

ANSO DOWN BUT WILL RISE AGAIN

This Prediction Made by Tim Murnane as to Old Ball Player.

AN IDOL OF THE DIAMOND.

Was a Headliner in the National League Bill of Fare for Many Years—Now "Broke."

(By Tim Murnane.)
The innocent child given but momentary over a broken egg. Man given over a lost friend. The lover of baseball graves over the downfall of a great player, and all bow their heads over a shattered idol.

A few days ago the wires sent out the news from a clubhouse in Chicago, "Anso is broke." The old Roman of the ball field was cornered by a howling band of creditors and acknowledged manfully, "I am busted."

A. C. Anson was the idol of the ball field for 20 years or more. The school boy might be at a loss to name the president of the United States, but never failed to name Anson as the great ball player. Up to the day of his fall, a conscientious worker for those who employed him, and in a position to get everything he wanted, he was at the head of the parade.

Too bad, but it's a fact that man is usually judged by his fall. Anso never was handicapped by sickness, had the conditions and tools to work out a successful career, and after reaching the heights where he could see a good old-fashioned finish, he kept on working the close and saw the flag drop over the other less worthy but bounding over the finish line to the music of the cheering throng.

I will predict that the old war horse will come back to the diamond in a better standing with those who forced him into that statement, "I am busted."

Anso's opportunity came with the Chicago League in 1888. Left with a bunch of youngsters, Anson managed to give Chicago a fast article of baseball, and was the headliner of the National league bill of fare. He had then been playing professional ball for 20 years and should have figured on being a veteran end of the game, but was so wrapped up in playing that he remained so.

James A. Hart went to Chicago from Boston in the fall of '88 and was clever enough to see an opening for a clever business man. He fully enjoyed Anson's play, and the manager, who was a close friend of Anson, saw the value of having Anson as a ball player.

When Anso saw that Charlie Comiskey had done, he must feel like a stranger. Anso had the reputation of being a ball player, while the old Comiskey was there strong at the first and never allowed the white to slip an eye after he got in a position to play the cards. As a ball player Anso was a first class player, and a lot of boys as ever broke into the game, but Anso was a first class player.

Anso remained too long at the plow, while Comiskey was born thinking Comiskey always played a weak hand strong, and a strong hand weakly, while Anso always wanted you to think he couldn't lose. The trade-mark for baseball in Chicago should have read "Two Old Romans—Anson and Comiskey."

Anso had no sentiment, while Comiskey was imprudent with the most delicious ingredient that comes from the heart of man.

It was just 20 years ago that John M. Ward, Ed Hannon and two or three other players worked out the plans for the players league campaign. It was during the tour of the Spalding baseball party on their tour around the world, and the season of 1888 was given up to getting the players into line and form solid companies.

New York, Feb. 1.—Twenty members of the Australian amateur rugby football team, en route to California, were today in the city for California. They arrived today from Havre. Within an hour after they had landed they were in the city for California.

There was nothing for Comiskey to gain by leaving St. Louis, but he was anxious to get back to his beloved Chicago, and he was anxious to get back to his beloved Chicago, and he was anxious to get back to his beloved Chicago.

knocks for the way he acted in the days when they were on for themselves, Comiskey remained one year, and was the heavy administrator, and was the heavy administrator, and was the heavy administrator.

This one act will show that Comiskey was full of real sentiment and the idea of the baseball world and helped to fill his treasury box with real gold.

WHAT COMISKEY DID.
After all these years Comiskey has put down the very ground in Chicago where the professional players played home games, and will soon erect a monument to the memory of the great ball player.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.
The event of tonight will be the wedding of Miss Mary Moore and Jasper McCaskell, which takes place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Newhouse. The ceremony will be performed at 8 o'clock with Father Kelly of the Catholic cathedral officiating, and the bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Georgiella Moore, as maid of honor, the Misses McCaskell, cousins of the groom, as bridesmaids, and Mrs. Arthur Bird, Mrs. Louis McCaskell, Mrs. J. J. Campbell and Mrs. Frank Judge as matrons of honor. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George McCaskell, and O. J. Salisbury. Over a hundred invitations have been issued, and after the reception the young couple will leave for a trip to the coast, and to Honolulu, returning here later to make their home.

