

An unused horse may "eat his head off" before a buyer is found—unless the owner "believes in advertising."

Almost every train that comes into the city brings people who will eagerly read the board and room ads.

WATCH THESE FIVE MEN—SIMPKINS, ORCHARD, HAYWOOD, MOYER AND PETTIBONE.

And Then He Named Simpkins, Orchard, Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone.

CLAIMS CONSPIRACY PROVED.

"They Killed Steunenberg to Show to the World That They Never Forgot An Enemy."

It Was the W. F. M. and Not the Pinkertons or Mine Owners That Sent Attorneys to Defend Orchard.

Boise, Idaho, July 26.—Watch these five men—Simpkins, Orchard, Haywood, Moyer, Pettibone—Steunenberg is to die in 30 days! Orchard and Moyer are moving to the scene! They are moving to the scene!

This was the dramatic climax reached this morning in the Haywood trial, when for an hour and a half Senator Borah making the last argument in the Haywood case, had woven craftily on the meshes of his net. He theme was conspiracy—the essence of the case of the state of Idaho. It was only to show that Harry Orchard was only the tool of Haywood when he killed the former governor.

"Now watch this quintet," he cried triumphantly, when having laid his foundation, piece by piece, using only the testimony of witnesses for the defense itself, picking it out from the mass of mixed material, he turned to the jury and said: "I have now shown you the conspiracy of the Western Federation of Miners."

The argument of the morning centered in Caldwell, each flash showing an officer, a friend or a member of the Western Federation of Miners the confidant and intimate of Harry Orchard.

CRUSH TO HEAR BORAH.

As early as 7 o'clock the courthouse doors were besieged by hundreds of people, many of them coming from the surrounding country, to hear the speech of the man who had been so long and so loudly proclaimed as the greatest of the great.

Inside the court, as the next to the last day of the trial began, Haywood sat surrounded by his family. His invalid wife, whose helpless condition and pallid face have attracted so much attention and sympathy, sat immediately at his right and next to her was the gray-haired mother, who on yesterday could not restrain the tears which fell from her eyes as Clarence Darrow of Chicago made the last plea for the life of her son. The prisoner's daughter and sister were also in the family group.

BORAH BEGINS.

Senator Borah began by reviewing briefly the points made in the opening four of his address to the jury last night. He said he would go briefly over the trial of the murder of Gov. Steunenberg and harking back over some of the most important incidents developed in the testimony.

"I hardly need to tell you," he said, "that the Pinkertons had nothing to do with the assassination of Frank Steunenberg. That is one of the most absurd of the many absurd things brought into this case by the learned counsel of the defense."

Senator Borah in laying the foundation for his argument of conspiracy pointed out that Orchard, Moyer and Pettibone were fresh from the Western Federation of Miners who regarded Steunenberg as an enemy. Then he touched upon the fact that Moyer, an officer of the Western Federation of Miners, in testifying for the defense, admitted that he agreed with Orchard to deliver Orchard's wife when Orchard wished to desert her.

PETTIBONE'S SILENCE OMINOUS.

"Harry Orchard left Denver with crime in his heart. The impelling, compelling force that drove him to the murder of Steunenberg was the desire of Pettibone to help Orchard pack his utensils of murder in his trunk. Why is Pettibone not here to deny it? His silence is a confession of his guilt. It is the only absolute corroboration of Orchard."

Taking up the question of the personal motive the defense had urged against Orchard, Senator Borah showed to the jury the deed by which Orchard had parted absolutely and forever with his interest in the Hercules mine 14 months before Gen. Merriam and his negro troops marched into the Coter d'Alene.

"This deed," he said, "the letters, telegrams and all the other evidence not subject to being tampered with in this case corroborate the fact that Orchard was not only a man who had been in the Coter d'Alene, but that he had been in the Coter d'Alene."

CLAIMS ORCHARD IS CORROBORATED.

Senator Borah took up one by one the witnesses for the defense who had said Orchard was innocent and proved a criminal conspiracy that they had covered and protected Orchard up to the time he confessed and implicated Haywood.

Among these were "Bill" Eustacy, the member of the Western Federation of Miners, who heard Orchard's threats and saw Orchard telephoned from Caldwell before the murder.

W. F. Davis, the president of the Western Federation of Miners, local who heard Orchard and who swore against Steunenberg and who swore the passing of the armed and masked

CONDUCT OF CRIMINAL TRIALS

Justice Davis of N. Y. Supreme Court Compares American and English Methods.

DISPARAGEMENT OF FORMER.

Chief Differences in Securing Jury and Absence of Appeals in England—Would Have Judge Select Jury.

