al building, and bids will be opened at 2 p. m. Jan. 3. These changes in-volve changes in the cashier's office, with iron stairs from that office to the stock room in the basement; changes in the registry and money order de-partment, greatly increasing facilities for operation, and adding a new win-dow for the registry department for the benefit of the public. The registry apartment will be doubled in size-something that is much needed. The general delivery department to a special location prepared where they will be near the mailing department, and include new drops for the various points of the compass, and do away with the combination drop of north, south and west. There will be a new door in the post office screen from the such convenience, and where it is very much needed. The cost of the improve-ments will be 35,000, and are just what the postmaster contended were neces-sary before the office was removed from the Dooly block to the Federal building. L. D. S. SIX DAYS ON ROLLERS.

Manager Hamer of Auditorium Rink Planning for Big Race.

Manager Hamer of the Auditorium shating rink is seriously thinking of arranging a six days' race on rollers, open to all. If his plans are carried out, the "roller fans" will have a chance to have all the skating they want. Mr. Hamer says that the race will be arranged to start on . Monday and continue until Saturday. Of course, the race will not be like the six-day bike race at New York, but will consist of half an hour each day so as not to interfer with the pleasure of others

Tyler and Berton, the experts from San Francisco, are now appearing every afternoon and evening at the Richards street rink, and their graceful and difficult feats on the rollers elicit much applause.

Up to a few years ago he had always considered him as very bright and intelligent and always strictly honest and upright in his business deal-ings. In the past two years he had noticed a decided change in his actions. Frequently Brown had told him that he was going to make $3,000,000 in a very short time and when he would talk about money matters he would become so excited that tears would flow down his checks. Brown also told him that he was eating rice so as to become as strong as the Japanese. The witnesses were satisfied from recent conduct of Brown that he is insane. The hearing will probably be conress in all that is good, and noble, and true." President Smith read from the Scrip-tures to show the difference between the works of darkness and the works of the Spirit, and made comments there-on. "The fruits of evil," he said, "can-not be induiged in by any of the saints, least of all by those who are attending Church schools, where they are in pur-suit of knowledge and wisdom." He advised the students to read such words, to commit them to memory, and to make them part of their lives; for they are better than silver and gold. Those who hold this work in contempt, God will hold in contempt; each indi-vidual must stand on his own merit. The thing in 'Mormonism' or what is the same thing, the gospel of Jesus Christ, that appeals to me, is that every individual soul must be saved or con-demned, by his own acts. Hypoericy demned, by his own acts. Hypocricy will not count; only virtue, honor, faith and good deeds will be of avail with the Lord."

AMUSEMENTS.

Orpheum-The bill at the Orpheum, which was demoralized on Monday night owing to delayed trains, is now running smoothly. The absent acts prove to be among the best on the bill. The Swor brothers, who were last seen here with Haverley's Minstrels, "make and Clifton have a novelty that in-cludes some good gags and eccentric dancing. Miss Leah Russell with her Yiddish impersonation is the most art-istic turn on the program.

Grand-Tonight closes the engage-ment of "Uncle Josh Perkins," and it will be succeeded tomorrow evening by "The Little Outcast."

Eighteenth Ward-This evening sees the first public presentation of Miss Margaret Whitney's new opera. "The Girl in Blue." The cast has al-ready been printed in the "News." The young composer has pushed the re-hearsals almost to the exhaustion point, and a fine performance may be looked for. The opera opens at 8 o'clock.
