

Entirely New Feature for Locomotives Is Now Introduced.

REVOLUTION IN ENGINES.

Supt. Dunn Describes a New Departure Upon | the Compound Principle

Heretofore in Vogue.

While Superintendent of Motive Power Dunn of the Short Line was in the East recently, he visited the Baldwin Locomotive Works, where Mr. Vauclain showed him an engine on which is being brought out an entirely new feature of the compound principle. The present Vauclain compound has both the high and the low pressure cylinders outside the saddle and in the same vertical plane, with the pistons from each pair of cylinders attached to a common pair of cyunders attached to a common crosshead. The new device has the high pressure cylinders within the saddle and under the smoke arch, and acting directly on the forward driver axle, which is provided with cranks the same as in the old fachioned engine with as in the old fashioned engine with inside connections. The low pressure cylinders remain outside as in the sim-ple acting engine, with piston connect-ing directly with the forward drivers as usual. There is no common cross head between the inside and outside connections, each acting independently of the other. By this, it is believed that objections in mechanical action which have given trouble in the ordinary com-pound will be avoided.

pound will be avoided. The engine will be ready for trial in a few weeks, and its appearance will be watched with great interest by railroad men for the new application of the com-pound principle, if successful, is likely to work something of a revolution in lo-computer constraints. comotive construction

BUSINESS STAGNATED.

Stocks in a Very Listless Condition-Prices Unimproved.

Daly-West came out with 120 shares at this afternoon's mining call and each of them brought $30 even, which was better than the closing prices of this morning, and the stock was later on posted up at $29.90 bid and $30 asked. But when it comes to speaking of improved prices this marks the stop-ping place, for all the other stocks were ping place, for all the other stocks were as listless as could easily be imagined and what sales were made were chiefly characterized by low price and stag-nant life. These were the purchases: Ajax, 1,600 shares at 77% to 78%. Cari-sa, 8,300 shares at 75 to 76%. Daly-West, 120 shares at 30.00. May Day, 3,600 shares at 92 to 92%. Tesora, 1,000 shares at 9 cents. He found it difficult to pick up any property as there is such a rush that about everything within reach has been gobbled up. However, Mr. Bettys expects to have about 7,000 acres in his control in the Green River country by June. He says that a gallon of Green River oil will yield a full pound of paraffine with only a trace of sulphur. Mr. Bettys found eleven rigs on the ground in Uinta county, Wyoming, with prospect of there being twenty by spring. R. BUSINESS NOTES.

Herman Brisacher began work this morning tearing out the porches of the old time lodging, house on Third South street near the Methodist church, preparatory to erecting the three-story $15,000 brick and stone structure he is to erect on the lot fronting the street in front of the old frame and staff structure. The latter was built back in the 60°s, and was long ago occupied by Mrs. Greenwald as a hotel before she went to the St. James. It is to be used as rear apartments in connection with the new building in front.

DEALEMAN

Suit Involves 147,000 Pounds of Mineral Which Was Alleged Removed from Indian Reservation.

'Peremptory instructions from the court" was moved for by ex-Senator Brown, counsel for the defense in the case of the United States vs Frank Knox, which was tried in Federal court session this morning. Judge Marshall granted the motion, so instructed the jury, and then rendered a verdict for the defendant to be exercised under direction of the court. The trial was held before Judge Marshall and a grand jury composed of J. C. Sharp, J. H. Green, H. F. McCune, J. B. Holm-gren, J. R. Nichols, C. H. Wilson, Eli-as Davis, J. A. Murdock, Thomas Gil-bert, R. B. Brown, C. H. Stevenson, Wm. Houghton.

The case was a suit to recover $2,910 interest since Dec., 1900, and costs, al-leged to be due the plaintiff for glison-ite stated to have been unlawfully taken from the Uncompanyre Indian res-ervation and converted and disposed of by the defendant between December 14, 1900, and January 8, 1901. It appears 14, 1960, and January S, 1961. It appears from the testimony introduced that one L. D. Scherer mined 147,000 pounds of gilsonite and consigned it via Price station to Frank Knox, who advanced money on the shipment, but otherwise had nothing to do with it. The complaint stated that the gilsonite had been mined from the government reservation and consequently suit was brought for recovery of damages. B. R. McDonald, A. Ballanger and Frank Knox, were called upon to testify by the plaintiff, and upon completion of the examination, ex-Senator Brown for the defense moved for peremptory instructions from the court and the mo tion was granted. The case of Lyons vs the Consolidat-ed Mercur Mining company was dis-missed by stipulation.

G. A. Campbell and F. W. Penrose, grand jurors who did not appear yes-terday, were examined this morning as to why they were not present yester-day. Penrose was excused on account of not having known where the court room was and arriving late, and Camp-bell was fined the attachment fees. W H. Dale, John Dixon and A. F. Smith of the petit jury were also find the amount of the attachment fees.

Mr. Robbins says that the lack of hotel accommodations at Green River continues to give one "that tired feeling," and people visit ing the place have to shift for them selves as best they can, even to sleep ing around on the ground or on the sof side of a slab with the fleecy clouds for a counterpane and the moon for a be room lamp. POLICE FORCE TO THE RESCUE.

Both the police and the fire depart ments were called to the rescue of a kitten out in Germantown the other day. The kitten had climbed to the top of a fail walnut tree close to the ouse of a wealthy railroad man, and on reaching its great eminence became so frightened that it refused to come down. So it stayed where it was, and all that night kept up a continuous mewing. Next day the residents of the nouse tried every means of coaxing it down, but all in vain. Another night, the kitten, now half starved, remained in the tree, and sleep was almost im-possible to the people in the house. Next morning a policeman happened to Next morning a policeman happened to wander up the road, and pater-familias was seized with a bright idea. He stimmoned the protector of the weak to the aid of the kitten. The police-man was very fat and the tree was very tall. He saw that his only hope lay in a ladder. This he procured at the mean of the protect at nearest firehouse, the firemen marching to the scene en masse to witness the rescue. They held the ladder while the policeman laboriously climbed up into the tree. The kitten continued to retreat before him until it swayed on the outrmost edge of a limb, where the fat policeman could not follow. He called for a saw, and, holding the branch with one hand, he sawed it off with the other, thus effecting a thrill-ing rescue. The firemen cheered him justily as he descended the ladder with his burden.—Philadelphia Record.