New York, July 26.—A London dispatch to the Times quite lengthily quotes Justice Vernon M. Davis of the New York supreme court, upon the difference between American and English criminal trials, to the disparagement of the former. Justice Davis, it will be remembered, presided at the second trial of Nan Patterson, the chorus girl, for the murder of Caesar Young, the turfman. His remarks follow:

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

CONDUCT OF CRIMINAL TRIALS

Justice Davis of N. Y. Supreme Court Compares American and English Methods.

DISPARAGEMENT OF FORMER.

Chief Differences in Securing Jury and Absence of Appeals in England—Would Have Judge Select Jury.

New York, July 26.—A London dispatch to the Times quite lengthily quotes Justice Vernon M. Davis of the New York supreme court, upon the difference between American and English criminal trials, to the disparagement of the former. Justice Davis, it will be remembered, presided at the second trial of Nan Patterson, the chorus girl, for the murder of Caesar Young, the turfman. His remarks follow:

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

"The difference between the two trials is that in the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court. In the English trial the jury is selected by the judge, while in the American trial the jury is selected by the court."

HOLY GRAIL OF ARTHURIAN LEGEND POSSIBLY FOUND.

London, July 26.—The Express prints a story of the discovery near Glastonbury abbey of a glass vessel of beautiful workmanship and apparently of great antiquity, which one of the discoverers believes is the holy grail of the Arthurian legend.

MISS MUSSEY LEFT FOR HOME TODAY.

So Say Dispatches from San Francisco—Father Has No Word.

HER BRAVERY, TALK OF COAST.

Salt Lake May Soon Hear from Her Own Lips About the Terrible Accident at Sea.

(Special to the "News.")

San Francisco, July 26.—Miss Blanche Mussey leaves this city today for her home in Salt Lake. She has apparently recovered from her terrible experience Saturday night in being a passenger on the ill-fated Columbia. Although tossed around on the sea after the ship disappeared Miss Mussey kept her wits and when she managed to join two others on a raft she sang old folksongs to cheer her companions. This in the face of death has shown her to be a heroine of the most admirable type.

Before the ship sank below the waters she managed to put on a lifebelt but had no time to add any wrap over her night robes, aside from a thin shirt waist. She seemed to notice the cold and strain less than any of the little party clinging to the raft when a lifeboat discovered it and rescued its exhausted cargo.

HARD TRIP FOLLOWS.

She rode nearly one hundred miles in a box and 400 miles in a day coach to reach San Francisco and at the end of this tiresome journey still retained her wonderful good nature and spirits. This won her many friends and those who were led to forget their ugly surroundings right after the sinking of the ship by her sweet voice raised in song will never forget Blanche Mussey from Salt Lake. After a good night's rest she was brighter than ever and all the more anxious to start for her home, parents and friends. The one thing worrying her is the disappearance of Miss W. White, her cousin. In speaking of the accident Miss Mussey says she remembers going down and wondering if she would ever reach the surface again. When she did she floated around for a long time among floating debris and occasionally a lifeless body would strike her in passing. She explains she was too busy looking out for lifeboats to notice these things.

Mr. Mussey had received no word from his daughter before 2 o'clock today and does not believe she will start for home without first notifying him. The family has been expecting a message since early morning and it is probable some word will reach this city this afternoon.

INSANE ASYLUM LANDS.

Acting Secretary of the Interior Approves Selection of 10,029 Acres.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., July 26.—The acting secretary of the interior today approved selections of public lands by the state of Utah for the insane asylum at Panguitch.

Eleven thousand four hundred and forty acres in the Salt Lake district and 189 acres in the Vermilion district.

H. H. ROGERS ILL.

New York, July 26.—H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil company, is now at his residence in Fairhaven, Mass. He is not seriously ill. After a brief rest Mr. Rogers will return to New York and resume his business duties.

The Pioneers' First Swim In Salt Lake

Sixty Years Ago Today, Illustrated, forms one of the features of the Saturday News.

Another interesting article will be a Description of a Trip Over the Western Pacific Railroad—Illustrated.

Other features will be as follows:

Man Who Runs The Biggest Catering Business In The World—Illustrated.

The Other Side of Russian Prison Life—Illustrated.

Duchess of Marlborough Arrested In Her Work For Babies.

English Humorist Turns Socialist.

Daypart's Cartoon—Starved To Save Money.

Carpenter on The Islands of Malin—Illustrated.

Electrical Devices Invented by Salt Lake—Illustrated.

STRIKE AGITATORS ARE NOT WANTED

Will Not Be Allowed to Speak or Hold Meetings in Streets Of Eveleth, Minn.

CITIZENS CONDEMN W. F. M.

Protection is Assured to All Men Who Desire to Return to Work in the Mines.

Duluth, July 26.—The Fayal and the Adams and Spruce mines at Eveleth, two of the largest properties upon the range, will resume Monday, and the men who want to return to work may do so then.

