DESERET EVENING NEWS: WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1904.

King Edward and the foreign office are fully aware that any offer or even suggestion looking to peace at the present stage would be resented by both Japan and Russia, and it is em-photically depid that the king even in phatically denied that the king, even in the family circle at Copenhagen, has suggested mediation, much less inter-vention. His majesty has expressed sympathy with his royal relative over the losses sustained by the Russian field, but he has been equally thought-ful towards the mikado. It is believed here that all sumprephatically denied that the king, even in

It is believed here that all rumors bearing on the subject of pacific ef-forts, royal or otherwise, are due to misapprehension concerning the nego-liations outlined in the Associated Press dispatches of April 9, which said that after King Edward had given his that after King Edward had given his personal assurances to Emperor Nich-olas that the anti-Russian comment in the British press did not represent the feeling of his government. Foreign Secy, Lansdowne informed the Russian ambassador that he would be glad to more perstitutions looking to a settle-ambassador that he would be gial to reopen negotiations looking to a settle-ment of all matters in dispute with Russia and Great Britain. Lord Lansdowne did not stipulate any basis or enter into any details. Ambassador Benckendorff expressed his pleasure at the offer and transmit-ted it to St. Petersburg, where Jord Lansdowne's proposal was understood Lansdowne's proposal was understood to have been taken as a material expression of King Edward's personal wishes and therefore the matter was dropped. These negotiations, the Assoclated Frees was informed tonight, are now progressing satisfactorly, though no immediate completion of them can

HE "NEWS" has purchased the rights for the entire west of the series of pen pictures, just written by Captain George L. Kilmer, entitled NAPOLEON AS SEEN BY HIS ASSO-CIATES, and will publish the first installment on Saturday next. Twenty-four installments in all.

The opening of the Great Fair at St. Louis, celebrating the hundredth anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase, by which the United States acquired from Napoleon an empire, for a sum which men now make or lose in Wall street in a day,-has aroused new interest in the great French Emperor. Anything that pertains to his career is being absorbed with interest the world over. The new compilation is one of the most extraordinary series of articles ever offered to the public, being an attempt to select from the vast quantity of Napoleonic literature which has come to light in the last thirty years extracts which form a complete pen picture of the inner life of the most stupendous figure in all history. This task was committed to Captain George L. Kilmer, who by natural aptitude, education, journalistic experience and long study of the subject is eminently fitted for the undertaking. Captain Kilmer is too well known as a clear, graceful and forceful writer on historical subjects to require an introduction here. It should be said, however, that in this case his work has been that of the editor rather than the writer. From a large number of rare and costly books on Napoleon, some of them in the original French, he has selected and put in two-column installments, convenient for newspaper publication, sketches of the great Corsican which enable the reader to see and comprehend his real character as clearly as he could from reading the books. These extracts are from the writings of those who were closest to Napoleon and knew him best. And it should be said that he did not wear a mask in the presence of his intimates. Not only his acts, but his motives as revealed in his conversation, are laid bare to the reader.

HE OFFICIALS of the World's Fair at St. Louis have decided to issue a weekly series of World's Fair Portfolios illustrating the great exposition which opens in St. Louis, April 30th.

This portfolio will be published along the same lines as the famous "Dream City" views of the Columbian Exposition of 1893, which reached a phenomenal sale of over six and a half million copies. The portfolios of the St. Louis Exposition will be the only official ones issued, and will have the endorsement and the co-operation of the officials of the great fair. Photographs will be taken especially for it by official photographers, and the descriptive matter will be written by Mr. Walter B. Stevens, secretary of the Exposition, Every photograph taken is copyrighted.

The Deseret News is pleased to announce that it has been awarded the contract for handling the World's Fair portfolios in Utah and Idaho. It will thus be only possible to secure this beautiful work through this paper. There will be thirty parts in all, and each part will consist of not less than sixteen pages, often more, and each will contain sixteen half-tone engravings, size 8 by 10 inches, made from photographs obtained by special contract with the official photographers. There will thus be nearly 500 reproductions of the most famous scenes and subjects in the Exposition; the thirty portfolios will be issued as near as may be one each week, commencing on the day the Fair opens, Saturday, April 30, 1904. The Fair will be characterized by the most extraordinary assemblage of human kind in all the world's history. It will be attended by every civilization from the highest to the lowest, wherever distributed around the earth. Photographs will be taken of these subjects in groups showing their native occupation and pastimes. The views taken will illustrate the life, the architecture, the exhibits, the sculpture, the plazas, the water ways, the vistas, the colonnade of states, the monuments, the palaces, the cascades, the great basin, the pike, the model city, the place of nations, commonwealth plateau, etc., etc., etc. The photographers will give the choice of every subject seen at the Fair, whether of art, scenic, architectural, or industrial interest. The purpose will be, by the aid of splendid photo-graphs and the most modern methods known in engraving and printing, to transfer as nearly as possible the details of the great Fair to paper for the benefit of the masses. It will be a permanent record of the great historic event, which will be within the reach of every one.

Henry Norman, M. P., who was received in special private audience by King Edward yesterday "on his return from Russia," as the court circular today puts it, says he was amazed at the grasp of detail displayed by King Edward in dealing with matters connected with Russian policy at home and abrond. He related details of his audience with the emperor of Russia and intimated that King Edward has set his heart on settling forever the long grievances between the two countries Mr. Norman, after seeing King Edward, said that any personal or na-tional attempt to step in between the combatants seemed to him to be out of the question, and that he would be very much surprised indeed if he king had or said anything which would give rise to any such rumor.

NO MEDIATION NOW.

