WEBER STAKE ACADEMY. Popular Institution - Courses of Study Offered.

The Weber Stake academy, the leading independent institution of Ogden is beautifully situated on Jefferson avenue, opposite Lester Park. Within the past year the general appearance of the already elegant building has been greatly improved by the addition of a ice lawn and an iron fence in from

The institution furnishes accomodalons for about three hundred students. Here they are trained not only in the general branches of knowledge, but are also given a thorough training in theology. A well equipped physical and chemical laborate y enables the students to take advanced studies in the physical sciences, a fine collection of natural his-tory specimens give life to the study of natural sciences, and a good library furnishes supplementary reading in all branches. Additions to the library, museum and apparatus, are continually being made by donations from persons who are interested in the growth of the institution. The commercial de-partment is well fitted up so that students taking the commercial course have opportunity to apply the knowldge they receive, and thus become proficient stenographers, typewriters, and bookkeepers.

The courses offered by the academy A two-years' preparatory course. A two-years' commercial course. A one-year course in phonography and typewriting. A four-years' high school course. A three-years' and a four-years' normal course, A three-years' literary course. A one-year missionary course. the missionary course the young men are taught the principles of the Gospel and receive special drill upon the lible passages which substantiate Gos-

The faculty is stronger than for any previous year, eight instructors having been engaged to the growing demands. The attendance the first week was the largest known in the history of the institution. It continued to increase until the smallpox epidemic broke out. Since that time only a few new students have registered. There is, however, one thing connected with this which shows the excellent spirit and the good work of the institution and that is, there has been no falling off in the attendance. have been selzed with the desire to learn and are determined to continue their work as long as it is possible, The spirit of work pervades the whole institution and, judging by its fruits, it is doing much good. This may readly be seen by looking around this county, the neighboring countles, and even the neighboring states where the graduates of the academy are Sabbath school workers, day school workers, and successful business men,

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR HOLIDAYS.

All the city and county schools closed yesterday for two weeks on account o the coming holidays. At most of the schools in the city the afternoon was spent in appropriate exercises com-memorative of Christmas and the children, had a Christmas tree beautifully decorated, and small presents for each of the smaller children which were distributed by Santa Claus,

CONDITION OF COUNTY SCHOOLS. Prof. Wilson, superintendent of the county schools has just completed his first visit to all of the schools and reports everything working in harmony and progressing very satisfactorily The attendance this year is very large. The health of the districs seeme to be good excepting in West Weber, where school was closed on account of smallpox. PROGRESS OF VACCINATION.

Up to the present time there have been vaccinated 2,067 of the students of the city public schools out of an enrollment of 3,800. Drs. Allen and Dixon, the cer lfying physicians are working hard to have all students vaccinated during the next week, so that they may be able to attend school again on January

FARMERS AND BEET GROWERS In Favor of Grange Organization Sentenced for Petty Larceny.

Special Correspondence. Provo, Utah, Dec. 22.-At the meeting of beet growers, held last evening, reports from the canvassing committee appointed to visit the beet farmers were received, showing a slight increase in the acreage previously promised, although the report was very incomplete owing to many of the committee not being present. From the reports furnished it was decided that 900 acres could safely be guaranteed, provided a crushing station could be secured for the district, and that this acreage could be greatly increased next year J. P. R. Johnson was elected a member of the committee previously appointed to confer with Manager Cutler in regard to securing a crushing station. The idea was advanced that there is good beet land in Provo valley, and that if a crushing station was located, near

Provo, the Provo valley people could deliver their beets here to advantage and would grow a large quantity of The meeting also considered the question of organizing a farmers union for the purpose of discussing the best meth-ods of raising fruit and farm produce, and the best and most profitable way of marketing the same.

Mr. T. J. Schoffeld read a letter from the secretary of the Illinois State Grange giving instructions for the organization of subordinate and State granges, and stating that further information would be supplied from the National Grange organization, A lar setting forth the aims and objects of the grange was also read.