A large mass meeting of citizens was held at Eveleth last night. Resolutions were adopted condemning the Western Federation of Miners and assuring protection for all men who desired to return to the mines.

Strike leader Peterella left Hibbing today for Eveleth, and Acting Pres. Mahoney and Acting Secy. Kirwan of the Western Federation of Miners were also expected there from Denver today. The chief of police at Eveleth said today that strikers would not be allowed to make street speeches or hold street meetings. At Chisholm 200 foreigners who have been idle all day went under guard to the mines.

At Hibbing all was quiet and matters are progressing satisfactorily. In all strikes police larger crews were employed today.

The federation purchased a store at Hibbing yesterday and is running it for the benefit of the strikers. They tried unsuccessfully to purchase goods from traveling salesmen from Duluth. They were unable even to buy cigars.

Peterella went to the Stevenson mine yesterday and organized about 100 Italians, but immediately after he left Hibbing undid all of his work. They explained conditions more fully to the men who were ignorant of what they were doing, and almost to a man they deserted the federation.

There was a report at Hibbing today that some men had been frightened away from the Monroe mine dump and a deputy sheriff left to investigate. It is said both Socialist planks will be carried both Hibbing and Eveleth Sunday morning.

COL. AYRES MAKES NO COMMENT ON RETIREMENT

New York, July 26.—While Lieut. Col. Charles G. Ayres, who was officially notified of his retirement from the army yesterday, has announced that he will, as a soldier, accept the order of the commander-in-chief without comment, it is known that his lawyer, Col. Mann Price, has advised him to proceed further.

Col. Price said: "The picture of mental and physical vigor, still the diagnosis of the army surgeons indicates that he has Bright's disease in an advanced and incurable stage. He has advised Col. Ayres that if he did not concur in this diagnosis, to have an examination made by competent physicians in private life, and if they diagnosed it as Bright's disease, to submit the facts to the war department and the president. I have not heard from Col. Ayres since and do not know what he has determined to do. I am confident, however, that if a competent board of physicians should make a report adverse to the findings of the army surgeons, the president would give the matter due consideration and would reinstate Col. Ayres."

Mrs. Ayres in a lengthy statement today confirmed the stories already published of the events leading up to her husband's retirement. She told of the alleged persecution of her son, who is a cadet at West Point, and how her interest for him led to resentment upon the part of the commander-in-chief. She told of the overcoat incident at West Point in which her daughter, Emily, was involved, of her further protests to army officers, and how she was accused of giving it publicity and was then debarrated from entering the government post.

Mrs. Ayres also announced that she would bring suit against several West Point officers for conspiracy and slander in order to bring the entire matter before the courts.

NEW METHOD OF SUPERVISING ARMY POST EXCHANGES

Washington, July 26.—A new method of supervising the post exchanges at various army posts is contemplated in an amendment to the army regulations which has just been issued. Hereafter the exchange council will consist of the officer in charge of the exchange and the commanding officer of each organization stationed at the post and which may participate in the operations of the exchange.

The new method, each organization participating in the exchange is to have representation in the council, a condition not provided for by the existing regulations.

The post exchange has supervision of the sale of various articles, trinkets, light drinks, etc., which the soldiers may purchase.

MRS. LESLIE GUILTY.

Gets Five Years' Penal Servitude for Defrauding People.

London, July 26.—Mrs. Josephine Leslie was today found guilty of the charge of defrauding people. She was sentenced to five years' penal servitude. It was her counsel's contention that her husband, a Pierpont Morgan and declare he guided her investments.

The hearing Mrs. Morgan testified that she did not know the prisoner and never had any dealings with her.

Counsel for Mrs. Leslie stated in court that the prisoner was a woman of high social position and that her husband was a man of high social position.

TO FIGHT RAILROAD FIGHT

Montgomery, Ala., July 26.—The bill to appropriate $50,000 for fighting the fight made by the railroads on state rate regulation laws was passed by the HOUSE TODAY, AND NOW GOES TO THE GOVERNOR, WHO IS EXPECTED TO SIGN IT AT ONCE.

The Alabama situation is somewhat similar to that in North Carolina, excepting that Gov. Comer is not attempting to violate any of the orders of the courts. He is, however, endeavoring to let the matter be fought out in the courts.

FRIGHT AND EXPOSURE.

Render Two Men Beating Their Way On Train Unconscious.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 26.—E. R. Bailey, a hotel clerk, and George Elliott, an actor of New York City, were taken from the top of the Twentieth Century Limited train when it arrived here early today, unconscious from fright and exposure. They say they climbed to the top of one of the sleepers as the train was pulling out of Buffalo, not realizing the terrible exposure and perilous nature of the trip.

