

TWO SPEAKERS AT TABERNACLE

Elders B. H. Roberts and Seymour B. Young Tell of the Mission of Mormonism.

ARE NO CLAMORING SECT.

This a Message of Hope and Gladness, To Jew, Gentile and Remnants of the Land.

The large congregation that assembled at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon was addressed by Elder B. H. Roberts and Seymour B. Young. In the auditorium were many strangers, numbers of late comers being admitted to the east gallery during the services. The singing of the choir was exceptionally good, the selections being, "Softly Beams the Sacred Dawning," "How Great the Wisdom and the Love," the "Hallelujah" chorus and "Gospel Restoration." The invocation was offered by Elder Andrew Jensen, and Elder George Teasdale pronounced the benediction. President John R. Winder presided over the services.

ELDER B. H. ROBERTS.

Elder Roberts said that since the day that the Son of Man ascended into heaven, after his resurrection from the dead, the promise that He had made to his followers, another promise equally relied upon was to the effect that Israel would be gathered in the latter times. The message that Mormonism bears to the world is that the time of fulfillment of both pledges is close at hand, and that the gospel has been restored to earth preliminary to the grand consummation. The speaker quoted from the prophecies of Nephi, relative to the great and marvelous things that would begin in the world since the Book of Mormon was published and issued in 1829 is astounding. A comparison was made of the modes of travel, the means of communication and the utilities enjoyed in the early part of the last century and those of the present day. It was shown by the speaker that the inventions of the 75 years just past had made the nations to become as neighbors. Have these achievements, he asked, any bearing or relationship with the golden rule of peace and brotherly love, looked forward to by believers? Answering for himself, Elder Roberts said he believed they did. The restoration of the gospel was the beginning of the world's reawakening. The belief had been prevalent for ages that revelation had ceased, until Joseph Smith proclaimed in no uncertain language that such a condition was not true. Again it was taught among men that God was not entirely outside the cosmos that He had created, but still was in and controlled this world as much as in any age of the past. The truth revealed by the modern prophet that the Father of heaven and earth was as near as to the kind of our world as His children in latter times as in former dispensations, marked the beginning of a great reawakening, and the following of the great and divine light along other lines for the advancement of humanity.

THE STATUS OF LABOR.

Elder Roberts spoke of the difference between the condition of the laboring classes of today as compared with former years. Once considered merely as servants, the laboring men of today are now enjoying a far different status. Even in England, whose sons were considered as the property of the land, the breaking of a contract on the part of an employee was sufficient to brand him as a criminal, while similar action on the part of the employer was considered as merely affording the chance of a civil action. It was not until 1875 that equal justice began to be meted out to employer and employee alike. In this country the lines of demarcation had never been so closely drawn, the toiler having more choice both as to the kind of work he should perform and the remuneration he should receive therefor.

Elder Roberts said that he had absolute sympathy for the lawless elements, neither with the unlawful acts of soulless corporations. The argument of either is reprehensible, and each must keep within the law. Well conducted labor organizations are good to see, declared the speaker, and they make for development and add to human happiness.

PEACE MOVEMENTS.

The movements for universal peace were next considered by Elder Roberts. The first society he said, was formed soon after the close of the war of 1812. It had a small beginning, but the sentiment behind it gained influence until it constituted the great peace conference at The Hague in 1899, and is a fact worthy of note that the United States was the first country to submit a case for arbitration. The voice speaking for peace are becoming more numerous and more powerful.

In all these things, the speaker declared, were to be seen the handiworkings of God for the ushering in of the millennial reign, and the gathering of the elect from the ends of the earth. The mission of Mormonism is to raise an ensign of peace. Before the ultimate purposes of the Almighty are accomplished concerning His children, the earth will be visited with judgments, but behind the dark clouds the sun will begin to be streaked with the rising sun of the era of peace. The coming of Christ means the redemption of the world or it means nothing. Mormonism is not merely a sect among the hundreds clamoring for recognition, but it is a world-wide in its significance. It is optimistic and not fatalistic in its aims and purposes. It has a message of hope to the Jew, to the remnants of this land and to the Gentile. It is a world-wide bringing joy and brightness to the world.

In conclusion, Elder Roberts said that some day a gifted musician among the Latter-day Saints would be inspired to set to music the great epic contained in one of the revelations of God to latter-day Israel, read by the speaker as follows:

The Lord hath brought again Zion, The Lord hath redeemed his people, Israel, According to the election of grace, Which was brought to pass by the Father and covenant of their fathers. The Lord hath redeemed his people, And Satan is bound and time is no longer.