St. Petersburg, April 26 .- While King Edward's move to restore peace tween Russia and Japan has failed it is nevertheless regarded as highly sig-nificant in diplomatic circles. It is the first tangible evidence of a change in the relations between Russia and Great Britain and though the latter has never approached the emperor, no matter how indirectly, of the subject of peace, if the situation between the two countries was what it was before the near hearing away prior to the Anglewar began, even prior to the Anglo-French entente, diplomats believe that, despite the declaration of Russia that she will never accept intervention, the door can be opened for negotiations when the campaign has progressed for some time and Russia has had an op-portunity to wipe out the sting of the disasters at Port Arthur.

If future attempt at mediation be made it is said by diplomats in order that they may have a chance of suc-cess, that relations between Great Britain and the United States must be assiduously cultivated and they be-lieve that no one appreciates this any better than King Edward. It is said at the foreign office that no sugges-tion has come from Great Britain to arrange her differences with Russia along the lines of the Russo-French entente, nor is any expected, especially at this time, when an Anglo-Japanese alliance exists, but the officials say that after all a formal agreement will only be possible when there is a basis for good elations which permits of mutual concessions. Official circles are agog this evening over this move for peace. The attitude of the emperor is thoroughly approved. a person in authority volcing the opin fon of his colleagues, saying that me-diation cannot be accepted, and that Russia alone will determine when it is time to stop fighting. That time, he said, will not arrive until every Japan. se soldier has been ejected from the continent.

Despite the firmness of the intention of the government and people to carry on the war until the end they have in view is reached, it is realized that good relations with Great Britain mean the confinement of the war to Russia and Japan and may lead to pressure on the latter which will shorten the conflict.

Oldest Student in Germany Dead

Berlin, April 26 .- Christian Busch, the oldest student in Germany, who has been enrolled in the classes in chemis-try at the University of Gelssen since 1871, is dead at the age of 51. Death was the result of an injury to the brain received in a student duel.

Busch, who was a property owner, did not attempt to finish his course but divided his time between the beer houses and the laboratory where he arsisted the professors.

He enjoyed great popularity, and the entire membership of the University, headed by the rector, attended his fun-

Attempted to Blow Up Battleship

Cronstadt, April 26 .- A sensational story is affont here of an attempt to destroy the battleship Alexander III. According to the reports, a sailor saw a stranger, wearing the uniform of an officer, going down into the engine room of the battleship, followed him and saw the stranger attaching something connected with wire to the dynamos. Af-ter the stranger left the sailor examined the attachment and found it to be bomb. The sailor at once cut the vires, ran up on deck to tell what had happened and found that the stranger had hanged himself. The crew of the Alexander III were instructed not to speak of the occurrence and it is said the stranger was a madman or a mem. ber of some revolutionary organization to whose lot it had fallen to blow up the Alexander III.

Leon Sloss Must Account.

San Francisco, April 27.-Leon Sloss, president of the Northern Commercial company, has been summoned to give an account of the estate of Arthur Harper, an old time Alaskan trader, who died in 1898 and named Sloss as one of the executors of his will. The property is said to be valued at about $4,000,000,

Will Wipe Out Church Debt,

Chicago, April 27 .- As the climax of religious revival unprecedented in the suburbs, people of Oak Park in a union meeting lasting until after midnight, have subscribed a fund of $25,000 to wipe out the debt on their $75,000 Y. M. C. A. building. The meeting was characterized by a remarkable out-burst of religious fervor. Oak Park was a closed town practically for 24 hours. Business in gen-eral was suspended.

Stores were closed, and thought was centered on the work of the revivalists, the Rev. Mr. Biederwolf and Harry Maxwell, the evangelistic singer, Beginning with services at 10 a.m. in four churches, there was scarcely an intermission for 15 hours in the prayer, praise and singing services.

Found a Fortune.

New York, April 27.-Through the accidental finding of some papers, Mrs. Nicholas Van Winkle of Warrensville, N. J., has learned that she is entitled to a share in an estate valued at $200,- 600 which has been left by her mother, Mrs. Mary Havens who died in Michi-gan a short time ago. When but a small child she was adopted by a Brooklyn family and a promise was exacted that she should never be told her real name or the never be told her real name or the whereabouts of her parents. The latter moved to Michigan and she knew noth-ing of them until the papers were dis-covered and communication opened. Her father was found to be still living.

THIRD RAIL DEVICE.

One Invented That Will Give Full Protection.

New York, April 27.-Members of the Charity society here express the be-lief that Alexander McKenzie, a professional beggar who was once an electrical engineer, has invented a successful device for the protection of the third rail on the elevated tracks, and will receive the prize of $100,000 offered the Interborough company for that chievement

So sanguine are the members of the society of the success of Mr. McKen-zie's invention that the matter has been zies invention that the matter has been placed in the hands of a patent solici-tor, and a practical test of the device will be made as soon as the patent is perfected in Washington. On the police records McKenzie is classified with the harmless mendi-cents usually extended use at ident cants, usually cripples, who sit silent-ly in the street or wherever crowds are passing and hold out their hats or a fin box with mute appeal for aid. For several years McKenzie has been a onspicuous figure on the platforms of the elevated stations. He has but one leg, and always sat on the floor with his crutches lying in his lap and his hat stretched out for coins.

For weeks at a time he would be seen every afternoon during the rush at the stations along the Sixth avenue line, and then some one would enter a complaint and he would be arrested and sent to the island. There he was always a welcome prisoner, for his me-chanical genius found great oppor-tunity about the shops and buildings. During his various periods of confine-ment he perfected the models for proment he perfected the models for pro-tecting the third rail, and, distrustful of every person who attempted to ex-amine them finally called upon the charity organization for help. The of-ficials at once took charge of the mat-ter. They say McKenzie was almost starved when he finally asked for aid.
