

they can vote, they can do as they please, no process can be introduced against them, for they are a part of their institution and must be protected; but anything "in the marriage relation," you know, is different from that.

Well, what shall we do? We will treat all decent men very well, and we will give the others a wide berth. These corrupt and villainous men who are seeking to trample under foot the rights of free men and deprive them of everything in life that is worth having, will suffer the bondage they are seeking to bring upon us. I tell you that, and we need not try to make these affairs any worse. We will treat them as well as we can. There are thousands and tens of thousands who disapprove their meanness and corruption—honorable Americans, thousands and tens of thousands of them who are ashamed of the meanness and corruption of these men. And there are thousands of men abroad who have just the same feeling. I saw and conversed with a member of the British Parliament recently, and in speaking about Rudger Clawson's case, said he: "It is one of the most infamous things I ever heard of, and if you will permit me I will go to the President of the United States and ask him to pardon that man." "Why, yes," said I, "you have my permission certainly." That is the way a British member of Parliament talked about the acts and doings of some of our officials here right in our midst. Yet, notwithstanding the wickedness, the corruption, venom, the hypocrisy, and the deception that is practiced here right under our noses, we will stand still and see the salvation of God, and God in His own time will remove these vindictive men out of their places. Meantime we will continue to fear God and work righteousness; we will cleave to the truth, live our religion, be humble before God, train up our children in purity, virtue and holiness, and set ourselves against everything that is corrupt, hypocritical, fraudulent, and contrary to the principles of righteousness. We will trust in the living God, who is the Savior of all men, especially of those that believe. We will do right, we will treat all men right, and we will maintain every institution of our country that is according to the Constitution of the United States and the laws thereof, and we will sustain them. By and by you will find they will tear the Constitution to shreds, as they have begun now; they won't have to begin, they have started long ago to rend the Constitution of our country in pieces; and in doing so they are letting loose and encouraging a principle which will re-act upon themselves with terrible consequences; for if lawmakers and administrators can afford to trample upon justice, equity and the Constitution of this country, they will find thousands and tens of thousands who are willing to follow in their wake in the demolition of the rights of man and the destruction of all principles of justice and the safeguards of the nation, but we will stand by and maintain its principles and the rights of all men of every color, and every clime; we will cleave to the truth, live our religion and keep the commandments of God, and God will bless us in time and throughout the eternities that are to come.

God bless you and lead you in the paths of life, in the name of Jesus. Amen.

TWO YOUNG MEN LOST.

ONE SUPPOSED TO BE FROZEN TO DEATH, THE OTHER FOUND, BUT ALMOST FROZEN.

HEBER CITY, Wasatch Co., Utah, December 22nd, 1884.

Editor Deseret News:

Hyrum Alexander Neibaur, 17 years of age, son of Hyrum and Jane Harriet Neibaur, of this place, has not been heard of since the morning of the 13th inst., and is supposed to have perished in the mountains in the region of Strawberry Valley, 25 or 35 miles south-east of Heber.

The circumstances connected with this sad affair, as related by the boy's father and others, are as follows:

A number of men were engaged in chopping sawlogs in the mountains near Strawberry Valley. On the morning of the 13th inst. Mr. Neibaur with his son Hyrum and a Mr. Johnson went a mile and a half from camp and commenced chopping. Hyrum became discouraged with the prospect as the snow was about a foot deep and snowing very fast, and requested to be allowed to come home. As a team had left camp a short time before, Mr. Neibaur told his son that he might take his ax and go to the sawmill, about three miles distant, where the team would stop to load with lumber, and he could go home with it.

The young man took his ax and started, this was about 11 o'clock a. m. On Tuesday, the 16th inst., Mr. Neibaur arrived at home about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Neibaur enquired of him where Hyrum was, and he much surprised asked: "Is he not here?" in alarm. Mrs. N. answered, "No, nor hasn't been here since he went away with you." The news of the young man's disappearance spread like wild fire, and at daylight next morning 22 men had reached Strawberry Valley, and were scouring the mountains in every direction for the lost boy, and from that time until yesterday evening the search was kept up with indefatigable energy, supplies being sent from here, and fresh parties joining in the search, but no traces have been found. It was snowing when the boy started for home, and the storm has continued to the present time, and it is now snowing. The snow in the vicinity of Strawberry Valley is now from 3 to 5 feet deep.