The Lord hath gathered all things in one, The Lord hath brought down Zion from above, The Lord hath brought up Zion from beneath, The earth hath travelled and brought forth her strength, And Zion is established in her bowels.

And the heavens have smiled upon her, And she is clothed with the glory of her God:

For He stands in the midst of His people, Glory and honor, and power, and might, Be ascribed to our God: for He is full of mercy, Justice, grace and truth, and peace, For ever and ever. Amen.

ELDER S. B. YOUNG.

Elder Young heartily endorsed the remarks of the previous speaker, especially the statement that the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ is a message of peace. The work of the Latter-day Saints is a power for good. Their mission is the redemption of God's children. The gospel is not narrow, and the views of its adherents are not exclusive. The members are solicitous for the welfare of their fellows, and invite all to come and partake of the living waters freely.

The Nephtie prophet told Joseph Smith that the beginning of the end was being ushered in, and the preparatory work was being done. Salvation is reaching. The members are as well as for the living. Elijah came to the Kirtland temple and restored the keys whereby the hearts of the children are turned to the Father in heaven, lest God should smite the earth with a curse. Baptism for the dead is being preached today the same as it was taught in the days of Paul, and no one can say that the teachings of Mormonism are narrow. The message is to all who have lived and to all who yet shall live.

INSTRUCTIONS ON COAL LANDS

Local U. S. Land Office is in Receipt of a Circular From Washington.

IT IS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

In Regard to Lands Withdrawn From Coal Entry and Not Released From Such Withdrawals.

The local U. S. land office is in receipt of a circular of instruction from the department of the interior relative to lands withdrawn from coal entry and not released from such withdrawals. The document is of general interest all over the west, and reads as follows:

1. Lands heretofore withdrawn from coal entry and not released from such withdrawals shall be entered on the tract book as "coal lands."

2. No entries of lands so noted shall be permitted under the coal land laws until the maps and lists, as hereinafter mentioned, are filed in the local land office. Provided, however, such lands may be entered for location and entry under the general mining laws for valuable deposits of gold, silver, or copper, notwithstanding the fact that they may also contain workable deposits of coal. Lands noted on the tract books as coal lands may, if non-mineral in character, be entered under the appropriate land laws, but no final proof or entry will be allowed until receipt of a report from a field office, in accordance with instructions from the commissioner of the general land office, unless said lands have been restored to entry as hereinafter provided.

3. You will be furnished, from time to time, township maps showing the coal lands in the respective townships, containing thereon the price at which such coal lands will be sold. Lands not enumerated and priced as "coal lands" in any such township map shall be treated as restored to entry under the general land laws, and you will so note on your tract books. Upon the filing of such maps, coal claims may be restored to entry as provided by the regulations of April 12, 1907, within the townships covered thereby.

All coal claims made within 60 days prior to withdrawals from coal entry may be completed within the time prescribed by the statutes, less the time from date of such withdrawals to date of special written notice of filing of the maps and lists in the local office, as herein provided, such notice to be given by you to all persons entitled thereto. Also persons who had, within 60 days prior to such withdrawal, opened and improved a coal mine upon public surveyed lands may file within the statutory period allowed, less that covered by the withdrawal. Claims upon unsurveyed lands classed as coal lands must be presented for filing within 60 days after the filing of the plat of survey, if the maps and lists are filed before the survey, or after the lands have been surveyed, within 60 days after the filing of the maps and lists herein required in the local office, if the maps and lists are filed after the survey. However, in cases of valid and existing rights, the price per acre to be paid will be the minimum price fixed by statute.

LANDS NOT "COAL LANDS."

4. Lands not listed as "coal lands," as hereinbefore mentioned, may be entered under any of the public land laws applicable to the particular tract. If any of these lands are found to contain workable deposits of coal they may be entered under the provisions of the coal land circular of April 12, 1907, at the minimum price fixed by the statute.

ACTION REQUIRED BY SPECIAL AGENTS.

5. In all cases of application to make final proof, final entry, or to purchase public lands under any public law, the register and receiver will at once forward a copy thereof to the chiefs of field division of special agents. Such copy will be indorsed "coal lands" or "not coal lands," as the case may be. Where the land is in a national forest or other reservation, a second copy will be forwarded to the officer in charge thereof.

6. Registers and receivers will not issue final certificates for lands mentioned in paragraph 5 is returned with the chief of field division's indorsement thereon. The chief of field division will in every case return the copy of notice prior to date for final proof or purchase.

