AN INTERESTING FIRM

And What It is Doing to Build Up the New State of Utah.

HOME INSTITUTION; HOME PEOPLE.

Including Sketch of Principals of Same; Products—Worthy the Patronage of All.

As intensely interesting half day was spent yesterday by a representative of the NEWS in a trip through the manufactory of the Hewlett Bros. company on State street between Seventh and Eighth South. Hewlett Bros. is a firm name that is well known to every resident of Utah and the intermountain region, but comparatively few people realize to what mammoth proportions their manufacturing business has grown during the past few years; and the purpose of this article is to furnish that information to readers of the DESERET NEWS, though necessarily in somewhat abbreviated form.

Less than ten years ago the business was commenced across the street from the present location, in a one-story frame building. At that time the making and bottling of root beer, cider and soda water were the chief items of manufacture. They make their own extracts for use in the preparations enumerated above, and it was the phenomenal success attained in putting up these flavoring drinks which led to the manufacture of the now celebrated Three Crown Triple extracts which today are giving such universal satisfaction on the market.

About the time the extracts were put on the market these energetic gentlemen conceived the idea of still further affording an opportunity for the people of the West to foster and perpetuate home industry commencing the grinding of all kinds of spices, and when the Western Spice mill failed, they purchased the plant of the defunct concern, added to it two spice mills and one spice cracker, put in an electric motor and other machinery which afforded a capacity of five tons of ground spices per day, thus obviating the necessity of home interests importing the inferior and adulterated products of eastern mills. One of the elements of success in this department has been due to the fact that the general buying public, awoke to recognize and appreciate a strong and pure article, have insisted upon having Hewlett Bros. species of their grocers, fully appreciating the fact that while they are helping themselves they at the same time were also helping a deserving home institution and furnishing employment for a large number of home people.

Every department of this institution is replete with interest to the uninitiated, and possibly a brief description of the plant would be read with interest. The building is a large two-story structure, covering considerable ground, and is being added to year by year as occasion requires. Only last season a two-story addition was made 30x80 feet, and already the floor space is inadequate to the necessities of the business, and more building is already projected for '97. Two large offices are in front, one occupied for general business and the other as a private office. In the rear of these are the baking and shipping rooms, which are much similar to those of the same class in other lines of business. Again in the rear are the bottling works. Here everything is hurly-burly bustle. On every hand is the flying pulleys and belts, attached to the bottle-washing apparatus with a capacity of forty dozen per hour and the bottling machinery, together with the slower and more methodical work in charge of the soda and mineral water products with carbonic acid gas.

On the second floor in front is the varied department. This process is one of great interest and is ample reason it any were required, for the unqualified endorsement and popularity of Hewlett Bros. Three Crown Triple Extracts. Everything is conducted with the strictest regard for cleanliness in every particular, and this, together with the fact that all extracts are made from the most recently selected fruits and vegetables, purchased exclusively for Hewlett Bros. by their own buyer, the desirable expensive machinery is used in the connection which is too intricate for description in an article of this kind suffice life say that the work is perfect, in its entirety, even to the bottles which are not only cautioned and, handsomely labeled in every way, but provided as well with sprinkle and screw cap, which entirely eliminates the evaporation and loss of strength so prominent in the cheap adulterated products of eastern manufacture. Every bottle is guaranteed to be absolutely pure, and grocers are instructed to refund money if customers are not satisfied.

It is the same with the celebrated Three Crown Baking Powder. The Hewlett Bros.' Three Crown Baking Powder is a positively pure cream of tartar product. They have gone to the expense of having very known baking powder of any recognized merit analyzed by the best chemists in the United States and are in position to know whereof they speak when they boldly make the statement without fear of successful contradiction, that there is no purer powder on the markets of the world, nor none greater in strength or higher in leavening power than the celebrated Three Crown baking powder. To back up this assertion every grocer and dealer who sells to consumers Three Crown baking powder, spices or flavoring extracts, is authorized and empowered to refund money in every case where customers are not satisfied, or to exchange the goods for an equal amount of any other brand manufactured and on the market.

The above guarantee should be and is strong enough to carry the Three Crown's products all over the United States; still there are people who will purchase the cheaper grades or goods just because they are of Eastern manufacture and they are deluded into the belief that they are superior to the home-made article even at the same figure. The raised unique and pleasing way in which Hewlett Bros. have succeeded in catering to the wants and desires of these people and at the same time and to their own resources is shown by the manner in which mineral waters and other flavored drinks are put up to order for parties outside the State who have a class of customers patronizing all kinds of people, including hurists, etc., who, if they were shown an article manufactured and put up in Salt Lake, would not have it at any price—so, while in reality the goods labeled "Wauhesha mineral water" is a much better product than that put up in Wisconsin, it passes muster for the eastern product, when it, in most cases, would be a drug on the market labeled "Utah mineral water." This fact is mentioned as a case in point to show that the extensive business of Hewlett Bros. is not confined solely to their Three Crown brands.

The coming year promises to be a busy one for this popular firm. The president, Franklin J. H. Weil, who is kindly entertained the NEWS representative on his tour of inspection just narrated, continued somewhat the plans for the new year.

"At Pocatello, Idaho," he said, "we have just completed a plant that is even larger than this—a magnificent three-story fire-proof structure of rock and brick, to facilitate the handling of our growing business in Idaho, Montana and Oregon. This plant is in charge of Albert J. Hewlett, the vice president of the company. This plant will be run at its full capacity, while at home it will be necessary to again enlarge to meet all requirements for the coming year. During the past we have been obliged to purchase a great deal of our raw material from outside, yet everything that could be procured here has been, including cans, labels, boxes, printing, etc., and there are number of other lines of which we use a great deal could as well as not be raised in Utah—such as mustard seed, sage, thyme, marjoram, etc. We have been compelled to get all of our glassware outside of the State, having spent in the past year over $5,000 for foreign products of this nature. Glass could be manufactured here very cheaply and ought to be here in Utah. However, irrespective of all inconveniences and drawbacks our business is forging rapidly ahead and we anticipate the most prosperous year of our history for 1897.
