THE BY ALL ODDS BEST EQUIPPED RAILROAD IN THE WORLD

Let it be forever remembered that the

CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY

is the best and shortest route to and from Chicago and Council Bluffs (Omaha), and that it is preferred by all well posted travelers when passing to or from CALIFORNIA AND COLORADO.

It also operates the best route and the short line between

Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis

Milwaukee, LaCrosse, Sparta, Madison, Fort Howard (Green Bay), Wis., Winona, Owatonna, Mankato, Minn., Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Webster City, Algona, Clinton, Marshalltown, Iowa, Freeport, Elgin, Rockford, Ill., are amongst its 800 local stations on its lines.

Among a few of the numerous points of superiority enjoyed by the patrons of this road, are its DAY COACHES which are the finest that human art and ingenuity can create; its PALATIAL SLEEPING CARS, which are models of comfort and elegance; its PALACE DRAWING ROOM CARS, which are unsurpassed by any; and its widely celebrated the like of which are not run by any other road anywhere. In short, it is asserted that IT IS THE BEST EQUIPPED ROAD IN THE WORLD.

All points of interest North, Northwest and West of Chicago, business centres, summer resorts and noted hunting and fishing grounds are accessible by the various branches of this road.

It owns and controls over 5,000 miles of road and has over four hundred passenger conductors constantly caring for its millions of patrons.

Ask your ticket agents for tickets via this route, AND TAKE NONE OTHER. All leading ticket agents sell them. It costs no more to travel on this route, that gives first-class accommodations, than it does to go by the poorly equipped roads.

THE LIVER AND ITS FUNCTIONS.

It has become a well established fact that the largest portion of diseases to which the human family is subject arise in the first place from a disordered condition of the Liver. This is of as much importance as the Lungs, but at the same time one of the most important. The venous blood, on its return to the heart, passes through the Liver, and in its passage the impurities, also the secretions which are necessary for digestion as well as for a cathartic to the removal of waste matter, are all eliminated. From this it is easily seen that the Liver is liable to get out of order to a greater or less extent, and when this occurs it is impossible for it to properly fulfil its office of removing all objectionable matter from the blood but allows it to pass through, carrying with it the poisons of which it should have been relieved.

With impure blood the wholesome action becomes effected, and no organ can properly perform its functions, unless it is supplied with PURE BLOOD to maintain its strength. So the Liver becomes all important, and when the feeling of being constantly tired, worn out, is considered, with tendency to Piles, Headache, Biliousness, Dizziness, Sallow Complexion, Eruptions of the Skin, etc., they may be sure their Liver is out of order, and a remedy is required to assist nature in relieving itself of all accumulations, and restore it to the original Strength and Vigor. For all the complaints of this kind there is no medicine that equals

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS.

The result of years of study, experiment and medical research and practice of Dr. R. F. SHERMAN, the originator, and in its success will be found unequalled for the cure of all diseases arising from impure blood, or a disordered condition of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Nervous System, Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, etc. Prickly Ash Bitters acts directly on the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, and Bowels, in a mild but effectual manner, and is very pleasant to the taste as an aromatic cordial, and is as healthy to children as adults.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS is a medicine of rare merit, and not an intoxicating beverage, and being purely vegetable in its make up can be used at all times with beneficial results. It is not claimed as a cure-all, but for derangements of the system, it is a specific, and as a BLOOD PURIFIER ranks above all other preparations. Ask your druggist for it, and give it a fair trial. If he has none on hand, ask that it be procured for you.

EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday, - October 7, 1884.

A GUATEMALAN VILLAGE.

PRIMITIVE CUSTOMS AND COSTUMES OF THE INHABITANTS.

The bulk of Central America is yet unsurveyed, and as the Spanish have never developed the faculty of location to a great extent, and are absolutely incapable of judging of distances, an explorer is dependent upon his own resources for data to define his position from day to day.

The village of Chahal numbers but six years. It had its origin in a desire of some of the inhabitants of Cajabom and San Pedro in the department of Vera Paz to escape from labor upon the coffee estates; so they fled to the wilds upon the northern foot hills of the Santa Cruz mountains and made homes for themselves and their children. The Santa Cruz range of mountains borders the lake of Yzabal upon the north.

The town is built on six spurs of hills, all pointing toward "a low green valley," and the houses are scattered with a delightful want of uniformity. They are thatched cottages, with stockade sides and ends; windows would be useless and therefore they have none; doors they have, but they are unhung—some of them in sections and some entire; to open them they are taken away entirely. Their floors are the trodden face of good mother earth, and chairs ditto. Yet the village and surrounding valleys have a population of at least 1,500. The men of Cajabon are easily distinguished from those who come from San Pedro, for their nether garments are such as were worn by our grandfathers, ending at or above the knee, but those from San Pedro wear pantaloons to the ankles.

The women ordinarily wear the sinrobe common to the race far and near; that is two or three yards of home-made cotton cloth wound about the waist with the end tucked in to hold it in place. Their dressmaking is not expensive after the cloth is woven. For extra occasions they use a square piece of cloth with a hole cut out of the centre to put the head through; this hole is embroidered with colored yarns, so that when it is on it extends the effect of the colored beads, which are almost universally known on the neck. The men use a square blanket of home made cotton, but theirs is only thrown over their shoulders; some use short jackets neatly bound and embroidered. The people are more than ordinary in their looks; they are muscular and healthy, evidently not working more than enough to keep them robust.