7. When the copy of notice is returned with an indorsement not prohibiting the validity of the entry, the register and receiver will act upon the merits of the proof as submitted. Where the returned indorsement of chief of field division or other officer protests the validity of the entry, the register and receiver will forward all papers to this office without action.

8. The chief of field division, on receipt of such copy of notice, will make a case thereon on his docket, and also make a field examination in the following cases:

(a) Cases wherein he has reason to believe a particular entry is fraudulent.

(b) Cases wherein the register and receiver have reason to believe a particular entry is fraudulent and have indicated that fact upon the copy of notice.

(c) Cases other than coal entries in lands classed as coal lands.

Chiefs of field division will exert every effort to make the field examination prior to date for final proof.

9. In cases not within paragraph 8, chiefs of field division will return such copy of notice indorsed with his signature "no protest against validity of this entry." In cases under paragraph 8 he will return to the register and receiver the copy of notice indorsed "protest against the validity of this entry is filed in this office." If investigation is completed before date for final proof, he will so notify the register and receiver, by letter, and if investigation is unfavorable to entry, he will submit his report to this office.

The circulars of Jan. 21, 1907, March 15, 1907, and all parts of the circulars of Dec. 7, 1905, in conflict herewith, and all other regulations and circulars in conflict herewith are hereby revoked.

R. A. RAILLINGER, Commissioner.

Approved April 24, 1907.

WHEN ITALIAN MEETS GREEK.

Nick Ramolos May Die as Result of Assault by F. Penna.

Occupying a cell at the county jail is Frank Penna, an Italian, charged with assaulting with a deadly weapon a Greek named Nick Ramolos. It is more than likely that the injured man may die as a result of the blow he received, and in that event Penna will be charged with murder.

Trouble began early yesterday afternoon between the Italians and the Greeks employed at Garfield. Though the two nationalities are much alike in color and characteristics, they do not mix well and there is invariably bad blood existing when two such gangs are together. The Greek and the Italian quarreled, and the former threw a shovel full of sand at his antagonist. The son of Italy replied in kind, only it was a harder kind—he used a rock, or a brick, and the result was the knocking out of the Greek.

Penna took to the hills as soon as his man was down, with a number of his victim's countrymen close at his heels. Deputy Sheriff Brown took a hand in the chase, captured the fleeing man, and to save him from the vengeance of his pursuers, brought him immediately to the county jail.

Interior of store of Madsen Furniture and Hardware Co., Murray, Utah. This is the first Hardware store in the state to adopt the strictly up-to-date methods of handling store transactions by means of the 100 principle National Cash Register System.

Regarding this register, Mr. Madsen writes: "For years I was opposed to paying the prices you asked for a cash register system. I declared no system that you offered was worth the money. Since installing this system, I have changed my mind and I declare in all earnestness that I would pay four times what you ask for it, providing I could not get a duplicate system to take its place. If you have any hesitating or doubting customers, send them to me or have them write me. I will soon convince them from a practical business standpoint, that such a system costs nothing, but pays dividends on the investment."

HOTEL GOSSIP.

D. C. Eccles of Ogden registered at the Wilson for a day. Mr. Eccles is manager of the large lumber company in Ogden bearing his name, and reports the building industry flourishing, with the demand for material exceeding the supply.

M. H. Reeves of Boise is at the Wilson. Mr. Reeves is special agent and auditor for several prominent insurance companies of the east, and is here in connection with business for his houses. He has for a number of years been connected with the building up and development of the eastern Oregon company, and regards the movement for the formation of a new state out of portions of eastern Oregon, Washington and western Idaho as impracticable.

S. S. McClure of New York, publisher of one of the best magazines in the world, is in Salt Lake, registered at the Knutsford. Mr. McClure is on his way to San Francisco for the purpose of studying for himself the labor question as existing in that ill-starred city. He also proposes to visit several other western cities prior to his return to New York, among them Idaho capital, Boise, where the trial of Haywood for complicity in the Steunenberg assassination is now in its preliminary stages. The veteran magazine publisher intends to give his personal attention to investigating all forms of lawlessness prevalent in this country, and will at the same time seek to discover the reason for it, as well as a possible remedy. "The speedy and amicable settlement of the recent labor strikes in your city are to me very gratifying," said Mr. McClure, "especially in the case of the late street car difficulty. This was a case of American dealing with American, although in the capacity of capital and labor, which condition should always make it possible for peaceable and satisfactory settlement in any similar controversy; but when the element of foreign labor is introduced, as in the case of the late street car difficulty, it is a different matter. The element of foreign labor is a dangerous factor in the labor question, and it is a pity that the late European system of mayor and aldermen for modern cities is cumbersome and unwieldy. Mr. McClure says there are three forms of lawlessness typified in the city of San Francisco, which are the greatest menace to the civilization of today—the lawlessness of capital, the lawlessness of civic government and the lawlessness of labor unions.

