EVENING NEWS.
 Saturday - September 22, 1877.
PRICE OF GOLD.
 Corrected daily by Denver National Bank.
LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.
 Thermometer 78 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p.m. today. Clear.
 Bounteous. - The grain crops have been so bounteous this season that Utah is fairly running over with the "staff of life."
 Equinoctial. - The sun crossed the equatorial line yesterday, and we are having a little equinoctial weather just now.
 Will French. - Elder George Q. Cannon is expected to preach at the 12th Ward School-house tomorrow evening. Services commence at half past six.
 Explains. - Dr. Plant goes to explain in another column. He has some of the worms in dispute on exhibition. Plant is certainly death on worms.
 Religious Services. - Religious services in the Tabernacle to-morrow afternoon, commencing at two o'clock, and in the meeting houses of the several Wards in the evening.
 Returned. - Mr. C. R. Savage and Dr. F. D. Benedict got back yesterday from a visit to Nevada and California. Mr. Savage returns with a full plethora with fine landscape.
 Jailor's House. - The new house in course of erection adjacent to the City Hall, for the use of the jailor, is nearing completion; it is up to the square and receiving the roof.
 Condolences. - Mr. Joseph T. McEwan and wife, of Provo, have the sympathy of numerous friends in their recent bereavement in lately parting from their infant son, the third upon whom death has laid his hand.
 Releases and Appointments. - We clip the following from the Millennium Star of Sept. 3: "Elder Thos. Barratt is released from the Nottingham to labor in Liverpool, England."
 Bear Lake. - To-day we had a call from Brother C. Merkle, just in from St. Charles, Bear Lake Valley. He purposes remaining in the city over winter. St. Charles has raised fair crops this season, but other settlements of that valley have not fared so well in that respect. It is a general time of health in that northern country.
 The Emma. - The widely noted Emma Mine is about to be operated again. Mr. James Scrimgeour, who has had charge of the property since it fell into the hands exclusively of Mr. Trenor W. Park, has leased it from the gentleman last named. Work will commence upon it in a few weeks, with only a few hands, but it is proposed by the lessee to operate it on an extensive scale next spring and summer.
 No Tidings. - The wife of E. Flygare, whose body was supposed to have been found near Tintic, a few days since, has been unable to obtain further tidings in relation to the matter than was published in the News of yesterday. Superintendent Sharp, in her behalf, telegraphed to various points this morning but without avail. A couple of men to whom he gave passes over the Utah Southern Railroad, left this afternoon for the place indicated by the letters, to hunt for information regarding the matter.
 District Court. - Saturday, Sept. 22.
 David Cooper vs. Alex. Tarbet; James Robbins, Administrator for David Cooper, deceased, substituted as plaintiff in judgment heretofore.
 Joseph Broughton et al. vs. Chicago S. M. Co. on motion of John J. McEwan, plaintiff's attorney, the Court orders default and judgment, the clerk to compute.
 Wells Fargo & Co. vs. Chicago S. M. Co. same order.
 E. & G. Bonkley vs. Geo. F. Munroe; default and judgment, the clerk to compute.

 To ALL LATTER-DAY SAINTS:
 Inasmuch as I was out of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on the 28th of April, 1875, at Cedar City, for apostasy, published in the Deseret News as such, and I have since written many hard things about the people, and authorities of the Church, I hereby come to my senses and acknowledge my follies, and ask forgiveness of all Saints who have been offended by my writings and sayings, for I desire to be restored to the fellowship of Saints, and to be forgiven of my heavenly Father.

 Fatal Shooting Array.
 OAKLEY STATION, Idaho, Sept. 17th, 1877.
