EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday, . . June 5, 1877.

A Holy Mormon War.

Apropos of sentimental agitation, I approach the Mormon topic. The New York Herald has always been conspicuous in the cheap and distant subject of raiding down the Mormons. A sensation that takes the form of superficial boldness and involves no risk is always the disposition of the modern Jesuit.

"Lee's confession," says the Herald, "made in view of death, of the history of the Mountain Meadows massacre, so plainly incriminates Brigham Young as to leave no doubt on the mind of the unprejudiced reader that the Mormon leader was cognizant of that horrible slaughter and a party to it."

This sort of unprejudiced reader ought to go and buy a text book of syllogism, as follows—

1. Men who murder will lie;
2. The late Lee murdered;
3. Therefore, Lee might, could, would or should have lied.

When Mrs. Othello died, relieving her husband of the suspicion of having smothered her, the man remarked that she was false as usual, for he did murder her.

Two cases of facts happened in my own experience where the dying charge of murderous complicity was either wilfully or by mistaken belief false.

About twenty-five years ago a hyena by the name of Arthur Spring killed two females at Philadelphia. His son, Arthur Spring, jun., gave testimony to the fact. On the gallows trap the murderer said: "I am innocent. It was my son who committed that murder." Yet he lied and died.

Two or three years after the above event a boy named Roach was murdered at Delaware College, Newark, Del., in a fracas between students. While one boy named Harrington was grappled with Roach—the contest a mere scrimmage over some burlesque exhibition programmes—a boy named Weaver came behind Roach and stabbed him, unseen, from over the shoulder. The dying victim said, in the fullest personal belief, "Harrington did it." The jury knew better, and discharged the accused person.

Lee had every reason to do this massacre, and Young had none. It is four hundred miles from Salt Lake to the scene of the massacre. That was no day of telegraphs or good roads. Lee was off there with a few myrmidons, Young had a war on his hands with the United States, and was facing east from Salt Lake. The distant massacre was a guerilla act, with the plunder of the emigrants camp for its motive. It was investigated at that period, and until now, in twenty years, it has only been quoted to Young's injury by fanatical judges, Gentile mine jumpers, and scraggy and wild newspaper correspondents, well stuffed. Brigham Young has the reputation of being anything but a fool, but this reputation would not hold good if he had so far annoyed himself about a set of indifferent people from the borders of civilization as to order their extinction. The murder being done, it might have been an awkward thing, under the circumstances, to have cognizance of it, any more than the South Carolina government took cognizance of the Hamburg and Cainhoy massacres, or than the United States Government punished the New Orleans revolution of McEnry and Penn or the murders at Nauvoo. Had the times been peaceful, some public inquiry would have been imperative, but swiftly there ensued the Kansas war, the John Brown raid and rebellion, and Lee had all those miserable years to suffer remorse. No interposing hand saved him at last. He was found guilty by Mormons and died with their assent. When Wilkes Booth killed Mr. Lincoln the political court martial of Joseph Holt and John A. Bingham attempted to involve Jefferson Davis in the crime. Perjured witnesses were not wanting to swear to that connection. But common sense and the dignity of Davis' great office rejected the suspicion. Mr. Stanford Conover, the chief witness, went to the penitentiary. There is no more ground to identify Mr. Davis with Booth's murder than to connect Brigham Young with Lee's massacre. Booth murdered like Lee, and wrote in his diary that the great and holy southern cause had abandoned him. But not even the Turk is responsible for the work of the Bashi Bazouks. The momentary injury done in Lee's name to Brigham Young's old age will equip sensation, perhaps, but will not affect history. The political gang of Gentiles in Utah need not get the delirium tremens for joy too soon. * * * Murder is no part of its [the "Mormon"] religion; for, by murder it has suffered more than any sect since the Waldenses. Mohammed's hegira was but a step to their journey in banishment, and every foot of prosperity they have acquired is the everlasting object of Christian cupidity. The New York Herald is attempting to compensate for its attacks on the Society to prevent cruelty to animals by starting a cheap sensation against Brigham Young, whose general dignity of character it might imitate. A Mormon, at least, marries all the women he promises to.—George Alfred Townsend, in Cincinnati Enquirer.

HIGHEST HONORS

AT THE

UNITED STATES CENTENNIAL World Exhibition, 1876.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS

Unanimously assigned the "FIRST RANK" IN THE "SEVERAL REQUISITES" of such Instruments!

The MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. have the honor to announce that the Organs of their manufacture have been unanimously assigned "the FIRST RANK in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of instruments of the class" by the Judges at the CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION at Philadelphia, 1876, and are the ONLY INSTRUMENTS OF THIS NAME OR CLASS AWARDED THE RANK. This is after the severest competition by the best makers, before one of the most competent juries ever assembled.

They have also received the MEDAL; but, as it is not known needs to equal it, it will have been "awarded all articles deemed worthy of recognition," so that it will be easy for many makers to advertise that they have received "first medals."

The differences in competing articles, and their comparative excellence, are recognized in the Reports of the Judges from which the following is an extract:—

"THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. exhibits of Reed Organs and Harmoniums shows instruments of the FIRST RANK IN THE SEVERAL REQUISITES OF INSTRUMENTS OF THE CLASS, viz: Smoothness and equal distribution of tone, scope of expression, resonance and singing quality, freedom and quickness in action of Keys and bellows, with thoroughness of workmanship, combined with simplicity of action."

(Signed by all the Judges.)

The Mason and Hamlin Organs are thus declared to rank first, not in one or two respects only, but in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of such instruments, and they are the Only ones assigned this rank. This triumph was not unexpected, for the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have uniformly been awarded the highest honors in competitions in America, there having been scarcely six exceptions in hundreds of competitions. They were awarded highest honors and

FIRST MEDALS

PARIS, 1867; VIENNA, 1873; SANTIAGO, 1875

PHILADELPHIA, 1876;

and have thus been awarded highest honors at Every World's Exposition!

at which they have been exhibited; being the Only American Organs which have ever obtained any Award at any competition with best European makers, or in any European World's Exposition!

NEW STYLES, with improvements, exhibited at the CENTENNIAL: elegant new cases in great variety. Prices of Newest excellence, with best material and workmanship. Organs sold for cash on instalments, or rented until rent pays.
