

CONTESTED ELECTION.
TERRITORY OF UTAH.

Geo. B. Maxwell vs. Geo. Q. Cannon.
Argument of Maxwell & Cannon.
Counsel for Maxwell.

Under the first and only notice taken deposit, no depositions were taken. In not a single instance is any notice attached to the contestant's depositions. No other notice to take depositions appears in the record, or was ever served, excepting only that notice which the depositions of G. D. Handy, on page 9, and of J. B. McKean, on page 12 of the record, were taken. That notice did not state the name of the officer before whom the depositions were to be taken. On that ground Mr. Cannon's counsel objected to the taking of the deposition, referring to the defect in the notice as an exhibit, which exhibit, for some reason, the officer, or some one else, has seen fit to suppress. The depositions of V. A. Wheeler, Samuel Bee, J. A. Thompson, M. V. Ashbrook, Jesse Buckner, John Leatham, C. A. Allen, W. Gammon, S. E. Crutcher, on pages 13 to 17 of the record, do not purport to have been taken pursuant to any written notice, nor do they purport to have been taken in the presence of the officer, or were taken. They appear to have been taken between the 20th and 28th days of December, 1912. For the reasons public dates his certificate on the last mentioned, and on page 13 Mr. Wheeler says that he served the notice to take depositions upon Frank Tilford, one of Mr. Cannon's attorneys, who had previously informed him that he was authorized to accept the notice. But Frank Tilford, a witness for the sitting member, testifies on page 83, that the notice served upon him by Mr. Wheeler was a verbal notice, that it was not accepted by him as sufficient; that he did not then or at any time waive any of the formalities of notice required by the act of Congress, nor the time required by that act; that before this time he had more than once informed Mr. Wheeler, in direct language, that he would not waive on behalf of Mr. Cannon anything required by the act of Congress; that this information was given to Mr. Wheeler in answer to his request that he (Tilford) would enter into a stipulation to take testimony upon less than the statutory notice. There was no examination of any of the named witnesses. To the next deposition, which is that of Abraham Taylor, commencing on page 17 of the record, objection was made on the ground that no notice of taking the deposition had been served on the sitting member. The next witness for the contestant is W. Mansfield, whose deposition commences on page 23 of the record. This deposition was, like Mr. Handy's, (page 9) taken before W. P. Appleby, a register in bankruptcy. The same objection was made to this deposition as to that of Mr. Handy. And, besides, it was stipulated (see page 23) that objections might be taken by either party to any question or answer at any time before the hearing before the committee. In this witness examination of all the remaining witnesses for the contestant were examined after the date of these depositions. Their testimony is to be found on pages 29 to 61 of the record.

On Monday, March 23, 1914, by virtue of the stipulation, the sitting member served on the contestant and fled with the committee his objections to all the questions and the answers in each and every one of these depositions. These various objections apply to and exclude all of the depositions offered by the contestant, without a single exception. There is, therefore, no admissible proof in this case introduced on behalf of the contestant. There is no proof tending to establish any of the grounds of contest specified in his notice, or urged in the argument of his counsel. This disposes of the case before you. I might have demanded a dismissal of the contest on this ground. But I submit, gentlemen of the committee, that even if these so-called depositions were, as they are not, admissible evidence in the case, you would be able to find, in their biased, hostile and discredited hearsay statements, no sufficient proof of the charge of polygamy made by Mr. Maxwell in his notice of contest.
