Mr. Willis Brown, who is traveling under the direction of the American Anti-Cigarette League, delivered a telling address before the students of the Latter-day Saints university this morning. In introducing the speaker, President. Paul stated that Mr. Brown has been traveling for the past seven years, in the work of saving young men from the foul and despicable habit of igarette smoking-a habit which in the opinion of competent judges, is even worse than the habit of using oplum. Mr. Brown was in his happiest mood, and frequently elicited enthulastic applause by his appropriate illustrations, while the humorous inci-dents which he related, brought forth peals of laughter from the audience. The business men's view of the clear-ette smoker was first presented. The speaker referred to the recent action of the great railroad companies in pub-lishing their announcements that hereafter they will employ no cigarette smokers. This action is sweeping and significant, including the shops as well as the offices, and should be a strong reminder to any youth that it is his best interest to leave tobacco alone. From the standpoint of health the speaker showed how much more disas-trous it is to the human system for a boy to take into his lungs the five pol sonous vapors of the cigarette smoke than it is to smoke a pipe or eigar of strong tobacco that cannot be inhaled. Lastly, the speaker showed the effects of cigarette smoking upon the moral character of many of its victims, and asked the boys how they would enjoy asked the boys how they would enjoy being classed with the cigarette fiends —the moral degenerates who fill the jalls. Mr. Brown commented effectively on the attitude of the law toward cigarette smoking. A cigarette smoker is a law breaker. It may not be long before it will be a violation of law even to handle cigarettes or to deal in them. handle cigarettes or to deal in them. The address was a forcible one and the speaker's argument produced a sen-sation. This was especially the case in that part of it which demonstrated

James B. Angell of the University of Michigan does not subscribe to the statement that men lose their usefulness when they reach the age of 60 years. He has replied to Dr. William Osler, 9 formerly of Johns Hopkins university, who recently declared that men when they reach the age of 60 years should be chloroformed.

Dr. Angell in an address at the annual banquet of the Chicago alumni association of the University of Michigan, said:

"I would like to extend the time of a man's life instead of shortening it. The experiment of killing off old men has been tried in Africa for centuries, and I would suggest to the distinguished physician that civilization has not advanced very rapidly there."
