

THE NEWS' SUPPLEMENT.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1865.

[CONCLUDED.]

IT'S NONE OF MY BUSINESS.

BY MRS. HARRIET E. STOWE.

"I trust I am always ready to do my duty on my own field. But I believe in order, sir, order; in every one sticking to his business. Now we have engaged you, sir, to attend us—keep up our preaching and weekly lecture, and prayer meeting, and really, sir, I don't see how you can burden yourself with this work without taking the strength you need from your main business.

"Mr. Pettisoll," said Mr. Service, "I do not consider myself in the light of a man to take care of you, merely; I am the shepherd and servant of Christ, and my duty is to all wandering souls whom I am able to reach and care for; but if I thought of nothing but your interest and that of your children, I would gladly do twice as much as I do now for this population; it is the only way I can save the children and youths of my parish from corruption."

"I don't know how it is with other people," said Mr. Pettisoll, "but I don't think my children will wish to associate with factory hands."

"I don't think you can answer for your boys or for mine, Mr. Pettisoll; boys are more attracted by boys than by fathers and mothers, and if they are gay, lively fellows who keep some kind of jolly thing going, they care very little what station they belong to."

"I shall forbid my sons all such associations," said Mr. Pettisoll; "and I should like to see any of them dare to disobey me."

"I should not," said Mr. Service; "nevertheless I fear they will."

"Well, perhaps I may feel it my duty to give something," said the deacon.

"If you would only give us that lot of land this side the factory, to put our hall on," said Mr. Service.

"Why, Mr. Service, you ain't up in business matters," said Mr. Pettisoll, with a patronizing smile; "that lot of land is rising in value ten per cent. a year."

"For all that, I think it would be your best investment to give it for this cause. It is in one sense far more our business to take care of these factory people than it is the business of the owners of the factory. They do not live here. They have no children here. They will not, in their persons or in their families, suffer as we shall, from leaving them to go to ruin."

"Who wants to leave them to go to ruin?" said Mr. Pettisoll. "Can't they come to our church, if they want to?—There are free seats in the gallery, without our going down to build a place for them."

"But they won't come to our church, and experience has shown that they will come to a place appropriated to them alone. Our poor little room is crowded every Sunday, and some go away for want of room."

"Well, Mr. Service, I'll think of it, and send you something, though I must say I don't think as you do. If the people won't attend the stated means of grace, I really don't see the need of going down on our knees to them—it's their own affair after all."

"The Lord Jesus didn't think it our affair whether we went to destruction or not," said Mr. Service. "He did much more, one would think, than his part—We were enemies, and He left heaven for us, lived poor all his life, died the worst of deaths; and is He to do all this for us and we feel that we are not to lift a finger for each other?"

"Well, well, Mr. Service, I'll think of it, and let you know. I'll subscribe something," said Mr. Pettisoll, and so the minister rose and left.

"He is a good man, my dear," said Jedediah Pettisoll. "I believe Mr. Service is a very good man—but I doubt about his orthodoxy."

"Why, my dear," said Mrs. Pettisoll, "what makes you doubt his orthodoxy?"

"Oh! these modern young ministers, with their humanitarian notions; want to carry the world on their shoulders, but they're dumb on the doctrines. He says he believes them, but he don't preach them. Haven't heard a sermon on divine sovereignty, and man's dependence since he's been here. If he had more faith in that he would be quieter."

"I think," said Mr. Pettisoll, "what he said about our children is ridiculous. I'd risk our Johnny anywhere—poor little fellow, he went to bed with the headache, early this evening."

The fault was, that "our Johnny," at the moment these words were spoken, was far enough from his bed. He was in fact,

ALL PERSONS HAVING WOOL

TO CARD

Can be accommodated at my Mill, North Temple Street, one Block East of the Temple Block, and North of President Young's premises.

THE wool must be washed clean and be picked,
and there should be one pound of grease
brought to every 7 pounds of wool, and the wool should be brought to the mill to be greased, as it can be done more evenly there.

I understand that there was considerable dissatisfaction expressed last season against the Carder whom I employed, because of the wool being poorly carded, cut up, etc., though he proposed to be an excellent carder; this season I intend to remedy this, and if good work cannot be done I will stop the machine; for I believe that justice ought to be done to customers.

Give us clean, well-picked wool and we will give you good rolls. My price for carding is 12 1/2 cents per pound in gold or its equivalent, or one-sixth of the wool.