J. Buchanan of Guelph, Canada, is at the Kenyon. Mr. Buchanan's home town is in Wellington county, Ontario, and was named in honor of the reigning British family at the time of its founding, in 1827. "Guelph is a flourishing city," said Mr. Buchanan. "We have extensive grain and piano factories, iron and steel mills and implement factories, and while Canadian towns, as a rule, do not grow as rapidly as American towns, their growth is steady and solid."

W. D. Ross of Los Angeles is in Salt Lake en route homeward from the east by way of Salt Lake, and registered at the Metropole hotel. Mr. Ross is a brother-in-law of Maj. Myton of this city and was joyfully welcomed by the family of the major.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Roth and party of Rochester, New York, registered at the Knutsford hotel, are touring the country in a private car, and are now on their way to California. The party is composed of prominent New York people, and the following personnel: William Rausch, Dr. Zimmer, Charles Welles, J. George Kuebler and George Koch.

William Sells of the Sells-Floto shows, booked for early appearance in Salt Lake, is at the Knutsford. Mr. Sells is preceding the show for the purpose of looking after the show at the end of the presentation, such as securing license, making contracts, etc., which is an extensive business and requires a great deal of experience to successfully conduct.

Ludwig Elsemann, representing Elsemann Bros., of Boston, perhaps one of the largest firms of wool buyers in the United States, is in the city registered at the Knutsford. He is on his regular western woolbuying trip, and this year is accompanied by his nephew, Sidney Elsemann, who is just out of college and is just starting in the business. "This is a bad year for wool dealers," said Mr. Elsemann today. "Manufacturers are not laying in any surplus stock; in fact, they are buying just as little as they can get along with. It looks like the wool market will be very tight. I don't see how next year he has another clip to take care of. If he refuses 19 now and holds his wool a year, and gets 21, he really receives no more than if he had sold for 19 cents. Yes, some will consign. But a man don't have to be a wool grower in order to speculate. He can go into Wall street and lose his money much quicker. We all got caught by the depression in price. When wool was contracted at 23 early in the year, none of us knew this condition of the market. We all got caught. What is the cause? Why, it is largely sentiment, ahead of a presidential year. It is said there is no sentiment in business, but that is a mistake. Public sentiment governs the speculative market, and when uncertainty lurks ahead, speculation is reduced to a minimum. And the fabric makers are as by impulse, cutting purchases down to actual needs, and when prices are forced low enough they will lay in a supply. Meanwhile, it is a bad year for the woolbuyers all over the country."

F. E. Wood of Castle Dale, Emery county, is at the Wilson. Mr. Wood is district attorney for the Seventh judicial district. He reports his district as being highly prosperous, considering the fact that there is no railroad within quite a distance. "Our resources are so numerous and varied," said Mr. Wood, "that any railroad would be able to secure tonnage rates at a distance to justify building in to Castle Dale from Price, which is 33 miles away. We have coal in inexhaustible quantities, and minerals of all kinds, besides sheep and cattle and fruit and cereal products innumerable, and are living in hopes of getting a road soon."

Ernest Kimball of Raymond, Alberta, Canada, is at the Wilson. In speaking of conditions in the north-west provinces Mr. Kimball said that the outlook was especially good for the coming season. "Farmers are now putting in their crops, and the country surrounding the Milk River valley settlements is alive with activity. Since the settlement of the strike over at Fernie, in British Columbia, the coal mining industry is prospering again. A great deal of construction work is going on in northern Alberta," said Mr. Kimball. "The Central Pacific railroad, like your own Union and Central Pacific, is a subsidized road, and owns every yard of railroad for 24 miles along its line. The railroad property happened to be in the mountainous country west of the great plains of eastern Alberta and Assiniboia, and the management made the government a proposition to trade lands, agreeing in that event to take out canals and irrigate the level lands and thus help settle the country with desirable colonists. The government accepted the proposition, and now the road is keeping its word, good and immense canals are being taken out east of Calgary at vast expense. Some Utah contractors did a great deal of the work on one of the canals, and the government is now advertising these irrigated lands for sale at very low prices and terms to induce settlers to come in. The winters are cold and long in that country, but the growing season is quick, and most anything adapted to the temperate zone will mature in northern Canada." Mr. Kimball is a son of Judge Kimball of this city, and a son-in-law of Judge Booth of Provo.