A delightful affair of last night was the dancing party given by the members of the eighth B class of the school. The hall was beautifully decorated in the school and class colors, and about 800 guests were present to enjoy the pleasant event. The chairs for the evening were given by Mrs. William Sperry, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Ellersbach, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Clavson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Coombs, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Forbes and Miss Belle Quinn.

Miss Rachel Snow, whose marriage to J. Waldo Kingsbury will take place tomorrow, will be guest of honor this evening at a party to be given by the Misses Jean and Florence Angell.

A number of well known Provo people came up last night for the performance of the "Red Mill" at the Salt Lake theatre. Among them, Miss Mary Williams, Jessie Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Mangum and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Allen.

A number of the Utah legislators were seen in the stalls at the theatre last night.

Parties are being planned for the rendition of "Elizah" at the theatre on Friday night.

Mrs. Susa Y. Gates is in Logan for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Murphy gave a theater party last night for Mr. Murphy's sister, who is here from Iowa for a short stay.

Mrs. Paul C. Potter entertains at a bridge tea this afternoon at the post in honor of her guest, Miss May Slay. San Francisco, four tables being played and a number of others coming in to tea, including the bachelor officers of the company, who are developing the queen's carnations and ferns.

Mrs. Robert Glendenning entertains the bridge tournament this afternoon.

Mrs. Glendenning was hostess at a bridge party yesterday given in honor of Mrs. J. H. Sears of Chicago, the decorations being in pink and white carnations and ferns, and the hostess being assisted by Mrs. C. R. Pearson and Mrs. W. C. Alexander. Five tables were played and prizes won by William H. Cunningham, Mr. J. R. Pearson, Mrs. W. E. Pife, Mrs. Horace Middleton and Miss Edith Shearman, with a guest going to Mrs. Sears.

A delightful affair of last night was the social given by Prof. J. J. McCallister and the Choral society in honor of the members of the Cambrian society, the event taking place at Christensen's hall, and music and refreshments being features of the occasion. A large number were present to enjoy the pleasant affair.

Dr. and Mrs. Jack Keith gave a staid party at the theatre last night.

Mrs. W. W. Riter has gone to Los Angeles, where she will join her mother, Mrs. Priscilla Jennings, for a stay of several weeks.

Mrs. W. H. McIntyre entertained at an informal bridge tea yesterday in honor of Mrs. Bersbach of Chicago, the decorations being in white marguerites and ferns, and the hostess being assisted by Mrs. Fred Dorn. Prizes went to Mrs. M. H. Whitney, Mrs. H. N. Mayo, Mrs. W. H. Child and Mrs. John Dorn.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McGurran will return today from Riverside.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Moyle have returned from their eastern trip.

The members of the University club will give a musical at the club on Thursday night, the entire opera of "Pagliacci" to be given on the phonograph.

Mrs. W. P. Kiser entertains tomorrow in honor of Miss Katherine Geddes.

MEETING OF SPORTSMEN
FOR ORGANIZATION
There will be a mass meeting at the Commercial club this evening of sportsmen for the purpose of organizing the Salt Lake County Sportsmen's association. H. B. Lyman, chairman of the committee appointed at the recent convention to organize, has issued the call for the meeting and a big attendance is expected. Every sportsman in the county is heartily invited to be present at this evening's gathering and help boost the association. The new organization will be expected to work with the same ardor and do all in their power to see that the laws pertaining to game are enforced.

TOURNAMENT IS POSTPONED.
The Y. M. C. A. wrestling tournament has been postponed one week and will be held on Friday, Feb. 12, instead of the coming Friday, which was the date set. There is considerable interest in the event in the contests and they promise to be good ones.
