Upon investigating the premises the following morning the purse was found in the lot near the house.

GREEN RIVER PRODUCE.

New Eldorado for Home-seekers—Menacing Tramp Nuisance.

Special Correspondence. Price, Carbon Co., Aug. 21.—C. P. Johnson of the Green River country came up to Price yesterday with a wagonload of watermelons and a very fine variety of peaches grown there this year. Incidentally he was looking for a market for something like 1,500 tons of hay which is baled, and for which he had offers here. Unless he can do better at Salt Lake City out of some of the baling camps of the state, the hay will be shipped in here. Baled hay of good quality is worth about $9.50 a ton on the cars here at Price. Mr. Johnson says there is an unusually good crop of fruit of all kinds in the section, and newcomers are rapidly filling up the country, attracted thither by the fine climate and good lands, and for which there is an abundance of water the year around.

TRAMP NUISANCE.

This section of Utah has been infested with more tramps and the worst variety of them in years. All of the smaller towns of this section are over-run and nothing is sure unless doubly locked and guarded, and a watchman placed over the same. The tops of passenger cars are carrying an unusual number of the tourists and hardly a train in or out of Price but what has to stop after getting under way to disembark them from the "blind baggage." They beg, peddle and "panhandle" every one with whom they come in contact, and in more ways than one are a nuisance to the towns between here and Grand Junction to the east and Provo to the west.

Miss Monima Kennedy of Brunswick, Mo., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John A. Crockett, during the summer was given a surprise party last Saturday evening, when a large number of friends came to the house with well filled baskets and spent the evening. She departed for her home today. The McWhorter well at Sunnyside is now down 250 feet, having encountered several small reefs of oil in drilling this depth. It is expected to have a flowing well before a thousand feet is attained. Gigantic claim owners are reported to be getting good prices for their holdings in the Vernal country and across the line in the White River country of Colorado.

Several buckskin claims on the river territory have lately been visiting with the Utes on the Uintah and Uncompaghe reservations. The significance of these visits no white man is able to understand.

Special Correspondence. Holden, Merced Co., Aug. 29.—A farewell party will be given Elder Samuel Bennett this evening; he will leave Sunday next for England, he having been called to perform a mission in that land. He will be an able defender of the truth.

A great many of our citizens are becoming very much discouraged on account of the long continued drouth; crops are lighter in many cases here than before. If prospects are not brighter toward spring, several will hunt better locations.

Threshold begins today; very little grain has been raised here this season. Stock are looking very well so far, but little corn has been raised and there is but little wheat. If prices are good much stock will be disposed of here this fall.

PRESTON, IDAHO.

BRIGHTFUL DEATH OF A BOY.

Result of Coal Oil Explosion—Probable Fatal Poisoning—Runaway.

Special Correspondence. Preston, Oneida Co., Aug. 30.—Thursday morning a 10-year-old grandson of our townsmen, Mr. L. P. Christensen, received injuries from a coal oil explosion that resulted in his death, about 15 hours afterward. He was staying with his aunt, Mrs. John Bowditch, near his farm, about eight miles north of Preston, at the time, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daley, reside at Clarkston, Utah. His aunt was out milking and told him to go to the house and light a fire, and she would soon be home and prepare the morning meal. The little fellow did as requested, but it seems the fire did not burn up to suit him, so he climbed up to a high shelf to the coal oil can and poured some upon the fire. Of course, it exploded, the sound of which brought Mrs. Bowditch to the house and she immediately smothered the flames on the child with a wagon cover, then heroically fought the flames that were making rapid headway on the house, and engaged in her efforts. Turning her attention again to the child, she found that his hands and arms were terribly burned, and the skin crisped on the most of his body. After doing everything possible for the boy with what was at hand, she then was obliged to go two miles for help to bring them to town, her husband having at work about 10 miles away on the head. Returning, they found the poor little fellow had fainted, her part way. They brought him to town, obtained medical assistance, but about 1 o'clock the little sufferer passed away before his grief-stricken parents could reach his bedside. The remains were taken to his home today for burial. His aunt had not used coal oil in lighting fires and the example he followed must have been seen by him at some other place.

ACCIDENTAL POISONING.

Another accident happened yesterday afternoon, about five miles east of Preston, that should be a warning, and that may cost the life of a beautiful 15-year-old girl, Myrtle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gasten Braley. Myrtle was suffering with the tooth ache, and her mother gave her what she supposed was an anti-pain tablet, one that had been in the house for about 15 months. The tablet proved to be of another nature, and very poisonous. The doctor is doing everything possible to counteract the effects of the poison, but is doubtful of the results, as he did not reach her bedside for several hours after the occurrence.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Still another accident happened here in Preston today, the result of a collision and runaway. Mrs. R. Casper, son, with her two daughters, were coming to town with a one horse rig, and in passing they boys on horseback, the horse ridden by one of the boys backed against the buggy, frightening Mrs. Casper's horse, which turned quickly, throwing the buggy over, which released Mrs. Bessie receiving a broken arm and bruised hip, and Mrs. Casper receiving a bruised shoulder, and it is feared internal injuries. They were taken into a neighbor's home where everything possible is being done for them. Miss Leah escaped, fortunately, with but a few slight scratches and bruises.

Boys on horseback standing on the streets should have enough good sense and courtesy to allow passersby to get past them without danger.

Special Correspondence. Rigby, Fremont Co., Idaho, Aug. 20.—Rigby is still growing.