A party of four herdboys who came through Strawberry the same day that Hyrum started for home, report having seen a person with something on his shoulder, which they supposed to be a gun, going southeast—down Strawberry—and in a direction away from the young man's home.

One of the searching parties report having found where some four or five dry quaking aspens had been lately chopped, some of which were lodged against other trees and an effort had apparently been made to start a fire. This was some distance from the road which goes to Ashley's Fork, through Strawberry and about 15 miles the other way from where the young man started home, and on the same road on which the person was seen by the herd boys.

It is surmised that the boy became bewildered in the snow-storm and took the wrong end of the road, and would about reach the place where the poles were cut at dark, and as the night was terribly cold and storming, he probably perished somewhere near that place, but the snow having fallen so deep it was impossible for the parties to find any further traces.

By request I append a description of the clothing worn by the young man so that if he has perished and any discoveries should be hereafter made it may be the means of identifying the remains. He wore a black wool hat, tan colored ducking coat, blue-denims overshirt, cheviot shirt, blue flannel undershirt, blue overalls, dark cloth pants, blue flannel drawers, wore boots and had dark hair.

While writing the above, Sheriff Jones called in my office and informed me that yesterday morning John Nelson, 15 or 16 years of age, and son of Henry Nelson, an old resident of this place, went to hunt for horses. Not returning at bed time, parties went in search of him, and searched all night. The night was horrible—wind, rain and snow incessantly. He could not be found. This morning numbers of men went in search, and about one o'clock to-day he was found about five miles from his father's residence, in a sitting posture, his forehead resting on the palms of his hands, entirely unconscious. His boots were filled with water and his body entirely drenched. He was brought to his father's house, still unconscious, and the latest report to-night is that he is suffering intensely from returning circulation of the blood. I have not learned whether he has recovered sufficiently to be able to speak or not.

Yours, M. J. SHETSON.

UNITED IN WEDLOCK.

Editor Deseret News:

On Wednesday last, Mr. William M. Stewart, son of Bishop I. M. Stewart, and Miss Sarah Taylor Vincent of your city, were united in the bonds of holy wedlock, at Logan, Utah. They, with a few relatives from Ogden, arrived in your city yesterday morning by U. C. train, and immediately proceeded to the residence of Mrs. Vincent, mother of the bride, where a reception took place. They arrived here in the evening and were greeted with warm welcomes from father and mother, brothers and sisters. An assemblage of the family and a few friends partook of a delicious supper. In the midst of songs, music and social chat we were agreeably surprised at hearing the strains of music discoursed by our brass band, led by Prof. Joseph Orgill. The musicians were invited in, and added to the entertainment of all. We were also favored with short addresses from Bishop J. S. Rawlins, of South Cottonwood; B. White, Esq., of Ogden; Sister Precinda Kimball, of your city, and others who congratulated the happy pair. Thus passed the evening, which was conspicuous by the good spirit which prevailed and that should characterize all the gatherings of the Saints.

Yours respectfully,
Draper, Salt Lake Co., Utah.

CORRESPONDENCE.

BANNOCK STAKE OF ZION.

REXBURG, Oneida Co., Idaho,
December 16th, 1884.

Editor Deseret News:

The Presidency of this Stake, Bishop of this Ward, and Counselors, and others, about 25 in number, met at our grist mill last evening, for the purpose of dedicating the same.

At seven o'clock all joined in singing "We thank thee, O God," etc.

Prest. Wm. F. Rigby said we should dedicate all we possess to our Heavenly Father. He will acknowledge our doings in this respect, and stated that it was for this purpose we had met this evening, to dedicate this mill and all appertaining thereunto.

Prest. Ricks then offered the dedicatory prayer.

Prest. Hy. Flamm was highly pleased with the privilege of meeting at the dedication of so useful a structure in this Stake.

Prest. Ricks stated it was two years the 11th of last March since he in company with Presiding Bishop Preston arrived on this spot, and on the 14th of the same month Brother Preston dedicated the ground on which we now stand.

It is remarkable to see the growth of this country since the farms that are cultivated, comfortable homes built and all in so short a time. Stated we would start grinding the day after tomorrow.

Several expressed their gratification at seeing so useful a structure in this Stake.

Votes of thanks were extended to President Ricks for the energy he had displayed in the construction of this mill, and to Brother August Christianson, the master mechanic, for the able manner in which he had directed the workmen and the construction of the building.

The mill is 26 by 28 feet, 27 feet from foundation to eaves and 32 feet to the top of the building.