A letter from the Orange-Judd Farm-er, directed to Mr. Schofield, in answer to a question as to the highest price paid for beets in the United States this year, stated that, so far as it was known, $5 per ton was the highest price paid. Some of the factories had paid $4 per ten for beets containing 12 per cent saccharine, with an increase of 25 cents for each additional per cent of saccharine contained. Chairman Knudsen spoke in favor of organizing a subordinate grange and work for the organization of other subordinate granges, sufficient in number to obtain a State organization, and through the State grange become affiliated with the national organization. An

LAWYERS IN A BAD PLIGHT.

Close of the Sensational Case of Minors Against Attorneys. . Special Correspondence.

Richfield, Sevier Co., Dec. 21.—The sensational case of Blanch I, Jones et al vs T. G. Schroder and J. B. Jennings was on before Judge Johnson all day yesterday and continued through the night until 2 o'clock this morning. This is the case in which plaintiff charges that defendants colluded together to defraud the plaintiffs, who are minors out of some one hundred and eighty acres of land and some city property, giving in exchange therefor a city lot house and plaining mill at Salina, which plaintiffs allege was of far less value than the property of plaintiffs' ex-changed therefor, and that the ex-change was made through fraud. Defendants' evidence has tended to deny all the material allegations of the com-plaint, and to show that the exchange as fair and honest. During the course of the argument of Attorney Houtz for plaintiffs, it developed on investigation that there was no court held at Richfield upon the 23rd day of July, 1896, the date upon which defendants claimed a court proceeding was had here, authorizing defendant Jennings to act as guardian ad litern for the minor plaintiffs herein. The springing of this point caused quite a sensation in the court room, and even at the late stage of the case, after both parties had rested and the argu-ments had begun, the judge permitted to make it a success.

SALT LAKE BESTS PROVO.

Lively Battle on the Garden City Gridiron Yesterday.

College Team Won by a Score of Eleven to Five-Ball in the Evening.

On the Provo gridiron yesterday, the Salt Lake Business college football team met and defeated the Provo team. The contest was far from being uninteresting, the score being close and small. The Garden City team, although it has been organized but a short time, put up a very sharp battle and at times it looked as though victory for them was quite probable. Had the Provoites discovered in the first half what they did in the secand half of the game, the result might have been the reverse. It was that the Salt Lake team is weak in center and it was through that position that the Provo warriors managed to dash and make their only touchdown. The goal was missed

The Sait Lake team made two touchdowns in the first half, and one goal, making a score of eleven to five in their favor. In the evening a dance and supper was given in honor of the victors. The teams lined up as follows:

Where Did the Money Go?

Says the Denver Post: Here is something interesting concerning the late Gans-McGovern fight. The following telegram was received from a friend of the writer: "Look up a colored gambler who left Chicago with $10,000. He has not returned." The writer took the matter up and found the person referred to to be the colored gambler, King. He bet what money he could on McGovern and left the next day after the fight for Topeka, Kan. The colored sports about town were amazed when King sprung his "roll" on them. more money than many of them had ever seen. King also won $600 in a crap game before he left town. Now comes the sequel to the whole proceedings. King wired back to Chicago that he had bet his money and could not get his winnings. That kind of looks as if the colored gemmen knew a thing or wo and that the biter was bitten. From Chicago advices King evidently intends to hang on the the money entrusted to him by his Chicago admirers. And still they say the fight was all that was What Terry Has Earned. Let us stop and reflect on the earning power of a fighter when he is strictly on his merits. Terry McGovern, that wonderful little fighting machine from Brooklyn, has earned almost twice salary of President McKinley during the past twelve months. McGovern has received $70,000 in purses and gate ceipts from fights and about $25,000 more as profits from his theatrical ven-ture in a play called "The Bowery After Dark." This is a big sum of money to eary by a young man hardly 21 years of age. Besides that Terry owns some valuable real estate in Brooklyn. He has bought a home not only for himself but also for his mother, sister and brother. All his family has been looked after in good shape.