The tortilla of Indian corn is the principal food of all the people, though beans are grown and eaten to some extent. They have plenty of hogs and chickens, but no other domestic animals, except dogs, which are numerous.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Things That Don't Seem Right.

Sometimes, when the clouds are dull and the wind is in the east, when the grade is heavy, the steam is low and the sand box empty, it does seem as though this old world had slipped an eccentric and was only working one side. The wicked man flourishes like a green bay tree, while his honest neighbor gets shipsawed every deal.

There are fifty-three authors of "Beautiful Snow," and not one for the "Bread Winners." In Philadelphia one manufactory makes nothing but century-old "grandfather's" clocks, and furnishes pedigrees for the same to the purchaser, until to own a tall, antique clock is proof posible that your family began only with your father. In Chicago they make violins that look 100 years older than the most genuine Stradivarius four weeks after they are made, so that now an ancient, honest-looking decrepit violin is prima facie evidence of glaring and outrageous fraud.

"Old Subscriber" is usually a man who borrows the paper from a neighbor or reads the copy pasted up on the bulletin board; "Constant Reader" who never read anything in his life save the pictures on a circus poster, and "Tax Payer" is the signature of a tramp. A struggling genus writes a poem with a soul of fire that lives forever and a day and dies in tears and loneliness and poverty in a hall bedroom, fifth floor back.

De Long laid down his life for science when his sun had reached its meridian, while the man who can write forty-nine chapters in the Bible on one side of a postal card will probably live to the age of 93.

So it is. Man goeth to the skating rink with joy in his heart and mirth on his lips, and he cometh away with his back so full of pine slivers that the porcupine sayeth unto him, "Thou art my brother," and the hedgehog crieth after him, "Behold my father and mother."—Burdette in the Hawkeye.

The Bedouins Light Drinkers.

Gen. R. E. Colston, late of the Egyptian general staff, says, in The Century: "In the 'Waterless Land,' water is the paramount question. If it be asked how a large body of Bedouins like the 10,000 who nearly destroyed the British squares at Tamia, manage to subsist, the reason is plain. In the first place, they do not need the enormous trains required for a European army. They are the most abstemious of men. Each man carries a skin of water and a small bag of grain, procured by purchase or barter from caravans. Their camels and goats move with them, supplying them with milk and meat, and subsisting upon the scanty herbage and the foliage of the thorny mimosa, growing in secluded wadies. As to water, they know every nook and hollow in the mountains, away from the trails, where a few barrels of water collecty in some shaded ravine, and they can scatter, every man for himself, to fill their water skins. Besides the Bedouins, accustomed from infancy to regard water as most precious and rare, use it with most wonderful economy. Neither men nor animals drink more than once in 48 hours. As to washing, they never indulge in such wasteful nonsense. When Bedouins came to the camp, water was always offered them. Their answer would frequently be: 'No, thanks; I drank yesterday.' They know too well the importance of keeping up the habit of abstemiousness. No wonder they subsist where invaders would quickly perish.

The Mystery Explained.

London is a strange city, full of every kind of possibility—social, criminal, political, romantic.

Let me tell you a story of the day: A gentleman writes for a daily peper. He is an odd sort of person; not very clever, does very ordinary kind of work and very little of it. His salary is small in proportion to his skill and his time. He only labors a hour a day. Nevertheless, he is able to take occasional holidays of several weeks at a time. He leaves a substitute in his place, and sends to his paper interesting notes and paragraphs from strange places abroad, chiefly from Russia. He lately went off on one of these little excursions and has not since been heard of. No telegrams, no letters, no messages of any kind have reached the office or his collaborator. On inquiring at his rooms and on searching his papers the explanation of the mystery is this: He was a Russian spy, has fallen into a Nihilistic trap, and has been assassinated.

I mention no names, and therefore commit no breach of trust in this romantic record of journalism. The story is not in the newspapers, but it is the talk of press circles.—Jos Hatton's Letter.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS and DISORDERED LIVER.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, a feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. DANGEROUS SUBSTITUTES FOR HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE

Several inferior and dangerous "substitutes" for the genuine "Horsford's Acid Phosphate" are being offered for sale; and we hereby caution the dealers and public against buying or using them, as they will not produce the same effect upon the system as the genuine "Horsford's," and the ingredients in some of them are dangerous to health.

Some of these "substitutes" or imitations are simply Dilute Phosphoric Acid, which interferes with the digestion; while the genuine "Horsford's" not only causes no trouble with the digestive organs, but materially assists in their action.

One preparation that is being offered for sale, by the gallon, contains Meta- or Pyro-Phosphoric Acid, which are declared by the highest authority to be poisonous. The same preparation also contains Chloric Acid, which is a compound of Chlorine. "Horsford's" contains neither of these ingredients.

These "substitutes" are liable to be found at soda fountains, because of their cheapness.