Benediction by President Wm. F. Rigby.

Very respectfully yours,
THOS. E. BASSETT,
Stake Recorder.

CURSORY COMMENT.

The store windows present the inviting Christmas appearance, and the sooner you do your purchasing the fuller stocks you will find from which to select.

The four northern states carried by Governor Cleveland have a population of 9,000,000, or one-sixth of the entire population of the country, and much more than that proportion of the property.

A man out in Wisconsin takes a tablespoonful of kerosene daily for rheumatism. The account fails to say whether he was improving or not. Most people would prefer the rheumatism.

A leading question of the day is "what shall I purchase for Christmas presents, and where shall I go to buy?" All you have got to do in order to arrive at a satisfactory solution is to study the advertising columns of the DESERET NEWS.

At a late dynamiters' meeting in New York a Dr. Williams thundered against England, and after applauding the slayers of Burke and Cavendish, thanked God for the invention of dynamite. He belittled O'Connell, advocated the spilling of blood and warned his hearers that by force, and force alone, could Ireland ever hope to regain her place among the nations of the earth.

A Little Rock man sold his cooking stove to get money enough to take his family to the circus. When one of his friends remonstrated with him, he said: "We had no use for the stove. Had nothing to cook." "But why didn't you buy something to eat with the money you got for the stove?" "Then we should have had nothing to cook it on. Don't talk to me. I'm a philosopher."

Blaine's contract with his publishers provides that the second volume of "Twenty years in Congress" shall be completed by the end of February, and his return to Washington is for the purpose of continuing his labors on the book. He seeks that city in order that he may have the benefit of the vast National libraries. The book when completed will undoubtedly be one of the most authentic political histories of this country ever issued.

Commenting on the proposition to force the big round dollars into circulation by withdrawing one and two dollar bills, the Lowell Citizen says: "The people do not want to be loaded down with silver." It is true they prefer paper currency to the heavier sort; but there are a good many people who would not neglect an opportunity "to be loaded down with silver."

There are lively altercations now and then in the French Chamber of Deputies—quite as noisy and spirited as the little episodes that occur occasionally in our own House of Representatives. For example, a few days ago a member of the Right made a stinging remark about Premier Ferry, who replied: "This is but the gossiping politics of old women." The orator retorted: and on your side it is but the lying politics of old women." A scene of confusion followed, and then everything went on swimmingly.

All the States have made their official report of the vote of November 4 for Presidential Electors. The total vote was 10,046,073, an increase of 827,822 over the vote of 1880. On the face of the returns, taking no note of the fusion of the electoral tickets in several States, the popular vote for Cleveland was 4,913,901, for Blaine 4,847,659, for Butler 133,880, and for St. John 150,633, Cleveland having a plurality of 66,242. He fell 208,271 short of a majority of the whole vote. The Republican vote was 333,243 greater than in 1880, and the Democratic vote 468,949 greater. The Butler and St. John vote combined was 24,065 less than the vote for General Weaver, the Greenback candidate four years ago.

A skillful malingerer has been, by a very simple process, greatly puzzling the brain of the head surgeon of the French navy. The "patient" complained of his inability to work on account of the total powerlessness of the forearm and hand; the former had turned blue and seemed paralyzed, and both were cold and clammy. The doctor nourished the man handsomely for a month, and then discovered the trick. In the daytime the patient twisted the arm, and putting a hard object in the armpit, held the member closely to his body; at night he slept with the arm under him, and thus succeeded in so impeding the circulation as to create much sympathy. The administration of a little chloroform ruined his game.

Says the Springfield Republican: "South Carolina reports another 'exodus,' and one with a hopeful degree of method in it. Something over three hundred negroes, men, women and children, have left the central part of the State in the last few days for Arkansas, and it is reported that work is already provided for them, and that in fact Zeb Ward, the largest planter and richest man in Arkansas, is at the bottom of the movement. Emigration agents get the people to start, and advance money for traveling expenses. It is also reported that 400 negroes will start from Columbia in a few days for Southern California, and that landowners out toward the golden gate expect to get 5,000 blacks from the South in the course of the winter."

THE AGONY IN STORE.—The five-year-old son of a family the other day stood watching his baby brother, who was making a great noise over having his face washed. The little fellow at length exclaimed to the baby: "You think you have lots of trouble, but you don't know anything about it. Wait till you are big enough to get a lickin' and then you'll see, won't he, mamma?" —Chicago News.