 Editors Deseret News:
 Allow me to take the liberty of informing you of a fatal shooting array which occurred in my presence. On the 15th of the month I was in H. Stricker's store on Rock Creek, Boise stage road, when one Wm. Dowdle came into the store in company with three other men, teamsters. Soon after a dispute arose and Dowdle was a disinterested party; but he took the part of one of the other men and drew a pistol and said, "I will kill you, you son of a b-." Norton made no reply. He then drew his pistol on me and swore he would kill me. I got out of his way and his caught him in his hand in time to prevent his firing. He then turned to the clerk of the store, one Chas. Walcott, and said to him, "I will kill you, you son of a b-." The clerk retreated into the back room. After repeating he would shoot every person in the store several times, Dowdle again turned to Norton and said, "I will give you five minutes to leave the store in. If you do not go I will kill you." Norton started and Dowdle followed him and told him to come back or he would shoot him. But Norton had started, and he took leg bail for it, and I think he saved his life by it. Dowdle then went out into the road about twenty yards distant, and sat down and commenced firing a man by the name of Spencer, who was about one hundred yards distant. The first shot took effect under the hollow of the right arm. He then turned and commenced shooting at the store door, Chas. Walcott, the clerk, was standing on the porch and started to run in the house. Meeting two other men in the door he turned around and saw Dowdle with his pistol presented at him. Walcott fired at Dowdle, killing him. Dowdle exclaimed, "Oh God, I am gone!" He then said, "This is my last day out and find. I was a desperado and a bad man." He drew a long breath and expired. I have since heard that Dowdle was once a "Mormon" and that he had a wife and two children living in Franklin, Cache Valley, Utah. If it is so I truly sympathize with her and the little ones, I hope they will not blame the man that fired the shot, as it could not be avoided.
 Yours truly,
 R. H. GILLESPIE.
Dr. Plant Explains.
 In answer to your correspondent in last night's issue and signing himself Daniel Tyler, I beg to say the lady referred to is Mrs. C. Tanne Barratt. She has resided in the town of Beaver for about three years and is well known to the Wilding family. Her husband's name is George Vallantine. The lady signed her maiden name in your office. Trusting to your insertion of this.
 I am, Yours respectfully,
 E. L. PLANT.
 SALT LAKE CITY, September 22, 1877.
Two Scams in Newark.
 Several weeks ago Albert Demond, "the Reformed actor," and J. E. Watson, "the Reformed Drunkard," called at the rooms of the Woman's Christian Temperance Association, 218 and 220 Market Street, Newark, and presented letters of recommendation from the W. C. T. U. of Newark. They were invited to a meeting at the rooms, while Watson ostentatiously professed to have experienced religion and said they placed their trust alone in Christ. The ladies took an interest in their welfare, and the Rev. Leaning Burrows, pastor of the North Reformed Church, introduced them to Mrs. Scheiner, who keeps a boarding house in Orange Street, and there they were trusted for their board. Since that time they have given recitations and made addresses at temperance meetings in all parts of the city, made long prayers in the churches and by these means won the good opinion of the temperance and church people. The ladies were about Demond's classic features and splendid black hair and brilliant eyes, and the pastor looked upon them as talented aids in fighting the rum traffic. They were understood to be a grand benefit entertainment in return for their services to the cause, and they prevailed upon prominent citizens to lend them their influence. They were introduced to the newspaper and job printing offices, and were trusted for bills, dodgers, and advertisements for their benefit, which was announced to take place at Library Hall last evening. They announced a long list of local and New York talent, and advertised that Demond would give imitations of Talvadge, Beecher, and I think of Lister. They were sold, and the fellow pocketed the money. At 7 o'clock last evening about 700 ladies and gentlemen assembled in front of Library Hall, but were unable to gain admittance. It was at length announced that Demond and Watson had fled the city, after collecting nearly all the money for tickets sold, leaving an unpaid bill of $40 with Mrs. Scheiner. They had borrowed various sums of money also, so that it is thought they got away with at least $400. - N. Y. Sun.
 A poor spirit is poorer than a poor parson. A few pounds a year would make a man of the scandal of avarice.
 The sign appears on a fruit stand in New York. "Keep your hands in your pockets while viewing my tempting display."
 Painful question in the Chicago Times: "What shall I profit a man if he gain the whole world and put it in a savings bank?"
 A country schoolmaster's description of a money lender: "He serves you in the present tense, he lends you in the conditional mood, keeps you in the subjunctive, and ruins you in the future."
 "How is it that you have never kindled a flame in any man's heart?" asked a rich lady of her portentious niece. "I suppose, aunt, it's because I'm not a good match; mostly I'm the poor niece."
 "Far be it from us to doubt the word of a brother editor," says the LaCrosse Sun, "we believe there is but one truth here, but when the LaCrosse Times says that the water is so low at the mouth of the Chippewa river that cattails have to employ turtles to tow them over the bar, we feel as though the river must be away and some local minister filling his place."
