruth Everett of Salt Lake City." We have never heard of the lady before, and if she is as unreliable in other matters as on the "Mormon" question we shall not care if we never hear of her again. The whole statement attributed to her is of about the same value as the closing remark. Utah is not the only place where woman suffrage exists, and all the rest of her rhodomontade is equally incorrect. It sounds like the talk of some stranger or who has spent a few days in this city and received the usual amount of stuffing from the chronic liars and bilious "Mormon" haters, male and female, who make it their business to repeat to the kind of standstill which Mrs. Everett gave to the Times reporter. When will the leading papers of this country vary the monotony of their references to Utah and the "Mormons," by getting hold of a few facts and publishing something that is at least consistent?

A PRAISEWORTHY INSTITUTION.

THE rumors which have been rising during the past day or two concerning the U. O. of Logan, Cache County, have given much concern to the friends of co-operative effort, and great regret has been expressed at the reported abandonment of an industrial and mercantile institution, which was believed to be on a sound basis and productive of much good among the people in its neighborhood. A letter which appeared in the Salt Lake Herald of Sunday last, placed the concern in a very unenviable light, and conveyed the impression that misfortune had crowded upon it in such a shape that its property would probably have to be sold off at a sacrifice. Yesterday morning, however, another letter appeared in the Herald, which presented the matter in a much more favorable aspect. The Superintendent of Z. C. M. I., which is said to be the chief creditor of the Logan U. O., makes a statement to the effect that the former letter was but a repetition of street gossip that had no foundation in fact. He said:

"The United Order company do not owe this institution one-third of the amount it states, and I am satisfied they have real estate, unencumbered, logs, lumber and merchandise enough on hand to pay all their obligations. Our confidence in the company is evinced by the fact that we have and are continuing to extend a credit to them of $10,000, and we have not asked them to give us security for this amount either."

We refrained from making any reference to this affair, until inquiries could be made and reliable particulars obtained. Remarks upon it were crowded out yesterday by the President's message. We are gratified to learn from authentic sources that there is no reason at present why the U. O. of Logan may not hold its own, and continue to benefit the people of Cache County by its industries and example. Its assets are at least double the value of its liabilities. Arrangements have been made that are entirely satisfactory to parties holding accounts against it. The willingness of such a business house as Z. C. M. I. to carry it along to the amount of $10,000 is a very good guaranty of its financial integrity.

The truth is that this institution is in the same condition as many banking and commercial establishments which are really in a flourishing condition, but which, if required on a sudden to meet their monetary liabilities, would find it very difficult to respond. It is in a position of simultaneous pressure from several directions. Its real estate, mills, stores, building material, machinery, etc., are all good property and available for its use in conducting a profitable business, while at the same time employment is provided for many hands that without this institution would probably be idle. Money is occasionally hard to obtain, and when cash demands pour in, embarrassment is the necessary consequence. A little forbearance on the part of creditors in such cases is not only merciful but wise. They are more likely to obtain payment in full by waiting while than by forcing settlement under adverse circumstances, providing, as in the present instance, the debtor has available assets in sufficient amount to justify delay.

Our contemporary, the Herald, after being misled by the hasty conclusions of its correspondent, has done the last thing by the U. O. of Logan, in not only publishing Sept. Eldridge's letter, but speaking good words editorially for that institution. It would be a matter for public congratulation if all journals would take the same course, instead of endeavoring to justify themselves when found to be in error, and in making groundless apologies, adding insult to injury, as too often the method pursued by certain unscrupulous Knights of the Saber.

Correspondents should be careful in making statements regarding personal character and the status of business establishments, and newspapers ought to be very guarded in giving place to them. Injury may be wrought in this instance which no amount of explanation can repay. Bad news flies fast, and the reputation of a commercial firm is a large part of its capital.

We have regularly published the balance sheets of the United Order Manufacturing and Building Company of Logan, and found pleasure in noting its prosperity. We are gratified to find that its financial reports are not unworthy of public confidence, but that they have represented the true condition of its affairs, which are really prosperous and hopeful. In these equally times it will perhaps be found by that institution that ambition must give way to, or at least be tempered by, sound discretion, and that it is not safe to embark in too many enterprises without actual available capital to sustain them. Debt is always innumerable to firms as well as to individuals, and no institution, co-operative or otherwise, is safe in launching out into liabilities to meet which provisions cannot surely be made beforehand.

XVIII CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Hear presented a joint resolution of the legislature of Massachusetts opposing the conviction of a public works of the United States. Hear presented a joint resolution of the legislature of New Hampshire, opposing further land grants to railroads, and any renewal of forfeited land grants. He introduced a bill to repeal the internal revenue laws now in force and abolish internal revenue. Cullum introduced a bill to reorganize the legislative power of Utah.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 5.—The Virginia contested election case of Harrison vs. Mayo was referred to the committee on elections. (When appointed) with instructions to report legal questions involved therein.

Ordered when the House adjourns to-morrow it will be to meet on Monday.

Jones submitted the customary resolutions announcing the death of Thomas H. Herndon (Alabama) and that of respect to the same. The House adjourned, with the understanding that no business will be transacted to-morrow.

New York, 5.—The Northern Pacific has applied to the stock exchange to list $2,750,000 first mortgage bonds.

St. Catharines, Ont., 5.—The Welles County Council has resolved to memorialize the Ontario legislature to grant woman suffrage.

Herr Leuker.
Herr Leuker arrived at Washington to-day. He was met by a committee of German citizens and escorted to various places of interest.

The Freshmen Famine.
New Haven, Conn., 5.—The prevalence of typhoid and scarlet fevers among the students of Yale College is now puzzling the faculty. The professors aver that the sewerage and drainage are perfect and they cannot account for the unusual illness of these terms. Reports of death are exaggerated, but two students have died of typhoid fever and one contracted the disease while abroad during vacation. There are many students more or less ill of malarial fever, but no great alarm is felt. It is thought that when the cold weather sets in it will disappear.

FOREIGN.

LATEST TRANS-ATLANTIC DISPATCHES.

Hong Kong, 5.—Admiral Fung Yu Lee, at Canton, has notified all foreigners that war with France is imminent and that he is massing all available land and sea forces for the protection of Canton. The Admiral holds that France is unanswerable for the war and warns neutral powers to observe the neutrality regulations and rules of international law.

The President's Message—Views on Polygamy, etc.
The London Times thinks that President Arthur's message is somewhat careless. (See tribute to Irish vote) in language used in regard to pauper immigrants. The paper really expresses disappointment that the President did not recommend reductions in the tariff this session, but however refers to the message as a message of great propriety in the United States. It is principally remarkable for the exhibition of decision on the part of republicans to spend public money.

The Standard says the most important part of the message is that containing the plan for the suppression of polygamy, and describes the proposed measures for the suppression of polygamy, and describes the proposed measures for the suppression of polygamy, and describes the proposed measures for the suppression of polygamy.

A special in another column announces that the public telephone station at St. James' Park, and Cup and Saucer Tea for sale in the city. He offers it to the public, as per advertisement.