After being restored to consciousness, the men were arrested. They said they were without money and were trying to beat their way to Chicago. Both were well dressed.

MAGILLS IN CLINTON.

Arrival Arouses Great Indignation and Fund for Prosecution Raised.

Clinton, Ill., July 26.—The arrival in Clinton of Fred H. Magill and his wife, Fay Graham Magill, arrested on charges of kidnapping, has aroused the citizens of the town to such an extent that within six hours $4,000 was raised to aid in prosecution of the man and woman who are accused of kidnapping. The death of Mrs. Pet Magill, Magill's first wife, was the cause of the kidnapping.

R. H. HALSEY KILLED.

Oshkosh, Wis., July 26.—Richard H. Halsey, president of the Oshkosh normal school and well known in educational circles, was accidentally shot and killed at George Lake, Wis., yesterday.

POLITE POLICEMEN.

Gen. Bingham Gives His Men Some Needed Instructions.

New York, July 26.—Gen. Bingham, who, since his appointment as police commissioner of Greater New York, has instituted many reforms, gave the police force yesterday through 50 policemen who were hailed to the trial room, instructions in civility.

"The minute a citizen addresses a member of the police department, he should stand at attention. If it is a lady, touch the hat. If it is a man, answer all questions briefly, using no unnecessary words."

"The rest of you fellows pass that along. There have been too many complaints about uncivil manners of policemen."

PLOT AGAINST CZAR.

Authorities Will Soon be in Position to Issue Indictments.

St. Petersburg, July 26.—The authorities will soon be in position, as a result of their investigations, to issue indictments in the matter of the recent plot against the life of Emperor Nicholas.

It is now known that women took the leading parts in this conspiracy. The principals are Mme. Feodososka, wife of a well known St. Petersburg lawyer; a woman called "Comrade Nina," alias Petrova, who took the most prominent part in the activities, and a woman called "Comrade Elena," alias Petrova, who took the most prominent part in the activities.

The plan of the conspiracy was to have Klossovsky make his way into the presence of the emperor while clad in the uniform of a sergeant of the imperial guard. He was to be accompanied by the two women, who were to plot the attack and movement of the emperor.

CONVICT ESCAPES FROM IDAHO PENITENTIARY.

(Special to the "News.")

Boise, Ida., July 26.—Charles Peterson, a convict in the state penitentiary serving a term of five years for grand larceny, made good his escape from that institution yesterday afternoon. He escaped by the aid of a woman who was in the care of the prison and who was a member of the guard's kitchen. A swarm of bees got away from him last week and took to the hills. Peterson was afterwards located. Peterson had obtained permission to go to the hills to get some bees to make an attempt at getting the bees back again. Yesterday afternoon he was discovered by the guards and was taken back to the prison.

VICE ADMIRAL IJUN TALKS OF THE JAPANESE NAVY.

Paris, July 26.—Gil Blas publishes today an interview with Vice Admiral Ijun, commander of the Japanese fleet, now at Brest, upon the Japanese navy. Asked if Japan had not decided, in view of the recent happenings, to enlarge her program of naval construction, the vice admiral replied:

"We have a naval program for several years ahead, and we shall execute it methodically and rigorously, as do the great nations of Europe. But this program has not been enlarged of recent months, and it stands as it did originally by the admiralty last year."

Continuing, the vice admiral said it was inexact to declare that the Japanese navy would be used for the increase of naval power, and explained that this money would be devoted to the construction of railroads and other communication in Manchuria.

"We are satisfied with the navy," Vice Admiral Ijun went on, "and we believe this branch will be able to cope with all eventualities. The Japanese parliament while refusing nothing for national defense, holds us rigorously to the naval appropriations, and these we never exceed. We are to build three battleships of the type of the Tsukuba, but more powerful, and they are to be constructed in Japanese yards from material furnished by Japanese industries."

Vice Admiral Ijun knew nothing of any intention upon the part of Japan to build warships for the Chinese. "We are interested in all things concerning the Far East," he said, "but up to the present time we have not had to concern ourselves with the Chinese marine. China has not appealed to us and she is not seriously interested in the reorganization of her navy."

STRENUOUS DAY FOR GEN. J. F. BELL

He Arrives in Salt Lake Early and Goes on An Inspection Trip.

REVIEWS TROOPS AT FORT.

Takes Rapid Spin Up Red Butte Canyon and Inspects Water Supply.

Gov. Cutler Extends Invitation for a Dinner at the Commercial Club This Evening.

Two months ago Salt Lake entertained a Roosevelt man in the person of James R. Garfield, secretary of the Interior. Today his city is entertaining another. He is J. Franklin Bell, chief-of-staff of the United States army, and the man to whom the president looks to keep the military establishment in shape, and direct its policies.